LONDON, Ont., Sept. 17 (CP). — Lewis E. De Harte, 52, widely known traveller and prominent member of the Masonic order, died in hospital yesterday.

Mr. De Harte was connected with the army in Toronto for many years and was a great war veteran. He was a member of the Royal Canadian Regiment, and later became associated with the 48th Highlanders of Toronto. He enlisted for war service with this unit and went overseas.

In action in France he was gassed and taken prisoner at the second battle of Ypres. He remained a prisoner for four years. He was a commercial traveller most of his life, representing wholesale wall paper firms.

Wasted Efforts

There is always a little bad staff work about political organizations but it seems to the The Examiner that it is seen at its worst in the press departments of the various parties. At the present time, with a provincial election being fought, the mail received by Ontario newspapers is full of propaganda sent out by the publicity bureaus of the political machines. It is simply party advertising and why anybody should believe that the newspapers of the province would print the stuff is beyond comprehension; yet, day after day, it comes along and day after day, it is tossed into the wastepaper basket. The politicians, it would appear, are slow to grasp the fact that the old days of party organs have virtually passed and that the majority of the papers of today are independent in their relation to politics and refuse to allow their columns to be used on a charity basis to enhance the fortunes of any political parties.

It must cost the organizations a nice sum each election to maintain these publicity departments for they turn out copy by the yard, copy that for the most part serves no other purpose than to arouse a little editorial ire. The articles prepared with such pains and at such length are rarely published and the puzzling thing about them is why any intelligent person could under the circumstances expect that they would be. One thing is crystal clear; either the political parties will have to get smaller press departments or the newspaper offices will have to instal larger waste baskets. Even the fact that the revenues of the postal department must be materially enhanced by the flood of propaganda does not justify the practice.

The C.C.F. Candidate

A third candidate has been added to the political argument in this constituency as a result of the nomination on Thursday night at the C.C.F. convention of William S. Johnson, foreman in a local industrial concern and as the standard-bearer of the Co-operative commonwealth movement. What the Examiner has already said of the two other aspirants for the favor of the electorate in this election can be said with equal force of Mr. Johnson, that is that he is a citizen who stands high in the community and that from him may be expected a clean campaign free from personalities and personal abuse. The C.C.F. candidate who has been connected with that movement since it was launched here and who has always been interested in trades union work has been a resident of Peterborough since 1910. It is probably the case that he is better known within the borders of the city than he is among rural voters of the riding but it is undoubtedly the hope of the C.C.F. organization that the policies endorsed by them will impress themselves upon the voters in the townships to a sufficient extent to make up for the fact that the party standard-bearer is personally unknown to most of the outside electors.

It Is Needed Here

There is so much commonsense interjected into the administration of law in the British Isles that every now and then we come across an example that makes us wish there was more of that kind of thing in our own country. The Ottawa Journal has called attention to one of these demonstrations of how British courts serve the interest of the public. It seems that recently at Arundel in West Sussex some forty travellers were prosecuted "for that they did on the dates specified deposit litter in a manner likely to prejudice the amenities of certain districts." The authorities of several villages had set up receptacles for rubbish and had posted notices but in spite of this action untidy visitors continue to toss rubbish and picnic debris about until the court was called upon to deal with the offenders.

And it did deal with them. One man was fined a pound for tossing a beer bottle out of a car and another paid a similar fine for leaving ice-cream wrappers on the ground. A pound and nine pence was the fine imposed on another culprit who had got rid of a box by throwing it into the lower branches of a tree. Leaving bread crusts about resulted in a fine of four shillings and there was also a fine for the person who emptied tea leaves on the ground, when it was pointed out that a few egg-shells had been mixed up with the leaves.

We have plenty of folk in our own district who are guilty of similar conduct, folk who litter up every picnic ground in the neighborhood with the remains of their al fresco meals, and who are similarily untidy in the city parks. Unfortunately, however, we do not seem to do anything about it and as a result the nuisance continues, even though countless litter is being deposited in a manner likely to prejudice the amenities." That West Sussex court could get in some fine work here if we could borrow its services for a week or two.

This Is Quite A Province

Some figures have been dug up by the Financial Post that should serve to convince citizens of Ontario that this is a mighty important portion af the Dominion of Canada and that the business of electing a government to run provincial affairs, a task in which we are at present engaged, is a serious responsibility and one not to be approached lightly.

For example we find that one-third of the entire population of Canada lives in Ontario and that this province also is able to claim 44 per cent. of the national income and 40 per cent. of the total industrial production. In Ontario too are 48 per cent. of all the motor vehicles registered in Canada, 45 per cent. of the telephones while 42 per cent. of the total retail trade of the Dominion is done within the borders of this province.

Again Ontario is the section of Canada that has the closest connection with the United States inasmuch as 66 per cent. of tourist automobiles entering from that country come in through Ontario ports and out of over 1,100 United States branch plants which have located in Canada approximately 66 per cent. are situated in Ontario.

In mining the story is much the same. Ontario has 41 per cent. of the total capital invested in mines in Canada and her mineral production reaches 47 per cent. of the Federal total. This province also boasts 43 per cent. of the total electric power customers of the Dominion while the record shows that 43 per cent. of the bank debits are registered at Ontario clearing houses and 42 per cent. of all the life insurance in force in Canada is distributed among citizens of the province. Agriculturally too 30 per cent. of the normal revenue of the Dominion comes from Ontario and the value of the field crop exceeds by a considerable amount the total field crop production of any other province.

These are impressive totals and they should serve, as we said at the outset, to arouse among the citizens of Ontario a feeling that the question of what party should control the affairs of this province is a fairly important matter.

Regulating Trailers

Those who think that life in an automobile trailer is a casual, carefree, nomadic existence will suffer a rude awakening when they hear that a Uniform Trailer Legislation committee has been formed under the auspices of the New York Joint Committee on Interstate Co-operation. That sounds formidable but so is the problem of trailers. It is said that across the border so much state and municipal legislation has been enacted that it is almost impossible for a trailer to move without breaking some law.

For example, in New York state a trailer can be 13 feet high, but in Connecticut it cannot be higher than 12 feet two inches. In other states and in our own provinces there are no restrictions whatever in regard to height. Massachusetts puts a 1,000-pound limit on trailer loads so that many of the folk who travel about the highways in these homes-on-wheels avoid that commonwealth if at all possible. As to the maximum trailer length that varies from 27 feet in Tennessee to 60 feet in Nevada.

Altogether, with our American cousins, the trailer seems to be a legislative stepchild. Yet it provides a unique form of transportation which thousands of people seem to relish, and there are even those who find that a permanent life on wheels has its good point. It is not surprising to find therefore that represented on this trailer committee are New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont, and Rhode Island, so that it should soon be possible, at least in the northeastern part of the United States, to hitch up a trailer and venture abroad, secure in the knowledge that whatever else may happen, there will at least be no detour to a court room.

Over here we have not got around to the job of legislating about trailers to any great extent. The subject as a matter of fact has not even found its way into the political platforms of the parties in the present election. When we do tackle the question, it might not be a bad idea, in view of the extent of our tourist traffic, if we based our trailer laws on the regulations that may emerge out of the present drive for uniform legislation across the border.

A Fine Sense Of Justice

The action of the Hamilton Board of Police Commissioners in granting taxi licenses to two men who had served terms of imprisonment for armed robbery may be a shock to some folk but we have an idea that the majority of people will agree that the decision of the board showed a fine sense of justice and mercy.

These men had been guilty of a serious offence, it is true, but they had discharged their debt to society and the evidence is that their records have been clean since they regained their liberty. To have refused their application might well have driven them back into a life of crime and we believe that in deciding to give these young men a chance to make good the commissioners have done a very commendable thing. Magistrate Burbidge summed it all up very neatly when he said "We are interested in seeing that the public is protected, yet we do not want to hold any one down."

If criminals are ever to be reformed it can only be done by helping them after their first slip, not by pushing them back when they are making an honest effort to go straight. Many of the repeaters so much is heard about have been made such because after they had been released from serving their sentence they found that the world was against them and no one was willing to help them re-establish themselves in society as self-supporting, independent citizens.

Piracy In The Mediterranean

"Piracy" is an ugly terminology. It summons up before the mind's eye a vision of the operations of Captain Kidd, "Blackbeard," Steve Bonnett and other outlaws of the seas who ended their days swinging from the yardarm of their own ships. Piracy connotes murder, inhumanity and savagery.

It is not surprising, under the circumstances, that Premier Mussolini is becoming seriously disturbed about adverse world publicity accruing to Italy from the uproar over "piracy" in the Mediterranean, also from the drastic measures adopted by Great Britain and France, with the support of other nations, to control the situation. Ambitious arbiters of the destinies of nations are extremely sensitive as to the terms and characterizations applied to their methods and purposes. They would prefer that their conscienceless seizure of the lands of other peoples be referred to as the progress of civilization, the extension of frontiers or the advancement of legitimate imperialistic purposes.

They are offended when their seizure of territory belonging to someone else is denounced as larceny or in harsher terms. Naturally, Premier Mussolini, who considers himself a statesman of high order and is jealous of his prestige, is incensed when Italy is accused of piracy.

But the accusation nevertheless stands. A score and more of ships have been attacked by submarines in the Mediterranean. Many lives have been lost and several of the vessels have been sunk. Responsibility has been placed quite definitely upon Italy and the refusal of the Italian Government to participate in the international conference designed to bring the situation under control is in itself suggestive of guilt.

But there is more than a loss of prestige that is facing Italy. With British and French warships patrolling the Mediterranean there is a danger that she will lose some of her submarines unless she decides to abandon her undeclared warfare upon the shipping of friendly nations. And there is also the danger of involvement in war, which she does not want and cannot undertake, notwithstanding the menacing and flamboyant utterances of her official spokesman.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Do men wear too many clothes? Asks a contemporary and the answer is that they couldn't in Canada for about half the year.

The Mayor of "Cosy Dell" predicts that Ontario is in for a cold winter, and the worst thing about such prophecies is that some times they may be right.

John L. Lewis, head of the C. I. O. had a conference with President Roosevelt the other day and now we presume Premier Hepburn will cut the president off his visiting list.

Kingston doctor says whiskey should be taken as if it were medicine. In that case we are afraid there would be an alarming increase in cases of illness throughout the country.

Premier Hepburn says he wants to get rid of the whole mess, that is the question of liquor administration. It is the kind of thing however that a government has difficulty in getting rid of.

Premier Aberhart has called a special session of the Alberta Legislature for September 24 and something extra fancy in the way of legislation is undoubtedly being cooked up for the occasion.

Toronto Saturday Night says it almost wishes the election were being fought on the issue of Premier Hepburn's onions. At least that would make a strong talking point.

A man in Jugoslovia invented a gun with ten barrels but no one would pay any attention to it until he shot himself with the weapon. Some of those American gangsters might have been interested in the gadget.

The new license markers are to go on sale next week but even at the reduced price we do not believe there is much danger of anyone getting killed in the rush to purchase them until it is absolutely necessary.

HAPPY TRAVELLER

I met a man in linnet lane;
His coat was old, his mien was plain,
Yet, never in my life before,
Had I met anyone who bore
A stronger stamp of nature's lore.
He seemed to span the countryside
With every long and swinging stride,
And when he spoke a sudden breeze
Bestirred and woke the drowsy trees
His eyes were sharp as starry lights
That watch the world on frosty night,
And in his laughter bells of joy
Were rung as by a happy boy.
Long ere I bid this man adieu
New hope was mine, new courage, too.

THE INDIAN Government's war against North-Western frontier fanatics led by the 36-year-old Fakir of Ipi has raged for more than nine months at a cost of $40,000 a day and more than a hundred casualties. A short time ago the tribesmen were offered peace terms which included the surrender of 20,000 rifles and fines totalling $30,000. Die-hard Imperialists would like to see the Frontier tribesmen ruthlessly exterminated. Others believe that the only way to progress is through civilized services, such as roads, education, and medical schools.

A Notorious Society

THE MEMBERS of the notorious Black Dragon Society of Japan, ruled by the slogan "Everything for Our Country," are fanatical patriots. A week or two ago one of them committed suicide so that, although too old for military service, he could at least direct that his life insurance be paid into the coffers of the War Ministry. In Mongolia, where it is particularly strong, the Black Dragon movement is guided by a Buddhist priest known as "The White-Bearded Hermit" through whose hands pass all instructions to agents. Mongolian princes who have opposed increased Japanese influence have lately been dying off like flies from a mysterious illness.

Then he treated himself with the drug Germanin and made a successful recovery. Besides proving that sleeping sickness can be cured Corson discovered that the germs do not lose their power to infect humans even after a lengthy stay in the blood of animals.

Cora Has Come Home.

FIVE YEARS ago a Greek peasant, Stavros Ghikas, was arrested for excavating and selling to a foreign dealer for 350,000 drachmas a bronze statue of Cora, a figure of youth. In Paris several weeks ago Greek Government inspectors ended their search for the missing sculpture. When the statue left Greece it passed into the hands of Michel Rousos. He first deposited his treasure in the Banque of France vaults but hearing that inspectors were after him he had the statue dissected into ten pieces which he hid in his apartment. Four months ago he was arrested on a charge laid by the Greek sleuths but was discharged. Illicit trade in antiques is not an extraditable offense in France. But dealers now know that "Cora" had been stolen and Rousos could find no market for the statue. Accordingly he handed the sculpture over to M. Titus the Greek minister to France.

The Folk on the Back Concession

They Vote As They Think We Are Told And Nobody Knows Just What They Think

(Written for the St. Thomas Times-Journal by E. T. C., West Lorne).

SO MANY political speakers on the hustings are using again those phrases: "the main vote" and "the people on the back concessions."

We heard that expression just once too often in the last horror campaign.

I decided to go and see for myself what these strange tribe might be like.

"James," sez I, "bring the Bentley to the east portico and we will drive over these back side-roads for a few hours."

For the benefit of all future speakers who are planning the use of the above speech I would like to tell of my trip back there amongst these strange race of people who live without the refining influence thrown out from a cement pavement by the door.

We drove and drove, up one road and down another, and across side-roads made of plain dirt (just fancy!) and lined by dozens of lovely trees instead of hydro poles. After spending half a day trying to find some one of the Kentucky Mountain or Georgia swamp type we never found even one person who appeared any different from the people we see every day down Talbot street. I heard no stranger language than high school slang.

Mr. Editor, you would be surprised how really intelligent these "back concession people" are in every way. Politically they vote exactly as Mr. City Bug does, for one of two reasons: or their party or for the man they can get the most out of. The only difference is that the majority vote party.

I can understand why the politicians find them hard to manage, though. They are on no relief list. You will not find "John Smith, farmer," on that useful political paper. Neither are they on the list of "Votes Bought and Paid For." They are not that hard up yet, even if they do have to eat beans. They are not on the list of "Soft Jobs Wanted." You cannot offer them a job even down at Toronto. They form into no idle groups at the corner of each side road to give a man a chance to work on them. If you want to talk to them you have to take them one by one walking swiftly up and down a row of corn or turning beans. That is a frightful nuisance and you get sand in your shoes. Then likely after you have argued an hour they ask, "Well, what are you selling, young fellow? I'm rather busy today."

You can plainly see why they are a worry, politically, in this garden of Canada and fair land of ours. I asked a number of them during the day who their M.P. was. They looked startled and puzzled a moment and then answered, "Oh, a fellow up west named Cameron or Campbell."

"How do you like him?"

"W-e-e-l-l, he has never did me any harm."

"When I need anything done I go to the council meeting for help. I've got work to do. I have no time to be running to Ottawa," another farmer added to my report.

The "back concession folk" vote as they think. Nobody knows what they think.

Russian Worker's Lot Not Happy

Prices Still Fantastically High While Wages Are Pitifully Low

(From the Kitchener Record.)

ONE WOULD naturally think that Russia, whose form of government and economic setup was supposedly designed to benefit and befriend the masses, would have something better to offer than excessive high prices on the necessities of life and low wages for the working man. Evidently visitors to the land of the Soviet are greatly surprised that such a condition prevails there. A short time ago Lieut.Col. George A. Drew in a series of articles referred to the exorbitant prices of clothing and food in Russia. More recently his story has been corroborated by William F. McDermott, dramatic critic and reporter for the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Mr. McDermott has made several visits to the Soviet and has now returned there after an absence of two years to note the changes that have taken place. He finds dissatisfaction among the workers in Russia and says the cause of it is, "Prices are still fantastically high; wages are pitifully low."

The following official figures on workers' earnings are cited by Mr. McDermott.

The national economic plan for the U.S.S.R., printed by Gosplan in 1937, states that the average yearly wage for all Russians in 1936, including white-collar workers, artists and so on, was 2,770 rubles. This excludes farm laborers, who are much more poorly paid.

Let us take the higher figure. A wage of 2,770 rubles a year means 231 rubles a month. At the official rate of exchange a ruble is worth a little less than 20 cents, so 231 rubles would be about $46.

But a ruble is worth very much less than 20 cents in purchasing power. It is reasonable to estimate that its buying value in Russia is about 5 or 6 cents, as measured in world prices. What the average Russian workman gets in real money is between $12 and $14 a month.

Now compare these wages with the exorbitant prices charged for food and clothing. A cut of beef costs about $1.30 a pound. Eggs are ten for $1 and milk 32 cents a quart. An ordinary suit of clothes costs $110. Woollen underwear, a vital necessity in the cold regions, sets the purchaser back about $28 a suit.

The prices given by Mr. McDermott are translated into dollars at the current rate of exchange. When wages are translated into dollars at the same rate, you have some idea how far a monthly wage of $46 will go in buying the necessities of life.

Evidently all are not on the same plane in Russia. Some are more fortunate than others. Mr. McDermott states there is a relatively small, but numerically large proportion of skilled workers, artisans and specialists who receive many times the average wage, and they have more money than they know what to do with in Russia. "These folks," he says, "absorb the goods that are out of reach of the rank and file."

In some quarters it is believed that discontent among the Soviet workers is one of the main causes for the executions among the "higher ups." In this connection Mr. McDermott says:

Faced with discontent and inertia on the part of large bodies of workers, the Soviet regime has had to fix the blame on leaders and conspirators, for a proletarian state cannot admit that it is having trouble with the masses for whom it was theoretically created and to whom it owes its existence.

If this truly represents a cross-section of things in Russia, then those who advocate the adoption of Communism in this and other countries are up against a stiff proposition in endeavoring to "sell" their pet theories.

More Variety in Speeches Needed

Ontario Leaders Charged With Repeating Same Flights of Oratory Everywhere

(From the Timmins Free Press.)

PREMIER HEPBURN has completed a tour of the North and Hon. Earl Rowe is about to launch one.

It is to be hoped for the sake of their audiences that both will see fit to add a little variety to their addresses.

In the old days, it was quite the usual thing for a politician to labor over one speech, try it out on the dog in several minor meetings and let the same fiery oratory carry him through a whole campaign. At the end of the campaign it was certainly a finely worked up piece of oratory. It was new everywhere it was heard in those horse and buggy days, because meetings were far enough apart that there was little chance of the auditors being in at a repeat performance.

Old time newspapermen assigned to the campaigns suffered the worst. They heard constant repetitions of speeches which probably made them somewhat cynical and contemptuous of the art of oratory, especially if, as often happened and does yet, they had prepared the speeches themselves.

But now radio has offered a new outlet and a new problem to political speaking.

It had been a tremendous factor in political campaigns of late. It enables political leaders to address thousands upon thousands where a few years back it was possible only to reach the hundreds.

But if radio has become a new factor in politics, it is also imposes a new burden on the political speakers, especially the leaders.

In this district, it has been possible to hear Premier Hepburn three times within the last week; once from Stratford, Friday night from Sudbury and in person at one or another of such points as Kapuskasing, Timmins, Kirkland Lake and Haileybury, Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday.

With only minor variations, it was the same platform effort.

Hon. Earl Rowe was heard in his platform pronunciation from Barrie the other night over the air and no doubt will be available over the air again to the district as well as in person. He is equally guilty of making few changes in the old routine speech.

It is realized, of course, in making this criticism that the top leaders could not be expected to hatch a new speech at every meeting. But they might strive for more variation in the cackle.

SCHOOL POPULATION.

(Kitchener Record)

WITH ALL the talk of the effects of birth control, the influence on the size of families caused by the depression and the reduction in child population through a general tendency on the part of couples to marry later in life, Kitchener still carries on with an increasing school population from year to year.

Authorities in the United States who have been making a survey of conditions over the last five years see a definite tendency for a decrease in the school population. It is said the school children are fewer in number than ten years ago.

Those who are making the survey maintain that in another few decades children and those in middle life will be out numbered by the aged and the pensioners.

These may all be conditions seen in the future by those who compute totals by speculative figures, but the fact that Kitchener goes on filling its schools year after year and showing a steady increase indicates a tendency in this community to be normal and to adhere to the standards that through the centuries have contributed to the stability of society.

QUALITY EGGS.

(Kitchener Record)

FARMERS might well give thought to what Prof. H. E. Botsford of the Cornell agricultural extension service has to say about hens being the primary price fixer. He explains this term by stating that a difference of several cents per dozen may be received for eggs, according to size and shape as well as quality. It is obvious that the quality of an egg depends upon the feed and water consumed by the hen; and, after it is laid, on the care, especially the temperature provided for it. But size and shape must be bred for, separately, not being related to each other and very slightly affected by feed.

Professor Botsford points out that a 24 to 27 ounce (per dozen) egg is a money maker, and pullet flocks should be laying more than 50 per cent eggs of this weight after three months.

A PUBLIC SERVANT.

(Mound City (Mo.) News-Independent)

A MAYOR in a city of the fourth class gets a lot more experience stopping barking dogs, enforcing the chicken-garden ordinance, and keeping property owners from fencing in the outlying streets for cow and pig lots than he does laying corner stones in city halls, dedicating parks, or cutting the ribbons to release traffic to newly-opened boulevards. That is why he is paid $100 a year. No mayor ever drew pay enough to compensate him for half the bother he had endured.

ERECT BUILDINGS BLOMFIELD MINE

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, Sept. 17.A number of men started work this week erecting buildings and making preparations for the sinking of a shaft on the mining property about four miles east of Marmora, and just south of No. 7 Highway.

It is stated four buildings will be erected, including one for the power plant, a blacksmith shop, a shaft house, and an office. Assays taken from the property at various times have shown gold in paying quantities, and with options on some adjoining properties, optimism prevails for the development of a profitable mine.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

World wheat prices stepped ahead to-day with Winnipeg leading the way when it became apparent there was a scarcity of cash wheat at present prices to meet demand though export buying totalled 500,000 bushels. Wheat futures closed 2¼ to 1¼ cents higher, October $1.26⅛, November, $1.26⅝, December, $1.23⅛, and May $1.24⅝ to ⅝.

Traders said the demand for cash wheat on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day was probably the heaviest in years.

Wheat futures steadily gained three cents and while farmers showed unwillingness to part with their new-crop grain, premiums on No. 1 Northern cash wheat bounded up 7¼ cents about the October wheat future. No. 2 Northern was quoted 3¼ cents more than the October future.

DR. S. J. SIMS DIES IN FENELON

LINDSAY, Sept. 17.—Laird Gamble, had a narrow escape on Kent street when he was struck by a hit-and-run driver. Mr. Gamble was crossing the thoroughfare when he was run down by a car, which, it is claimed, slowed down and then started away. The victim of the accident received several cuts and was badly shaken up. His injuries would have been more serious had he not been thrown clear of the car by the impact. Chief of Police Lawler secured the license number of the car.

Word has been received of the death in Fargo, North Dakota, of Orma Hall, a former resident of Reaboro, and brother of Nelson Hall, of Ops Township. Besides Mr. Hall, deceased is survived by his wife and one sister.

Dr. S. J. Sims Dead

The death is announced at Fenelon Falls of a former member of Lindsay town council, in the person of Dr. S. J. Sims. The deceased, who was in his seventieth year, was a native of Fenelon Township. For a number of years he taught school in this district and later attended Dental College. He practiced his profession in Lindsay, Fenelon Falls and Sault Ste. Marie. He is survived by his mother, one sister and a brother.

The sudden death is recorded at Calgary, Alberta, of Dr. John N. Gunn, formerly of Beaverton, and a gentleman well known in this district. The deceased had just returned from a trip to the Maritimes and Labrador when death claimed him. He was born in Beaverton and was a graduate of Toronto University. During the war he saw active service with the rank of Colonel of the 8th Field Ambulance Brigade. He was awarded the D.S.O. for his services.

RECORD IS SET UP AS CROWDS FLOCK TO LINDSAY FAIR

LINDSAY, Sept. 17.—Attendance records for Citizens' Day at the Lindsay Central Exhibition were broken yesterday, when the grounds were literally black with kiddies. All schools and places of business were closed and practically the entire populace flocked to the Fair.

Chief attraction for the children, of coures, was the gigantic all-Canadian Midway. The grandstand was filled to capacity when the first showing of the free acts was presented, horse races run and the finals of the Lindsay Softball League played. Music was provided by the Lindsay Citizens' Band.

To-day will be Farmers' Day, when arriculturists from all parts of Victoria and Haliburton Counties will attend.

Features on the program include the visit of the St. Mary's Boys' Bugle Band of Toronto, who will be seen and heard in drill displays and concerts.

Horse racing will again occupy the spotlight, and a girls' softball tournament also will be held.

Judging Completed

Judging was completed yesterday in several classes. In the floral section, Mrs. E. E. Dillman of Little Britain took first place in the plants class with three first awards; E. L. Metherill of Oakwood won twelve first prizes and the seconds in the cut-flowers section and C. D. Downer of Peterborough gained twelve firsts and one second in this class. J. M. Lowes of Peterborough swept the board in the roots and vegetables classes, winning eight firsts and seven second prizes. Grain and seeds classes saw Robert Armstrong of Ida as high winner, while Mrs. C. Webber of Fenelon Falls was high in the sheaf exhibit. Mrs. I. Lowe of Ira won five firsts in the dairy products class. Mrs. P. Greenan of Lindsay was high in the bottled goods classes and Mrs. Edgar Martin of Fenelon Falls won the greatest number of awards in the baking section.

Miss Patricia Harris of Omemee proved herself an adept artist, winning practically all the first prizes in the original oil paintings, original and copy water colors, pastel, charcoal and crayon, and pen and ink classes. Mrs. W. A. McColl of Wooler was high in the oil copy class. In the junior arts and crafts section, Betty Haines of Manilla won the most awards.

Entries in the ladies' work classes were particularly large and of excellent quality. In the living-room accessories classes, Mrs. W. J. Ruttle of Udoro, won the greatest number of awards. Mrs. W. Webster of Oakwood was high in dining-room classes; Mrs. H. E. Kemp of Cannington in kitchen classes, and Mrs. W. A. McColl of Wooler, in bedroom classes.

Mrs. Ruttle swept the board in ladies and childrens wear; Mrs. F. C. Boxart was high in mens wear, and Mrs. Kemp won the most prizes in the quilt classes.

The Womens Institute special for canning and preserving, baking and sewing and handicraft was won by the Manilla Institute, with Reaboro placing second, and Cambray third.

Boys Exhibit Stock

One of the feature attractions yesterday was the Boys' Inter-Calf Club and Inter-Foal Club competitions sponsored by the Federal and Provincial Departments of Agriculture and the Fair Board. Entries in all classes were large and it was with justifiable pride that the boys paraded their prize-winning stock in front of the grandstand. Each animal was raised by the youthful exhibitor.

Prize-winners were:

Foals—James Walker, Fenelon Falls; Joseph Cayley, Lindsay; James Hutton, Little Britain; Kenneth Graham, Lindsay.

Beef calves—Robert Parkin, Little Britain; Henry Mark, Little Britain; Lloyd Ashmore, Dunsford; Leonard Webster, Oakwood.

Dairy calves—Robert Reeds, Reaboro; Jack Callaghan, Reaboro; Stuart Hickson, Lindsay; Gerald Murphy, Lindsay.

Anti-Red Exhibit

LABOR CONGRESS TO AVOID DISPUTE

don't propose to allow the division that exists among us to approach a point where there will be schism in our ranks. I don't think those who are partisan in supporting the C.I.O. movement are going to maintain there can be no sovereignty in our own movement.

"We have got to recognize the spirit of sovereignty and the power of discipline," Bruce said. "If not our movement would become one genuine rabble and we would never get anywhere. The relative merits of organization are not within the merits of this organization to determine—either whether we are members of the C.I.O. or members of the craft organizations—that all belongs to the superior body to which you are attached."

Charters Only Suspended

Bruce declared further:

"Every one of the organizations now within the structure of the C.I.O. originally carried American Federation of Labor charters. Those charters have not been cancelled, but merely suspended, but in the near future very definite and determined action is going to be taken by that superior body, and when that decision is made, if we are going to recognize the sovereignty of that body we must loyally accept the decision."

The Torontonian said, "It is not and never was the intention of the C.I.O. to raid membership of any established national or international union or to infringe upon the rights of any chartered national or international union."

"We want to dissipate the idea the Premier of this province is trying to leave with some people, that this (the C.I.O.) is such an octopus it is going to overawe us. It is not the octupus he is trying to make us believe. There are no blood suckers in this movement."

Fred Collins, another Toronto delegate, declared organized labor was facing elements which sought to disrupt the trade unions movement.

"We are faced with jackals who are interested in taking from the workers of Canada the rights that belong to them," Collins said. "Duplessis and Hepburn are waiting with bated breath for the time when the international trade union movement will split.

"We are fighting an organized gang of robbers. We must be ready to meet these jackals and robbers of the people of Canada," added Collins.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Women's Hospital Auxiliary Is Given History of Nicholls Hospital

The first general meeting of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary was held in St. Andrew's Sunday School Hall on Wednesday afternoon. A splendid turnout of ladies, the hall being nearly filled, showed the wide interest and enthusiasm aroused by this splendid new organization.

The meeting was opened with a hymn, and prayer by the pastor of St. Andrew's, the Rev E. W. Young, who extended a welcome. Mrs. S. J. Graham, who was appointed president of the new auxiliary, then took over. Mrs. Graham explained that the purpose of the meeting was to discuss the constitution of the auxiliary, the election of officers for 1937-38, and to make provision for additional members to the board. The Women's Hospital Auxiliary was organized in June, when two ladies from each of twelve churches were appointed to form the board. They are: President, Mrs. S. J. Graham; 1st Vice-president, Mrs. J. Comstock; 2nd Vice-preaident, Mrs. A. H. A. Robinson; Corresponding secretary, Miss E. M. Morrow; Recording secretary, Mrs. J. J. Turner; Treasurer, Mrs. W. Tinker; Executive: Mesdames H. G. Walker, J. P. Halcrow, F. B. Elliott, J. Donaldson, I. Lillico, R. Ross; Balance of board, Mesdames J. Detcher, E. Huffman, G. S. Matthews, J. B. Wharry, F. M. DelaFosse, C. L. Upper, J. W. Kelly, B. Morrison, H. Lane, A. Roseborough, C Hughes, D. Diplock. With the appointment of the above board provision was made yesterday for a committee of four to act with the president in choosing six additional members. The committee is: Mrs. C. Warrander, Mrs. W. R. Turner, Mrs. Franks, and Miss Mary Elliott.

Mrs. J. J Turner, the recording secretary, read the sixteen clauses of the constitution, which were adopted. Among other things they provide that "the object of the society shall be to assist the Hospital in every way possible, most particularly in creating favorable hospitalmindedness in the community; to provide small comforts to public ward patients, social service in connection with the Hospital; assist any avenue to advance hospitalization in the community."

A most comprehensive and well prepared paper on the history, management, equipment, and present needs of Nicholls Hospital was given by Miss E. M. Morrow, the recording secretary.

"Nicholls Hospital and the work that it does," said Miss Morrow, "is an enduring perpetuation and practical application of the noble spirit of charity and goodwill which inspired Mrs. Charlotte J. Nicholls to so beneficently discharge the trust she felt reposed in her."

In 1885 the late Mrs. Nicholls, for a memorial of her husband, the late Robert Nicholls, acquired and set apart "Moira Hall," in North Monaghan, as a hospital to be known as Nicholls Hospital, together with an endowment of $15,000. This accommodation soon being found inadequate, Mrs. Nicholls in 1889 provided means for a new building—the original part of Nicholls Hospital.

In the past twenty years many changes have been made in the hospital in the way of decorating and equipment, and in the use of every available space. In 1921-22 the X-ray room was enlarged and brought up to date. In 1932 a laboratory was organized and equipped by Dr. McNair, in charge of the Provincial Laboratory, and since that time all laboratory work has been taken care of at the hospital. In 1922 Nicholls Hospital met the requirements of the American Hospital Association, and became a standardized hospital. Miss Morrow listed improvements in private rooms and wards, mentioning the enlargement of the office staff and the remodelling of the offices. She described how the steam generated in the laundry is now brought to the hospital and utilized and the vast improvements made possible by this. Many other improvements have been added throughout the hospital.

"Nicholls Hospital is a general hospital open to the care of the sick regardless of creed or color," stated the speaker. Miss Morrow spoke of the increasing number of patients treated and the crowded conditions which often prevail, with as many as five patients having to be refused admission in one day. Speaking of the Training School for Nurses, Miss Morrow showed that though a residence for nurses was bought in 1920 and enlarged in 1926, the accommodation is at present quite inadequate.

A list of the donations through the years was given, headed by five thousand dollars from the late B. F. Ackerman. Miss Morrow mentioned the splendid gifts of the Peter Robinson Chapter of the I.O.D.E., the Otonabee Chapter, I.O.D.E., and from many other societies. She gave a list of the generous donations to the hospital at Christmas time, and visits from several organizations. In concluding her address Miss Morrow showed clearly the pressing need for further accommodation at the hospital.

Dr. J. M. McCulloch, chairman of the Board of Management of the Hospital, E. F. Mason, honorary secretary, and E. B. Fowler, secretary-treasurer, were present and briefly addressed the meeting, bringing the appreciation and good wishes of the Board.

Mrs. Graham set forth the services which a careful study had found could be rendered by the Auxiliary. These included sewing, supplying paper bags, visits by board members each week to the public wards, gifts of flowers, fruit and books (being careful not to interfere with the work of other organizations), gifts of clothing for patients leaving with insufficient to wear, car service, providing electric fans for the hot dining-rooms where the nurses eat their meals, and entertaining of pupil nurses strange to the city.

The membership fee of twenty-five cents was paid by the members, the president making an earnest plea for each member to persuade thirty other ladies to join in the new work, and stressed very strongly that all denominations and religions are asked to become members. Mrs. Graham also mentioned that the Ontario Hospital Convention will be held in Toronto on October 20, and will be attended by some of the members of the Board, others members invited to attend also.

At the conclusion of the meeting, tea was served by the Board in the Ladies' Parlors of St. Andrew's Church.

The College Girl Will Like Pajamas

PAJAMAS ARE important in the college girl's wardrobe. She needs pajamas for lounging and sleeping. To curl up in a big chair with her books and wearing a smart and becoming pajama is relaxing and conducive to study.

The type of pajama ensemble that Mary Carlisle is wearing would intrigue any college girl. They are black velvet and are designed by Edith Head, Hollywood designer. There is a dainty blouse of flesh colored organdie and lace, which adds a decidedly feminine touch to these lounging pajamas.

The trousers are built high about the hipline, and the bolero, with its short sleeves and dainty cuffs, is definitely flattering.

Dormitory slacks of corduroy are also a good bet for the college girl. The suit consists of jacket and slacks and cap.

For the sleeping type of pajamas striped cottons are good for the first few weeks of college, and some very nifty models are being shown in the shops.

SIMPLE WHITE DRESS SEASON'S SMARTEST

White crepe evening gown created for Claudette Colbert by Travis Banton, Hollywood designer, featuring wide, circular skirt and narrow girdle of braided crepe, and worn with diamond and ruby clip and bracelet.

By LISBETH

HAVE YOU ever noticed that the best dressed women in the world dress the simplest? It is true. The materials usually are very fine, the accessories are beautifully chosen, and the lines are just right. They are simple, but beautifully cut, the garments exquisitely made, and worn with distinction.

Claudette Colbert, brown-eyes screen star, is considered one of the best dressed women of the film colony, and her dresses are seldom elaborate. The one pictured is a sample—a lovely dress and designed for the new social season by Travis Banton.

The skirt is a generous affair cut circular, and there is a narrow girdle of braided crepe around the waistline. The dress is made of white crepe.

Miss Colbert wears a clip of diamonds and rubies which has a companion-piece bracelet, with this lovely white dress.

Contrast in Silhouette

Contrast, that magic word of present fashions, is used for silhouettes as well as colors. For instance, in evening dresses, wide skirts are combined with slim, fitted bodices; and molded and draped bodices with slim skirts. The latter type of bodice is very becoming and wearable, the bodices with bosoms well defined but deft drapings and twists of material making softly draped effects. The skirts are pencil-slim, often slit to facilitate walking. A distinguished, sophisticated effect is achieved.

Veils are featured for evening wear. Sometimes they are attached to little sequin caps for evening, and sometimes short, flared veils are worn posed over the coiffure, as was done last season. The newest thing is a long veil—30 inches, to be explicit—worn with or without a cap.

For the "cocktail suit" are shown a number of blouses of formal character. In this class fringe blouses are newer than lames, sequins and satins. One allover fringed silk has the fringes about three inches wide in overlapping horizontal rows, and there are narrower allover fringed effects in lames.

Separate jackets for evening wear are Big News in Paris showings. Peplums are longer, fabric weaves are new, a tapestry stitch being used in one model, in a design of green branches, red and green leaves and brown velvet deer.

Traynor—Shine

DOWNEYVILLE, Sept. 17. — St. Mary's Church, Lindsay, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Monday morning at 9 o'clock when Mabel, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Shine, of Downeyville, was united in holy bonds of matrimony to Leo Traynor, son of Mrs. Traynor and the late Joseph Traynor of Ops. Rev. Father Hoolihan of Huntsville, a cousin of the bride, performed the ceremony and said the Nuptial Mass, which was attended by a large number of friends and relatives from Downeyville and Lindsay.

The bride looked lovely in the conventional white with wreath and veil and white accessories, and was escorted to the altar by her father to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Ruth Shannon, the church organist. She was attended by her sister Viola, who was attired in maize chiffon with accessories. Norbert Traynor assisted his brother as groomsman.

After the ceremonw the bridal party motored to the bride's home at Downeyville, where about eighty guests sat down to a sumptuous dinner. The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Rev. Father Hoolihan of Huntsville and Father McFadden of Downeyville were among the guests present. After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Traynor left for a brief honeymoon to Detroit, Mich., and other points, and on their return will reside in Ops.

Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Hickey and son Frank of Detroit, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Dave Garvey of Douro, and a large number from Lindsay. Many showers were tendered the popular bride. Mrs. Frank Campbell of Lindsay entertained at a shower and all the neighbors of the groom gathered at Murphy's School and presented the young couple with a purse of gold.

MacMullen—White

TWEED, Sept. 17.—A very pretty September wedding ceremony was solemnized by Rev. J. E. Beckel at Rawdon United Church Parsonage, on Wednesday, September 15, when Marguerite Nancy, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mr. Ernest White of Mount Pleasant, became the bride of Leon Keith James, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. William MacMullen of Alkin's community in Sidney Township, in the presence of over thirty-five relatives.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in a regency gown of ivory bridal satin, fashioned on long princess lines with an ensemble coat of silk embroidered net. A finger tip white silk tulle veil caught about her dark hair with a bandeau of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of Bettercrest roses with maiden hair fern.

The bridesmaid, Miss Eileen MacMullen, cousin of the groom, was gowned in an ankle-length tailored frock of blush pink flowered silk chiffon over taffeta with velvet trimming. A halo hat of Belgium blue velvet with a veil and white accessories. She carried a bouquet of pink gladioli, baby's breath and fern.

Mr. L. White, brother of the bride, was groomsman.

The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful set of silverware; to the bridesmaid, a Stratton compact, and to the groomsman, a military set.

Following a reception, the happy couple left on a trip to Toronto and other Western Ontario points. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm in the Township of Sidney.

Morrow—Buchanan

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the Pentecostal church when Madeline Susan Buchanan, daughter of Mrs. Wannamaker and the late Thomas Buchanan, of Havelock, was united in marriage to Wilbert George Morrow, son of Mrs. Morrow and the late Robert Morrow of Asphodel. The Rev. C. A. Harris performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a pale blue "crystal" crepe dress, with finely plaited waist and long full sleeves caught tightly at the wrists. Her corsage was a cluster of violets.

The attendants were Miss Dorothy Smith, cousin of the bride, and Fred Morrow, brother of the groom. The former wore a dress of pink crepe, trimmed with flowers in shades of pink and blue. Her hat and accessories were white.

Following the ceremony, refreshments were served to the bridal party and immediate relatives, after which the happy couple left, amid showers of confetti, for a motor trip to western points. The bride travelled in a navy dress with white trimmings, a blue tweed coat and navy accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Morrow will reside in Asphodel.

Reid—Weatherilt

JANETVILLE, Sept. 16.—A quiet wedding was solemnized on Saturday, September 11, in the Queen Street United church, Lindsay, by the Rev. H. C. Wolfrain, M.A., B.D., when Myrtle Ida, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Weatherilt, of Caesarea, Ont became the bride of Mr. William Elliott Reid, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Reid, Clarke, Ont.

The bride entered the church to the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Marian Taylor of Nestleton, and attended by her sister, Mrs. Percy Hamilton, of Janetville. She wore a beautiful gown of pink sheer over taffeta on long princess lines, with a long tulle veil and headdress of orange blossoms. The bridesmaid wore appliqued net over brown tangerine crepe with accessories to match. The flowers were bouquets of roses and asters.

Mr. Jack Reid, brother of the groom, was best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mr. and Mrs. P. Hamilton of Janetville, when the bride's mother received the guests, gowned in black crepe with lace trimmings and a corsage of roses, and was assisted by the groom's mother, who wore black crepe, with cut velvet and a corsage of roses.

Later, amid showers of confetti, the bride and groom left on an extended motor trip to Ottawa, North Bay and other points.

The bride travelled in a dress of blue tangerine crepe with navy accessories. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Reid will take up residence in Clarke, Durham county.

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

YET he was kind, or, if severe in aught,
The love he bore to learning was in fault.
The village all declared how much he knew,
'Twas certain he could write and cipher, too.
While words of learned length and thundering sound
Amaz'd the gazing rustic's rang'd around.
And still they gazed, and still the wonder grew,
That one small head should carry all he knew."

Dear Friends:

This is an answer to the many letters I have received lately, so read closely and you will see a reply to yours. There are too many to give separate replies.

L.G. likes quite a lot of the things I write, but thinks I shouldn't use slang. Thanks, L.G., but don't you think it is very expressive sometimes? I could use a lot of big words, but I do not think you would like them so well.

To the lady who thinks I was inspired to write for her and her problems. Maybe I was, who knows. God uses many ways to help us in our problems. I shall continue to pray for you. Let me know if the burdens lift.

S.T. tells me she wrote for a private reply, and I did not answer. I did not get your letter. Are you sure it was mailed, or is it not resting in someone's pocket, or pocket book? Thank you for all the nice things you say, and am so glad I have been of so much help.

L.L.A. is a young man who is very shy. Thank you, my dear, for your comments, and I think I wrote an article for you, so look for it, and let me know how you make out.

"Peter Pan" wants an article on a forbidden subject. I do try to cover various things, so you will have variety, but I cannot take digs at any one person or any group of persons. It isn't fair to hit anyone through the medium of my column, nor to hit when they cannot hit back. Try having a good talk with these people yourself. Thank you for your nice remarks.

"Quid Est." I still owe you a letter, but whether it is the heat up in this place or not, I don't know, but I have been laggy and tired for weeks now. However, one day soon I will get caught up, and in the meantime, best wishes, thank you, and cheerio.

Mrs. W.—You are carrying a heavy burden and I am so sorry. It may comfort you to remember that the good times don't last, and the bad ones cannot last either. Pray for strength to carry this well, and God will send compensations. That you can be sure of, and He never fails us. God bless you, and do write again. Am humbly glad I have been of help.

To the Secretary of a Woman's Club.—Thank you so much for such a very lovely letter. It is nice to know you all like my column so much and that you have friendly discussions about it. Are you ever wondering if I may have heard one or two? No, I am not a member, and you do not know me at all, neither do I know any of the members. I did go once with a visiting member from out of town. Thanks a lot.

And to those who do not want their identity known, all letters are destroyed after being answered. Thank you, one and all, for your kind messages, and I am so glad my column is doing what it is meant to do, help you, and put courage into you and sometimes amuse and interest you.

N.W.S.—Do tell your mother all about this. Had you enclosed a stamped addressed envelope I should have given you a private reply. But do nothing rash until you talk it over with someone older than yourself. You think you know what you are doing, but you are too close to the woods to see the trees.

And now I will conclude with this: "I would not undervalue the culture of the intellect, but would exalt the culture of the heart" (O.S.M.).

Your Very Dear Friend,
ROBERTA.

Mayor Macdonald Addresses L.C.of W.

The Local Council of Women held their opening meeting of the Fall season in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A. on Thursday afternoon. The President, Mrs. C. M. Scott, was in the chair, and welcomed the large attendance of members.

The secretary, Mrs. J. Cridland, and the treasurer, Mrs. Tremaine, gave their respective reports, and two convenors were heard from. Mrs. Joseph Mills, convenor of "Trades and Professions for Women," gave a short talk upon some of the prevailing conditions locally. Mrs. George Nelson, convenor of "Housing and Town Planning," gave a brief outline of her work and read an interesting clipping dealing with the subject.

Discussion arose regarding the forthcoming visit of the Provincial Executive. As this does not take place until February, plenty of time is given for adequate preparation. The matter will be brought up again at a later date. The Autumn Tea will be held at the home of Mrs. Breckenridge, 315 Pearl Avenue, some time in October or November, the date to be announced later.

The guest speaker for the afternoon was Mayor George A. Macdonald. Introduced by the president, the Mayor spoke in detail upon the workings of the City Council. He explained fully the functioning of each department, and went very thoroughly into the workings of the Finance committee, showing where the city taxes go. He paid tribute to the men who give their time in serving the city in the different capacities. The Mayor made special mention of the City Trust of Peterborough, declaring it to be unique, inasmuch as he believes it is the only one in Canada. The City Trust of Peterborough was formed in 1851, and at that time the members were elected for life. Now they are elected for a term of five years.

Mayor Macdonald spoke feelingly of the men who have served Peterborough in the past—men like James F. Stevenson, who served the city for fifty years. "Those pioneers of civic office laid a very solid foundation, and set a very high standard, and their successors to-day have a lot to live up to, if they wish to follow in their steps." The speaker closed his fine address on the note of "leadership" and left it to the meeting as to whether the right kind of leadership is given to the young people growing up in the city, as this is a vital matter.

Mrs. Scott warmly thanked His Worship for giving his time to address the Local Council of Women, and urged him to return at a future date.

String Orchestra Members All Women

STOCKTON CAL. has an orchestra of women organized in 1936 and having 20 members. Virginia L. Short was the founder and is director and it was under her baton that the orchestra gave three concerts in the past year.

The "Sinfonetta" as it is called, does not infringe upon the territory of the Stockton Symphony orchestra, as it is at present composed only of string players. Gradual addition of brass and wind instruments is planned, but the chamber orchestra size will be maintained. There are two sets of mother and daughter playing in this group of musicians.

Miss Short has studied conducting at the Mozarteum academy at Salzburg, Austria.

THIRD MAN HAS ENTERED FIELD IN PETERBOROUGH

canning and processing industries under public ownership," she said. "Evictions and foreclosures on farm property will be prohibited. The Province will gradually take over farm mortgages at low interest."

In Canada there is a tragedy deeper than the Mississippi flood disaster, the speaker continued. "In Saskatchewan there are one million people on relief today." The great drought area of that province was forecast two decades ago by scientists who reported to the Dominion Government, asking them to discourage homesteaders from settling the land there and destroying the necessary surface grass. She declared: "That report was filed in the archives of your Federal Government and given no publicity. That land which now threatens to become the North American desert, later became part of a huge C.P.R. land boom."

The C.C.F. youth movement in the West has packed and shipped hundreds of carloads of fruit and vegetables from Manitoba, less than 300 miles from the drought area to alleviate distress, she said. In that area of Manitoba pork prices compel farmers to let their produce rot on the ground, she claimed. "Poverty in the midst of plenty is the curse of our present economic system," she declared.

The C.C.F. party pledges fair wages and working conditions through collective bargaining, she stated. "Employers will be compelled by law to negotiate with the representatives of unions chosen by their employees. Severe penalties will be imposed on employers for intimidation, discrimination and the use of spies. Company unions will be prohibited and the use of injunctions in labor dispute will be abolished."

Labor Legislation.

Most strikes are caused by refusal of employers to discuss their employees' grievances, she maintained. "The farmer-labor government in New Zealand has not been faced with a single strike since it went into power.

"It won't matter whether a child is the child of a coomer or a millionaire under the C.C.F. regime. He will have the same chance for higher education." She promised that education will be extended with equality of opportunity for all through an extensive program of scholarships.

"If war were declared tomorrow the Government of this country would give free medical attention to every young man to insure that he would be healthy when he was shot," she declared, scoring lack of free health service which she said her party would institute by means of a system of state medicine and hospitalization.

"The Province will deal with the slum clearance and housing problem by launching in town and country construction of at least 20,000 low-rental houses a year. Don't think this is a charitable thing. Every slum wiped out of a city removes a source of disease."

In the city of Peterborough families are living far below the sustenance level, she said. She laid the blame at the feet of the economic system rather than the municipal authorities. "The C.C.F. government will resolutely provide decent maintenance for the unemployed until all who are able-bodied find work through such measures as the government's housing program and the lowering of working hours by collective bargaining and legislation."

"Our party is like St. Francis of Assisi, pledged to poverty. Our funds have to come from the workers. We have no party slush fund whose contributors are the real bosses of the party. We don't need much. Our last Federal campaign in this riding cost us $65. You don't get free beer from the C.C.F."

She announced that King Gordon, son of author Ralph Connor, will be a speaker at a C.C.F. rally here Tuesday night.

Plans Expansion

A plan to transform Czechoslovakia into a European nation capable of supporting a population nearly three times its present size has been published by Jan Anton Bata (ABOVE), head of Europe's biggest shoe factory. Bata made public his plan in a book entitled "We Will Build a State for 40,000,000 People." The plan for making Czechoslovakia self supporting would be to develop the long, narrow eastern strip of the country comprising Slovakia and Carpatho-Ruthenia.

threatened to close the mines in the north rather than countenance the C.I.O."

He also accused the premier with playing politics in connection with legislation passed, and later repealed, to give separate schools a larger share of corporation taxes. This legislation, he charged, was "never intended to operate except for political purposes."

Before Mr. Rowe's remarks at New Liskeard regarding the school tax legislation, Dr. J. H. Joyal of Haileybury, a French-Canadian, told the gathering the Conservative leader "will do as much or more than any Liberal" on the school question.

No Pussyfooting

"There is no newspaper in the city of Toronto and there is no organization of men and women in Ontario that is going to deter me from maintaining fair play for the minority and a square deal for the majority," said Mr. Rowe. He denied "pussyfooting on the issue" but as leader of a great party he "stood for fair play to every class, race and creed."

In an address during the New Liskeard meeting, Hon. W. A. Gordon, former Dominion Minister of Immigration, charged the government within the last year and a half entered into nine timber contracts without competitive bidding. The contracts gave companies timber cutting rights on 23,275 square miles of timber land in the north, he claimed.

Five of the contracts were entered into within a week of the day the election date was announced. The nine contracts disposed of 72,500,000 cords of Northern Ontario spruce and contained no clause for th customary processing of the timber in the province.

"At the present time there is not left in the name of the Crown, one single commercial spruce limit in Northern Ontario," he charged. The contracts were reached "behind closed doors and in defiance of the Crown Timber Act."

Northern Ontario was sold "down the river" by Hon. Peter Heenan, present Ontario Minister of Lands and Forest, said Mr. Gordon. Ontario workers cutting the wood obtained $35 a month. The United States processors got about that much a week.

should not be criticized for resisting foreign interference, he said.

Canadian labor organizations and "their recognized affiliation, the American Federation of Labor," offered ample scope for organization activities, Mr. Hepburn said. "If Martin is justified in keeping the C.I.O. free from foreign interference, why should Canadian labor be criticized for asking the same right?"

He deplored as "unfortunate" the fact "foreign agitators" were allowed into Canada under the immigration act.

Turning to a challenge by Mayor Alex Hall of Oshawa to debate the C.I.O. issue, Premier Hepburn said, "When I start to fight, I don't fight in the lightweight class. I take on fellows my own size."

He reiterated his charge Conservatives were advocating strict liquor policies in dry sections, wet in wet districts. The Conservative club in Kingston had a club license to sell beer. "All you have to do is look at their sales figures to see that the Tories of Kingston are wet, no matter how dry they may be elsewhere."

JAPS USE CAVALRY IN NORTH VICTORY

PEIPING, Sept. 17—(AP)—Japanese reported today the centre of the Chinese battlefront in North China had been shattered and Gen. Wan Fu-Lin's Manchurian divisions were in full retreat.

Latest Japanese advices from the front 30 miles due south of here said the 100-mile long Chinese line had been split and its left wing was being driven to the west by pursuing Japanese.

Japanese headquarters described the advance as the greatest offensive undertaken by the Japanese army since the Russo-Japanese war.

The capture of Gen. Wan's headquarters at Kuanhsien, just south of the Yungting River, was said to have exposed his right flank and threatened to fold up all Chinese forces between Peiping and Tientsin.

The fall of Kuanhsien opened the way for a wide wheeling movement to the west along the highway from Peiping to Paotingfu, the Chinese general headquarters. Such a Japanese move would drive straight across the centre of Hopeh Province.

Japanese troops were advancing across the Yungting River. Some 60,000 were said to have taken part in the rout of the eight Chinese divisions—about 100,000 men—along the western 70 miles of the North China front.

Behind a spearhead of 20,000 Japanese cavalry, strong tank units, mobile artillery and airbombers were pushing the Chinese to the west. Foreign military observers said the cavalry operation was the largest since the Great War.

be free to join any union they wished, said Mr. Mitchell.

Cuts At Rowe Also.

Both Mr. Hepburn and Conservative Leader Earl Rowe lacked a friendly attitude toward labor, Mr. Rowe opposed repeal of Section 98 in the House of Commons, and Mr. Mitchell challenged the Conservative leader to repudiate the former Conservative Government's action in sending troops to Stratford in 1933 when the furniture workers struck.

After an attack on campaign funds of both Conservatives and Liberals, Mr. Mitchell said if elected in his riding of Waterloo South he would introduce in the Legislature a Bill preventing political contributions by "any persons or company acting for the millionaire brewers of Ontario."

Larger taxes on wealth and lower ones for the farmers and homeowners would be the C.C.F. platform. Further, succession duties would be raised to provide for free health services, reduction of municipal taxation on farmers and homeowners.

75 People Injured Drug Plant Fire

WEEHAWKEN, N.J., Sept. 17.—(AP)—Police and fire officials, seeking a cause for the explosions and resulting fire that almost destroyed a two-storey drug plant and injured 75 persons began separate investigations to-day as firemen sought possible victims in the smouldering ruins. The spectacular blaze was at the S. B. Penick and Company factory.

Police estimated damage at "between $200,000 and $250,000."

The fire, Acting Police Chief Michael Lyons said, began in the northern section of the building after an explosion which was "quickly followed by several more."

United Church Presbytery Offers Strenuous Objection To Brewery Advertisements

Rev. Dr. Bryce, Moderator Of The Church, Addresses Regular Meeting

Strenuous objection to the series of newspaper advertisements at present being run by brewing interests was voiced at a meeting of Peterborough Presbytery of the United Church in Canada held at Cavan on Thursday.

The Presbytery deplored the "insidious advertising appearing in the newspapers of the province advocating the moderate use of alcohol," which it was claimed was encouraging young people to drink.

Believing that such advertising was possible because of a loophole in the regulations which say they are legal if they have the sanction of the Board of Control, the Presbytery went on record as protesting the action of the Board in this regard, and believed the "fallacious arguments" used in liquor advertising should be answered by the Church.

The Committee on Evangelism and Social Service was commended to take up the challenge.

A Vital Task.

Members of the Presbytery voiced the opinion that evangelism was a vital part of the Church's task and urged ministers and laymen never to lose sight of their responsibility of bringing men and women to a knowledge of sins forgiven.

That it was stressed was the whole task of the Church of God individually and collectively and every charge was urged to plan a period of special work taking advantage of Holy days and seasons such as Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year, the Week of Prayer, Lent and Eastertide.

The meeting of the Presbytery was presided over by the Rev. E. M. Cook of Fraserville. The Rev. C. C. Miller of Bridgenorth was re-elected as secretary and the Rev. G. W. Wilkins of Warsaw was again chosen as treasurer.

Rev. Dr. Bryce Speaks.

Rev. Dr. Peter Bryce, Moderator of the United Church in Canada, stressed the need of the Church in Western Canada. Recently returned from a 1,500-mile tour of Saskatchewan, the reverend speaker declared he had not seen a bright spot during the whole of that time. It was a tragic contrast to his more recent 800-mile tour of Ontario, he said, when he visited various presbyteries in the province.

Marvelling at the courage of the prairie farmers, Dr. Bryce said they still had faith in the land, and notwithstanding the fact that 260 of the 313 municipalities in Saskatchewan were on relief, and the ground was dried out for want of moisture.

He repeated what he had said to people of the West in a radio message. "The United Church is one from coast to coast. If any one part of the Church suffers we seek to share in your loss and sorrow."

Dr. Bryce began his ministry in Newfoundland in 1903. He briefly reviewed the problems of the fishermen, and declared their market had been lost to them because of League of Nations sanctions against Italy and because of the revolution in Spain. For the people of the stricken fishing communities, he said, the Church sent the same message as it did to the drought-ridden farmers of the West.

Masses Want Peace.

Briefly referring to the Sino-Japanese situation, Dr. Bryce asserted: "I raise my voice with all the strength of my being against such havoc of war. The great masses of the people in every country want peace and what the masses want will eventually come to pass."

He believed the great need of the Church was to be true to the cause of Christ and sound the note of advance.

Another interesting speaker was the Rev. Professor Frank Dickinson of West China University, who brought greetings from the Church of Christ in China and from General Chiang Kai-Shek, whom, he said, "means so much to the Christian forces of that vast country."

Professor Dickinson went to China in 1924 as an evangelist, and he spoke of some of the practical methods by which the Christian Church had sought to help the masses in their fight against ignorance and poverty. He believed the work of the missionary expressed in a practical way the true spirit of Jesus Christ.

Ask Increased Givings.

In their report to Presbytery, the Missionary and Maintenance Committee recommended a 10 per cent. increase in missionary givings. Attention was called to the itinerary of Professor A. A. Scott, who is to visit throughout the Presbytery from September 20 to 30, lecturing on the topic, "Indoor India."

People of the Church were commended by the committee to a study of Dr. Jesse Arnup's book entitled "A New Church Faces a New World," and they were further urged to subscribe to "The Record," an official Church publication, the opinion being expressed that it should be in every home.

Use of the duplex envelope system in conjunction with a canvass of individual members of the various congregations was stated in the opinion of the committee as the best means of financing the Church at home and abroad.

The Religious Education Committee announced a C.G.I.T. Rally for later in the Fall, and among other things a Young People's Educational School to be held at George Street United Church in Peterborough on Saturday of this week at 1.30 p.m.

WORKERS DEMAND TO KNOW STAND OF C.C.F. PARTY

"The votes of the working men and women of this city will be a factor of major decisive importance in the forthcoming elections and are the most sought-after by all parties," said Alex. Welch, secretary of the National Textile Workers' Council, and leader of the recent textile strikes here, in an interview with The Examiner this morning.

"The nomination of William Johnson by the C.C.F., while rather belated, is another sign that the Labor vote here is considered as a 'juicy plum'." Asked regarding his stand on this matter, Mr. Welch, in collaboration with C. S. Jackson, international vice-president of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers' Union, stated "the C.C.F. must come to the workers with their proposals for a program and be prepared to come to an agreement with them regarding a minimum platform related to the immediate life and death struggle for our daily bread. It will not be enough to ask the workers to support any so-called Farmer-Labor candidate without first making very clear just what is meant by 'Farmer-Labor'." The thousands of working people in this city who have, or are now in the process of securing trade union membership will support a trade unionist as a candidate and those not within the folds of the trade union movement will support a Labor ticket providing it will cover their pressing economic problems."

"The local C.C.F., with a Provincial vice-president at its head, should make clear to the workers that it will use every influence to remove splitting candidates, particularly in the Toronto St. Andrew's riding. The local trade unionists were contemplating the nomination of a candidate, but with the nomination of Mr. Johnson, would be ready to support a Labor-C.C.F. candidate who would stand for the principles they desire in their representative. That is, a straight, all-inclusive program based on the every-day requirements of the working people as free, peaceful, law-abiding citizens of Peterborough, "entitled to protection from the bitter exploitation so rampant in this Province and in Peterborough, the enforcement of the workers' right to belong to a union of their own choice, and the enactment of legislation instituting collective bargaining."

Peterboro' Men To Get Preference

Peterborough workmen will be given preference in employment in the remodelling of the Grand Theatre, Mayor Macdonald was informed in a letter today from Harry Dahn, representing the Hanson Theatres Corporation.

Tenders have been called for the extensive alterations the company has planned, but the contract has not yet been let. Mayor Macdonald wrote Mr. Dahn requesting that local workmen be engaged as much as possible regardless of whether the contract is awarded to a Peterborough man. The reply from Mr. Dahn stated that Mr. Hanson was insisting that "local workmen be engaged wherever possible."

MODERN VILLA IS MADE IN MINIATURE

A modern five-roomed villa in miniature, with beads for door handles and toothpaste tubes for fern pots, has been made by Stanley Mace of Streaham Vale, near London, England.

The builder of the minature house made it for his little daughter Peggy and it took him three years to construct, according to a feature story complete with a picture in a recent issue of "The London Evening News".

He is a brother of F. T. Mace of Water street, this city.

The exterior of the doll house is of rough cast, with a dull red tiled roof. The tiles are of thin plywood, painted; there are 1,500 of them.

Shrubs on the tiny porch are made of pipe cleaners dyed green and cunningly twisted, while a hanging basket is suspended by a doll's necklet chain, and is filled with artificial moss made to resemble hanging fern.

Curtains all over the house are of lamp shade fringe, dyed in two shades of flame color. The casement windows are of real glass, and open like "proper" windows.

There is electric light "laid on" and water too.

By pressing a screw in the built-in bath in the bathroom, the tiny cistern discharges water. The bath is "marked" in dark blue. The floor and walls are tiled in blue and white cloth.

The hall mat is a microscopic strip of corduroy velvet, and the winding stairway is carpeted in crimson with brass wires for stair rods.

In the drawing room, the hand-made suite is upholstered in brown velvet, with a divan and two low-set easy chairs in the fashionable "lounge" design.

A tiny fireside rug was made from a piece of an old fur collar, while the wire bars for a wood "electric" stove from bits of wire curtain runners. There is a double-sided mirror which serves two rooms inset in the wall right through.

Wire mattresses of the tiny bedsteads are made of wire netting painted white; the bedsteads themselves are in pastel shades, a different color for each bedroom.

Pictures on the nursery walls are cut out of Christmas crackers, and the ball of the child's rattle, cut in half, makes the inverted marble-looking lampshades in the dining and drawing rooms.

Mr. Mace has made a tropical fishpond in his tiny back garden, and has decorated it with ornamental stonework in a very elegant way. There is a fountain playing in the middle which is his handiwork, and overhead is a trellis-covered arbour with roses and Virginia creeper making a leafy grotto.

Next to the fishpond is an aviary in which a golden pheasant, some fantail pigeons, and cardinal are housed.

C.G.E. PURCHASED SUTHERLAND LOTS

Purchase of the Sutherland estate on Albert Street by the Canadian General Electric Company is reported in real estate circles. The property was formerly the home of the late James Sutherland, and has been occupied in recent years by his son, James. It has a frontage of more than 260 feet on Albert Street, and extends the company's ownership to three-quarters of the distance between Park and Alfred Streets. It is understood that Mr. Sutherland is to vacate the premises within a month. The last of an old orchard was removed this week with a pine tree that has been a landmark along the street for perhaps more than fifty years. At one time it looked down on a little butcher shop where the late James Grady started in business for himself many years ago.

Residents of the south-end expect that eventually the C.G.E. Company will buy the rest of the land along Albert Street, completing the big block between Park Street and Monaghan Road.

T. A. COUGHLAN IS RE-APPOINTED HYDRO SECRETARY

HASTINGS, Sept. 17. — T. A. Coughlan was re-appointed secretary of the Hastings Hydro-Electric Commission at a salary of $175 per year at a postponed meeting of the commission held in the council chambers on Wednesday night with all members present.

Mr. Coughlan's new salary is an increase of $20 per year due to added work for the secretry. His work now is to include a yearly financial statement in detail similar to what would be required of an auditor by December 15. Dr. W. E. Wilson moved the motion for re-appointment and was seconded by H. G. Fairman.

The rebates promised to subscribers on their last bill was not carried out. The chairman, W. Fowlds, had countermanded the order to pay as the secretary said there were not sufficient funds in the bank to cover. The rebate, however, will be forthcoming with the next accounts sent out.

During the discussion of low voltage in some sections of the village, Dr. W. E. Wilson said there might be a shortage of power in the eastern district. Reeve Fairman declared he had made enquiries of the local maintenance man, E. M. Hess, who stated there was an abundance of power to supply the village and rural lines. Mr. Hess confirmed the reeve's statement.

Mr. Hess reported to the commission that a meter at the railway bridge was out of order and they decided to have it sent to Belleville for repairs. He also reported much damage to the rural lines at Westwood and that he had spent considerable time in effecting repairs.

It was moved by Dr. Wilson and seconded by Reeve Fairman, that the cottagers be requested to notify the meter reader, Mr. Hess, when they are closing up their cottages in the fall in order that the meters be given a final reading. This will be carried out by letter.

The following accounts were read and passed: E. M. Hess $37.50, $1.80, $1.20, $6.75; July power account $33.63; Hydro account $270.27; Bell Tel. Co., $2.73; T. A. Coughlan, 12.50; I. Bond, $2.75.

KIWANIS CARNIVAL HELD IN ARMOURIES DRAWS BIG CROWD

Willing response to a worthy cause was seen in the large crowd that found its way into the Armouries on Thursday evening for the opening of the Kiwanis Carnival and 'Produced-in-Peterborough Exhibition.'

Tonight with a car being given away in the final hour of the Carnival and a popularity contest to be decided, it is anticipated the crowd will be even larger, and the members of the Club are hopeful the final result will show a substantial credit balance to be used in their service work among the city's underprivileged children.

When he drew for the special door prize that was awarded last night, His Worship Mayor George Macdonald was accompanied to the balcony by Archie B. Gates, general chairman of the show, on whose capable shoulders much of the detail work devolved. "Dick" Lush did the announcing and declared Miss Marjorie Buller, 272 Simcoe Street, winner of five dollars in cash. A handsome radio was won by Miss Edith Hall, 16 Indian River Drive, Toronto.

Manufacturers and other business organizations lent wholehearted support to the effort and mechanical working exhibits and the display of manufactured goods was generally conceded to be the best yet in a long series of similar fairs sponsored by the Club.

Among those who had booths apart from the usual games and fortune-telling booths run by Kiwanians and their friends, were: The De Laval Company, A. Wander, Limited, Watson Tire and Radio Company, the Canadian General Electric Company, Chown Hardware, Peterborough Canoe Company, Peterborough Lumber Company, Scarfe's Paints, Hamilton Furs, Peterborough Business College, the Ventilating Shade Company, Playmor Sports, Western Clock Company, Peterborough Horticultural Society, Robert Neil Ltd., J. H. Bell (a hand loom), Dominion Woollens and Worsteds, Limited, the Individual Mausoleum Company, Harold R. Scott Lumber. Booths were manned by the following Kiwanians and other volunteers: Bingo—Carl S. Browne, Tom Mark, H. Chown, Vern Morphet, Tucker, John Comstock, Percy Bond and Mowry. Blankets—W. A. Richardson, Herb Cranford, D. Fitzgerald and H. McCannan. Groceries—Bill Moorhead and Bill English. Candy—L. J. Pettit. Novelties—President Al Sharpe and Dick Lush. CHINESE RUSH CRACK TROOPS TO NORTH FRONT

PEIPING, Sept. 17 (AP)—Chinese central government divisions were reported being sent to North China today to aid poorly armed regional troops and try to stem the Japanese advance to the south.

The main body of the Japanese force of 60,000 men effected the crossing of the Chuma River last night and pursued the Chinese rear-guard toward Chochow, the new Chinese advance base 40 miles south of Peiping.

The Japanese were striking the retreating eight divisions of Chinese provincial troops both in the front and on their right wing. The van of the sweeping 50-mile Japanese flanking movement was reported within eight miles of Chochow on the Peiping to Hankow railway.

The Chinese made a stand at the river but without artillery and airplanes were unable to halt the foe, heavy toll of the two Japanese advance regiments were taken, however, by Chinese machine gun fire as the moon silhouetted the Nipponese on the river bank.

68,000 On The Move.

Independent foreign advices reported two Central Government forces, totalling upwards of 68,000 men, were entering the 100-mile long concrete line from Tsangchow on the Tientsin to Pukow railway west to Paotingfu on the Peiping to Hankow railroad and along the banks of the Huto River.

Foreign military experts believed the central and western portions of the line were already manned by troops of Gen. Shang Chen's 32nd National Army, composed of the 108th and 112th Divisions of the line and the 5th and 13th newly organized divisions.

Troop trains were speeding Gen. Yu Hsueh-Chung's 51st Army of two divisions into trenches on the eastern flank at Tsangchow, 60 miles south of Tientsin.

The Japanese attack south of Peiping was expected to drive Chinese regional troops back to this line before the end of a week, placing the Japanese face to face with an entrenched enemy of superior strength.

Canadian Arrives At British Trade Union Congress

Carl E. Berg, of Calgary, delegate from the Trade and Labor Congress of Canada, to the British Trades Union Congress at Norwich, Eng., is shown (ABOVE) being greeted by John B. Haggerty, of the United States, president of the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders (LEFT). Mr. Berg was chairman of the Resolutions Committee of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada in Montreal last year. At the British congress a plea was made for a greater defence program against unemployment, poverty, malnutrition and disease.

Cattle In Chicago Hit 17-Year Top

CHICAGO, Sept. 17—(AP).—The highest cattle price in 17 years — $19.10 per hundredweight—was established in yesterday's livestock market.

Packers paid this new top for 25 head of choice grain-fed steers, most of which originated in Iowa. Not since $19.25 was paid in January, 1920, has any price like today's peak been paid in Chicago.

Scarcity of well-finished cattle and high prices from other slaughter animals were reasons for the demand for high-priced steers.

MILLBROOK

W.A. LAYS PLANS FOR FOWL SUPPER

MILLBROOK, Sept. 17.—The opening meeting of the Women's Association of St. Andrew's church was held on Wednesday, Mrs. W. A. O'Brian extending the hospitality of her home for the gathering.

The chair was taken by the vice-president, Mrs. Percy Stinson, in the absence through illness of the president, Mrs. P. I. Bentley. Miss Duncan presided at the piano.

The treasurer, Mrs. J. McKnight, gave a report of the dinner and tea served on July twelfth, the receipts totalling $116.18; expenses $26.87; balance on hand $91.23. Reporting for the parsonage committee, Mrs. Stinson brought to the attention of the meeting a request for lights to be installed in the shed and garage, of the parsonage, and on motion the request was granted.

The new business was concerned with the annual fowl supper, to be held on Tuesday, October 19, the ladies preferring this means of adding to their funds, rather than a canvass for subscriptions in money. Miss J. Sutton, Mrs. Bentley and Mrs. Stinson will look after the purchase of the fowl, and the program arrangements were left in the hands of Mrs. F. A. Kidd, Mrs. H. W. Johnston, and Miss Burnham.

Canvassers appointed included: Mrs. Arthur Fallis, Mrs. Edgar Fallis, Mrs. D. Lunn, Mrs. J. McKnight, Mrs. Hoss Edmunds, Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, Mrs Stinson, Mrs. F. A. Kidd, Miss Sutton, Mrs. A. Coulter, Mrs. H. A. Earl and Mrs. Larmer.

The invitation of Mrs. Kidd to hold the October meeting at her home was gratefully accepted, and following the benediction in unison, a social hour was enjoyed during which the hostess and Mrs. J. H. Might served homemade candy.

Bodies Shovelled Up With Debris By Street Crews After Bombing

VICTORIA, Sept. 17—(CP). — An eyewitness of the aerial bombardment of Shanghai last month told of seeing human bodies shovelled up with debris by street crews after the attack.

Mrs. Tena Hart of Roy, Wash., who arrived here yesterday aboard the American mail liner President McKinley, said she was in the Palace Hotel when the building was struck by a bomb August 14. "All on the sixth floor were killed outright," she said.

"The second bomb struck on the street outside the hotel and within two minutes the lobby was filled with moaning of dying people, some with arms or legs blown off.

"In the street I saw a headless body and close by was another body, cut in two, with the head of the poor unfortunate still moving. Then came the rain and the street literally ran with blood.

"At night I saw parts of bodies shovelled up with debris by the street crews. I shall never forget the horrors.

"I saw 300 coffins with the tops off, laid side by side and row on row on the race course for identification."

C.E.S. OF LILY LAKE HEARS FINE TALK

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LILY LAKE, Sept. 17. — Members of the Christian Endeavor Society held a splendid meeting, full of inspiration and well attend, on Monday evening, at which a feature was the address given by Rev. Mr. Young of St. Andrew's United Church, Peterborough. Rev. Mr. Young, who was introduced to his audience by Miss Helen Rowland, vice-president of the society, spoke on "Friendship."

A short devotional period was in charge of Miss Alta Wilson, president of the society, and the scripture reading, Cor. 3:13-14; Ephes. 4-28, and Thess. 3:10-13, was read by Cecil Hancock. The topic, "Every Man Has a Task and Every Man To His Task, was given by the president.

Other program numbers were a delightful Hawaiian instrumental by Allan Boate; also a pleasing Hawaiian duet by Helen Rowland and Rhea Wilson. Miss Dorothy Rowland acted as organist for the meeting.

Duce's Son Probe Hollywood Movies

NAPLES, Italy, Sept. 17 (AP). — Vittorio Mussolini, 20, his full face beaming, sailed today for New York and, eventually Hollywood, to find out what makes the movie business tick. With him was Hal Roach, his associate in a new Italian motion picture company.

Vittorio's younger brother, Bruno, and many notables were on hand to see him off.

His friends told something about the new movie company which he heads.

Capitalization is $2,000,000 of which Roach is putting up $1,000,000. Vittorio and his friends are furnishing $800,000 and a Rome bank the rest.

SPURNED, SUICIDES

MONTREBAL, Sept. 17—(CP). — Spurned in attempts to court a young woman, Armand Audette, 24, shot himself fatally last night. The police report said Audette called on Angeline Mastropolo, 22, a next-door neighbor, to make himself acquainted and fired a bullet through his head when refused a request to take the girl out. The incident occured at the top of the stairway leading to the Mastropolo residence.

Italian Soldiers Back From Spain

Il Duce may not have a regular army fighting with the Rebel forces in Spain, but numerous Italian soldiers are aiding General Franco against the Loyalist government. The Italian soldiers (ABOVE), wounded and sick, are shown upon their return to Italy on the S.S. Gradisca. Mussolini, smarting under the alleged snub given Italy by the Nyon accord, is said ready to send an army of 100,000 men to Spain with the necessary equipment to smash the Loyalist forces.

CAMPBELLFORD

FIRST MINISTERS SUBJECT OF PAPER

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD Sept. 17.—St. John's W.M.S. held their September meeting on Tuesday afternoon with the president presiding.

Following the devotional portion of the program and treasurer's report Mrs. E. C. Roberts gave a short and interesting talk on Stanley Jones book, "Victorious Living." This was followed by prayers by Mrs. McKelvie, Mrs. Forde, Mrs. Malcolm, Mrs. Palliser, Mrs. Sykes, Mrs. Free, Mrs. Nearle and Mrs. Roberts.

Thank you letters for the flowers were received and read by the secretary, after which the study book, 'A New Church Faces A New World' was taken up. A splendid description of the study book for the meeting "How Did Our Church Start" was given by Mrs. Hammond and this was followed by a paper on two of the first ministers, Major George Neill and John Black. This paper was given by Mrs. Bushner.

The study class will be resumed again on Sept. 24th at the home of Mrs. George Kingston.

The meeting closed with the hymn "O God our help in ages past," and prayer by Mrs. Hammond.

Citizenship Night Held By Y.P. Union

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOG, Sept. 17. — The opening meeting of Young Peoples' Union after the holiday season, was held in the basement of St. Andrew's church on Tuesday evening, with the convenor of the Citizenship Department, B. B. Dawson, who holds a like office on the Conference Executive, in charge.

Soft music, with Phyllis Kidd at the piano, preceded the call to worship, with the leader and Johnston Rowland taking the devotional period. A Peace project is being studied by the young people, and the times' topic, "What is true Patriotism?" was taken up by Mr. Dawson in an informative and thought-inspiring manner.

A feature of peculiar interest was the report of the summer school at Oak Lake brought by one of the delegates, Bernice Smith, who particularly noted the stress placed, in the school sessions, on the necessity for each department head in the Young People's Unions taking the special course of study covering the work of his or her department. In Conference officers this is obligatory.

A recreation hour closed the program, with a story told by the leader for the evening, and the whole brought to a conclusion with the benediction.

NO PRESENT SIGN U.S. BAN ON COTTON TO JAPAN, CHINA

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—High government officials passed along the word to-day that there is no present prospect of an embargo on United States cotton shipments to Japan and China.

Question of whether cotton should be adjudged an implement of war—and automatically banned as cargo for government-owned vessels—is up to the Munitions Control Board, they said.

That board, it was specifically added, has undertaken no study which could lead to such a decision.

Commerce Secretary Roper spoke yesterday of a survey by his Department to determine what part the staple is playing in the Sino-Japanese conflict. Cotton can be used in the manufacture of munitions.

Roper's remarks brought immediate reaction among exporters, who sold $54,826,000 worth of cotton to Japan and $570,000 worth to China in the first seven months of this year.

Exporters have been perturbed by the problem of how to dispose profitably of this year's bumper cotton crop, much of which must be sold in foreign markets.

President Roosevelt's decree that government-owned vessels can no longer carry implements of war to the two countries named no raw commodity.

His list of contraband did specify aircraft. This led to discussion by the Maritime Commission of the case of the government-owned Wichita, a freighter refueling at San Pedro, Calif., on its scheduled trip with 19 airplanes consigned to China.

The commission at a secret session yesterday decided to withhold any announcement as to whether it will halt the freighter at San Diego, Calif.

Crew Ask War Bonus

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Sept. 16 (AP)—The China-bound freighter Wichita, laden with 19 bombing planes, anchored in the roadstead here today and crewmen asserted her war cargo would be discharged before the craft resumed its journey.

Port officials and the American-Pioneer Lines refused to say whether the recent arms embargo by President Roosevelt would be applied to the Wichita.

In addition to the 19 Bellanca bombers, all equipped with machine guns, the vessel has barbed wire and scrap metal consigned to China.

Crew members announced they would not proceed unless paid a war bonus of $250 each. Anchorage of the Wichita in the roadstead for refueling instead of at San Pedro docks was interperted as a move to circumvent a possible sit-down strike.

The Wichita came here from Baltimore with an east coast crew. Clarence Hunt, executive secretary of the Southern California district council of the Pacific Maritime Federation, said local unions would not supply replacement if the crew quit.

The council is "prepared to carry out the president's wishes to the letter," Hunt said.

Lion Cubs Meet Photographer

Although they made their debut into this vale of tears at the Bronx, N.Y. Zoo this summer, this is the first time the twin babies born to "Judy", young African lioness, have been placed on the spot by the camera. At TOP, the twins, King and Queenie, appear frankly curious about the strange eye that stares at them so glassily, so (centre), King (or is it Queenie?) runs to tell mama all about it; whereupon (lower), mama gathers in her babies and snarls defiance at the black box with the staring eye and displays such an array of dental menace that the photographer suddenly remembered an important appointment.

President Roosevelt, under congressional authority to act as he saw fit, has suggested that Biggers use a voluntary registration system rather than an attempt at a census of the entire population.

TWEED DRIVER IN TRUCK SMASH

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Sept. 17.—Michael Meraw, Tweed, was taken into custody and detained at the police station on Wednesday night, following a motor accident at O'Brien's Bridge late Wednesday afternoon. On Thursday morning, Meraw appeared before H. B. Wilson, local Justice of the Peace, charged with reckless driving, under Section 24, of the Highway Traffic Act.

Motorcycle Patrolman Sam Ervine investigated the accident and found that a motor car driven by Meraw, had collided with the rear end of another automobile driven by J. Campbell, Port Hope, on O'Brien's Bridge, causing considerable damage to both vehicles.

Meraw was permitted his liberty, after appearing before the Justice of the Peace Thursday, upon bail to appear in local police court on Friday.

Mr. Roy Grier, Arden, suffered painful injuries while cranking the highway grader. The grader was in gear and it ran forward, pinning Mr. Grier between the radiator and the garage. He was there some time before he was found by Mr. Morrison, who at once summoned help, and the grader was pushed back by a gang of men. He was rushed to Perth Hospital, where it was discovered he had several ribs broken and severe internal injuries.

OTTAWA TO PLANT 6,000,000 TREES ACROSS PRAIRIES

OTTAWA, Sept. 17.—During the present year 2,000,000 trees will be planted in the three Prairie Provinces under the farm rehabilitation program, and 4,000,000 trees will be distributed through the ordinary channels. This afforestation is part of the large, long-range plan for checking the ravages of soil drifting and helping to conserve moisture.

For thirty-six years Western farmers have been aided by the Federal Government in establishing desirable shelter belts of trees and hedges, expert forestry advice, and supplies of tree seedlings being provided free from the two nursery stations in Saskatchewan. In that period over 145,000,000 tree seedlings and cuttings have been distributed to 55,000 farmers, and under the rehabilitation program this service is being extended.

Plant Shelter Belts.

Field crop shelter belt associations have been formed and comprise groups of farmers located on neighboring farms who have undertaken, with Government aid, to plant shelter belt on their crop land, the belts being spaced to enclose from twenty to eighty acres. The aim is to provide a check on high winds, rapid evaporation and loss of snow cover. This purely experimental work will require at least ten years to test its efficacy.

In the last fiscal year $750,000 was appropriated by Parliament for prairie farm rehabilitation, and an additional $434,420 which was really an unexpected sum from the previous year, was voted for large-scale water development works and for the present fiscal year the sum of $2,000,000 has been voted by Parliament for farm rehabilitation.

Successive draughts have forced the western farmers to adjust their cropping practices to make better use of the limited supplies of soil moisture have driven them to prevent soil drifting and repair its ravages, to retire some submarginal land from agriculture and to provide against future recurrence of drought conditions and build up reserves of feed and seed on private farms.

Before the end of the present week it is expected that Hon. James Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, will make known what progress is now being made on the rehabilitation program, what further extensions of this may be needed and what results may be looked for from the long range policy now in operation.

Move To Expand Sales.

Next week it is believed the Minister will be in a position to show that all the attention of the Government has not been directed toward the western drought problem, although because of its intensity it demanded and received immediate treatment. The eastern half of the country has continued to be highly productive and important work has been done this summer in exploring British and foreign markets and devising means of expanding the sales of meats, dairy and other products.

Later in the year it is expected the Royal Commission inquiring into wheat marketing will submit its report and in time to be considered before Parliament is ready to debate it. Because of extraordinary conditions the Wheat Board will not be required to operate in connection with this year's crop, but it is practically certain the commission will report against the scrapping of that board's machinery. More important will be its findings about market conditions in Europe and the extent to which the self-sufficiency policy of the Continental countries forms a barrier to expanded Canadian wheat exports.

Boston Bees And Buccaneers Help Giants Lengthen Lead

McKeshnie's Veteran Twirlers Thorn In Side To Rampaging Cubs

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—If you're looking for an argument, step up to Bill Terry or Charley Grimm today and tell them baseball is a young fellow's game.

They've been combing aging Bees out of their hair for so long this season, that you'll be lucky if you get away with only an argument.

It'll be no thanks to Bill McKechnie's ancient stingers if either Terry's Giants or Grimm's Cubs wind up with the National League pennant.

Largely through the efforts of their old man pitchers, Jim Turner, Lou Fette and Danny MacFayden, the pennant race has been as tight, up to now, as a frankfurter and its skin. And virtually exclusively through the mound mastery of the two rookies and the comebacking MacFayden, the Cubs are now 3½ games behind the Giants although the New Yorkers' favorite stooges, Pittsburgh Pirates, obliged as usual.

Tough Job For Giants.

However, while Cubs lost ground by dropping three-out-of-four to the Bees in their just-concluded series, there isn't much for the Giants to snicker about. For they have four games to play with the old fellows from the Hub during the last week of the season—and those four meetings are packed into two double-headers.

Yesterday, Turner chalked up his second win at the expense of the Cubs with a seven-hit, 7-0 shutout. At the same time, the Giants, behind Cliff Melton's classy six-hit elbowing, trounced their cousins from Pittsburgh, 3-0 to pick up a full game and leave the pennant race in this condition:

Giants—Won 82, lost 52. To play 20.

Cubs—Won 80, lost 57; behind 3½ games. To play 17.

Tribe Eliminated.

Yankees boosted their American League lead to 10½ games by taking Cleveland Indians, 8-0, behind Lefty Gomez's three-hit pitching. The outcome eliminated the tribe from the pennant race and left Lefty with his 19th victory. The second-place Detroit Tigers were handed a 7-6 defeat by the Washington Senators.

The Cardinals got back into the National League chase with a twin win over the Phillies, 6-2 and 8-1. The Dodgers and Reds split, Brooklyn taking the first game, 8-5, and dropping the nightcap, 5-1.

Harry Kelley's hit won his own ball game as he pitched the Athletics to a 4-3 decision over the Browns. The Red Sox and White Sox were idle.

Lawn Bowling

By HERB MARTIN

THERE ARE many signs coming to the front the last few days that make us believe our bowling days for the season of 1937 are numbered. The first sign was when we turned the clock back to standard time, and on that move it seemed to us we jumped right from the lap of summer right into the middle of fall and then we notice the thermometer is hanging around 40 and 45 deg. these mornings. But the climax came on Thursday when we were informed that the men's annual meeting will take place on Monday, Oct. 4, so our advice to the bowlers is this, grasp every opportunity you can to bowl, for the time each day is getting shorter.

THE LOCAL doubles games that were to have been played last night will be run off on Monday eve instead.... And we hope it warms up a little for to-night (Friday). We have only one more Friday night left in this month and to-night it is for the men's rinks.

Four Title Fights On One Card

Ring Expert Picks Mons. Thill To Outslap Apostoli At Show

Lightweight Title Should Change Hands From Mantell To Pedro Montanez

By BILL BRAUCHER
Central Press Canadian Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Emerging from total seclusion after having picked Joe Louis to flatten Tommy Farr in the first round, your operative proves he is a man who can take it by selecting to-day the winners on the card of champions to be presented Sept. 23 at the Polo Grounds in New York.

Only one bout, I think, offers an element of doubt, the one bringing together Marcel Thil and Fred Apostoli, middleweights. Thil may or may not outclass Apostoli. It should be very close, but I pick Thil. The championship is not involved (as advertised) in this fight, however. The recognized champion is a fellow named Freddy Steele.

The lightweights title should change hands when Pedro Montanez hurls himself against Lou Ambers. The mighty mite from the tropics has been coming up rapidly, while Ambers seems to have faded from the form he showed two years ago. This one ought to be a great fight, both boys being very active in there throwing punches. In the trade, Montanez, hitting harder than Ambers, may score a knockout. I'd guess he wouldn't lose more than two pounds to the Herkimer Hustler. They have only to repeat their non-title meetings of last spring for these words to come true.

Harry Jeffra of Baltimore will try to grab the bantamweight crown from Sixto Escobar, another little terror from the tropics, and I don't think the Baltimore biffer is going to have much luck this time. Jeffra has won two decisions over the champion in no-title affairs, but with the title on the line, Escobar moves up several notches. Sixto has won five in a row since dropping the duke to Jeffra on what appeared to be one of his off nights, and is in splendid fighting trim.

Barney Ross knows how to beat Ceferino Garcia, and may be expected to do it again. The Chicagoan's form in non-championship fights must not be taken too seriously. He has a way of fooling observers when he is called upon to defend the title that is his meal ticket. Two years ago he defeated Garcia twice, and seems to have the boxing knowledge needed to turn back the fiery challenger.

One Game Setback No Worry To Petes

Despite the fact the local Westclox seniors received a 7-1 setback at the hands of White Eagles, Toronto amateur softball association champions on Thursday, the Clockmakers are prepared to go down fighting or over the top with a bang in the second game here on Saturday. The series is intermediate 'A' and the winners will enter the finals for the intermediate title.

Saturday's game, which is called for 3 o'clock at Riverside Park should attract a large number of fans as this is the last team left in the running for summer sports. An exhibition game of the autumn classic, the famous rugby pastime, with the junior Toronto Argos was passed up by the Orfuns managements to allow the softball team to play their game in the park.

SPORTS DAY by DAY

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

SAD word comes from Kingston where in the opinion of some gentlemen amateur baseball is rapidly on the wan and it is expected that within a few years the once popular pastime will be no more. The few baseball enthusiasts who kept the club together are now talking of retiring while the present collection of players is not getting younger and there is not much young talent to replace them. Lack of a good ball park and the failure to develop boys in the minors are the two main causes for Kingston's present position. Years ago Kingston was famous for its minor teams that graduated players to the major teams, not only at home but in other cities. This summer only one minor team was operated and it only played a few games.

* * * * * *

A REVIEW of the Kingston situation brings to our minds the thought that in a baseball way, Peterborough is not much better off than the sister city. Every year our players are getting older, and there are no young baseball chasers coming up from the minor ranks to take their places. True, we can always import a few stars but that system is usually suicide in any sports organization. Herb Ralph has toiled for years in an effort to develop some minor players and for this work he deserves all the credit in the world, spending time and money, even working against great odds in the lack of response and encouragement he receives from the fans of this city. A home game is scheduled for his juniors, and about two score fans show up in the stands, most of them youngsters (in whose minds it is regarded as a crime to pay to get into a ball game, when a fence is right handy). All in all the take at the gate will amount to two bucks and six bits, and yet Herb Ralph is supposed to transport a full lineup of players around the circuit. He has been doing just this for the past two or three seasons and receiving but very little credit. One of these days we are going to be without any minor ball in this city which means that within a few years after we will be without senior ball. Now we believe it is the duty of parents of the student youth to encourage their children to take up sports, in any form, but principally in baseball, which is one of the cleanest of the outdoor pastimes. It seems to us that at the age of 14, a boy knows far more about rhumba, double shuffle or torso tossing form of entertainment at a nickel a hop than he does about goal posts or the home base.

* * * * * *

RETURNING to the baseball situation at Kingston, Toronto is looking on the Limestone city as a favorable place to locate a farm team as an entry in the Canadian-American league, in fact scouts from the Maple Leafs have been looking the situation over and only the lack of a good closed playing field is keeping professional baseball out of that city. Operated as a farm team professional ball probably could exist in this district if a few games were played in Napanee and Belleville but it is doubtful if enough interest could be aroused to conduct a steady schedule of games each week and attract crowds large enough to pay off operating expenses. Brockville and Ottawa had such small crowds this past season that they are not likely to return to the Canadian-American fold next year.

* * * * * *

EVER since our Auburns took the bur off the Oshawa Unionists in a sudden-death game at Lindsay, the fans from the Sougog town have gone nuts over the gutted stick game. According to one fan up there it gave the sporting populace a glimpse of the great Canadian game at its best and they gloried in it. And now some of them are wondering if the Town Fathers will do anything this winter in the way of helping bring this game back to its former popularity. There was a team in Lindsay about three years ago but the enthusiasm was not half as keen as that shown there in the playoff game this week. The Auburns play their first game of the provincial playdowns tonight when they meet the Cheltenham-Inglewood Combines at Brampton, the return game will be played here on Monday of next week.

* * * * * *

ACCORDING to the local rugby group schedule released today, the Orfuns play their first home game on October 2 against the Toronto Westsides at Riverside Park. The playing grounds will be busy for the next two Saturdays, (an invitation from the junior Toronto Argos to play an exhibition game here tomorrow had to be turned down due to the softball playoff game) and on the following Saturday, the soccer association are holding a field day. At the opening game of the rugby season, the prizes for which tickets have been sold during the past month or so will be drawn for and presentations made.

* * * * * *

THE Toronto Westsides will play all their games away from home, that is they will play two games here, at Lindsay and at Cobourg, unless other arrangements are made with the opposing club. Lack of support in Toronto is given as the reason for the Westsides to play outside their own city, the home team in each case giving them a money guarantee in order to meet operating expenses. In all games between the Lindsay, Cobourg and Peterborough clubs, neutral referees will be used, Bobby Armstrong of Toronto and one other. In the Westsides games, referees will be picked from each team. The Orfuns uniforms will be light red sweaters with black bands around the neck and arms.

IN CASE you are interested in what age constitutes your peak in your favorite sport, Prof. Harvey C. Lehman, of Ohio University, has figured it out. The professor has based his conclusions after considerable research on a study of the records of 11 leading sports from the year 1916 to 1937. In individual sports such as prize fighting, he has covered the world's champions in their respective lines of athletic endeavor, and in hockey and baseball the records cover a stretch of 21 years. According to Professor Lehman's report to the American Psychological Association the age of greatest athletic prowess is 25 to 29, except in golf and bowling, when it is 30 to 34. The best single year for baseball in the professor's group was the age 28. But the average for both hockey and baseball was 25 to 29. After a perusal of the records of 133 world champion prize fighters, he has come to the conclusion that a fighter is at his very best between the age of 25 to 29. Bowlers were 30 to 34 and duck-pin bowlers the same. Golfers excelled from 30 to 34 (considering only the British and professional champions). The good professor offers more interesting information on the subject of tennis players. For instance, tennis champions ranged from 22 to 26 for outdoor players and 25 to 30 for indoor. He declared there was no obvious reason for the indoor and outdoor differences.

* * * * * *

THERE have been notable exceptions, of course. Bunny Red in Pinsdummons, tennis is Tilden. There have been the Alexanders and Hagues and Quints to dispute the professor's baseball theories, not to mention the Crawfords, Nobles and Vezinas, etc., of hockey. He neglected to touch on football, where the record alone of Ottawa's Eddie Emerson might easily knock his calculations off balance. But the professor has the figures to back up his contentions and they say figures don't lie—even if some of those National Hockey League execs in President Calder's office seem to offer proof to the contrary. Which recalls a conversation we overheard one time. A youthful admirer of a leading professional player who still was pretty near tops at a stage in life's when most of them are slowing up, inquired of his idol his age at that time. We don't recall if the information was given, but the answer was: "Which will you have—my N.H.L. age or my real one?" The women have nothing on some of these other professionals around contract time.

After 11 Years With Yankees Lazzeri's Ball Days Ended

Joe Gordon Of Newark Being Groomed For Second Sack Job

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The span of a ball player's usefulness is not long...it has been only 11 years since Tony Lazzeri, swarthy and skinny, reported to Miller Huggins in the spring training camp of the Yankees at St. Petersburg ... a youngster then...an old man now, bowing out of the picture.

Lazzeri brought a great idea to the Yankee camp that year, and through thick and thin he has clung to it ever since...he thought the Yankees, with Lazzeri at second base, shouldn't lose a ball game .. and the fact that he himself, personally and in the flesh, struck out when a base hit should have won the 1926 world series didn't change that spirit a shade...his unquenchable spirit and courage were gifts the Yankees found of inestimable value in the 12 seasons Tony has scampered around second base.

The Yankees had finished in seventh place in 1925...Babe Ruth had gone to pieces with a stomach ache ...the saying, "As Babe goes, so go the Yankees," was heard around the world...but 1926 was a different year...Miller Huggins watched Lazzeri at second base in the Grapefruit league, broke down and told reporters, "I think that kid is going to click at second base with Mark Koenig at short, and if he does the Yankees will win the pennant."

Yes, They Clicked

The second base combination of Koenig and Lazzeri did click, the Yankees did win a pennant, and went right on to establish themselves as one of the greatest clubs the game ever had seen...Lazzeri saw the great team begin to crumble in 1929...Koenig was sent on his way in 1930...Bob Meusel and Jumping Joe Dugan went the way of all flesh...Wally Schang wore out, and one by one the great pitchers lost their zip, finally Hoyt and Pennock...He saw the passing of Miller Huggins, toiled a year under Shawkey and fought his way into the readjustment wrought by Joe McCarthy...Age finally caught up with paunchy Babe Ruth and white-thatched Earle Combs. The old Iron Horse at first base is all that's left...Don Heffner is at second now as the Yankees prepare for another world series.

The death of Huggins almost ended Lazzeri's baseball career at its very peak...Lazzeri loved Huggins ...the sour little man had given the kid from the San Francisco sandlots his chance to play major league ball ...had believed in him enough to start him as a regular after watching him for only a few weeks...encouraged him in his quiet way, making light of Lazzeri's many worries ...With Huggins dead, Lazzeri lost confidence...For a time it appeared he would be traded, but when Joe McCarthy came to the club Joe made it emphatically evident that Tony was to continue as second baseman of the Yankees, whether he stumbled on alternate Tuesdays and Fridays or not...Lazzeri picked up at once...and when Tony picked up, the Yankees did too.

Another Youngster Waits

But now Lazzeri is ready for a rocking chair, and of the old crowd only the Iron Horse remains...Over in Newark, a young second baseman from the Pacific coast named Joe Gordon is being hailed as "better even than Lazzeri at his best," which is a lot to say even if it is meant to apply only to the mechanical side of the game.

In training camp next spring, Joe McCarthy will see Gordon again..., and may give him the nod that Lazzeri got back in 1926 from Huggins ...Well, if Joe Gordon can fill that job at second as well as Lazzeri has, he can sit down proudly in 1947 with the realization that he has done a man's work well.

Toronto White Eagles Gain Game Advantage In Series

Westclox Softballers Beaten 7-1 In First Game—Issue Never In Doubt

TORONTO, Sept. 17 (C.P.). — White Eagles, Toronto Amateur Softball Association Intermediate champions, defeated Peterborough Westclox in the first game of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association semi-finals here to-day by a score of 7-1. The Toronto Polish team had the game well in hand throughout, and at no time was the issue in doubt.

White Eagles started their scoring in the second half of the first when Andy Kowalik singled to send Cliff King across the plate. There was no further scoring until the fourth when the Toronto team scored their second run of the game. Woody Woodzinyski started the inning with a two-bagger, and Pete Romano followed with a single sending him in. The fifth inning started badly for the Peterborough team. Earl Surphlis, first man up for the White Eagles, smacked a triple to deep left field. Johnny Romano singled, Surphlis holding third. Cliff King singled scoring Surphlis. Kowalik singled loading the bases. Then when things looked gloomiest for Peterborough, Chuck Kearns came through with the nicest effort of the game. A long throw from centre field caught Romano at the plate. The next two batters went down in order.

Petes Get Lone Run.

In the sixth both teams went down one, two, three. Peterborough scored their only run of the game in the seventh. Pete Dormer, first man up, beat out a bunt to reach first. O'Leary filed out to Kowalik at centre field. Bill Calladine singled, sending Dormer to third. Calladine started to steal second. Pete Hastings on third for White Eagles had the ball. He hesitated and then threw to Surphlis on second. Calladine was safe, and in the meantime Dormer had scored.

In the second half of the seventh the Toronto team added two to their total when Woodzinyski batted in Kowalik and Lewis. The final run of the game was scored in the last of the eighth when Pete Romano scored after the catch on his brother's fly.

White Eagles collected a total of 14 hits for their seven runs. Peterborough got Ernie Clark only six times during the game.

The second of the two-out-of-three series will be played in Peterborough on Saturday.

Tiger Catcher Sick

Resting easily in his bed at a hospital in Detroit, is Rudy York, sensational catcher of the Detroit Tigers, who is fighting off an infection that resulted from a torn finger nail on his left hand. The Tigers will miss Rudy until he is back in the line-up. He made baseball history by smacking out 18 home runs in one month this season, thus shattering the record of the great Babe Ruth.

ROYALS WIN FIRST GAME MINOR BALL

NEWARK, Sept. 16—(CP).—It didn't seem possible, but a couple of old guys took the play away from the Bears.

More than one of the greatest minor league teams of baseball history is needed to hide Rabbit Maranville and his star left-hander, Harry Smythe. While the Bears were pounding out their third straight triumph over the Syracuse Chiefs, 6-0, in one playoff bracket, old Harry repaid the Rabbit's whim by stopping Baltimore Orioles 5-3 in the belated opener of their series.

Smythe turned back the Orioles last night with eight hits, while his mates knocked out Carl Fischer with a three-run rally in the eighth. George Blackerby's single, some inept play by the Flock's infield, and Fischer's own unsteadiness contributed to the Royals' rally.

Vito Tamulis tamed the Chiefs again for the Bears and left the Newarkers only a game away from victory in their four out of seven series. Tamulis let the Chiefs down with three hits, while his teammates led by Joe Gordon accounted for 15 safeties off four Syracuse pitchers.

Gordon hit a triple, double and a single while Charlie Keller, the circuit's unofficial batting champion, shared the limelight with three singles.

NAPANEE WINS EASTERN TITLE

NAPANEE, Sept. 17. — Napanee Mic Macs won the Eastern Ontario Intermediate C.O.S.S.A. championship last night, behind the three-hit pitching of Howard Henderson, when they defeated Havelock, 8 to 2, in the fifth game of the series. The winners will now meet Dover Centre or Nelson here Saturday in the first game for the Provincial championship.

Remember When—

(By the Canadian Press).

Vancouver's Jimmy McLarnin regained his world's welterweight boxing title after 15 slam-bang rounds with black-haired Barney Ross at New York three years ago today. Beaten four months previously by Ross, McLarnin gained the nod on a split decision. They met again in 1935, the Chicago Italian winning on points.

Mickey To Leave On Vacation

Mickey Cochrane, RIGHT, manager of the Detroit Tigers, who will sail from New York for Europe shortly to recuperate from a skull injury suffered when he was hit by a pitchball this summer. He is seen here wishing Del Baker, Tiger coach, who will manage the club in his absence, good luck before leaving Detroit.

AMERICANS HOLD DEVONSHIRE CUP

TORONTO Sept. 17.—The fifteen-man team representing the United States Seniors' Golf Association yesterday retained possession of the Duke of Devonshire Cup by defeating the Canadian Seniors' Association squad 25½ points to 19½ in their annual international match at Lambton Club, Toronto.

Victory for the visitors, who can recruit their forces from a vastly larger population, was not at all unexpected. Instead, even the gracious Americs themselves chose to stress the fact that the Canucks made their finest showing in years to be only a mere five points down.

To-day at Lambton Club will be the 18-hole contest for the individual medal play senior championship of North America, as a grand climax to the twentieth annual Canadian Seniors' Association tourney and the International competition.

Old age pensions are to be granted to government employees in Denmark at 60 instead of 65.

Not long ago there was a squib here about an American Legion Junior baseball pitcher down south who twirled two shutouts in five days. . . . Shucks. . . . Out in Lacrosse, Wis., another Legion kid, Ken Knutson, tossed both ends of a double-header on the same afternoon, scored two shutouts and gave up but six hits—four in one game and two in the other. . . . Fanned 26 batters. Art Rooney, young Pittsburgh plunger, who all but cleaned out the Saratoga and Aqueduct bookies, gave $30,000 of his sugar to charity.

GEORGE PIGEON TO REMAIN OUT OF RUGBY GAME

MONTREAL, Sept. 17—(CP). — News item for line plungers in the Big Four:

George Pigeon, the big-chested fellow who broke up many an attack through the line during the past eight or nine years with Montreal's entry, evidently has decided to retire.

For a while everybody around the Indians' backyard thought it was all hocus-pocus. But day after day passed and still the big inside wing stuck by his decision to quite the game this year. With Indians in their third week of training, he hasn't shown up, and evidently isn't going to.

While Coach Johnny Ferraro went about grooming someone else to take the place of Pigeon, last year's captain of the Indians, Coach Alex Ponton sent his Balmy Beach crew through a final workout yesterday in preparation for the season's first exhibition game Saturday. The Beaches leave Toronto to-night for Ottawa, where they will test Ross Trimble's Rough Riders.

Lew Hayman, mentor of Toronto's Big Four Argonauts, sent his charges through a stiff session yesterday. Argos were bolstered by Red Vail, who worked as quarter last year before being laid up with injuries.

On other fronts: Coach Doug Kerr ordered shoulder pads for to-day's practice of his McGill Redmen and plans to send the Collegians through stiff tackling sessions. Captain George Hornig, a linesman, was on the sidelines at yesterday's workout because of a lame back. Signals, running and tackling occupied the attention of Warren Stevens' University of Toronto boys.

Soccer Notes

Saturday's soccer bill is the Father Phelan Charity Cup final between the Canadian General and the Canada Packers on King Edward Park. Kick-off at three o'clock. Referee: W. Jones.

At the special meeting of the P. and D.F.A. held on Wednesday night in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms, it was unanimously agreed that the lack of interest in the field day scheduled for Saturday afternoon, September 25th, on Riverside Park, by the players and the clubs, through their non-attendance at the meetings for organization, compelled the executive to let the field day proposition drop altogether.

The first game in the local public schools took place this (Friday) afternoon between the Central and King Edward boys, on King Edward Park.

Jack McMaster received a letter of apology from the Kingston Maple Leafs in regard to the recent postponed game that was scheduled for this city, but no mention was made about the financial loss to the local club.

RUSTLE OF SILKS

By MARIE BLIZARD

CHAPTER 36

MARI MOVED her small bags from the place beside her on the carriage seat as Alec Garland introduced himself.

"My name's Barrett," she said, giving it its proper inflections. "And this is my sec . . . my friend, Miss Higgins."

"I'm pleased to meet you." Mr. Garland bowed in an old world manner as he used the old-fashioned phrase. He settled his long legs awkwardly and returned to the first shy smile. The smile that had prompted Mari to introduce herself as plain Miss Barrett.

"Passing something strange a while back, a projectile blew mysteriously and took the windows out of my compartment, showering it with glass," he explained. "The conductor said that you might be kind enough to give me room the rest of the way."

Letitia sat stiffly, wishing that she could fit herself in the graceful role of friend. For some reason Madame had chosen to say that she was her friend rather than her secretary. Pondering on it, Letitia decided that perhaps little was expected of her conversationally. Madame and the artist seemed to be getting along very well without any help.

"You're an artist, Mr. Garland?"

"Landscape," he answered. "A commission to do a state park back home made this trip possible."

"So am I, in a way. I do . . . er . . . fashion sketches."

"Oh, yes," he answered in the polite manner of his fellow craftsmen for one of the lesser members. He had thought them school teachers.

Mari did not enlarge upon her own work. She drew him out. She was charmed with his humble reference to his own accomplishment.

He was, he told them, going to find a residence near Cannes and spend his fortnight painting. He hoped to take home with him a portfolio of sketches for "the exhibit put on in our library by the Paint and Clay club."

"And you, ma'am?"

"We're going to stay at a hotel for a few days until I can find a villa."

A little later she said, "Please keep in touch with us. We'd like to have you come and see us."

In the next few days, if Mari thought about the young man who had made such a pleasant impression upon her, she said nothing to Letitia. Her first concern was to find herself a small, comfortable villa. She had neither taste nor inclination for hotel life or the smart society with its many demands that she met there.

It was inevitable that acquaintances would turn up there. Reggie Venable, a persistent admirer since her London trip was the first to greet her. He had intended to return to London the day after her arrival, but Mari's coming had changed his mind.

Mari swallowed her annoyance and put him to work. Reggie was for the moment indispensable. It was Reggie who ferreted out the small villa within three days of their arrival. The instant that Mari saw it, she wanted to own it. It was something out of a story that she had written.

A psychiatrist could have told her why she was enchanted with it from the start. Villa Mimosa had an unreal beauty. Designed at every possible point to admit sunshine and the fragrant air, it seemed to say, "Enjoy me. I am part of this nature and I will not hold you when you do not wish to be held."

The villa was like the flowers, planted by the hand of man but grown by a celestial artist. Its white walls were dappled by warm sunshine that shone brightly on the smooth stone terraces and bathed the flowers in a golden haze. Within the rooms—halls they were rather—were cool and spacious and uncluttered by more furniture than was necessary. The furnishings, mellowed velvet and brocades, faded into the dimness of the exterior. There were tapers in wrought iron candelabra and masses of blooms in old vases.

In the bedroom that Mari selected for herself, the furnishings were sparse; a wide, deep bed, an old carved chest, a handsome bureau and one deep chair. But through the latticed window thrown open to the incredibly blue sky beyond, there came first the heady perfume and then the view of the garden which held her spellbound.

Beyond the flowering trees and shrubs, the veil-like mimosa, the white camellia roses and the pink anemones, there were hyacinths, orange blossoms and jasmine. And beyond these the bluest of blue—the Mediterranean.

With these wonders went Rosa and Louisa, the household treasures. And there was a small boat, an almost useless donkey and a house-boy whose qualities as a servant were nil. This was easily excused for Pancho had an irresistible smile, a deep, sweet voice and an inexhaustible repertoire of Neapolitan love songs which he sang to his own accompaniment on a battered guitar.

In the kitchen with its sanded floor and rafters hung with dried corn, pepper beans, onions and herbs. There were polished copper and wooden bowls in which miracles were accomplished by the many-skirted, barefoot Rosa to the accompaniment of howls and song.

Mari's first day in her new paradise was the happiest she had known in many years. Dressed in denim slacks and sweater, she had puttered lovingly in the garden that was hers for a month, spading and weeding where it was hardly necessary. She had lunched on nectar and ambrosia that was nothing more than a salad and coarse Italian bread.

And in the afternoon Pancho had introduced her to her boat, the little one with a bright red sail.

When she laid her head on a pillow fragrant with the scent of lavender, she fell into dreamless sleep. She had passed the first day of her life since the day she entered art school 10 years before without once thinking of clothes.

And only once before she fell asleep did she question the completeness of her paradise. And that was when, for a moment hastily put from her, she thought of what Tony Castle would think of it.

It was 12 hours later when she awakened, summoned to consciousness by the call of the sea-gulls on the rocks.

She flung the clothes from her bed and ran to the window. It was all there, the riot of color and perfume, as she had seen it the day before. She breathed deeply and leaned her elbows on the casement window.

It was all so beautiful it should be shared. The tap tap of Letitia's typewriter could be heard from the court below. Mari sighed; Letitia was a perfect secretary but Mari wanted a companion. She wanted someone to dig in the garden dirt with her. Someone to bathe on the beach, to sail in the boat she had christened the Redwing.

Her villa had several unoccupied rooms. Should she ask Reggie to be her guest for a little while?

She thought of the pattern of Reggie's days. The adherence to custom, the proper hour for bathing, the cocktail hour, the siesta hour, bridge. No, not Reggie.

She thought of Alec Garland.

She put down the denim slacks that she had intended to wear and selected a linen frock and a small hat.

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S WRITING

"Quiet now, my dears! Quiet!" said Uncle Wiggily to the animal pupils in the Hollow Tree School where he was teaching while the Lady Mouse was ill. "Quiet! There is no danger."

"What! No danger?" cried Mr. Twistytail, who was visiting the school. "No danger, Wiggy, and the Fuzzy Fox at the window?" Mr. Twistytail's voice became a squeal instead of a grunt, he was so excited.

"No danger at all," said Uncle Wiggily quietly and he waved a paw at the looking-in Fox and twinkled his pink nose at the Bad Chap.

"Why, how can you say that, Wiggy?" squealed the pig gentleman.

"I say there is no danger of that Fox coming in here to bite any of us," spoke Uncle Wiggily, "because if he was going to do that he would have started long ago. He wouldn't simply look in at the window, he would burst his way in, crashing the glass."

"Yes, I suppose he would," admitted the fat pig.

Not Afraid

His voice was no longer a squeak. He was grunting properly. The animal children, too, from Baby Bunny the orphan rabbit to little Squeakie, the baby pig in the kindergarten class, were no longer frightened. They knew Uncle Wiggily would not let the Fox harm them.

But, as Mr. Longears had said, the Bad Chap was just quietly looking in the school room window. He wasn't trying to burst in.

"Did you want anything, Fuzzy Fox?" asked Uncle Wiggily bravely.

"Yes, if you please," said the Fox, and his voice was so soft that butter would melt on it.

"What do you want?" asked the rabbit gentleman.

"I want to come to your school, if you please," spoke the Fox politely—that is as politely as a Fox ever speaks. "Of course I know it isn't exactly your school, Uncle Wiggily," went on the Fox, "You are only taking the place of Miss Mouse while she is ill."

"That is true," said the rabbit gentleman. "But I suppose you know what made Miss Mouse ill."

"Yes, to my sorrow I do," spoke the Fox. "It was the mauling my two little boys gave her the time you saved her at camp. But I punished my boys for harming Miss Mouse. And now I would like to come to school."

Lets Him In

"Will you behave yourself and be good if I let you in?" asked Mr. Longears.

"Oh, I will be very good," promised the Fox.

"All right. Will you open the door, Mr. Twistytail, and let Good Mr. Fox come to our school," requested Uncle Wiggily.

"Well, I'll let him in but I don't believe he will be good very long," grunted the pig gentleman.

"Sit here for the present, Mr. Fox," said Uncle Wiggily pointing to a desk away from the animal children.

"What present?" asked the Fox, quickly. Oh, he was quick!

"I mean sit there for a little while," went on Mr. Longears. And now we shall have a writing lesson," he went on. "Mr. Fox, can you write on the blackboard?"

"Indeed I can," boasted the Fox proudly. "Give me the chalk."

The Fox went to the blackboard and wrote a very strange sentence. You may read it in the next story which will be about Uncle Wiggily's number work.

FOREIGN INVESTORS FEWER IN CANADA 60 MILLION CASH

OTTAWA, Sept. 17—(CP).—Canada is borrowing less and lending more.

At the end of 1936, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday, British and foreign investments in Canada were reduced to $6,833,700,000 from $6,897,500,000 the year before. As a corollary, Canadian investments abroad rose to $1,656,500,000 from $1,629,900,000.

Most pronounced change was in United States investments in Canada, which were reduced more than $60,000,000 from $4,044,600,000 to $3,984,400,000. British money was decreased only slightly, from $2,729,200,000 to $2,725,100,000. Money from other countries rose fractionally from $123,600,000 to $124,200,000.

Government Securities Popular.

Increase from $363,400,000 to $987,200,000 in Canadian investments in United States is responsible for the larger figures on the other side of the ledger. Investments in Great Britain were $3,000,000 lighter at $47,800,000 and in other countries more than $4,000,000 lighter at $621,500,000.

Government securties attracted the largest share of British and foreign capital with a total of $1,688,700,000, divided among $806,300,000 Dominion bonds, $518,700,000 Provincial and $363,700,000 municipal.

Railways were next with $1,637,000,000, and other public utilities $770,000,000. Wood and paper products companies attracted $465,000,000, metal industries $428,000,000 and all other manufacturing indutaries $500,000,000.

In Canadian mines there was $340,000,000 outside money, $225,000,000 in merchandising and service, $210,000,000 in insurance, $295,000,000 in finance and mortgage corporations, and $275,000,000 in miscellaneous, such as land, summer homes, prospecting and assets administered for persons or corporations residing outside Canada.

"Compared with previous estimates," said the bureau, "the figures for British holdings of Canadian Government and railway bonds have been reduced to allow for the repurchase by Canadians of sterling and optional-payment bonds sold originally in London.

Change Since 1914.

Prior to 1914, Great Britain was the source from which most of the capital borrowed from abroad through the purchase of Canadian bond isues was secured.

"Many hundreds of millions of dollars of Canadian bond issues were floated in the London market, and, while some issues have been taken up in whole or in part in that market since 1914 London has been a minor source of capital funds, so far as Canadian borrowings are concerned, since that time.

"As a matter of fact, Canadians have repurchased considerable amounts of their own bonds sold originally in London.

"It is estimated that, of bonds now outstanding which were originally sold in the London market, $150,000,000 worth have been repurchased by Canadians. These repurchases diminish the estimates previously published of investments in Canada by Great Britain."

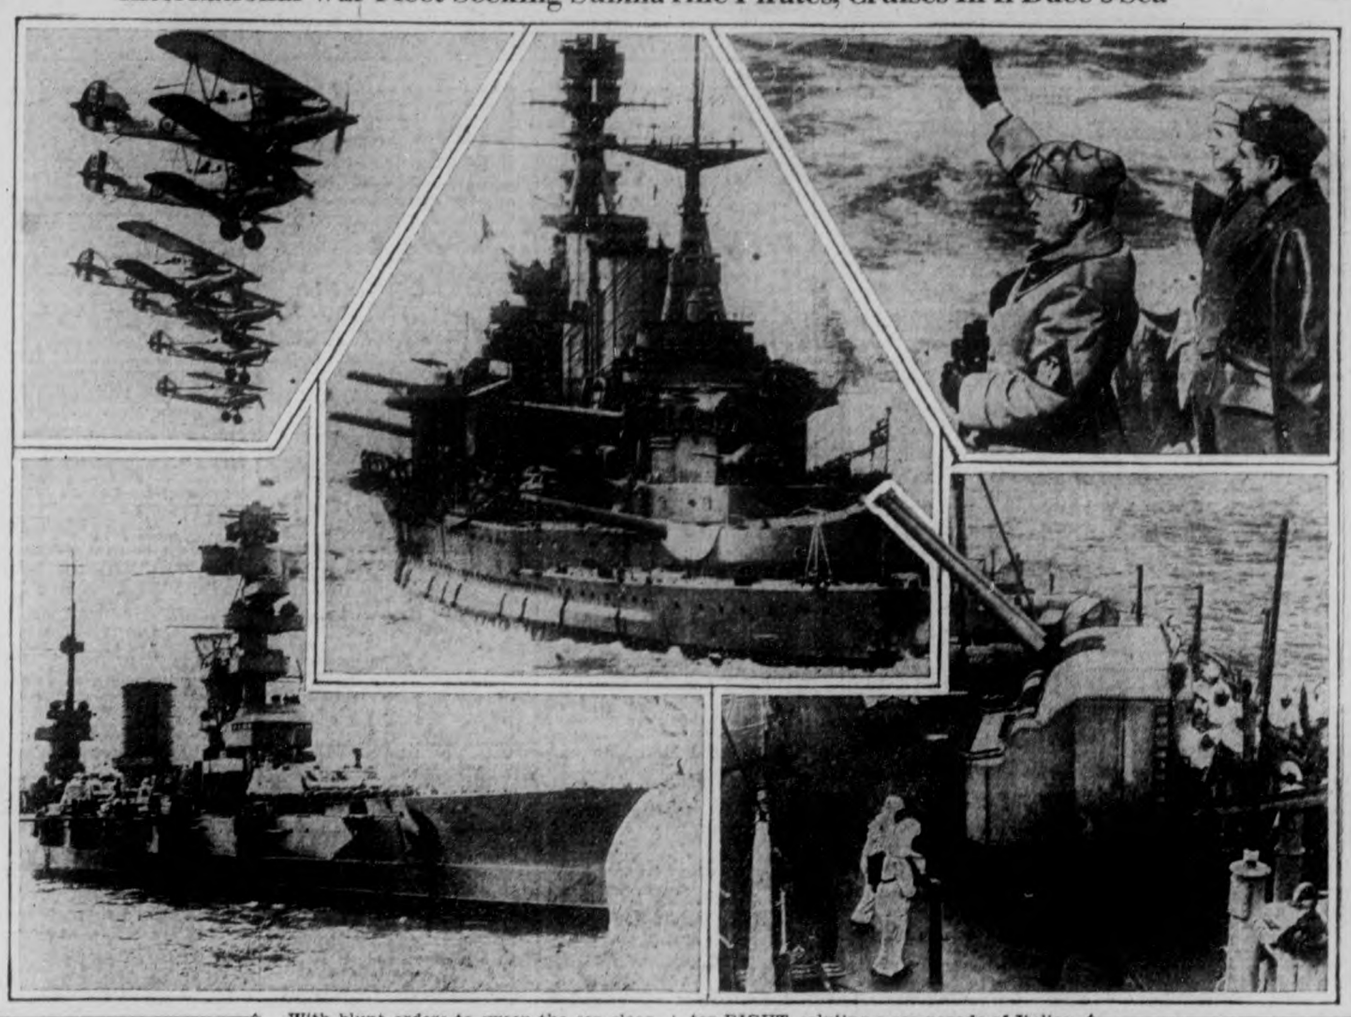
SLEEPLESSNESS due to INDIGESTION

If the gnawing, nagging discomforts of indigestion keep you awake night after night, consider the experience of Mrs. A. B., of Wallasey. That was her trouble, too. Tossing and turning in sleepless discomfort! Suffering the pains of a churning, acid-bitten stomach! Then she took Macleans Brand Stomach Powder. Almost at once she found she had conquered her trouble. The pains ceased. She could sleep soundly, peacefully. Macleans Brand Stomach Powder quickly counteracted the acid condition that was gnawing away at the stomach lining. It soothed the inflamed tissues, and helped the stomach to do its proper work of digestion.

This Maclean Brand Stomach Powder is used in many leading British hospitals. Try it. But be sure you get the genuine Maclean Brand Stomach Powder. Look for the signature, "Alex. C. Maclean," on both bottle and carton. 75c, either powder or tablets, at druggists. 115

International War-Fleet Seeking Subma rine Pirates, Cruises In Il Duce's Sea



With blunt orders to sweep the sea clear of pirate craft preying on international shipping, and backed by the governments of nine nations signatory to the Nyon pact, the greatest war-fleet of modern times cruised through the Mediterranean Sea—almost in flat defiance of Benito Mussolini, of Italy. Il Duce was boycotting the accord which sent more than 150 battleships into the waters which the Italian dictator has repeatedly referred to as "Mare Nostrum"—Our Sea. Britain, France and Russia led the international hunt, the two former working in close collaboration to prevent the Soviet's flat declaration that Italian submarines were responsible for the piracy, which has developed from the Spanish war, from flaring into open warfare. Il Duce at top RIGHT, saluting a sea parade of Italian warships from the deck of a battle cruiser. But around him in this layout—as they are in the Mediterranean today—are the fighting craft of nations now engaged in the grim pirate hunt. In the centre is H.M.S. Renown, one of Britain's mightiest floating fortresses, as she led the fleet out to sea stripped for action. At top is flight of Hawker fighting aeroplanes which are operating in co-operation with the fleet in the Mediterranean. The Russian cruiser, Marat, is at the lower LEFT, illustrative of the Soviet's part in the international concentration and at RIGHT, a scene on the French Emile Berthin as a gun crew went into action on that cruiser during recent manoeuvres.

TE WATER COLONY IDEA STIRS PRESS

LONDON, Sept. 17—(CP Cable)—The News Chronicle said yesterday the personal views on the colonial question of Charles Te Water, South African High Commissioner in London, are "not a satisfactory position" because they "seem to reveal awareness that something will have to be done about colonies but refusal to do anything."

(Te Water was quoted in Montreal as expressing the personal opinion South Africa would be willing to participate in a conference to examine in a spirit of reason and moderation Germany's point of view in regard to her war-lost colonies. He did not go so far as to say Suth Africa would participate in a general agreement to return to Germany her former colonies.)

"In the present state of the world it would be very difficult to consider any return of colonies to Germany," the News Chronicle added. "To yield to a demand which has never been presented, without ominously simultaneous mention of Germany's armed force, would merely encourage the Nazis to believe they can get anything by threats. Moreover, why should we go out of our way to present Germany with more bases from which she and her allies can threaten our trade routes?

"On the other hand, it is morally indefensible merely to cling to what we have despite reason or equity, and what is morally indefensible becomes in the end physically indefensible. The only long-term solution is for all colonies not ripe for Dominion status to be placed under international control, with full equality of access and opportunity for all nations. The sooner we start discussing practical means to this end the better."

The Morning Post declared "it has hitherto been the unalterable conviction of responsible opinion in South Africa that the return of Germany's former African colonies must be rejected as wholly irreconcilable with South Africa's security."

"This view still holds," the Conservative organ continued. "Mr. Te Water subsequently admitted his expression of opinion was entirely personal and unauthorized, but he must be aware that even the personal and unauthorized opinions of men of his public position are not easily distinguishable from calculated indiscretion. We shall look for a prompt and resolute disclaimer."

DAIRY COW EXPORT FAR UNDER QUOTA

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—The United States Customs Bureau said yesterday Canada has shipped in so far this year only a small part of the dairy cows and cream permitted under the Canadian-American trade agreement.

Up to August 28, 4,005 Canadian dairy cows weighing 700 pounds or more and equalling 20 per cent. of the quota entered the United States. A total of 89,162 gallons of cream, amounting to 5.9 per cent. of the Canadian quota, entered in the same period.

The Bureau reported Canada shipped 36,451,988 pounds of white or Irish seed potatoes to this country between December 1, 1934, and August 28, filling 81 per cent. of the quota on that commodity.

Most of the dairy cows and cream went to Vermont and the bulk of the potatoes to New York.

Fear Asylum End For Minister's Wife Without Sense Of Humor

Toronto, Sept. 17

A CLERGYMAN'S wife without a sense of humor had better watch out—she'll end up in an insane asylum, according to Mrs. R. B. McElheran, wife of the principal of Wycliffe College here.

Mrs. McElheran made the statement yesterday in an address on "What it means to be a minister's wife" to a group of Anglican ministers' wives here for the diamond jubilee of the college.

Laywomen of all denominations in Canada and the United States were questioned by Mrs. McElheran about what they thought about the wives of ministers. Here are some of her questions and answers:

Q.—What do you expect of your minister's wife?

A.—We want to be able to look up to her, to go to her for help, advice and sympathy. We want her to be far better than we are, feel able to get the woman's side of the ministry.

Q.—Do you want her to join in your social life—as you do?

A.—No, we do not. We expect her to be far bette rthan we are.

Q.—Why?

A.—Oh, we don't know, but how could we go to her in trouble if she had been sporting with us.

PLAN RELIGIOUS LESSONS, SCHOOL

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Sept. 17 (AP) — Eastern Lutheran Church members in convention today proposed to develop a plan for bringing religious education to public school children on week-days.

Led by the Rev. Henry J. Whiting of Bethesda, Md., delegates voted to study a three-fold program that included:

State law clauses by which the children could be released from school for classes in religion; creation of public sentiment for and parental co-operation with such education and a survey of existing church, home and community agencies to find out how widespread the need.

Rev. Dr. Whiting argued for the plan because of "present secularization of education."

"At the same time," he added, "we are conscious of the deep underlying problems and the many practical factors that must be considered."

Delegates, convening for the fourth of their five-day convention, prepared to elect new officers for the coming year today.

Kingston Sportsman Applies For Post

CINCINNATI, Sept. 17 (A.P.). — General Manager Warren C. Giles' problems over candidates for the Cincinnati Reds' managerial post left vacant by the release of Charlie Dressen were complicated to-day by a pile of applications ranging from an 18-year-old boy to a man in Canada who was confident he could pull the Rhinelanders out of the coal hole. Giles had a bid from a man identified as a "Mr. Edwards of Kingston, Ont."

Giles said a youth from New York had written that "from a business standpoint it would be a 10-strike to have an 18-year-old youngster to head the team."

Diamond veterans who applied included Herman Bell, one-time big league hurler, Jim Bottomley, former Redleg, and Max Carey, former Brooklyn pilot.

BRITISH WARSHIP BOMBED BY PLANE OFF SPAIN

SPAIN DEMANDS LEAGUE BLOCK ITALY, GERMANY

GENEVA, Sept. 18 (CP).—Dr. Juan Negrin, Spanish Government Premier, demanded today that the League of Nations name Germany and Italy aggressors in Spain and force an end to their intervention on behalf of the insurgents in the civil war.

The Madrid-Valencia "win the war premier" opened debate on foreign intervention in the civil war before the League of Nations assembly with the declaration that the conflict in reality has become a "war of invasion" by Germany and Italy.

Their intervention on behalf of General Franco, Negrin asserted, is the result of "nothing more than an occupational pact."

"Italy is dispatching to insurgent Spain an army "twice the size" of the Italian forces already fighting for General Franco," Premier Negrin said.

"Today we carefully consider the significance of our own utterances," Negrin declared. "We declare that Italy is sending to Spain an army twice the size of the force already there."

MRS. A. CUMMINGS DIES IN 91ST YEAR

Just a few days short of the 70th anniversary of their wedding, the oldest married couple in the Peterborough district were separated by death with the passing of Mrs. Alfred Cummings in St. Josephs Hospital Friday evening. Ninety years of age, she had been in failing health.

She was born in Wallworth, England, and came to Peterborough with her husband, who survives, 56 years ago. Throughout the years they lived in a little cottage at 4 Lundy's Lane until their failing health forced them to take up residence in the House of Refuge several months ago. October 6 would have been the 70th anniversary of their marriage in London, England.

Mrs. Cummings leaves no children but has relatives in western Canada and the United States. She was known particularly during her long residence in this community for her hobby of quilting. Her quilts found there way to many corners of the earth.

The funeral will be sponsored by the Sons of England of which Mr. Cummings has been a member for a half century. It will be held Monday at 2 p.m. from the Comstock Funeral Home to Little Lake Cemetery.

EPIDEMIC IS STILL BAD N TORONTO

TORONTO, Sept. 18.—(CP).—Dr. Gordon Jackson, Toronto Medical Officer of Health, sees little hope of abatement of the infantile paralysis in Ontario's capital, focal point of the epidemic.

Dr. Jackson displayed discouragement when he said last night: "This is another week just like last one." In reporting the week's list of new cases, the Health Officer said: "I am very disappointed."

Toronto had 21 new cases yesterday and one additional death. The new cases gave Toronto 561 since June 10. Another death in Hamilton yesterday brought the Ontario fatality list to 49 and the Dominion total to 71.

TWO MORE CASES

GALT, Ont., Sept. 18 (CP)—Two more cases of infantile paralysis were reported in Beverly Township today. Both victims were two years old. One was "very ill." The two families live half a mile apart on the same farm. Dr. Easton, Hamilton, government consultant, was called last night and administered serum.

As a precautionary measure the trustees of Pleasant Grove School, nearby, have decided not to open the school Monday.

Four cases have been reported in the township in two days.

"I heard the snake's warning rattle," she said, "But nobody here ever heard of a snake chasing a human being. It started to follow me. I was pretty scared."

Her mother heard her calls for help. She rushed out of the house and helped her daughter kill the reptile.

Young Sarnia Girl Is Hurled Out Against Tree—Doctor, Nurse, Driver Injured

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 18. —(CP).—Six-year-old Josephine Carrel of Sarnia, Ont., died in hospital to-day from injuries suffered in the collision of a car and ambulance carrying her to "iron lung" treatment in a Hamilton hospital.

Three blocks from the hospital, after a swift 140-mile ride from Sarnia, the ambulance was hit broadside by a car driven by Jim Pacicio. Hurled through an opened door, the girl landed against a tree trunk.

Josephine died from a fractured skull in the "iron lung" she was to have been treated in for infantile paralysis. Through the night Dr. John Coleman and Nurse Marjorie Walton applied artificial respiration on the girl as the ambulance roared over the highway at 60 to 80 miles an hour.

The doctor, nurse and driver of the ambulance escaped with shock, bruises and lacerations.

HEPBURN CHARGES EARL ROWE FALSE FRIEND OF LABOR

PENETANGUISHENE, Ont., Sept. 18.—(CP).—If Conservative Leader Earl Rowe were able to carry out his threat to "repudiate the repudiation" of Quebec power contracts, Ontario Hydro users would pay $7,000,000 extra a year to the "Quebec power barons," Premier Mitchell Hepburn told a Simcoe Centre campaign meeting here last night.

He denied suggestion of any power shortage because of the Government's cancellation of Hydro contracts with Quebec power companies. Hydro had a reserve of 120,000 horse power under option from the Gatineau Power Company, enough to care for any unexpected demand, he said.

The Premier claimed some Ontario industries had been able to regain business in foreign markets because of the reduction in power costs, which resulted from the Government's policy.

While Mr. Rowe called the Liberal Administration a taxing government, the provincial income tax was actually the only new tax imposed, Mr. Hepburn said, and he challenged the Conservative leader to say he would repeal it.

Reaping the Benefits.

In keeping with the Government's policy of returning the benefits of economical administration to the people, proceeds of the income tax were being rebated in a one-mill subsidy on all municipal taxation.

He challenged Mr. Rowe, too, to name the cabinet minister he said owed the province $50,000 and to name the estate involving a Liberal on which $60,000 succession duties were owing.

"You think Mr. Rowe is a friend of labor," he said. "He is a member of the party which voted against the repeal of Section 98 and section 96 denied labor not the right to strike but the right of free assembly." The Premier said he himself had voted for its repeal.

Mr. Rowe's party was the party which opposed the Workmen's Compensation Act, the Mothers' Allow-

U. A. W. AGREEABLE TO SEPARATE PACT

WINDSOR, Sept. 18 (CP)—The United Automobile Workers of America are "prepared and willing" to negotiate a separate agreement with the General Motors Corporation in Canada, Charles Millard of Oshawa, Canadian organizer for the U.A.W.A. said in an interview here last night.

Mr. Millard's statement followed a demand by the U.A.W.A., meeting in Detroit, that they be recognized by the General Motors Corporation as sole collective bargaining agency for all employees in the corporations plants in the United States and Canada.

"We understand General Motors of Canada claim to be separate and distinct from the corporation in the United States insofar as dealing with unions is concerned," Mr. Millard said.

"Nevertheless we also know that the union in Canada and the United States is one and the same and that the Canadian working-man has every right to expect that those things which form a basis of relationship between the corporation and the union in the U.S. should and must apply between the corporation and the union in Canada.

Mr. Millard contended the U.A.W.A. in Canada had never "adopted or condoned" unauthorized action to assure the G.M. Corporation there would be no interfering with production on the part of the union, "providing the corporation is agreed to accede to the same basis principles as are agreed to between the union and the company in the United States."

Six New Claims "Mattress" Fortune

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 18 (CP-Reuters)—Six new claims have been made to Sydney's £45,000 ($178,200) "mattress" fortune—the wealth left by Martin Edward Burke, a recluse who died in June, 1933.

At the time of his death Burke had only a few pennies in his possession. Later notes and securities worth £39,000 were found in the mattress of his bed. With interest these are now worth almost £45,000.

After an inquiry lasting four years, all previous claims to the fortune were dismissed.

If the new claims are not granted, the fortune will pass to the Crown.

Quints Drive Nails Into Planks To Become Self-Reliant

All Part Of Well-Planned Early Education By Dr. Dafoe And Best Of Experts

CALLANDER, Ont., Sept. 18 (CP) —Driving nails into planks is just fun for the Dionne quintuplets now and they probably will be surprised when they grow up and Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe tells them it was all part of their education.

So is crayon drawing, picking up toys and riding their bicycles. "Pre-kindergarten education." Dr. Dafoe calls it and he has the word of the continent's foremost child psychologists and teachers that it all will help in the proper development of the famous babies.

At three years and four months Annette, Emilie, Marie, Cecile and Yvonne are still a long time away from their ABC's. Piling blocks, scurrying up ladders and swinging from horizontal bars is more in their line. Particularly climbing the ladders that spot their playground.

But none of it is haphazard. Dr. Dafoe drew suggestions from noted American and Canadian child experts before he planned what the quints consider their play.

He is satisfied it will help them when or if they decide when they grow up to spend their lives in world

Denver, Sept. 18.

IRATE Colorado stockmen, stung by mounting cattle losses, met yesterday in a council of war reminiscent of vigilante days and decided to do something about rustling.

Most of them admitted the 1937 rubber-tired cattle thief has them "buffaloed" for drastic measures have failed.

The consensus of a dozen ranchers at the meeting was that new rustling laws are needed and new methods must be devised to meet the rustler "on his own grounds."

420,000 FIRES

OTTAWA, Sept. 18.—(CP).— A proclamation was published last night in the Canada Gazette setting aside the week of Oct. 3 to Oct. 9 as fire prevention week. It noted during the past 10 years there were 420,000 fires in Canada which destroyed insurable property valued at more than $350,000,000 and that during the same period 3,000 persons have lost their lives and 15,000 others have been seriously injured.

Japanese Bombs Don't Ask You Your Age

This wounded Chinese baby poignantly illustrates the fate which faces women and children in war-stricken China. Unable to walk, too young to walk, the hurt child, plastered with blood and mud, sits wailing in the smouldering debris which once was the modern South Station of the Chinese Railroad at Shanghai. There are no non-combatants in the war which is devastating the Orient.

Survival of MacAlpine Hope for Russians

Recall Canadian Mining Group Lasted Two Months On Arctic Coast

CAMBRIDGE BAY, N.W.T., Sept. 18 (CP). — Eight exhausted men stumbled into this far north trading post one grey November day in 1929. Their survival after two months of near-starvation and wintry Arctic conditions raises hope Sigismund Levanefsky and five other Soviet airmen, now lost in the Polar regions, will be found alive.

Forced down on an attempted flight from Moscow to the United States, the Russians have not been heard from since Friday, August 13. But as search pilots combed the Beaufort Sea region, the experiences which the MacAlpine party survived eight years ago were recalled by those who held hope for them should not be abandoned.

Short of provisions and without suitable clothing for an Arctic winter, Col. C. D. H. MacAlpine and seven others of a mining exploration party lived for eight weeks on the shores of the Western Arctic Ocean. The party's two planes were forced down by lack of fuel on Dease Point, 75 miles east of here, September 9.

Much Farther North.

Though the point where Levanefsky sent his last message, some 1,400 miles north of Barrow, Alaska, is much farther north than where the MacAlpine party was lost, it is the same season of the year and weather conditions are similar. The Russian fliers had six weeks' provisions, which could be augmented with Polar bear and seal meat.

Food supplied by a family of Eskimos staying at Dease Point enabled Col. MacAlpine and his seven companions to survive on their slim store of provisions. A system of rationing was put into effect, and in the first 30 days only 80 pounds of food was eaten. Half of it was dog feed supplied by the Eskimos. Fur clothing also was obtained from the hospitable natives.

The party was forced to wait until October 21 before beginning a trek over newly frozen Dease Strait ice to Cambridge Bay. Storms frequently broke up the ice and progress was slow. On October 22, only five miles were covered. But despite DAVE CALFORD'S bull is pretty sore today.

As he dug his nose into a luscious grain stack, he struck a hornet's nest. When the hornets were through with the bull, Dave Calford had a green-faced animal.

And when the bull was through kicking over fences, breaking a barn window and goring a potato garden, the farmer was almost as enraged as his bull. That is, until he looked at the animal's green face—then he laughed.

BRANT GRANDSON FIRED AS "ALIEN"

ALBANY, N.Y., Sept. 18.—(AP).— A great, great, grandson of Joseph Brant, Mohawk Indian chieftain who attached himself to the British cause during the revolutionary war, was ruled out of works progress administration job to-day as an "alien."

Lester W. Herzog, W.P.A. State ministrator, said he had given orders for dismissal of Frank Maracle from his post as foreman of a Rochester paving project.

Herzog said a W.P.A. investigator had erred in putting Maracle down as a naturalized citizen just because he was an Indian.

As a matter of fact, he explained, Maracle is a Canadian citizen, although he resides at Irondequoit, near Rochester.

Dr. Arthur C. Parer, director of the Rochester Museum and an Indian authority, recalled that the Canadian government had bestowed citizenship upon Brant and his descendants, and while the Indians have the privilege of crossing the border and establishing residence at will, the United States must recognize them as Canadians.

ITALIANS ADMIT NEW RECRUITING TO ASSIST FRANCO

ROME, Sept. 18.—(AP).— New rumors circulated among competent observers to-day a new enrolment of volunteers is ready to go to Spain with the insurgent army as Great Britain and France for the second time invited Italy to join in the war against piracy in the Mediterranean.

Premier Mussolini refused the first invitation, contending Italy was given a minor role in the British-French domianted anti-piracy patrol.

The British and French Charge D'Affaires presented to Foreign Minister Galeazzo Ciano an official copy of the latest agreement by the nine Powers of Nyon—making surface warships and airplanes subject to attack along with submarines, if they attack merchant shipping.

An invitation to join the accord was handed to the Italian foreign minister. There seemed no doubt but that the invitation would be declined.

Officials denied the reports of volunteers, but foreign correspondents continued to meet Italians who said that relatives, friends, or they themselves, were asked within the past 10 days to go to Spain.

This writer learned of one group of Blackshirts who had been asked to volunteer. Twenty acquiesced, lots were drawn and 10 of the men told to get ready to leave.

In recent months, small groups of specialists—aviators, tank operators, artillerymen, and so on—have been sent to the insurgent army. There is, however, no absolute confirmation of departures of large groups in recent days.

Cow And Goat Owners Rise In Wrath To Fight Windsor's Ban

Windsor, Ont., Sept. 18.

A COW'S right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness and the health-giving qualities of goat's milk were defended here last night when ward one cow and goat owners gathered to fight a proposed civic by-law to banish such animals from the city.

The assembled livestock owners were serious in their discussion, despite the "mooing" which came from youths at the back of the meeting hall.

A delegation from ward five also took part in the rally. It was feared an anti-cow and goat movement is getting underway in that district. The collection totalled $3.36. A balance of 76 cents remained to carry on the fight when expenses were paid.

A petition signed by hundreds of citizens, "residents, taxpayers, cow-owners and goat-owners," will be presented to city council, it was announced. The petition asks that no action be taken in connection with the by-law.

Coastal Cutters Widen Search For Missing Endeavour

Heavy Fog Covering Atlantic Coast Hampers Operation

BOSTON, Sept. 18 (AP).—As fears mounted today for the missing British racing sloop Endeavour I and her crew of 20, four coast guard patrol boats swung southward and east from Halifax, N.S., in a widening search for the lost craft.

The four patrol boats reported no sign of the unsuccessful 1934 America's cup challenger during their search begun at a point 200 miles east of Nantucket, where the racing yacht was parted from its convoy, Viva, in a gale Monday.

A heavy fog, reducing visibility to a matter of feet, added to the difficulties of the search. The sea was reported calm, however.

The Viva was towing Endeavour, owned by Frederic Sigrist, back to England after competing in class J sloop races here when the nine-inch towline snapped in the blow.

Torpedo Attack Aircraft Carrier Reported, Malta

Italian, German Destroyers Said Seen Convoying Rebel Subs Off British Base

LONDON, Sept. 18 (AP) — The British destroyer Fearless reported today to London naval authorities that it had been attacked by a bombing plane off Gijon, Spain.

Six heavy bombs yesterday fell close to the Fearless but she was not struck.

Having completed the attack, the plane flew toward Gijon, leading to a belief in London that the plane might have been a Spanish government craft.

Gijon is the government's last important port on the Bay of Biscay. There are nearby concentrations of insurgent troops and planes.

The Fearless carried the regulation identification as a British warcraft and in addition the fore gun turret was painted red, white and blue.

The destroyer carried heavy anti-aircraft armament but it was not disclosed whether she opened fire on her attacker.

The attack was another of the almost countless incidents that have occurred on the Bay of Biscay and the Mediterranean since the Spanish civil war broke out 14 months ago.

A Torpedo Attack?

It was virtually impossible to winnow the chaff of rumor from the fresh harvest of reports.

Advices from Malta had informed persons saying there was "good reason" to believe an attempt was made to torpedo the British aircraft carrier Glorious Thursday evening.

A news report from Insurgent Spain had General Franco formally accusing Russia of operating two "pirate" submarines in the Mediterranean.

Malta blossomed with talk of Spanish Insurgent submarines moving with Italian and German destroyer escorts — this apparently founded on reports of the crews of two British destroyers, the Imperial and Shark.

It was rumored a contingent of British marines was ordered to leave today on two battle cruisers for a landing on the Insurgent-held island of Mallorca.

A secret naval inquiry aboard the aircraft carried Glorious led to-day to belief British naval officials were seeking details of the reported torpedo attack.

Informed persons said, however, there was good reason to believe a torpedo was fired at the Glorious Thursday evening, narrowly missing her. The craft was warned of the attack by lookouts on an accompanying destroyer, the Comet, it was said.

Rebel Subs off Malta

There were two reports on the movements of insurgent submarines off Malta.

A lookout on the destroyer Imperial reported recognizing the German destroyer convoying one of the undersea craft. The Imperial was said to have passed the party so closely that she dipped her colors in salute.

The other report, credited to the crew of the destroyer Shark, was that two insurgent submarines, accompanied by two Italian and two German destroyers, were sighted 50 miles off Malta.

A Royal Air Force squadron of five planes roared away from Plymouth at dawn to join the Mediterranean patrol.

Another R.A.F. squadron, at Pembroke dock, will leave in a few days. The planes are equipped with machine guns and bombing cockpits. They will be able to search out and attack submarines over large areas with their 1,000-mile cruising ranges.

BEST TIMBER SOLD IN SECRET DEALS IS ROWE'S CLAIM

PARRY SOUND, Ont., Sept. 18 (C.P.). — Timber contracts in Northern Ontario were "secretly" reached between the Ontario Government and lumber firms with large tracts "given away," charged Hon. Earl Rowe in a Parry Sound address last night. The Conservative Leader spoke twice yesterday, at Huntsville and Parry Sound. He addresses Elmvale and Penetanguishene meetings to-day.

The present Government has given away 1,000 miles more than the Conservative Party during 11 years of office," he told the Parry Sound meeting in attacking timber contracts. He charged 23,000 square miles of the finest timber limits were distributed in the contracts, of which three-fourths involved United States firms.

Mr. Rowe challenged Premier Mitchell Hepburn to publish the agreements made with nine companies. The Conservative Leader said the companies were: English River Pulp and Paper Company, Kenora District, 4,815 square miles; General Timber Company, Thunder Bay District, 2,500 square miles; Ontario Paper Company, Thunder Bay District, 800 square miles; Vermilion Lake Company, 2,000 square miles; Kenora Western Pulp Company, 4,100 square miles; Kenora Pulpwood Supply, 2,600 square miles; Thunder Bay, Lake Sulphite Company, Nipigon 3,700 square miles; Heron Forest Products, 500 square miles; Blind River, Soo Pulp Products, Sault Ste. Marie District, 2,700 square miles.

Aid Work on Claims.

When Conservatives attained power, he told the Parry Sound audience, mining communities would be assisted by a road system and a "better apportionment of the provincial mines income taxes." Further, in assisting the north, an effort would be made to explore and develop "many thousands of pat-

Dr. J. Downing, following the three men in another car, took Haines in his machine and continued the trip to hospital where two of Haines' fingers were amputated.

LIFE AS USUAL IN SOME PARTS OF TORN SPAIN

VALENCIA, Sept. 18 (CP). — Thousands of khaki-clad soldiers... an endless stream of transports speeding along highways...the noisy congestion of city traffic... crowded stores and cafes...long queues outside rationing depots... peasants toiling on farms.

The picture is typical of the every-day scene in republican Spain. Except for Madrid with its ever-growing belt of devastation wrought by months of sporadic shelling and bombing there is little outward evidence of destruction or suffering behind the lines.

The chief cities of Valencia, Madrid and Barcelona throb with surging humanity, including thousands of able-bodied men who have not yet been called to the colors. Factories are working overtime on supplies for the army, business goes on in shops with only a moderate curtailment of stocks. Theatres are operating with programs mainly devoted to propaganda plays and pictures. Automobiles have been commandeered for the service of the government in Madrid and Valencia and there's no chance of hailing a taxi. Newsboys rend the air with their shouts, frequently offering papers with columns deleted by the censor.

True the civilian population has had to tighten its belt and bow to the inevitability of war-time rationing of such necessities as bread, butter, milk, sugar and oils. But the average householder appears to take these hardships as a matter of course. The best must go to the men under arms. Men under arms! We were reminded of a statement by Julio Del Vayo, chief commisar of war, who declared the government had all the men it needed to take care of reinforcements for Franco from Italy and Germany.

The tremendous reserve strength behind the lines immediately becomes apparent to the visitor. Soldiers throroged the streets, stroll or rest in parks and squares and crowd into stuffy bars and cafes. Many carry small revolvers strapped to their belts; patrols and sentries carry rifles of every make.

Expect Heavy Fighting.

The impression prevails the government is preparing for a bitter defensive campaign when the expected southern drive of the insurgents is launched. Madrid has been transformed into a fortress, with stone barricades, wire entanglements, trenches and gun-emplacements guarding every avenue of approach. The rugged, hilly countryside leading to the eastern shores of the Mediterranean is reported to be protected by well-shielded guns. Roads and bridges have been mined. Few dare discuss these matters openly as Franco is known to have a large number of sympathizers behind the government lines and the talkative and too curious often find themselves under arrest.

"Why this mass concentration of troops behind the lines?" a British officer with the International Brigade was asked. "I'm afraid you'll have to put that question to the military experts," was the diplomatic reply.

No war is not a great hardship for the average easy-going, philosophical Spaniard.

Over his glass of vermouth or cognac he calmly discusses politics, economics, the air-raid or shelling of the night before. The war? He sincerely believes all goes well and that he's supporting the right cause. And so to his siesta.

Japs Massacring 100's Chinese

LONDON, Sept. 18—(CP-Havas)—Charges Japanese troops at Shanghai were massacring Chinese villages by the hundreds were made here today by the Chinese Embassy.

An Embassy communique quoted Chinese press reports as saying 500 inhabitants of Yanghang who failed to evacuate with the Chinese army retreating from Shanghai were "murdered in cold blood" by the Japanese.

On the tiny island of Huangsha at the mouth of the Yangtze, 300 fisherfolk were massacred, the Embassy said because the Japanese wanted to turn the island into an air base.

capitals or settle down with French-Canadian farmers in Northern Ontario. The Dionnes will be the sort of young ladies who can make their own frocks even if they can hire Chanel to do it for them.

Start With Crayons.

Drawing with crayons is one of the latest accomplishments of the famous babies. They wield their crayons with vigor if little direction and nothing has been produced so far that would get near a hanging committee. "Look more like bad dreams than anything else," cryptically comments Dr. Dafoe on his charges' art output.

But the Quints never heard of hanging committees, and it's just great fun to them. Yvonne found out the other day that the crayons made quite as satisfactory scrawls on the Dafoe nursery walls and tables as they did on paper. Followed an epidemic of wall-marking that had their nurses hustling around with wet wiping cloths in their hands for days.

And Annette dissovered a little extra pressure in the right place would break a crayon in two. That information flashed around among the Quints in practically nothing flat. Boxes of crayons were disappearing like Quints at bedtime until the practice was discouraged by the nurses.

But pranks or no pranks, the Quints are learning. For months now, Miss Clare Tremblay has been laying the groundwork of their future education under Dr. Dafoe's direction.

No effort is being made to develop child prodigies. The goal is to make the Quints self-reliant youngsters who will be able to face the world in later years despite the handicap of their fame.

The groundwork of their education was laid in the first two years of their life, the third is being devoted to the beginning of the mental, moral and social education that will fit them for life. The fourth year, which won't roll around until next May, will be used to develop that beginning.

Another Invitation

With this "courtesy" outline of what the Nyon nations intended to do, it was understood, went a reiteration of the original invitation which Premier Mussolini last Tuesday rejected as no commensurate with Italy's interests in the Mediterranean.

Reports from Salamanca, general headquarters of the Spanish insurgents, said General Franco had formally accused Soviet Russia, one of the Nyon powers, of submarine piracy.

The Anglo-French decision to withdraw from the Spanish non-intervention naval patrol, which Italy and Germany abandoned some time ago, will add 16 British destroyers to the anti-pirate forces. Officials emphasized, however, the Anglo-French withdrawal indicates no change in general non-intervention policy.

"SISSY" LAXATIVES
Fail to Empty the Lazy Colon

Chronic constipation is too serious to trifle with by using "sissy" laxatives in place of a real medicine of proven theurapeutic value. "Sissy" laxatives only deceive because they do not reach the seat of trouble—the lazy colon. There is a movement of the bowels, but until the colon or large bowel is entirely emptied, poisons are generated there which give rise to pains and aches, rheumatism, lumbago and other serious and painful diseases.

To thoroughly cleanse the colon a real medicine is required and there is, perhaps, none more effective than Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. This medicine had to prove its merits to the full before it was considered worthy to be offered to the public under the name of Dr. Chase. For over fifty years it has proven its superiority as a corrective for constipation and a regulator of the liver and kidneys.

For other serious diseases you would not be satisfied with a "sissy" treatment, then why trifle with constipation which is sometimes called the "mother of diseases". It is a fine habit to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills weekly so as to ensure a complete emptying of the colon and the healthy working of the liver and kidneys.

ented mining claims now lying inactive."

"A paved main trunk line from North Bay to Kirkland Lake and Timmins and intermediate points will be one of our objectives," he continued. "We will also adopt a policy of building tributary lines for the benefit of settlers and new mining areas. We propose to investigate the needs and the practicability of a more direct road from Timmins to Sudbury."

His party believed mining taxes should be stabilized and no further increases made. Employment and prosperity would increase through a sound mining policy, one which encouraged the industry, Mr. Rowe said.

Before the Huntsville meeting, Mr. Rowe proposed winter short courses in outlying districts so residents could learn handicraft manufacturing. From such work benefit could be obtained by selling to tourists, he said.

If elected, the Conservatives would form a tourist department. Mr. Rowe expressed the belief through careful handling the province's tourist industry could produce $200,000,00, compared with $100,000,000 obtained annually at present.

The proposed department would have charge of the handicraft courses and would be administered by "a competent minister." The Conservative Leader stressed that Quebec residents last year obtained $17,000,000 from handicraft sales.

Biblical Thoughts For The Shut-Ins

By Rev. E. R. James

THE DECISION OF OUR LORD
Jesus said: Behold, we go up to Jerusalem.— St. Math. 20-18.

A little more than twenty years earlier it is probable that the Virgin Mother said to her Son: "Behold, we go up to Jerusalem." He was now twelve, expecting the news for sometime. How His eyes sparkled with delight. With what joy He told His friends the good news that they might rejoice with Him. "We go up to Jerusalem" was His constant refrain. With intense emotion He would join in singing Psalm 122: "I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the House of the Lord. Our feet shall stand within thy gates, O Jerusalem." When they crossed the Jordan and began the steep ascent to the Holy City He would eagerly climb the hills looking for the first glimpse of the pinnacle of the Temple from which the priest every morning would watch for the dawn and give the signal for the morning sacrifice. You remember how astonished He was when they searched for Him. "Wist ye not that I must be in My Father's House and about My Father's business?" During those eighteen silent years He has been preparing for that work. Now the hour is close at hand.

He has resisted the temptation on the Mount of Transfiguration to pass into the Divine Presence. Moses and Elijah, representatives of the Law and Prophets, have spoken to Him of His decease, His exodus, His going-forth by way of the Cross. He has heard encouraging words from the Father: "Thou are My beloved Son." He "has steadfastly set his face to go to Jerusalem." He leads His Apostles, they follow with fear. He is alone. "He must tread the wine press alone." "He must be about His Father's business."

He goes up to Jerusalem for He must present Himself before the High Priest of ancient Isreal. He, "the true Israelite without guile" must stand before Caiaphas and answer the vital question: "Art thou the Son of the Blessed", with the brief: "I AM". He is to be officially rejected, spat upon and delivered to the Gentile authorities as a blasphemer. He is to be hanged on the Tree as a Sign He is an accursed one.

Why? It is the mystery of the ages. Thinkers of every generation have striven to give an answer more or less true. We can only stand in awe before the mystery accepting the fact that "He is the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world." He is "The Lamb slain from the foundation of the world" to teach us that suffering is in the very nature of God.

The Son of God, the God-Man, truly God and truly Man, must be rejected of men; His perfect obedience to the Father's will must be tested to the uttermost, even to the death on the Cross. He must be both Priest and victim. He must go down into the dread valley as a real man and understand the horror and the loneliness so that all men could come to Him as the Man who has tasted death and understands. "The Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world."

We stand before the mystery of mysteries. We can only accept the fact: "The Blood of Jesus Christ cleanseth us from all sin."

He died and was buried and the third day He rose from the dead. His Resurrection is God's vindication and acceptance of His perfect obedience and sacrifice. "God hath highly exalted Him that at the Name of Jesus every knee should bow of things in Heaven and things in earth."

We, His younger brethren, can in a deeper and true sense says "Behold, we go up to Jerusalem," the New Jerusalem, The Holy City."

"God hath prepared for us a City."
Jesu, the very thought of Thee
With sweetness fills the breast;
But sweeter far Thy face to see
And in Thy Presence rest.

The Human Side Of The News

BY EDWIN C. HILL

Japanese airmen carry swords, so they may commit hari-kiri by ancient suicide ritual, rather than be captured. Thus past centuries intrude on to-day's hot headlines. The little men of Nippon are hard to beat in battle because of their cheerful eagerness to die for their emperor. Self-destruction is preferred to the indignity of defeat or capture. Their authorities have had difficulty in restricting this impulse to the military.

A few months ago there was great concern over the spread through Japan of the "Let Us Die League." Five members of the league attempted suicide in Tokyo on a single day. The group was found to be elaborately organized, with documents and oaths sealed and written in blood, and fealty to death pledged in weird ceremonials. This was the first democratization of a practice which in the past had been confined mostly to the upper strata.

It was discouraged by the police, but any Japanese army officer on land, air or sea, or any important business man or financier must always be ready to bow himself out, under the ancient Samurai rules, if he has lost face.

Every Airplane Has Sword.

The sharp little Samurai sword—no other would do—is now standard equipment in the cockpit of a Japanese fighting or bombing airplane. "Junshi" and "Haro-Kiri," or "sepukka," are the two prescribed methods for genteel self-destruction. The former is required under ancient law in cases where there has been injustice or harm to a lord and master. The latter is the widely practised social observance for making atonement, expressing remorse or for a last dramatic assertion of loyalty. Hence hari-kiri is the suicidal ritual of the airmen.

Naturally, in the few seconds of the descent of shattered or blazing airplane, there can be no real ceremony. This would require rites of purification, while dressed in white in the curtained enclosure of a beautiful garden, and the chant of a poeticized ruonc of death, before the one-about-to-die twists the sword in his abdomen. Even with a safe landing, the aviator couldn't do all that.

Hence it is decreed that he may use his sword as best he can, chant what ancient dithyrambs he may and, in case the exigency of time is too great even for the sword, he has also in his kit a small revolver, not for fighting, but to use as a final gesture of fealty to his emperor.

More than 300 Japanese have leaped into the molten crater of the Minara volcano on the small and beautiful island of Oshima, 60 miles from Tokyo Bay. These have been mostly lovers' leaps, under the "shinju" suicide ritual of lovers. Romantic and despairing couples doing this have brought about an increasingly troublesome problem in Japan in recent years—as has been the general problem of increasing numbers of suicides.

Ancient Theory Proven Wrong.

It is only in the last decade or two that statistics have shown a large proportion of these tragedies as due to mental illness, poverty and physical pain. Through the centuries, the impulse has been mystic and religious — supposedly leading to the attainment of "arhatship," the state of ultimate felicity in the Buddhist religion.

In past centuries, the Ronin, or "super-patriots," elaborated, expanded and taught the doctrine that death was always preferable to dishonor, and brought about various instances of mass suicide. In 1703, 47 Ronin, protesting the overthrow of one of their leaders, staged an elaborate ceremony with priestly incantations in a Buddhist temple, and slew themselves to a carefully-timed thrust of their swords. The temple court yard where they were buried is still a highly venerated place.

The Buddhist Mahyani sect, its beginnings lost in antiquity, taught that "ending one's existence is to be looked upon as the best sacrifice; for to give one's body is better than to give alms."

I was talking with a friend, a captain, cited for valor in the World War, about this weird business of Japanese hari-kiri.

Men Ready to Fight and Die.

"I have been wondering," he said, "what kind of a world we might have if there was nobody anywhere who believed anything worth dying for. That would be all right, if there were no killers anywhere in the world. But as long as there are, men will be ready to fight, and that means they will be ready to die. I suppose we'll have to swear off killing before we swear off dying."

I was talking to a young buck private when we were being demobilized in New York in 1919. He was a rootin', tootin' fighter, cited twice for gallantry in action. I complimented him and told him I would get his rifle for him, to hang over the mantel for his children to see.

"Nix," he said. "I'm going to get married next week and we're going to have some kids. Then I'm going to cross a pair of track shoes over the mantel, and I'm going to say every day to them kids that here's the track shoes their grandfather wore at the Battle of Bull Run. That's my idea of ending this war stuff." But within two years, he had enlisted again.

I have the same opinion of war that he had, but I don't see any end to it as long as we are what we are. The only thing is, I think we ought to pick our wars mighty carefully. I might die for something under certain circumstances, but I'd be mighty choosy about it.

CATHEDRAL MUSINGS

We said last week that God works and so also must man. "Work and worship" being indissolubly united. This may need some clarification and perhaps the best way of putting it is that found in the opening statement of the Rosicrucian creed, which incidentally is not a creed at all. "I know there is but One Living, True and Infinite God creating and sustaining all things visible and invisible." Creation is not a thing once done and finished with, for it is still going on. If God ceased to work in sustaining all things, then "all things" would cease to exist, for material creation is an effect not a cause. Our ancient brethren of Greece stated that "matter is ever becoming," meaning that every substance is always becoming something different as the energy behind it changes, and our modern scientists have confirmed this truth in their investigations of atomic physics, particularly in the uranium, radium, helium, lead sequence. Today they are beginning to sense the truth that matter is an energy form, and that when this energy is nullified by temperatures approaching absolute zero, the matter itself ceases to exist. Crile and others have also shown that the arrangement and grouping of molecules can be modified and controlled by mental power. So that reasoning from the particular to the universal it can be postulated that the universe is a manifestation of energy proceeding from an unknown source, set in motion and controlled by mind. The source and the controlling mind is that which men term God. Further, that the absence of this mind-controlled energy means that matter reverts back into nothingness, just as the absence of light brings the nothingness of darkness. Darkness is a negation. It has no positive existence. It ceases to exist where there is light, but no light however feeble can be quenched by darkness. This holds true all along the line, both in material and spiritual things. The positive things have both reality and actuality, the negative have only a seeming existence and even that is but relative. We know there is Absolute Good, or God, but absolute bad cannot exist for it would mean the entire withdrawal and absence of God's consciousness and power which is impossible within the circles of His creation, for where God does not manifest there can be no creation. Neither is there any actuality to time or space except relatively to material creation, for while the universes may be separated by many thousands of light years, yet the Mind of God embraces all. It would be absurd to conceive of His mind divided and of one part being millions of years ahead or behind of another part. With God everything is contained in an eternal now. Time, space, and matter are only illusions, purely relative to the objective conditions of earth life and have no existence in the true reality of the spirit. So also is evil which is caused by the illusion of this world and the consequent ignorance of man's true being. The mystic knows that if man ceased to be sub-human and regained his original status, the illusion of separateness from God would vanish and he would dwell in the third aspect of the Divine Trianvle, the true Light which lighteth every man, for the inner darkness would be no more.

A National Message

(By the Late Rev. Pascoe Coard, LL.D., F.R.G.S., F.R.E.S.)

The erection of the kingdoms of this world which we have termed the "Babylon succession of Empires." These were Babylon, Persia, Greece, Rome, the Papal States and Kingdoms subordinate to the Papacy, the Moslem Empires.

The fall of that succession came in A.D. 1918.

In that fall were included the Great War; the fall of the Empires; the overturning of the democratic and parliamentary form of government; the overthrow of the Turkish Empire, and of the Caliphate; the economic collapse of Europe; and the economic crisis, which Britain weathered, and which the U.S.A. is coming through. All these constituted that end-of-the-age series of catastrophes foreshown in Rev. xvii. and xviii.

And so the European system and the Babylon succession are gone.

Then came the temporary rise to power, of the ten who "received power as kings" but no kingdom; in other words, the ten dictators who succeeded the emperors. These are rapidly spending the short time granted to them.

Now comes the return of the Kingdom of God; its extension to embrace all Israel and Judah; and its further extension to embrace all the nations.

This is the stage of world history to which we have attained.

In the time of our late beloved King we were passing through the period of the fall of the old system. How majestically he carried us with him through crisis after crisis.

Now we have come to the time of the unveiling of the Kingdom of God. We read of Jesus that He should be a "light to lighten the Gentiles and the glory of thy people Israel." But as we take our Greek Testament in hand, we see that we may get a little closer to the truth by following literally the original text, which says a "light for the revelation of the nations and glory of thy people Israel."

Up to the time of the end of the old system, the nations, which constitute the Kingdom of God, were hidden. "The Kingdom of God is as a treasure hidden in a field." Now after the fall of the Empires, comes the "apokalupsis," or the unveiling of the nations. Jesus is the light to unveil them; and they are being unveiled, so that with assurance we can call the role of most of them to-day.

The Golden Text

Joshua 24:15—"Choose you this day whom ye will serve."

Choices and Their Consequences

"BRASS TACKS" ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Sept. 19 is Deuteronomy 11:8-12, 26-32, the Golden Text being Joshua 24:15, "Choose you this day whom ye will serve.")

THE BOOK of Deuteronomy is made up of a series of six farewell addresses of Moses, delivered to the children of Israel during a period of forty days immediately preceding his death. Moses' final warnings, injunctions and encouragements to the nation are embodied in these farewells, the second of these, from which our lesson is taken, is the longest, running through chapters 5 to 28, and explains the nature of the obedience God demands, and pronounces the blessings of obedience and the curses to follow disobedience.

Blessings of Obedience.

"Therefore shall ye keep all the commandments which I command thee this day, that ye may be strong, and go in and possess the land, whither ye go over to possess it, and that ye may prolong your days in the land, which Jehovah sware unto your fathers to give unto them and to their seed, a land flowing with milk and honey." It would be tremendously difficult to drive out the strong and warlike peoples inhabiting the land, whose wickedness was about to be judged by God in their extermination. By their obedience they would be acceptable to Jehovah's agent, and he would abundantly bless them in a land rich in blessings: "A land of hills and valleys, and drinketh water of the rain of heaven, a land which Jehovah thy God careth for: the eyes of Jehovah thy God are always upon it, from the beginning of the year even unto the end of the year." In other words, continued fertility and fruitfulness require more than natural causes to explain them. God's favor and blessing are not to be crowded out of consideration. Godliness and obedience to God's law may prove quite as effective in averting drouth, dust storms, flood, pestilence and the like, as do some of our man-made schemes for controlling the forces of nature.

Curse of Disobedience.

"Behold I set before you this day a blessing and a curse: the blessing if ye shall hearken unto the commandments of Jehovah your God, which I command you this day; and the curse if ye shall not hearken, but turn aside out of the way I command you this day, to go after other gods, which ye have not known." "Not to the strong is the battle, not to be swift is the race, but to the true and the faithful victory is promised through grace." Nations rise or fall as they tend to further or thwart the laws of God and the progress of His kingdom.

Ebal and Gerezim.

The necessity of national choice and the consequent result in blessing or curse were to be dramatically impressed upon Israel by the picturesque ceremonies attending the reading of the law after they were come into the heart of the new land. With half the nation arrayed on Mount Gerezim facing the other half on Mount Ebal, the priests solemnly read the law with its blessings and curses in the hearing of all: "Thou shalt set the blessing upon Mount Gerezim, and the curse upon Mount Ebal." God's "blesseds" sounding forth from one mount and his "cursed" from the opposite should impress us as God intended it to impress Israel, and should lead us to Christ to receive his "Blessed," for he took unto himself our "cursed" on the tree of his cross.

Miss Margaret Moon, who left to take up her duties at Belleville General Hospital as nurse-in-training, on Monday, Sept. 6, is on sick leave at her home in Madoc for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon B. Foote moved to Peterborough to live last week. Mr. and Mrs. Foote, who are life-long residents of Madoc, will be greatly missed by their friends and neighbors in Madoc.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Ernest Morrison have returned home after spending several days in Toronto, where Mr. Morrison is undergoing treatment for his injured eyesight.

Choices and Their Consequences — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Deuteronomy 11:8-12; 26-32.

Shortly before Moses' death he addressed the nation with his farewell encouragements and warnings. "Keep all the commandments that ye may be strong, and go in and possess the land."

He told them that the land would be a fertile, well-watered land, "a land which Jehovah thy God careth for: the eyes of God are always upon it."

Upon coming into the heart of the land half of the people were to be gathered on Mount Ebal and half on Mount Gerezim, with the priests in between reading Gods words to both groups.

"Behold I set before you this day a blessing and a curse: the blessing if ye shall hearken and the curse if ye shall not hearken."

Listing The Voters

There is a feeling among those who are more closely connected with the current election that the present method of preparing urban voters' lists leaves a great deal to be desired. Experienced political workers are strongly of the opinion that the most satisfactory and the simplest plan would be to compile the lists before each election by registration. That is to say that whenever an appeal to the electors is to be made, registrars should be appointed for each polling subdivision who would open offices for a week for the purpose of recording all the voters in their respective districts who wished an opportunity to use their franchise at the forthcoming election. That is a simple way of doing the thing, it is less likely to produce errors and it has the very material advantage that it not only would provide an up-to-the minute list but it would be confined to those who are really interested in the election.

Under the present plan there is too great a percentage of error. The enumerators miss houses, and even when they do make a call they sometimes fail to get a complete list of all the persons in the household who are eligible to vote. It is true that there is a chance to have these errors corrected by the revising officials but that entails some trouble for the elector who has been missed and often when the time between the enumeration and revision proceedings is short as it is in the present instance, the omission of names may not be noted until it is too late to do anything about it.

The registration plan avoids all those disadvantages. It lists speedily and accurately every person who wants to vote while the present method often has the result of leaving off folk who are anxious to use their franchise and recording others who are utterly indifferent as to whether or not they have any voice in the election.

Overloading Property

The Ottawa Journal tells the interesting story of a man who appeared before the Board of Control in that city the other day with a plea for help. The one-man deputation told the authorities that he had been a taxpayer in Ottawa for 44 years. He owns a little house and said that he had just been able to contrive to provide his family with the necessities of life and to pay his taxes and he wanted to know from the members of the Board why his taxes should be the highest they have ever been because his little property is being called upon to pay the cost of keeping on relief families that live more comfortably than his own dependents.

There was nothing the civic fathers could do for him, because as the Mayor pointed out their hands are tied by the rules made by higher authority for municipalities. Municipal governments have no other course than to include in the tax rate on property any charges for relief that are not taken care of by the provincial and Federal governments. Property is the only important source of revenue that is available to the municipalities and there is no use arguing that property was never intended to meet the cost of social services for the fact remains that so long as part of the cost of relief is saddled on municipal government, the owners of property, large and small alike will find themselves called upon to pay more taxes as a result.

The Journal, commenting upon the case, professes to see in the Rowell commission an opportunity for affording some much-needed relief for property owners and a fairer division of responsibilities and public revenues. We wish that we could be as optimistic about the matter but we are prevented from being so because of the experience of the majority of other commissions whose investigations have been loudly heralded and whose findings have effected surprisingly little. The fact that Hon. Mr. Rowell is at the head of the present inquiry is however a reassuring feature.

It Has Been A Success

The statement by Hon. Charles Dunning that almost $10,000,000 has been advanced in loans under the Home Improvement plan since the scheme was launched last November shows that the method of government aid for citizens who wanted to improve their homes has had very substantial results.

It is apparent that the spending of ten million dollars, nearly four millions in our own province of Ontario, had been of material assistance to the building trades and to those industries associated with it which depend upon the construction industry for most of their business. The amount spent on home improvement, as a result of this campaign, is not fully represented of course in the total loans advanced under the scheme. In addition to the ten millions in loans, many more millions have undoubtedly been expended in repairs and improvements by citizens who were not in need of financial assistance to put through their program but who were influenced, as a result of the enthusiasm stirred up by the Home Improvement drive, to undertake a lot of work that might not have been started even yet had it not been for the campaign. That was the experience in the United States when a similar effort was successfully promoted and it has been repeated here. The Home Improvement movement has been one of the most successful enterprises initiated by the Ottawa government who will be the first to admit that the gratifying results that followed were made possible because Canadians of all shades of politics co-operated in the scheme. There has been no attempt to play politics with the thing and that probably explains why it has gone over so well.

A Defender Of Democracy

Dr. Thomas G. Masaryk, founder and former President of the Czechoslovak Republic, who is dead in Prague at the age of eighty-seven, was one of the few men of unquestioned greatness thrown to the surface of a troubled social order by the upheaval of the World War. He was as much the father of his country as Washington was the father of the United States, and he has a somewhat comparable claim upon immortality.

Dr. Masaryk combined in his own person and character most of the qualities of heart and of mind that go to make the ideal leader and ruler of men. The child of humble parents, he knew in an intimate way the yearnings and the needs of the poor. A profound student and a teacher of philosophy he brought o the complex problems of a heterogeneous people a thoughtful understanding and a tolerant, patient spirit. Practical, courageous and determined, he saw his goal clearly and struggled for its attainment with undismayed persistency, though the obstacles that arose in his path were numerous and difficult

When the opportune moment came, accordingly, when there lay at his hand the material for a new nation in the chaos created by the World War, he was prepared mentally and spiritually for the fulfillment of his old dream.

Having founded the Czechoslovak Republic, Dr. Masaryk was the logical and only choice as its first President. For eighteen years he was the arbiter of the destinies of this new republic, governing it wisely and with strength and reconciling the differences of majority and minority elements, developing a homogeneous whole. Surrounded by dictatorships and by the conflicting influences of Fascism and Communism, he succeeded in preserving a pure democracy, sufficiently strong and enlightened to hold its own in a troubled world.

This Was A Mean Trick

The politicians have played a mean trick on the electors of West York riding. Today both the Liberal and Conservative organizations are holding huge picnics, the former at the Long Branch race track and the latter at Islington Park, with Premier Hepburn billed to address the Liberal gathering and Hon. Earl Rowe to talk to the Conservative rally. At both picnics there will be sports and games and plenty of good things to eat and music for dancing.

So far so good but the catch in the thing is that both jollifications are being held on the same day. In other words a fellow cannot very well attend both and. human nature being what it is, a lot of folk will have a sense of personal loss and the feeling that they have been robbed of an afternoon's fun that they could have had, if the politicians had had sense enough to schedule the picnics on two different days.

On top of that too is the obvious fact that the big guns of the parties will be firing a barrage that will be completely wasted. The Premier will be talking to all the folks who are going to vote for him anyway and the Conservative leader will be preaching to the converted, as it were. There should have been a conference of the rival boards of strategy to avoid such a squandering of good campaign oratory or failing that some sort of arrangement should have been entered into by which all the Conservatives would go and hear Mr. Hepburn and all the Liberals would gather to listen to Mr. Rowe. The boys would have been getting somewhere then; as it is we are afraid that they will have to mark this down as a lost day in the campaign. The good people who attend will of course enjoy themselves—if they do not stop to realize that they might have taken in both the jamborees if they had not been bunched on the one day.

They're Needed Now

It will appeal to a good many people that Hon. Dr. J. A. Faulkner, Minister of Health has chosen an unfortunate time to talk about the economy represented in the cutting off of the district medical officers of health throughout Ontario following the last election.

With the province hard hit by an epidemic of infantile paralysis, the public will be inclined to regret the fact that the services of trained public health officers and the leadership in each section that could be looked for from such officials are not available as safeguards in the present emergency. The responsibility is thrown directly upon the shoulders of municipal health officers, most of whom are only part-time officials and when an outbreak, as in the present instance, assumes epidemic proportions it is too great a strain upon part-time service.

A health department, it seems reasonable to believe, should be operated on the same basis as a fire department. There may be weeks in some municipalities when not a single fire alarm is sounded but when an alarm does come in the brigade is usually badly needed and it would be unfortunate indeed when a serious fire broke out to find that the firemen had all been laid off because they were not needed during the quiet period. That seems to be about the case at present in regard to the health situation and it accounts for the fact that there does not seem to be any uniformity in the steps that are being taken to deal with the emergency. Nasal sprays are being used in some places; nothing along that line is being done elsewhere. Some municipal health officers have closed schools; others have left them open. Small political meetings are banned in some district as dangerous; in other sections much larger gatherings have not been interfered with.

Saving the salaries of a few trained medical officers of health may be described as economy by some folk but when a situation arises such as Ontario faces at present, the vast majority of the people of the province would prefer to know that in each district there was somebody with the experience and the authority to give prompt leadership in the fight against the scourge of infantile paralysis.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Spain is now on its second year of war, alas, on its second million of dead.

The legal size of beer glasses in Saskatchewan has been reduced from nine ounces to eight and one half. Possibly this is another result of the drought.

The skeleton of an ancient Saxon has been discovered in Kent, Eng. It had a prominent jaw and may perhaps be that of a politician of the old days.

The election has still almost three weeks to go and already a new highway between Lindsay and Newcastle has jumped into the centre of the stage.

The Soviet purge, according to reports, is widening out to include all classes. In other words when more heads are taken the Soviet will take them.

A Liberal candidate in Parkdale was chosen behind closed doors. At all events it was not an open and shut affair.

We don't know how many Reds there are in Canada but we are sure they must be busy folk because we are always reading where they are supporting somebody.

Waterloo workers have refused to affiliate with the C. I. O. That decision suggests that the Waterloo workers are level-headed folk.

Harvard professor says that every man should have a back seat driver. We thought the complaint always has been that most men have.

The Japanese still insist that the blowing up of a city and a great many of the people thereof is not war. Still they do not go so far as to say that it is peace.

A woman writer says a man can keep his wife happy by little surprises. Little things like coming home sober, we presume.

It is to be hoped the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation will not be too strict in checking Premier Aberhart's broadcast speeches. There is a real lack of good comedians on the air.

The honey crop in Ontario this season is the lightest in years. Does that mean the Hon. Duncan Marshall will have another criticism to face on the platform?

Welland and Dufferin Fairs have broken all attendance records in their history and the management of the Canadian National Exhibition would doubtless be glad to know how the trick was done.

Hon. Norman Rogers, Federal Minister of Labor has managed to arouse the ire of the Globe and Mail but we imagine the former Queen's professor will be able to survive that experience.

All other parties in Alberta are uniting against Premier Aberhart. The result should be a hectic campaign when an appeal is made to the electors of the province.

SECOND HAYING

Beauty and affirmation both are in a meadow's second growth.
When summer golden burned and brave, the first high grass the meadow gave fell evenly beneath the long sweep of the scythes, and full and strong with music were the mowers' throats.

Now not a sigh of singing floats over this final harvest. Men, seeing the meadow tall again,
come silently, with summer past, and gather in the lovely last gift of the year, and know that earth has not betrayed them and that birth and growth will come once more though cold
Beyond endurance take them. Slow and voiceless they clean the field and go.
Knowing that nothing can be lost,
they leave bright stubble to the frost.

SIR LEONARD Erskine Hull, famed British specialist in physiology, told the Sanitary Inspectors' Association, of which he is president, recently that if the present fall in the birth-rate continued in 100 years Britain would have a population of only five million people. "With its population reduced" said Sir Leonard "the British Empire might ultimately come to an end and England take the place of a small and happy country like Sweden or Switzerland. But great will be the economic and social troubles ahead of us through a lessening of the proportion of children and an increase of the aged."

The old argument as to the origin of the name "Canada" has been revived lately. However the historians seem for the most part to cling to the theory that the word "Kanata" from the Iroquois and still in use, meaning a collection of dwellings or a settlement, is the root of the Dominion's name.

Now It Makes Money

NOW that it has no airship operating on its service, following the loss of the Hindenburg, the Zeppelin company is making money for the first time in its history, German reports say. The loss on the flights of the Graf Zeppelin and the exploded Hindenburg averaged 40 per cent. which was made up by a Government subsidy. But now the old Graf Zeppelin is on exhibition in the giant new hangar at Frankfort and is making money. In the first three weeks of the exhibition 100,000 people paid the equivalent of 25 cents each to see her.

In a book recently published and entitled "Is France Defended" General Maxime Weygand, former commander-in-chief of the French army says that France must be prepared for a sudden attack by the forces of a Government whose authority over its citizens is unlimited and whose armies and air forces have been carried to the zenith of perfection. Such a sudden attack will be followed by a war of masses. For France he says, the problem is, therefore, to be prepared for war of quality, followed by a war of quantity.

A Strange Note

THE STRONGEST note in the story of modern war from China has been struck by the invading Japanese soldiers. The Emperor's little yellow men had placed their faith in a stomach cloth which they believed would keep them from all the dangers of modern tanks, bombs and bullets. The stomach cloths had been stitched over with a thousand red stitches and each stitch had been put in by a different woman in the crowded, war-heated streets of Imperial Japan.

COVERING THE MARKET

Editor Examiner:

Sir: On previous occasions I have written regarding the need of covering the sales portion of the outside market and the incessant down pour of rain last Saturday was again a reminder of this need. Any one visiting the outside market on Saturday morning where the products of vegetables and meats were so attractively displayed, would consider it was no back woods scene. Men and women from the surrounding country of a radius of 25 miles. Contributors to the physical needs of the citizens of this city, men and women who were up-to-date in appearance and displaying grace and dignity of salesmanship and their lines of merchandise were so exposed to the elements until their attractiveness and appearance was so uninviting that the would be purchaser hastened home. We do think that Peterborough is behind the times on the question. Other leading cities have covered places where venders and purchasers are not exposed to weather conditions.

If our Board of Alderman in view of increased taxation cannot undertake this expenditure perhaps some of our members of Parliament or prospective members would let this thought enter the realms of their thinking, and get some financial assistance for this undertaking.

The thought has been that a member of Parliament cannot immortalize his name unless he secures a large grant for his constituency where an industry or perhaps a few individuals would receive the benefit. But this thought is become antiquated as life is made up of the many little things we do. If our representatives would give this question favourable thought and secure a grant for this purpose, the citizens of Peterborough and surrounding country would all reap the benefit, and would hail this improvement with the greatest delight, and would extol the name of the donar and his popularity would shine in the firmament of political achievement.

A SCHOOL GIRL'S COMPLAINT

Editor Examiner:

Sir: Might I use a small space of your daily paper.

In a narrow lane between two stores on George street just south of Charlotte is a cub bear tied to a chain about five feet long. It's once soft, black silky coat is clotted with mud and dirt.

If anyone went into the woods, when the season was not open for killing bears, and mutilated one of these beasts, he would be heavily fined, but this can go on, on the main street of our city. A bear, living in the open, washes himself and grooms his coat. Can you imagine how uncomfortable it is for this one to live in this filth?

There are places within two or three miles of our city limits where it could live contented and happy. Whether or not Peterborough's Humane Society approves of this ill treatment, I, as a school girl interested in the conservation of wild life, do not.

Thanking you,
EILEEN SELLON.

A CHANCE FOR THE VOTER

Editor Examiner:

Sir: The Examiner like the vast majority of Ontario voters pins its faith in the two old parties rather than believe there is a possible chance for any other political organization to make any headway. Yet it claims this is a free country with equal privileges to every citizen who is eligible to have himself nominated for political office if he wants to.

Now that there is a third party in the field gives the voters in this riding an opportunity to depart from the practice of pinning their faith in the two old parties or in other words of the two evils choosing the least. True there is little excitement at the political meetings here compared with meetings of that sort in England (Britain) where the British people are treated to some very witty and humorous remarks. But as it is generally admitted Canada is 50 years behind the Old Country all may come to those who wait.

When Archery Was a Major Sport

Bowmanship Was Assisted By Parliament When Henry VIII Sat on England's Throne

(By Alan Ivimey in the B.B.C. Listener.)

FINSBURY FIELDS were for hundreds of years the great archery ground of London— the parish butts on an enormous scale. In those times England depended on the longbow for winning her battles and she developed such a faith in it that sentiment kept Englishmen practising their archery for two centuries after the weapon had ceased to have any serious military value. As late as 1791 the Islington archers had a great match at Blackheath against the Kentish and Surrey bowmen, the Hainault Foresters, the Woodmen of Arden and the Honorable Artillery Company.

In fact, bowmanship was considered so important that James I and Charles I both took trouble to see that the archery ground did not fall into disuse through lack of popular support. It seems that farmers and butchers were always planting hedges along it and digging ditches across it to enclose the grazing grounds for their stock. This process would go on amid louder and louder grumbles from the archery enthusiasts for some time, until finally complaint would burst into action.

On one occasion, for instance, a city tradesman dressed himself up as a jester, got a crowd together and headed a march through the streets yelling "Shovels and Spades—Shovels and Spades." Hundreds of shopkeepers and their 'prentice lads fell in behind with the implements called for, and then they all marched out to the Fields where, in a very short time, every hedge had been cut down and each ditch filled up. But sometimes it needed a royal command to put the archery ground in order and keep the Londoners to their practice.

The archery ground extended from Peerless Pool, in Moorfields, northwards as far an another pool called Bell's Pond (there is today a Bell's Pond road to commemorate it,) a distance of about a mile and a half. In width it included the ground between Hoxton and Islington, or something over half a mile.

And it was all laid out rather like a golf course. The targets, or marks, as they were called, usually consisted of a thick post with a ball or disc on top or else a representation of some animal or bird. Each mark had a name and these names were strange and various. Usually they commemorated some once famous though possibly long-forgotten feat of marksmanship. There were, for example, Lee's Lion and Lee's Leopard, Martin's Mayflower anud Dunstan's Darling, Maiden's Blush and Parkes' Pleasure. Among other names there were Lurching Stake, Silkworm and Thief-in-the Hedge.

You started off at some convenient point on the course and proceeded from mark to mark, shooting at each in turn, your companions doing the same. When you came within reach of a foursome in front you yelled "Fast" instead of "Fore" and the rule was that if you did happen to put an arrow through someone and could prove that you had first shouted the correct word, nothing could happen to you even should your victim be irrevocably punctured. (Of course, there were always his relations to be dealt with.) In thinking of this, remember that a good bowman, who drew his string to his ear, could shoot an arrow or shaft, as he called it, 380 yards; or as he himself would probably have described a successful shot at that distance, "Clap I' the Clout at nineteen score."

Henry VIII, himself a marksman, had several Acts of Parliament passed to promote bowmanship. One of them laid down that every man's son was to be given a bow and two arrows on reaching the solemn age of seven and that all except clergy and judges were to practise at the butts.

Terror has spread to the vicinity of Nagan and Futtul as Boli and his followers, playing hide-and-seek with the constabulary soldiers, snuff out lives with headaxes as they roam the forests. In his attempt to carry out his programme of killing 24 persons before giving himself up to the authorities Boli butchers men, women and children irrespective of age. Being a Kalinga, a tribe numbered among the fiercest head-hunters in the early days, Boli has revived the headhunting expeditions resorted to by his forefathers whenever they felt they were tricked or when dealing with enemies. Boli was reported to have run amok on May 23 when he believed his wife was dishonest.

TAKE UP THE PLATES.

(Stratford Beacon-Herald)

OF LATE there has been evidence that magistrates are suspending more driving permits for serious traffic offences. . . . Are these suspensions being obeyed?

A more effective plan would be to take up the license plates of cars used by traffic offenders. The right to do so is, we understand, an established fact. If there is any doubt of the Department of Highways and local courts having that right, legislation can clarify the situation. The removal of his license plates would force the convicted motorist to leave his automobile in the garage for a stated period. He would be inconvenienced and humiliated—and the public would be safe from him in the interval.

USING SHORT WORDS.

(The New Outlook)

SHORT words have greater strength than long ones. Rigid economy in choosing language is in itself a valuable discipline of mind, and a good argument is only blurred by elaborate expression. Moreover, there is a unique flavor in Anglo-Saxon words; in proper combination they have a strength of texture which nothing else can give.

There is no doubt that good speech is an art which all of us should cultivate. To some it comes more easily than others, but of all it demands the drudgery of constant effort. In this country we certainly need to remember the fact. Demosthenes had to work hard to master the art of speaking; men of lesser gifts will find the task no easier.

HOW TIME FLIES.

(Crane (Mo.) Chronicle)

NOW I know why I haven't suffered so much from the heat this Summer. There is no political campaign.

A year ago, a fellow was subject to sunstroke every time he opened his newspaper. Now there is nothing but ice-cream recipes and pictures of bathing girls. A year ago 130 million people were working their heads off to save the nation. Now they are doing nothing but wait for pension cheques.

The off year is a rest cure for a country editor. Nothing to worry about but sale bills and obituaries. The best thing about elections are the years in which we don't have them. And by the way, who was that fellow who ran for President last year?

BEES AS BOMBERS.

(New York Times)

THAT ANGRY bees can be pretty vicious customers is proved by the death of a 6-year-old Wyoming lad from whose body 7,000 stings were removed. But it took the ingenuity of a group of textile strikers in Montreal to inject these little honey gatherers into our industrial warfare as aerial bombers. As the police lined up in front of the Mount Royal Mill to protect employees with a strange and unnatural desire to work, several automobiles crashed past and two box hives of the insects were tossed at the feet of the guards. The bees proved more than a match for the police, who were driven inside the plant. But a hose company, hastily summoned, proved more than a match for the bees, which, fortunately, were not equipped with pontoons for landing in puddles.

TORONTO STOCKS BEGIN MOVING UP

TORONTO, Sept. 18 (CP).—After chalking up new lows for the year in all index groupings on Monday, the Toronto Stock Market turned about and registered gains in the closeding three sessions. The advance was impaired moderately in Friday's operations but at the close yesterday all three indicators showed margins of four to eight points above the lows.

Viewed over the full week the industrial share index is up .89, the golds 7.09 and the miscellaneous mines 1.30.

In the last week the gold shares staged the most impressive advance, the seniors leading. Both Dome and Lake Shore added $2.75 to $3, and Hollinger and McIntyre gained $1 to $2 each. Among the cheaper issues, gains of 50 to 90 cents are showing for Buffalo - Ankerite, Bralorne, Little Long Lac and Pickle Crow, and others up 30 to 45 cents were Wright Hargreaves, Teck Hughes, Macassa, O'Brien and Read-Authier.

Recovery in the base metals was sharply trimmed in Friday's trading. The week brought another heavy London market for the metals, induced by declining consumer purchases and rising production figures, particularly of copper. International Nickel registered a gain of only 25 cents and Consolidated Mining and Smelting and Hudson Bay added $1 each, while Noranda's advance was entirely erased. Some of the cheaper issues of the group clung to minor gains and Ventures stood out with an advance of 70 cents to $7.

The industrial share section registered no wide changes. On the losing side Hiram Walker Common stood out with an adjustment of $1.50. The steels were a bit heavy and recessions predominated in the food and the building groups. Among the issues displaying moderate strength were the paper stocks, the implements, Ford of Canada and the senior oils.

Talks to the People – J. H. Burnham

By far the most notable event of this notable campaign is the clash between Mr. Rowe and the L.O.L. with its advocate the Toronto Telegram, at New Liskeard on Thursday evening, September 16. Because Mr. Rowe would not say that he could abolish Separate Schools or what amounts to it the Telegram and the Grand Lodge decided to give him a severe talking to with the result that he got "mad" and told both of them to go farther and fare worse. Considering that these two elements had decided to run the campaign and Mr. Rowe the clash is really epoch-making and though it is the first instance of the kind in Ontario politics it is evidently not the last and will help to eliminate the attempt at cliques of any kind, Orange, Green or Labour to run those who ought to be the representatives of all the people.

PRICES OF WHEAT STILL SAGGING

WINNIPEG, Spet. 13 (CP).—Canada dominated world wheat trade this week with export sales estimated at more than 3,500,000 bushels but wheat prices on the Winnipeg grain exchange failed to reflect this substantial volume. Values sagged slightly.

Prices closed Friday 1¼-1⅜ cents down for the week with October at $1.26⅝, November $1.26⅝, December $1.23⅞ and May $1.24⅜-⅝.

Feature of the Winnipeg market was the sharp advance in premiums on cash wheat with No. 1 hard, Nos. 1 and 2 northern 8½ cents above the October future Friday. This had a bullish influence.

Keen demand from millers and exporters along with light offerings contributed to a tight situation in those three grades, traders said, with much of the new crop still held by farmers unsold.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Value of the 1937 Western Canada wheat crop to farmers was estimated tentatively to-day at $171,232,000 by the Sanford Evans Statistical Service.

Although the yield of 164,000,000 bushels is the lowest since 1914, the value is the highest since 1929 with the exception of the 212,000,000-bushel crop in 1936, when the value was estimated by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at $186,170,356.

The Sanford Evans Service estimated the 1937 Manitoba crop at $52,139,000 compared with $24,920,000 in 1936; 1937 Saskatchewan crop at $38,030,000 compared with $102,960,000 in 1936, and the 1937 Alberta crop at $81,063,000 compared with $58,290,000 in 1936.

Wide divergencies in value for subdivisions of the three provinces was noted in comparison with 1936. One crop district showed an increase of 400 per cent in value compared with the previous year, while another reported its crop worth only seven per cent of the previous year.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES by Alex Morrison

Johnny Revolta, as most of you know, played the last two rounds in the British open with young Reggie Whitcombe, who finished just two strokes behind Henry Cotton, the winner.

Johnny was loud in his praise for the youngest of the Whitcombe brothers. And the very first thing he mentioned about his game was his use of the interlocking grip.

"In 36 holes played through wind and rain and under the pressure of leading the field in the British open, he didn't hit one shot off line," said Revolta. And he went on to tell me that many of the younger pros on the other side are taking to this grip.

Johnny has a perfectly good reason for telling me about this bit of technique for he and several other well-known tournament pros are quite serious about making a change in their grips and all have in mind adopting the interlocking grip. All of these players have reached a stage where they must have more looseness in their swings, more wrist action and they realize that this grip will afford them these things. It is the only grip to afford full freedom of both wrists and forearms.

ance Act and the Old Age Pensions Act, too, he said.

Asked "what about Roebuck?" he said, "under our constitutional system a cabinet must be unanimous and present a solid front on all issues. If a minister can't agree with his colleagues he has to resign."

"Mr. Roebuck disagreed with me on a matter of major policy and as a result he was forced to resign. That all goes to show my sincerity of purpose. I put the interests of the province before my relationship with my closest friends."

MACALPINE CASE HOPE FOR FLIERS

the difficulties, a point only 25 miles from the post was reached by the night of October 24.

Nearly All In.

Then warm weather that opened up "leads" in the ice halted the trek until November 2. Food ran low and before Eskimos sent back to the Dease Point cache returned with supplies, only 12 frozen raw herring were left for eight whites, nine Eskimos and their 24 dogs. The men reached here November 3, all in extreme stages of exhaustion.

Meanwhile, nearly 20 fliers sought the missing mining explorers. On November 11, after an amateur wireless operator aboard the trading schooner Bay Maud, wintering at Cambridge Bay, told the world the men were safe. Pilot Herbert Hollick-Kenyon arrived and flew them to Bathurst Inlet, 150 miles distant, whence they reached civilization in December. Air Commodore Hollick-Kenyon now is engaged in a search for Levaneffsky.

All the rescued men suffered slightly from scurvy. Col. MacAlpine lost between 50 and 60 pounds during the months of privation. Other members of the party were: Major J. P. Baker, St. Catharines, Ont., geologist; E. A. Boadway, Winnipeg, geologist; Richard Pearce, editor of a mining publication; Pilots G. A. Thompson of Winnipeg and Capt. Stanley McMillan, Edmonton, and Mechanics Alex. Milne, Winnipeg, and Donald A. Goodwin of Hamilton, Ont.

Suspected Bandits Fire On Police Car In Pursuit After Trenton Robbery

BRIGHTON, Ont., Sept. 18 (C.P.). — Police and a farmer's posse rounded up three men suspected of robbery after officers engaged in a gun battle along the Montreal-Toronto Highway yesterday. Guns barked from the police automobile in reply to the bandit's fire as the two machines struck 90 miles an hour along the road near here, 15 miles south-west of Belleville.

In custody here are Edward Thompson, 25, Hamilton; his brother Cecil, and Fred Stevens, Toronto. Inspector Frank Gardner said the men faced charges of robbing the Picton Brewers' Warehouse, car theft, and carrying offensive weapons.

After eluding officers after the highway chase, the fleeing car entered a lane where one man was captured. He gave the name of Fred Stevens. The other two men fled into the bush which was surrounded by farmers and police.

A second man was captured when accosted by 18-year-old Alex. Mackie, East Colborne baker, who fought the man with a pitchfork. He jammed the fork in the right arm and shoulder of the man who wielded a crowbar.

Fork vs. Crowbar.

Mackie saw the man attempt to crawl into a hole in his barn with a policeman chasing him. When the man rushed him, Mackie grabbed the fork, pinned him to the side of the barn where the intruder was held until the officer arrived.

Edward Thompson was captured by Provincial officers on the railway one mile east of Colborne, near Lockport, with a wound in his right leg.

The automobile chase started at Trenton when police were informed to watch for three men who looted the warehouse at Picton. When the officers neared the fleeing car shots were fired, one bullet hit the windshield of the police machine. Constable Frank Lonzo hit the fleeing car, but failed to stop it.

FOOTBALL OPENS ITS '37 SEASON BLAZE OF GLORY

TORONTO, Sept. 18. — (C.P.). — Coach Alex Ponton led his Balmy Beach football squad into Ottawa to-day to left the lid on the 1937 season in an exhibition game against the Roughriders.

To-days game, first in Eastern Canada this year, will give the youthful O.R.F.U. club and the 1936 Big Four champions the jump on their respective league rivals who don't get into competitive action for another week.

Thirty Beach players, predominated by youngsters, made the trip to Ottawa. Veteran Ab Box was expected to bear the brunt of backfield work.

Roughriders, whose amazing drive to the top of the Interprovincial League last year was the highlight of the season, will field almost the same squad that bowed to Sarnia in the Eastern Canada finals last Fall.

Alex Trimble, succeeding the retired Bill Hughes as coach, and Stan (Windy) O'Neill, former University of Pittsburgh half, banned from play last season by the residence rule, will make their bow before Ottawa fans, but otherwise there are few changes.

Elsewhere on the football front, coaches planned to run their charges through light drills before the Sunday rest. Teams in all three major leagues, Interprovincial, Intercollegiate and Ontario, had long practices yesterday, and welcomed a light day to nurse early-season bruises.

Montreal's Indians appointed Gus Ogilvie, a club official, coach last night, succeeding Johnny Ferraro, who was elected field captain. This was to comply with a Big Four ruling, prohibiting the coach from playing.

In Toronto, Lou Hayman welcomed Reg. Barker, Queen's University snap last year, to the Argos' fold.

FEWER HOG SALES LIKELY NEXT YEAR

OTTAWA, Sept. 18.—Reductions in hog marketings during the next twelve months are likely to become something of a problem because of the increases that are occurring in the number of feeder hogs in country loadings, according to the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

The number of pigs on farms in Canada at the beginning of September, 1937, is considerly less than in 1936. There is, therefore, a possibility that the supply of bacon-making material available for the export and domestic markets during the remaining months of 1937 and the greater part of 1938 may be below requirements. Under such circumstances the liquidation of unfinished pigs becomes a serious problem, particularly as these are assuming unusually large percentages in both eastern and western marketings.

Considerable numbers of feeder pigs marketed at yards and also direct to packers are being returned to farms where adequate feed is available, but present demand may not be sufficiently broad to take care of an increasing volume during the next few months, as

INTERESTING WOMEN

DOROTHY ALLAN PARK

"Dorothy Allan Park, who seldom fails to take pre-eminence amid any company of soloists hereabouts..." So wrote Lawrence Mason in the Toronto Globe, beginning one of the many enthusiastic paragraphs that have been penned about Mrs. Park's lovely soprano voice and the beautiful finished perfection of her singing. Yet when an interview was asked for, this gifted singer seemed surprised that she was considered "interesting".

Dorothy Allan was born in Aberdeen, coming to Canada with her parents, John and Annie Allan, at the age of eleven. From Montreal they came on to Peterborough, Mr. Allan becoming organist of St. Paul's Presbyterian church. It was from her father that Dorothy Allan received the first part of her musical education, in theory and a general musical knowledge. It seems however that when her parents named their little daughter so felicitously, they had no idea how rare and precious was the "gift from Heaven" until one day the little Dorothy, then six years old, came home from her private school in Aberdeen in high glee. She had won the first prize for singing—a huge volume of Wordsworth's poems — and she still remembers the amusement of her astonished family over the book and her own bitter disappointment that it was not "Alice In Wonderland." She still hates Wordsworth! When she was sixteen Dorothy Allan went back to the Old Country to study singing in London with Giovanni Clerici (who, it will be remembered, more than anyone else was responsible for Caruso and John McCormack) though he had not wanted to take so young a pupil but consented after friends prevailed on him to hear her sing.

Home again in Peterborough, romance came towards the end of the war and in 1917 the young singer was married to Captain Maurice Park (now Lieut. Colonel) in St. Paul's Church. They have one son, Allan, who attends the Peterborough Collegiate.

Mrs. Park, who is above all things a singer, leads a very busy life as a soloist and teacher. Besides teaching singing at the Toronto Conservatory of Music, she spends three days a week at her studio in Peterborough, from which many young singers have gone to fill professional engagements. She is conductor of choral singing at Moulton College, and on Sundays she takes her place as soprano soloist in the choir of the Church of the Redeemer in Toronto.

Ten years ago Mrs. Park organized the "Madrigal Singers" of Peterborough, who have won under her training a high position in the musical life of Canada. The late Raymond Mullens wrote in Saturday Night: "I don't know what Dorothy Allan Park does to her fair sisters that they sing with such superlative beauty . . . she is lucky to have so many lovely voices at her disposal . . . they sing without notes . . . are able to give rapt attention to their conductor . . . the effect is almost indescribably impressive. This choir is the most exquisite choral organization in Canada." The Madrigal Singers have an exceptionally fine repertoire, chosen from the works of great classic, romantic and modern composers. They have made some notable appearances, in Massey Hall, Toronto, with Salvi, the world-famous harpist, with the Toronto Symphony Orchestra, with the Promenade Symphony Orchestra, and six appearances as feature concerts in the Eaton Auditorium.

Dorothy Allan Park has appeared three times as soloist with the famous Mendelssohn Choir, under Dr. H. A. Fricker, singing the Bach B Minor Mass twice and Handel's "Messiah" once. She has sung four times with the Toronto Symphony Orchestra, under Sir Ernest MacMillan, singing the exacting role of "Alain" in "The Children's Crusade" twice and the "Messiah" twice. She has also sung the title role in Purcell's "Dido and Anaea", the soprano solos in Mozart's "Requiem" and other major works, with Sir Ernest MacMillan conducting, and has appeared twice with the Bach choir, under Reginald Stewart, singing the "Magnificat" and a group of Bach arias.

Singing the Bach B Minor Mass the first time Mrs. Park accomplished a triumph, having taken on the part just seven days before when it was dropped by Madame Dusseau, and so in seven days learned that stupendous piece of work, for which a good six months is usually necessary. Imagine an eager expectant audience and an utterly weary soprano soloist, filled with trepidation, almost shuddering with anxiety till she began to sing and then "sang Bach arias in her usual limpid lyric style of clarity and tonal power," wrote Augustus Bridle in the "Toronto Daily Star". Edward Wodson in the Toronto "Telegram" has said: "Dorothy Allan Park's "Laudamus" was very lovely and easy. There is an impersonal beauty about her steady limpid tones that make them ideal for Bach singing". Asked about this experience, Mrs. Park said that it was the most nerve-racking she had ever undergone. From among many marvellous experiences this singer counts that her most thrilling was the time when she sang the major solo part in "The Children's Crusade" in Massey Hall under Sir Ernest MacMillan with an ensemble of six hundred and high up in the roof her own Madrigal Singers were singing the parts for "Angelic Voices", with a second conductor relaying Sir Ernest's beat on to them.

Peterborough is indeed fortunate to be able to claim as a citizen this talented lady and, through her efforts, make such a distinguished contribution to the musical world as the "Madrigal Singers" choir.

They said it was overwork. So I rested during the day. But I continued to feel terribly tired and listless.

Then dyspepsia was suspected so I took care with my diet. And yet I could find no real improvement.

Graham—Jones

A very lovely early fall wedding is to take place in Park Street Baptist church at four o'clock (Saturday) afternoon, when Mrytle Violet, daughter of Mrs. Jones of Alfred street, and the late N. Jones, will become the bride of Lloyd A. Graham of Toronto, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Graham. The ceremoney is to be performed by the Rev. G. K. Tyler of Woodstock, formerly pastor of Park Street church.

The church is beautifully decorated for the occasion with gladioli blooms, palms and ferns. The wedding music will be played by Stanley Northrop, A.T.C.M., and during the signing of the register, Miss Olga Westbye will sing.

The bride will be given in marriage by her uncle, Lt. Col. W. Gordon Hall. She will wear a charming gown of white suede lace over satin, fashioned on princess lines with a slight train, a high neckline, long close-fitting sleeves and trimmed in front with small satin covered buttons from the neck almost to the hem. Her veil of fine white net will be held in place with a coronet of pearls, and she will wear white satin sandals. Her bouquet will be composed of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Miss Audrey Milburn will attend as maid of honor. She will wear a gown of Iceland blue lace, toe-length with long sleeves and trimmed at the V-neck with a cluster of peach flowers. A halo hat of peach taffeta, blue gloves matching her gown and peach slippers will complete her costume. She will carry a bouquet of Premier Supreme roses and delphinium. The bridesmaid will be Miss Margaret Beavies, who will be gowned in pale pink lace, fashioned with bouffant skirt, long sleeves, Peter Pan collar, and trimmed at the waist with a blue taffeta sash falling in long streamers at the side. She will wear a halo of blue taffeta, pink gloves and slippers and will carry a bouquet of roses in a slightly deeper shade than her gown, and combined with cornflowers.

Thomas Henry of Toronto, a classmate of the groom, will attend as best man. The ushers will be Roy Tranter, cousin of the bride, and Orville Hunter of Toronto.

A reception for approximately seventy-five guests will be held at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club, where the bride's mother Mrs. Jones, will receive with the bridal party, and will wear a gown of wine velvet, with matching hat and accessories, and a corsage of roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Graham will leave later by motor for New York, Atlantic City and other points. For travelling the bride has chosen a smart green wool frock, with hat, gloves, shoes and purse in a darker shade, and a black wool coat. They will reside in Toronto.

Cold Weather Precautions

Summer seems definitely gone, and Autumn with its bright, crisp days, as well as a mixture of the bleak and cold, is upon us again.

Change of seasons demands change of wearing apparel.

A search through your wardrobe will bring to light a variety of garments laid away at the opening of the warmer season just past. By gathering these together and phoning number 622, Burtol Super-Cleaners will undertake the cleaning and refreshing of these lay-aways in a manner that will be a revelation to you.

A representative of the leading Dry-Cleaners trade magazine published in New York City, recently made a tour of the leading Dry-Cleaning plants of the British Isles and France. This should be the best assurance of the safety and satisfaction you may expect in using the Burtol service.

Top-coats and Fur-trimmed coats are now due for attention. Furs are a specialty with us, and we would advise your consideration of this fact when having your furs or fur-trimmed garments re-conditioned for the cold weather.

Ventilating Shade Company Takes Over Hamilton Plant

25,000 Feet Of Floor Space Acquired By Toronto Interests

Toronto interests have acquired control of the Ventilating Shade Company (of Canada) Limited, it was learned officially by The Examiner, and are shortly proposing to move the business from its present location into a section of the old William Hamilton plant on Reid street.

A new company is in proces sof organization and a charter has been applied for at Queen's Park, meanwhile 25,000 feet of floor space has been taken over at the old Hamilton factory and alterations are being made to the premises with a view of starting operations in the new location late this Fall.

One of the officials of the new firm here from Toronto in connection with the deal, told a reporter he was not at the present time prepared to give his name for publication. Decision to keep the business in Peterborough, he said, had been largely decided by a desire to retain in employment the thirty-five to forty hands formerly employed by the old company, and who are already trained for that particular type of work.

CROLL ADVISES VOTE LIBERAL

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 18 (CP)—Working people of Ontario last night were advised to vote Liberal in the coming Ontario election by David A. Croll, former Minister of Welfare in the Ontario cabinet and Liberal candidate for re-election in Windsor-Walkerville riding. At a meeting here, Mr. Croll praised the Hepburn government and accused Conservatives of being "false friends of labor."

Contending he had always shown himself a true friend of labor, Mr. Croll said he had brought proof of this by resigning from the Ontario cabinet rather than follow a course he believed to be against the wishes of the working people who elected him.

Waving a Conservative pamphlet he charged it had been printed in a "scab shop" although it contained a statement that the worker "should receive a fair share of the fruits of industry."

"Thousands of these booklets have gone out and where does Hon. Earl Rowe have them printed?" Mr. Croll asked. "He goes down and has the work done in a scab shop.

"Then when he comes down to Windsor he has the union label put on by a printer," Mr. Croll said. "None of the work was done by union labor and yet he has a label put on afterwards in an effort to deceive the working people."

LINDSAY, Sept. 18.—Glorious weather greeted the 10,000 visitors to the Lindsay Central Exhibition yesterday.

The day was designated as Farmers' and Rural Day, and the majority of the crowd was from the villages and rural areas of Victoria and Haliburton Counties. The village of Bobcaygeon closed all schools and places of business as a gesture of good-will, and the citizens of that municipality flocked en masse to the Lindsay Fair.

Feature attraction was the visit of the St. Mary's Boys' Bugle Band of Toronto, which was seen in drill displays and concerts in front of the Grandstand. Music was also provided by the Lindsay Citizens' Band and the Lindsay Boys' Band.

The track was in splendid condition for the harness racing, and the judging ring was crowded with farmers to see the judging of beef cattle and horses.

Judging was completed in dairy cattle, swine, poultry, short wool sheep and fruit. In the dairy cattle classes, C. M. Staunton of Blackwater swept the board in the Jersey section, winning every award. The majority of awards in the Ayrshire section were won by J. G. Mann of Peterborough, with W. G. Lansdell, Milton, also gaining several first ribbons. First prizes in the Holstein-Friesian classes were won by J. M. Fraser of Streetsville, N. W. McConkey of Peterborough, Bruce McNevin of Omemee, and W. J. Hall of Lindsay. Mr. Hall also won all prizes in the Holstein-Friesian Association specials.

In the Tamworth class, J. H. Wilson of Cresswell and J. R. Kelsey of Woodville shared the honors.

A 12th Of July In The Bustle And Buggy Days

GEORGE STREET LOOKING N ORTH FROM BROCK STREET

This photograph of the city's main street, reminiscent of the days when sidewalks were made of board planks and the streets were unpaved, was taken probably fifty years ago. A clue to its date is afforded by the abbreviated tower of George Street United Church. City Clerk S. R. Armstrong recalled for the Examiner that he attended a meeting in the church for the purpose of planning a fund to complete the tower That occasion was during the ministry of the late Rev. M. L. Pearson, pastor from 1888 to 1890. The picture shows an L.O.L. parade, evidently from Central Park, and passing under an arch of evergreens at the intersection of George and Brock Streets. The big Morrow building on the right is familiar, and on the left was J. D. Craig's furniture store. Several of the old buildings on the east side of the street have disappeared with the changes of the years. Note the ornate top story of the building at the right. The picture is one of an old collection of H. O. Fisk.

TENT DWELLERS ARE BURNED OUT

When their coal oil stove exploded, the tent in which Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mehaffey and two small children have been living in all summer, was completely destroyed.

While lighting the coal oil stove to prepare breakfast to-day it exploded. The tent was soon a mass of flames and Mr. and Mrs. Mehaffey and two children escaped with only the clothing they had on them.

OBITUARY

ROBERT E. (BERT) DOLAN

Mr. Dolan who was a member of the Peterborough ball club here at the beinning of the century along with Chris Graham, Dan McCabe and other well known players had lived in New York for many years but never lost his interest in his home town. He was here on a visit only a fortnight ago and was entertained at dinner by a number of the veteran sportsmen of the city who had been numbered among his friends for years. He was 59 years of age.

Surviving are two brothers Thomas and James Dolan of Minneapolis, and three sisters, Marguerite of St. Paul; Sister Ste. Ambrose of Notre Dame Convent, Kingston, and Mrs. Ambrose Regan of Detroit.

P. J. Galvin, parish priest of Grafton. The numbers present at the service and the spiritual offerings testified to the esteem which the deceased had enjoyed amongst her friends during her life.

Rev. C. J. Carrol delivered a very appropriate address to those present on death and the great sacrifices which a Christian mother encountered during her lifetime.

After the services the cortege proceeded to St. Martin's Cemetery, Ennismore, where she was laid to rest alongside her husband, who predeceased her ten years ago.

DORRINGTON—CURTIS

Gladioli blooms on the altar, baskets of gladioli and asters at the chancel steps, and tiny bouquets of the same lovely flowers tied with white ribbons at the ends of the guest pews, made St. John's Church a lovely floral setting for the wedding at five o'clock on Friday afternoon—the thirty-fifty wedding anniversary of the brides parents—of Ruby Traverse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Curtis, and Charles Paul Dorrington, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dorrington. The Rev. R. T. F. Brain performed the ceremony.

She wore a halo of matching velvet with tiny nose-veil, blue lace gloves and silver slippers. Her bouquet was of red Briarcliffe roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Winnifred Sharpe, attending as bridesmaid, wore a gown of red currant velvet, slim-fitting, with high neck and long sleeves. Her velvet off-the-face hat and lace gloves matched her gown and she wore silver slippers. Her bouquet was of red Talisman roses.

The groom was attended by Ethelbert McCarroll, and the ushers were Walter Curtis, brother of the bride, and William Dorrington, brother of the groom. The wedding music was played by F. G. Mann, A.D.C.M.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, September 19

Sunday's horoscope holds promise of a most beneficial character, with all things flourishing and happy in both private and business affiliations. A unifying and stabilizing element predominates, forecasting definite progress and prosperity, possibly having mainsprings in secret sources or through some form of subtle manipulation or strategem. Elders, friendship and personal popularity have place in this auspicious climax.

Those whose birthday it is are assured a year in which there will be a definite stabilizing of the fortunes and position. Merit and industry will be recognized and call for proper emoluments. Secret influences are at work in this, or a shrewd and subtle management of opportunities presented from hidden regions. Popularity and prestige are enhanced and purely personal reactions are most happy and auspicious. Be wise with writings.

A child born on this day should be very versatile and efficient. It may lean toward novel, mysterious and curious adventures, possibly expressed in creative writing.

For Monday, September 20

Monday's astrological forecast, judging by the lunar transits, is for a day of difficulty and probable setbacks, due not only to stubborn obstacles but to tendency to rash, impetuous and quarrelsome conduct. This may complicate affairs and prove hazardous to employment and general well-being and peace of mind. Circumspect and restrained behavior are enjoined.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year in which much depends upon their own wisdom, self-restraint and amiable manipulation of frustrating and difficult situations. Shun reckless and quarrelsome measures but use definitely constructive efforts in coping with tenacious obstacles. Tumult and temper would prove disastrous and aggravate the situation.

A child born on this day may be energetic, constructive, determined and persistent, but prone to gain its ends by rash, impetuous and tumultuous methods, which might prove its undoing.

NEW '38 LICENSES ALREADY ON SALE

TORONTO, Sept. 18. — Motor license plates for 1938 went on sale yesterday at over 100 issuing offices the Hon. T. B. McQuesten, Ontario Minister of Highways announced last night.

The new plates, which have a blue background, with a crown and orange figures, were made available it was explained, so that autumn purchasers of 1938 cars and trucks would not be obliged to pay for 1937 registration or for the usual transfer fee.

The advance sale also was designed to alleviate the customary last-minute rush when permits expire at the end of the year. Agents in the larger centres already have been supplied, and shipments are being made daily to the smaller points.

Coinciding with the announcement, the Minister issued welcome news to motorists concerning a substantial reduction in license rates. As the Government has changed the license year to coincide with the fiscal year, 1938 permits and licenses will be valid until March 31, 1939.

EAT HUMAN FLESH

Sea serpent tales took a back seat recently when the "abominable snowmen" of the Himalayas, who are said to eat human flash and have their feet turned backwards to climb more easily, were reported to be active.

AFRICAN CHIEF HAD 100 WIVES IN FOUR VILLAGES

Relating some of his experiences as a missionary for six years in British East Africa, Adjutant W. Yergenson of the Salvation Army at present here on furlough told members of the Kiwanis Club some interesting facts relating to native life.

He told of native tribes who valued a wife at five cows, three goats and 30 shillings, and said he once met a chief who was the headman of four villages who had twenty-five wives in each village or a total of one hundred wives.

Adjutant Yergenson laughingly remarked he was glad it was the chief who had his hundred wives and not himself.

A former resident of Peterborough and member of the local corps, Adjutant Yergenson was introduced to the Kiwanis Club at their luncheon meeting on Friday by Adjutant Neil Wairrander. He originally came here from Denmark and before going to Africa as a missionary was connected with the Army's work in Northern Ontario.

His furlough started on May 13 last and the day prior to that he declared twenty new Salvation Army Corps were opened in Kenya Colony in honor of the Coronation of Their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. He related this fact as evidence of the manner in which the work of Christianizing the heathen of that colony was progressing.

Altogether, he asserted the Salvation Army had 150 centres in the colony including schools and evangelistic training centres.

Adjutant Yergenson's work centers around Nairobi which he said was about 350 miles inland from the port of Mombassa. Alternative transportation to Nairobi from the coast, he said, was provided by railway and by Imperial Airways plane connections.

He described a mountain near Nairobi 17,824 feet high, which although situated on the equator is capped with eternal snows where skiing and skating can be enjoyed the year around.

Briefly describing the home life and customs of the natives, Adjutant Yergenson said generally speaking they had good tribal customs and lived peaceable lives under British rule, but there was still a lot of superstition to be overcome by the Christian missionaries and a lot of cruel and barbarous rites to be stamped out.

Missionary work was something more than walking around with a Bible under one's arm, Adjutant Yergenson declared. And as an illustration of the practical work that is being done he related how he had supervised the manufacture of bricks and the construction of a mission building. He told also of the valuable work that is being accomplished by the medical missions and dealt with other practical aspects of the work of a missionary.

Not without a keen sense of humor the guest speaker told his audienceof a native servant who once strained coffee through one of his master's dirty socks, because the household lacked a coffee strainer and after complaints had been made about the excess amount of grounds in the coffee.

He we accorded a vote of thanks on motion of the Rev. Canon J. D. Paterson who declared that Africa "continent of romance and suffering" had always held a peculiar appeal for him and that he would gladly change places with Adjutant Yergenson.

Auburns Fall To Cheltenham 13-9 In First Playoff Game

King And Crowe Are Big Scorers For Petes At Brampton

BRAMPTON, Ont., Sept. 18 (CP). —Displaying more driving power, the Cheltenham - Inglewood Combines defeated the Peterborough Intermediates 13-9 in a clean fast game last night to mark the start of the intermediate O.A.L.A. semi-finals.

Both teams presented a heavy defence, and a fast breaking attack the visitors, apparently unaccustomed to the hard concrete of the arena floor, appeared unable to get up steam until half time. The defence of the Combines, while slightly lighter checked harder than that of the visitors, and proved slightly more effective in keeping the marksmen out of the goal areas.

Score for Petes

King and Crowe, Peterborough wingmen, tallied seven of the visitors goals between them.

The former scored three times, and Crowe four. Crowe, with his individual rushes, battled Hazel on the Combine defence as the star of the game.

Goals for the Cheltenham-Inglewood team were well distributed with Wilson, G. Harris, Walsh, G. Mansar, Rock, H. Harris, Jones, Wilkinson, and Hazel among the scorers. The Peel county team established a lead early in the game and were never headed.

Both teams broke fast to start the game, with Hazel, stellar Combine defenceman finally breaking the deadlock.

A few minutes later, Sloane came back for the visitors on an individual rush, to beat Harris in the Combine goal. Crowe added another for the visitors a few minutes later, on a brilliant solo sortie, to make it 2-1. Cheltenham rallied in the final half of the period, and Wilson, and G. Harris tallied, to again give the Combines a one goal lead at 3-2. Rock, after being outbucked on a previous rush made it 4-2, and Wilkinson added another for the home team just as the period ended.

Peterborough rallied in the second quarter, and apparently becoming accustomed to the playing surface, held Cheltenham on even terms.

Walsh tallied for the Combines to start the period, but King made it 6-3, when he took the end of a beautiful combination play from Cadd and Dallin. King repeated his effort later in the period, to shorten the Combine lead. Near the end of the quarter, Hazel, playing beautifully rounded the Peterborough defence, to beat Creighton easily, in the visitors' net, and make the half time score, 7-4.

The visitors showed to the best advantage after the opening of the third quarter. Crowe, on one of his individual rushes beat Harris cleanly. H. Harris tallied a minute later to add another goal to the locals lead. Peterborough pressed for the rest of the quarter, and were rewarded when Crowe added another to his list. Despite a slight edge for the remainder of the period, they were unable to beat Harris to close up the scoring further, and the quarter ended with the score 8-6.

Rally in Final Period

In the final stanza, the Combines showing fewer signs of fatigue, staged a rally which placed victory within their grasp.

In a series of brilliant rushes, they burst through Peterborough to rain shots at Creighton in the net. Crowe started the period by tallying for Peterborough and placed them withing one goal of tying the Combines.

Then Peel rallied and Jones tallied to again give them a two goal lead. G. Mansar made it 10-7, when he beat Creighton, on a pass from his team mates. Jones added another. McGee, battling his way through the entire Combine team scored for Peterborough to narrom the edge of the Combines to 11-8, but they were unable to score further. Hazel on a brilliant solo rush, and Walsh on a combination, each tallied once, to end the scoring.

King finally scored for Peterborough on a shot from close-in, to make the final score 13-9.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

WORD from across the Atlantic reveals all is not as well as it might be in English hockey ranks. From sources more interested, if no less pessimistic than Trevor Wignall of the Daily Express, comes talk of friction among the rink owners whose gentlemen's agreements are not panning out as expected. Leaders among the smaller rink owners to cut payrolls appear to have met with the whole-hearted support of bigger rivals in conference but the support seems to end in promises. As a result there is old-fashioned amateur skulduggery being indulged in, with the usual consequences. It should be pointed out, of course that Wignall has adopted a critical and unfriendly attitude towards hockey from the time of its introduction to England. However, his observations on some phases are not to be ignored, and there is food for thought in his expressed opinion that there are not more than 30,000 people in London willing to spend their money on ice-hockey.

MANAGER JOE McCARTHY of the Yankees has dissipated the belief that a team with Babe Ruth could outdraw any club in the world at the gate," declares Wayne K. Otto of the Chicago Herald and Examiner. "The 1937 Yankees, minus Babe Ruth, but with 3 of the greatest sluggers in the business batting in the three, four and five holes, is on the way to an all-time attendance record. McCarthy concurs in the opinion of most baseball men that Lou Gehrig, Joe DiMaggio and Bill Dickey are the greatest trio of sluggers any one team ever possessed. The drawing power of the Yankees has been so great this season that McCarthy expects his club to have played before 2,000,000 fans at home by October 3, the day the season closes.

THE world series will open in the park of the American league champions on Wednesday, October 6, Commissioner K. M. Landis announced recently. There will be games there, almost certainly in the Yankee stadium if we must be more specific on October 6 and 7, and then the next three games will be played in the park of the National League winner. If this happens to be the New York Giants, the series will be continuous. If not there will be no game on October 8, the teams using that day for travelling. If needed the last two games will be played at the A. L. park with October 12 as the off day for the return transportation, in the event of Chicago Cubs or someone else taking first place in the National league.

DON'T believe all the blue reports you may hear about the decline and fall of Art Masucci's Dominion football champions from Sarnia. The fact of the matter is that the Imperials will be right up in front for the senior grid honors and should cop the C.R.F.U. title again this year. Information that should know claims that the Imps are just as strong as a year ago and some rate this season's collection as a potentially greater force than the outfit that nosed past Ottawa Roughriders in that memorable final of last December. And in speaking of the autumn classic, it is peculiarly enough how football makes veterans out of young men. At 25, a gridder is near his peak and the chances are that he has had eight or ten years of rugby experience. He probably started at 13 or 14 years of age with a junior interscholastic team. At 17 or 18 he may have bobbed into he junior O.R.F.U. rangs for two seasons and thence to intermediate or senior. It is harly any wonder that you find bur few veterans, in a sense that you see them in baseball, in the game. By the time a player gets to be 28 or 30 years of age, he has had his fill of mucking through mud and snow and is willing to leave the burden to young men.

MOST spectacular plunger the turf has seen in years, Art Rooney has returned home to Pittsburg and those bookies he hasn't nicked are breathing sighs of relief. At Empire City, Saratoga and Aqueduct, the 36-year-old owner of the Pittsburg professional football team has been a terror to bookmakers and a heavy and consistent winner at all three tracks. While such stories often grow in the telling, Rooney is said to have won a cool hundred thousand on two different days. Curiously enough, those who have looked into Rooney's activities have discovered he is not an information player, but has on occasion played a hunch to the extent of $40,000. Which brings us to one story goin' the rounds—'It appears that Rooney wanted to bet $2,000 at Empire City on a horse named Count Stone. But the bookmaker suspecting his client knew something, refused to accept the wager. Rooney then offered to toss a coin to decide whether he would wager on Count Stone or Jimmy Cabanlss. Even after Count Stone had romped home an easy winner, Rooney seemed satisfied at convincing the bookmaker that he was not on the 'inside.'

BASKING in the warming publicity light of his gallant fight a few weeks ago with Joe Louis and making money faster than he ever thought possible, Tommy Farr is still bitter over the treatment accorded him by English sports writers. He felt the same way about the U. S. sports scribes as they stepped into line before the fight and penned their predictions of an early knockout at Louis' hands. The praise heaped on him after the fight has changed his attitude towards the U. S. writers but he deeply resents the manner in which he was treated by writers in his own country both before and after the bout. Speaking to the Sun's Frank Graham in New York the other day Farr declared: "U. S. writers were fair enough to climb down when they saw they were wrong about me," he said. "I admire them for it. That's more than the English newspaper men ever did. They never gave me credit. They'd pick me to lose, and when I would win they would say it was a fluke. A fluke? How many flukes can you have? One, Two, maybe. But not thirty-two. I had thirty-two fights as a heavyweight before I came over here, and I was unbeaten. They weren't all flukes. I owe nothing to the English newspaper men. If they had been fair to me, I would be quick to say so....just as I am quick to acknowledge the fairness of American newspaper men. They say I am a hard man. A stingy man. They have made fun of me. Why? Because I have tried to protect myself against the kind of people who would take every penny I have, if they could. Oh, I've been jobbed out of plenty of money. But not any more. I have myself....and my family to think of. I intend to get all that is coming to me and to keep as much of it as I can, so when the day comes that I don't want to fight any more, I can laugh at the world. I'm not money mad. But I know what money means. I'm this sort of fellow: If I owe you a shilling, I'll pay it to you—and if you owe me a shilling, I'll bloody well see to it that you pay me. You've no idea how much I was alone before the Louis fight," he said. "There were only two who believed in me. My trainer, Tommy Evans, and my guardian, Job Churchill. The very morning of the fight I had a bitter quarrel with my manager. There I was on the night of the fight with no one standing by me, no one believing in me but Tommy and Job."

Gives Up Riding

STEVE DONOGHUE

The well-known cry of the British turf, "Come on Steve," will be heard no more. Steve Donoghue, widely-known British jockey, now 52, has decided to hang up his jockey outfit and turn his attentions to training horses. His retirement as a jockey winds up a riding career extending over a period of 30 years, in which time he has booted 1,840 horses to victory and won the Derby six times.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA TRIUMPHS 2 TO 1

The opening of the local Public School Soccer League took place yesterday (Friday) afternoon, on King Edward Park, when Queen Alexandra defeated King George 2 to 1. Lewis getting the winning counter in the second half. Last season Central and King Edward divided the honors after having played a six-tie series for the championship.

First Half.

In the early stages, the players failed to get acquainted with their positions but finally settled down to close tactics that rewarded Queen Alexandra with the opening goal through the efforts of James Stevenson. Time and again, the East City boys halves would force the play into the vicinity of their opponents' goal and Hugh Clyde got the equalizer on an individual play. Towards the interval, the North-end boys carried the ball into the goal area, where poor clearance by the King George full backs about caused disaster. King George 1, Queen Alexandra 1.

Second Half.

On resuming, East City forwards tried to keep the ball swinging, but lacked the necessary finish to make the play complete. Both goal-keepers were called upon to save their charges, in fact, the King George custodian giving an excellent exhibition of goal tending when Lewis broke through the full backs to pick the far corner of the goal. Whitaker jumped up into the corner to divert the ball out for a fruitless corner. He kept his goal intact until Lewis dribbled his way through to give his team the winning counter after ten minutes of play. The King George boys repeatedly broke away to be repulsed inside the goal territory. Queen Alexandra 2, King George 1.

Referee—Asa Downer.

King George—J. Whitaker, goal; R. Cairns and D. Ralph full backs; K. Ferguson, H. Clyde and F. Mason, halves; C. Easton, D. Whitaker, G. Paterson, R. Hendry and G. Powel, forwards. Subs—R. Carpenter and S. Joyce.

Queen Alexandra— L. Leyman, goal; A. Woodgate and H. Staunton full backs; W. Lewis (Capt.), B. Cocks and J. Simmons, halves; E. Richardson, J. Gaskill, J. Stevenson, R. Wise forwards. Subs, Seal, Watson.

DODGERS STAR HAD AMBITIONS FOR ICE GAME

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 18.—(CP). — Goodwin Rosen, product of Toronto sand lots now starring in the Brooklyn outfield, started out in athletic life with the firmly established ambition of becoming a hockey lift-wingman—a second Aurel Joliat, no less. But to-day he finds himself the most talked of centre-field rookie in baseball.

In 26 times at bat in six games he has played since the Dodgers obtained him from Louisville of the American Association, Rosen has belted 10 hits, an average of .400.

It was his lack of poundage—he scales 155— that decided the 24-year-old Canadian Jew to swing from puck-chasing to fly-chasing.

"When I was a kid in Toronto I always wanted to be like Joliat of Canadiens," he said, "but as I progressed from Junior to Intermediate the opposition got tougher— and those Toronto amateurs are tough— I found that in not possessing Joliat's speed it was almost impossible for me to get through or around a defence without taking a terrific pounding, so I quit hockey."

His first disappointment in baseball came when he was given a tryout in 1931 with Rochester of the International League. He got two singles, he said, twice tying the score in an exhibition game with New York Giants.

"After that I felt sure of being taken on, but Warren Giles, who was president of the club then, came to me and said he was sorry, but I was too small. My weight then was 135. Two years later I joined Louisville."

Rosen said he hopes he can stick in the Big League, and Manager Burleigh Grimes is confident he will. Night baseball and "its terrible hours and dew-soaked grass" in the American Association were tough he said, "and I hope I never have to go back kthere."

The Louisville fans, however, thought considerable of Rosen's ball playing ability, for they presented him with a gold watch two weeks ago inscribed: "To Goodwin Rosen. Most popular player on the Louisville club of 1937."

NEWARK KEEPS UP THE PACE

NEWARK, Sept. 18—(CP).—Those Newark Bears who have been performing amazing baseball feats all through International League season, still are giving ample cause for the boss sto be happy.

The boss is Colonel Jacob Ruppert, owner of New York Yankees and their far-flung farm system. And he's the kind of a fan who never is satisfied unless his clubs win all their games.

Bears are winning in the International League playoffs just as decisively as they did in taking the regular race by a 25½ game margin.

Newark entered the final round last night by downing the Syracuse Chiefs 3-1 for their fourth straight triumph. And the leading figures in that victory where Joe (Flash) Gordon and Charlie Keeler, the kids who set the hitting pace during the regular campaign. Charlie drove in a run and Gordon hit a homer.

The Bears will have to wait a while now until Montreal Royals and Baltimore Orioles finish the other semi-final series, which stands at one-all after Baltimores 9-6 triumph last night.

BLIND GOLFER'S FEAT

LONDON—(CP)—Blinded in the war, Captain Gerald Lowry carded 79 at Meresa Island Golf Club recently. On the links his valet places the ball, tells him where to stand and the distance of the ball from each green.

Managing The Major Leaguers Cinch Compared To Minors

Team Spirit And Harmony Keynote To Montreal Royals' Success

MONTREAL, Sept. 18 (C.P.). — Between mouthfuls of food at a drug store lunch counter, Walter J. (Rabbit) Maranville swivelled about on a high stool, looked a questioner in the eye, and said to-day he was "free to shoot for a higher job" if any was offered him.

The scrappy little fellow who made his share of baseball history in twenty-three seasons in the big time said his contract with Montreal Royals expired this year and "there's nothing to stand in the way of my taking a big league managerial post if it's offered me."

"You know how it is," said the Rabbit, whose success in bringing Royals home in second place in the International Baseball League schedule prompted rumors of better things for him. "Around this time there's always a lot of rumors about you quitting a job in the majors. Well, I haven't been asked by any team yet, but I'm perfectly free to sign up."

Royals on Good Behavior.

"Club officials told me to go right ahead and take any higher job that is offered to me if I want it," said the man who became one of the best infielders in the game.

"Boy, would I like to get up there," said the Rabbit. "It's a cinch managing a big league team after handling an outfit in the minors. Why, there's nothing to it. All the players up there have been taught how to play. There's no grinding in the game thing day after day. You tell them once, and they know what to do."

Talk switched to his Royals, and he gave his formula for the good showing of the team during the season. "It's the team spirit and the harmony. And the boys obey orders, too. Why, you know, I have not had one fine for misbehavior outside of ball hours this season. I get them up early in the morning—at half-past ten—so they know there's none of this staying out late stuff if they want to be in shape."

Lawn Bowling

By HERB MARTIN

At the time ow writing this article —9.15 Friday evening—our thermometer outside our east window is registered exactly at 40 degrees. And yet at this very minute there are 14 pairs of men up on the east green of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club playing Scotch doubles in the weekly men's tournament.

We went up to the club house a little earlier in the evening to obtain some information regarding the games for next week, but honestly, we never thought that there would be a baker's dozen come out to play. But when 7.30 p.m. came there was Bob and Fred in their usual places at the boon making the draw and lining up the teams.

We looked over the crowd — saw one chap with three woollen sweaters on, another one with a heavy leather windbreaker, and more with overshoes on; and then, to our utter amazement there was a little fellow bowling with a pair of woollen mitts. And then some people have the nerve to call lawn bowling a "sissy" or "an old mans" game.

Now, while this is not official, we have reason to believe that the games committee might cancel the playing of the local doubles competition. One reason is the cold weather, and the other reasons are that we have yet to finish the schedule in group No. 3—the skips and vices competition, the leads and seconds competition, the novice games, and the club singles. It looks like a busy week next week finishing up the odds and ods. We will have something definite in Monday's paper.

MUNRO CHEERS TRICOLOR TEAM

KINGSTON, Sept. 18. (CP).—Queen's senior football squad today was augmented by the arrival of Johnny Munro, kicking half in football and mid-ice man on the hockey team, who reported for another term at Queen's. He was welcomed at the gridiron in Richardson Memorial Stadium.

Munro was accompanied by Grover Dennis, McGill, and Morris Chepesuck, a brother of Mike Chepesuck, former Argonaut and Guelph O.A.C. player.

The complete staff should be on hand by Monday to put in five heavy days of drilling before the Sept. 25 exhibition game with Argonauts in Toronto. About thirty players were in uniform today.

TORONTO, Sept. 18. — (C.P.). — The "Cinderella Man of marathons, Walter Young, gets his big chance to-day to earn the job the City of Verdun gave him for winning the Boston marathon classic of 1937.

Young set out for the Boston run accompanied only by Trainer Pete Gavuzzi. Behind him in the Montreal suburb he left a wife and baby who had lived on relief for some time. Young ran ..or fame and a job, and got both.

Verdun made him a roving policeman so teach his children in the playgrounds.

To-day, over 26 miles and 385 yards of Toronto pavement, he will compete with 70 of the best marathoners on the continent. Victory will assure him a place on the Canadian British Empire Games team.

The event is the ninth annual Canadian marathon championship.

Included in the field Young will have to beat are Harold Webster of Hamilton, Ont., Eddie Cudworth and Dick Wilding of Toronto, and Dave Komonen of Sudbury, all former Canadian champions. Webster also is Empire titleholder.

Orillia Terriers Club Retain Ontario Senior Lacrosse Title

Remember When—

(By the Canadian Press).

Sandy Somerville of London, Ont., broke a 21-year United States hold on the U.S. amateur golf championship when he defeated Johnny Goodman 2 and 1 at Baltimore five years ago today. George Dunlap, Jr., regained the title for the republic in 1933 and it has remained there since with Johnny Goodman of Omaha winning this year.

Mimico Mountaineers Fall After Gruelling Final Battle 19-16

ORILLIA, Sept. 18.—Orillia Terriers are in again. The three time Mann Cup champions won Ontario's "World Series" lacrosse honors last night from Mimico Mountaineers with a 19-16 victory after a hard, gruelling game.

The Northerners, for the fourth year in a row, will now square off with Cornwall district champions for the All-Ontario title with the first game of the series here some time next week. The new 1937 O.A.L.A. senior champions are heavy favorites to take that heat in straight games and board the train for Vancouver early next month for the Canadian championship series with the Western winners.

Hugh Kelly and Vern Steggall, with five goals apiece, were the main cogs in a brilliant Orillia machine that refused to admit defeat. Mimico were great in defeat, giving everything they had but the everything wasn't just enough.

Secretary Gene Dopp of the O.A.L.A. announced last night that the Terriers will meet Cornwall in the first game at Orillia next Tuesday night. The second game will be played in Cornwall on Thursday, September 23, while a third game, if necessary, will take place at Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto.

Regina Roughriders After Calgary Win

CALGARY, Sept. 18 (CP)—Regina Roughriders, beaten at home 4-1 in their first game of the year against Calgary Bronks, will play Bronks here today and will attempt to maintain the record of visiting teams in the Western Canada Interprovincial Rugby Union. In three conference games this fall not a single home team has been victorious.

Roughriders take the field here without their star plunger, Fred Ray, out with a pre-season groin injury. Bronks, who lost an 11-1 decision to Winnipegs here a week ago with a badly-crippled outfit, will be at full strength except for Larry Haynes, regular left end.

IN MEMORIAM

GANDY.—In loving memory of my dear Grandson, Freddie Gandy, who was killed September 19, 1936.

We little thought when leaving home
He would no more return;
That he in Death so soon would sleep
And leave us here to mourn.

We do not know the pain he bore,
We did not see him die;
We only know he passed away
And never said "Good-bye."

—Ever remembered by his sorrowing Grandmother, Mrs. Shearing.

GANDY.—In loving memory of Freddie Gandy, who passed away, September 19.

In our hearts your memory lingers
Sweet and tender, fond and true.
There is not a day, dear Freddie,
That we do not think of you.

Just a thought of sweet remembrance,
Just a memory sweet and true.
Just the love and sweet devotion
Of one who thinks of you.

—Ever remembered by Aunt and Uncle, Mr. and Mrs. E. Bedding and Family.

GANDY.—In loving memory of Fred J. Gandy, accidentally killed September 19, 1936.

His last faint wish we should liked to have heard,
And breathed in his ear one last parting word.
Only those who have lost are able to tell
The pain of the heart in not saying farewell.

—Sadly missed by Mother, Dad, Sister and Brothers.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Mrs. Annie Kidd wishes to express their most sincere thanks to neighbors and friends for kind expressions of sympathy during their recent sad bereavement.

Miss Clemens Long sincerely thanks all those who in any way assisted her in winning second place in the Kiwanis Popularity Contest.

Miss Irene Hollingsworth wishes to thank her many friends and acquaintances and those who helped in so many ways to make her winning of the Popularity Contest of the Kiwanis Carnival possible.

HASTINGS WINS JUNIOR BATTLE NORWOOD RINK

(Examiner Correspondence.)

NORWOOD, Sept. 18.—Hastings junior lacrosse team were the victors in a double-header benefit show, staged in the Norwood Arena on Friday night, for the purpose of raising funds to help out an unfortunate young Norwood athlete, Don Clarke, who received severe injuries to his hand recently.

A fair crowd were in attendance to offer support to their respective teams. Alex. Kemipt estimated the gate receipts at $25, the total amount being given to Don Clarke, as no expenses were charged.

Havelock and Hastings Juniors met in the first game in a close checking fray. Barnden of Havelock was given a penalty for boarding shortly after the game started. McKee of Hastings scored the first goal of the evening after ten minutes of play. McCutcheon of Havelock missed the open goal a moment later, as did Roy Richardson of Hastings later in the period. After 14½ minutes of play Faux scored Hastings' second counter, and the period ended 2 to 0 for Hastings.

Richardson of Hastings opened up the scoring in the second period after 20 seconds of play. Aboud of Havelock was given a penalty for upsetting Richardson. While he was in the penalty box, Richardson scored again after 5 minutes of play. Moore of Havelock was given a penalty for upsetting Richardson, and Richardson scored again at the 7-minute mark when they were one man short. Faux scored for Hastings at 9 minutes on a rebound. Havelock sunk their first counter of the evening when McGlaughlin scored at 12 minutes, and Radford of Hastings completed the scoring of the period with a Hastings goal at 13½ minutes. The period ended with Hastings leading 7 to 1.

After wide open lacrosse in the third period, Faux scored his third goal of the game on a perfect pass from McKee. Radford put Hastings 9 up one minute later when he took Faux's pass. Richardson with his fourth goal, completed the scoring for the game as it ended in a 10 to 1 victory for Hastings.

Gain Second Victory.

The Hastings boys went right back after a hard game with Havelock to knock Norwood off by a 12 to 5 count in two twenty-minute periods. Phillips sank Hastings' first counter after 2 minutes, but Baker came back with 2 for Norwood 5 minutes later. Phillips tied it up for Hastings a minute after, and Richardson scored 2 minutes before the period ended to give Hastings the lead, and another 1 minute later to give them a 4 to 2 lead. Baker scored his third goal of the game after 1 minute of play in the second and last period. "Casey" Radford then sank 2 to give Hastings a 6 to 3 lead. Roy Richardson then sank 5 goals in a row to put the game away for Hastings with an 11 to 3 lead. Puffer scored Norwood's fourth with 2 minutes to go. J. Basken made it 5 for Norwood at the 19-minute mark, and Richardson, with his eighth goal of the game, completed the scoring as Hastings finished with a 7-goal lead. Richardson, easily the outstanding player of the evening, along with Faux, Radford, McKee and Montgomery, were the Hastings stars. Norwood's best were Baker, Puffer and McMaster.

Considering that these are the first games Hastings has played in 2 years, much credit must be given to Frank Gilbert, prominent radio announcer, who takes a great interest in Hastings sports.

The teams:

Hastings—Goal, Montgomery; defence, Preston and B. McCarthy; rover, Radford; wings, McKee and J. McCarthy; centre, Phillips; subs: Richardson, Coughlan, Faux, Scriver and Boyle.

Norwood—Goal, Innes; defence, Puffer and T. Basken; rover, Baker; centre, Godin; wings, Lumsden and Webb; subs: Gill, Thompson, J. Basken, McMaster and Bedore.

Havelock—Goal, Innes; defence, Aboud and Seabrooke; rover, McCutcheon; centre, McMullen; wings, Moore and Barnden; subs: Griffin, Pollock, McGlaughlin and Murray.

Referees: R. Innes and C. Puffer, Norwood. Timekeeper: Alf Bongard, Norwood.

DOGS PLAY CRICKET

ALEXANDRIA, New South Wales, Sept. 18 (C.P.). — And now dogs are playing cricket in Australia.

The dogs got into a game when two constables wanted to play, but couldn't round up a full team. They trained 10 Alsatian dogs to play as wicketkeepers and fielders. The dogs catch the ball in their teeth and run back with it to the bowler.

As a concession to the dogs a rubber ball is used.

RUSTLE OF SILKS

By MARIE BLIZARD

CHAPTER 37.

The plums were fat and glossy. Mari considered them carefully and selected one, wondering vaguely what the caloric content was. She'd already eaten half a luscious melon, a large slice of warm, crusty bread, two boiled eggs and had drank a glass of milk. Still the plums—

Letitia said, "There is only an hour until the post goes out, Mr. Holk said that if you are to meet the deadline with the article on...."

Bother the post, Letitia! And bother Mr. Holk. In this enchanted garden, you cannot expect me to concern myself with the wisdom of accenting organdie by stiffening its edges. Now, if you really want to prove worth your weight in gold to me, you'll have a good sane talk with Rosa. Tell her I simply can't have breakfasts like this put before me! Think of my figure!....Is that the car I ordered?....the speck on the hill."

Letitia squinted through her duplex glasses—black ones over her spectacles—and said it was.

"Is there an errand I could do for you, Madame? Then you could finish the article and...."

"Letitia, please don't call me 'madame' while we're here. This is our holiday....No, thank you, there isn't anything you can do for me, I'm going out to snare a guest—if I can find him."

Letitia waited.

Mari felt a little embarrassed. "I thought since there is so much room ....and all this beauty.... well, I thought I'd try to find Mr. Garland. I don't believe he has much money and....well, I think we ought to have a man around, don't you?"

Letitia said she thought Mr. Venable had been hinting for an invitation.

Mari let it pass, picking up her gloves and making much of peering toward the hill.

She felt very young and a little excited, and annoyed with herself that she had to excuse her impulse to herself. It was nothing more than an act of kindness to a fellow American. He was also, in a way, a kindred soul since he was an artist. And it would be more fun to have someone to enjoy things with.

She wouldn't admit that there was something in his shy, admiring glances that had pleased her, made her want to know more of him. Or would she have known that, affected by so much physical beauty about her, it was only natural that she should have felt her loneliness and need for a person of the opposite sex.

And later she would have laughed at the idea that Alec Garland had come into her life—however briefly it was to be—at a psychological moment. She would never have believed that she had paid more attention to the ideal that she built in him than to the man as he was. Alec was to be only a symbol to her. But more of that later.

She sought him out in the large hotels, then in the smaller, and finally found him, sipping coffee at noon, reading the Paris Herald at the table of a sidewalk cafe next to the apothecary shop.

He jumped to his feet when he saw her, his slow, happy smile breaking over his face.

"I've been looking for you," she announced at once.

"And I for you," he answered. "Until—"

"Yes? Until when?"

"Until I discovered who you are."

"Oh!" Mari wished he hadn't. "Then this is a case of the mountain coming to Mohamet."

"I'm very pleased," he said simply.

After that it should have been easy for her to say that she had found a spacious villa, a boat and a garden that an artist would enjoy and that she hoped he would accept her hospitality as her house guest for his fortnight. But she felt suddenly shy. She was unused to pursuing young men.

She said she hoped he would come over and spend the day with her and Letitia.

For a moment, as an expression of uncertainty crossed his face, she thought he was going to refuse. Then he said, "I'd like to....I.... will there be others there?"

Mari guessed rightly that he was afraid she would have a gathering of smart people. "No, no one."

"Good enough. If you'll just give me a chance to get up to my diggings and change...."

"No change," she said. "I hoped you'd go for a sail with me. We'll be very simple."

And so Alec came to live at Villa Mimosa. And Mari found a companion.

In Alec of slow speech and easy contentment, she found an ideal companion. And if Letitia gave up her efforts to do the work Mari had planned to accomplish during her stay, she served as a chaperone and buffer between the world that wanted to intrude on her employer.

Word had come by messenger of friends who were staying at the Grand hotel at Nice and who wanted Mari to join them. Mari would have none of them.

Her days were filled with glorious contentment. The sunshine everywhere was the note of her days. Golden sunshine that warmed their lazy hours in the garden where Alec sketched and Mari read to him; sunshine that browned their bodies in the hours they lay on the smooth sands after their swim; sunshine that cooled before the breeze that swept the little Redwing along her course on the blue waters.

And later there was the moonlight when, after dinner at the taper-lighted table in the great hall, they sat on the terrance and their mingled voices were tuned low to the sounds of the night. There was the croaking of frogs like distant jingle bells, the soft whirr of wings in the perfumed darkness. And sometimes they bade Pancho play for them and sing in a language they did not know.

Letitia left them early and they had a silence that needed no words. If Mari wondered what Alec's thoughts were then, she did not question them. Nor did she question her own.

Mari was in a mood of acceptance, the lazy acceptance that passed from the land into herself. Paris, New York, London, her life was in back of her. She had no wish to hurry her tomorrows. In a land that lived for today, she lived only for today.

There was a growing communion between her and the fair-haired Alec. It was enough for her.

Once, climbing abroad the raft, he had put his arms around her to help her up and, once aboard, he had kept his arm about her.

Another time her foot had slipped on a rocky path and she had found herself in his arms. Her face was lifted to his, she had felt his arm tighten. Then Letitia's voice had been heard directly above them and he released her.

Strolling through the late dusk in the garden, he had held her hand in his as simply as one child does another.

But it wasn't until a week later that he took her in his arms and kissed her. It was, surprisingly, a passionate kiss. It left Mari shaken, questioning.

Hours later, her limbs still trembling from the force that had been let loose by his embrace, she lay awake in the darkness and questioned her heart.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S NUMBER WORK

"How is that, Mr. Longears" asked the Fox when he had finished writing with chalk on the blackboard in the Hollow Tree School.

"Well, I have seen better writing," said Uncle Wiggily, twinkling his pink nose. "But you can learn to do better if you come here to school. I will teach you until the Lady Mouse gets over being ill. After that she will give you lessons."

"That you, very kindly," spoke the Fox and again his voice was so soft it was like chewing gum. "I am glad I came to school."

"I hope it will be helpful to you," said the rabbit. "Yes, Buster, what is it" asked Mr. Longears for Buster had raised a paw.

"If you please," spoke the rabbit boy, "what does it say in that sentence the Fox wrote? I can't read it."

"Neither can I," said Jingle.

Uncle Wiggily looked at what the Fox had written. It was this:

HOTAC LLIW EW. EIBBOH THGINOT YLIGOIW ELGNU

"Hum! That is a very strange sentence, Mr. Fox," said Uncle Wiggily when he had puzzled over it. "What does it say?"

That's Right.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the Fox. "I am surprised you can't read that sentence I wrote, Mr. Longears. And you are supposed to be smart. You are teaching school."

"I am not the regular teacher, Mr. Fox," said the bunny uncle. "I am just substituting for Miss Mouse. I think she could read that sentence you wrote in the blackboard."

"Maybe and maybe not!" chuckled the Fox who seemed in a jolly mood. "Well, I'll leave it there for you to puzzle over. And if you can't read it I'll come back tomorrow and tell you."

"All right," said Uncle Wiggily. "Are you going now?"

"Yes," said the Fox, "I have had enough of school."

"Very well," said Uncle Wiggily, Truth to tell he was glad the Fox had gone, though the Bad Chap seemed to have turned good, at least for a while. But a Fox in school made the little animal children rather fidgity so it was just as well he left.

Smart Girl.

Uncle Wiggily was going to give a lesson in number work, or addition, subtraction, and the like of that when, all of a sudden, Jingle raised her paw and said:

"Daddy, I can read what the Fox wrote."

"Can you, Jingle, How?" asked her father.

"By reading it backward," said the rabbit girl. "That's what the Fox did—he wrote backward to fool you. Listen. This is what he wrote." Jingle read:

BOBBLE WE WILL CATCH UNCLE WIGGILY TONIGHT.

"Oh, for goodness sake!" cried Mr. Longears. "It's a message to the Bob Cat who will probably be along soon. But I'll fool him! I'll give both Bad Chaps some number work to do tonight if they try to catch me."

That's just what the bunny uncle did. In his bungalow that night he hid the Police Dog and two and two and two other dogs, making—count them—seven in all. And when the Fox and Bob Cat called there were numbers enough to drive them away and save Mr. Longears from being nibbled. So you see how useful is number work.

And if the sofa cushion doesn't bounce up and down on the bed spring and knock a hole in the looking glass, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's entertainment.

MANION CHARGES PREMIER STIRRED LABOR VS. CAPITAL

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 18 (C.P.)—Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario fomented trouble between labor and capital and stirred religious antagonism, charged Hon. R. J. Manion last night. The former Minister of Railways and Canals spoke in support of Dr. Paul Poisson, Conservative candidate in Essex North.

"At the time of the Oshawa strike Mr. Hepburn said he was 100 per cent. behind General Motors," Mr. Manion said. "That was not the proper position for any Government to take. The Government is considered a conciliator—an impartial umpire—to endeavor to bring about peace."

"Mr. Hepburn took an attitude on this strike which was 100 per cent. unfair to labor unions," he continued. "The labor element is the most important part of any factory, and I do not understand how any working man could vote for Mr. Hepburn.'

"He stirred up race antagonism when he brought in an Act to deal with the taxes of Public and Separate Schools. He repealed the Act after the Hastings East by-election. If he was sincere in his statement that he was bringing in the Act for fair dealing to the Catholic people, why didnt he amend the Act instead of repealing it?

Afraid of Some Issues.

"The Separate and Public Schools are the same as they were before, but he has stirred up religious antagonism such as I, personally, have never seen in this country.

Mr. Hepburn called an election because he is afraid to dodge some issues which are "coming home to roost," said the former minister. He referred to the "dismissal" of David Croll and Arthur Roebuck, K.C., from the Ontario Cabinet and charged no Premier in any British country "has ever before treated any of his Cabinet with such contempt as Mr. Hepburn did in dismissing Roebuck and Croll."

Dr. Manion also charged Premier Hepburn dismissed more civil servants than any other Premier in Canadian history.

"Mr. Hepburn is a reactionary. He doesn't believe in the freedom of the people. He attacks millionaires, and yet he tags along with one or two on trips."

Other speakers included Dr. Poisson, Dr. Raymond D. Morand, Conservative candidate in Windsor-Walkerville, and Reeve Harry Drouillard of suburban Riverside.

Blame Insane Boy Woman's Murder

DETROIT, Sept. 18—(CP)—Police claimed today a solution of the killing of Miss Pauline Regal with the arrest of a 16-year-old mentally unbalanced youth who escaped from a hospital shortly before the 40-year-old spinster was found slain in bed.

Chief of detectives Henry W. Piel said the youth, Robt. Pawlowski, had confessed the slaying.

Piel said Pawlowski admitted entering the Brunette's bedroom early yesterday morning, taking 60 cents from her purse and hitting her over the head with an iron stake when she turned over and appeared to be awakening. There was no evidence of rape.

Mrs. Gerald Burke, mother of the youth, said he had not been normal since he was struck by an automobile at the age of five and he had been confined to institutions since he was eight years old.

DOUGLAS INITIAL B.C. GOLD FINDER

VANCOUVER, Sept. 18 (CP).—Dr. T. A. Rickard of Victoria, former editor of mining publications in England and the United States, claims he definitely determined that David Douglas, Scottish botanist, was the first white man to discover gold in British Columbia.

Dr. Rickard, addressing delegates to the joint convention of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy and the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, said yesterday the famed scientist after whom the Pacific coast's Douglas fir tree was named, made his first find at Lake Okanagan in the interior in 1833.

Record of the discovery was found by himself in records of the Royal Geographical Society of 1861, Dr. Rickard said.

The rush of gold miners to British Columbia from California in 1858 followed shipment to the United States of about 800 ounces of gold found by Indians along the Fraser River and in the Queen Charlotte Islands, he claimed.

MOOSE JAW ASKS FOR WATER AID

MOOSE JAW, Sask., Sept. 18—(CP)—Threatened with a water shortage that may involve rationing of supplies, Moose Jaw's 20,000 population looked to-day to Federal Government assistance and the South Saskatchewan River for solution of the water problem.

The civic administration has placed before Federal and Provincial authorities a scheme for piping water 70 miles from the South Saskatchewan River at an estimated cost of $2,024,343. (In Ottawa it was reported the Cabinet would consider Moose Jaw's appeal at its meeting next Tuesday).

Says Rain Essential

At present the city is obtaining 850,000 gallons daily from four sources, while daily requirements are 1,000,000 gallons. The waters is obtained from Caron, Snowdy Springs, Forsythe and Brittannia wells.

City Engineer Hugh C. Ritchie estimated the present supply of 850,000 gallons daily could be maintained for another week, but how much longer without diminishing could not be estimated. Rain was declared to be essential to assure supplies.

To meet immediate requirements, a new well is being developed in the Caron district, 20 miles west of here, which it is hoped will provide an additional 100,000 to 150,000 gallons daily.

The report of the Citizens' Water Committee, which has been submitted to the senior Governments, recalled the water problem has cropped up intermittently and had been studied at periods dating back to 1910. The South Saskatchewan River was favored as the only source of a permanent supply.

The committee proposed the South Saskatchewan project be developed as an unemployment relief job. In the past six years, the report said, Moose Jaw had spent $2,630,000 for relief of unemployed, of which $1,089,000 was borne by the city and $1,541,000 by the Federal and Provincial Governments.

Details of Project

Building of the South Saskatchewan River water supply project would involve construction of an intake works at the river, a pumping and filtration plant and the pipe line for conveying the water from the river to the city, the re re port stated.

Two reservoirs would be built. One at Gilroy would conserve 3,000,000 gallons and one at Belbeck would store 5,000,000 gallons, the report said. The pipe line could be built to provide branch lines to serve village or farms along the route.

"There can be no doubt that had the South Saskatchewan River been in comparatively close proximity to Moose Jaw and Regina, these cities would have tapped its waters many years ago for water supply purposes," the committee report stated.

Hotel Owner Is Against Tipping

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 18—(AP)—That old Spanish custom, the gratuity ("tip" to you) drew a hearty blast to-day from—of all peoples—a hotel owner.

"Tipping is the most detestable, contemptible and embarrassing practice in the world," said Victor Dessert, Spokane hotel man and life-long student of the practice—and, he added, it's bad for the person receiving the tip as for the donor.

Dessert expressed himself at a meeting with social security officials seeking data on which to establish a base pay ratio for hotel and restaurant employees.

MILLBROOK

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Graham and daughter, Miss Francis, and Mr. F. Bounding, of Port Perry, were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Byam, Bank street.

Mrs. H. W. Johnston has purchased the home at the west end of the village, formerly the property of the late Mrs. (Rev.) Joseph Wilks, and expects to take immediate possession.

The resurfacing of the paved roadway from Donaldson's Corner to the end of King street, and the other paved roads in the village, has been completed, at a cost, it is said, of $4,000. Something over four miles was the distance involved. A number of local men had work shovelling the material required from the cars at the C.N.R. Station into the trucks which conveyed it to the required points. The coating applied to the roadway is not more than half the thickness used on the highway, but has eliminated the rough spots that made driving in from the highway to the village anything but a pleasure.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Huggins, of South Monaghan, were visitors at the home of Mr. D. R. and Mrs. Fowler the beginning of the week.

Dawson Richardson, of Winnipeg, was a visitor this week with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. Dawson.

Draper Sees Politics One Of Dirtiest Games

OTTWTA, Sept. 18 (CP)—"Politics in my opinion has become one of the dirtiest games a person can play," P. M. Draper, president of the Trades and Labor Congress, told convention delegates here yesterday. He was speaking during debate on a resolution to keep the congress aloof from politics. The resolution passed.

"This congress, if it is going to serve the interest of the workers of this country, never could be a political party or a political machine," he said.

"If you want this congress to maintain its position as the legislative mouthpiece of Labor, for heaven's sake save it from being mixed up in what is one of the dirtiest games in these two provinces in Eastern Canada. Politics, in my opinion, has become one of the dirtiest games a person can play."

OVER 600 ONTARIO AUTOISTS DOOMED

TORONTO, Sept. 18.—Six hundred Ontario men, women or children are doomed to death in the coming year from motor accidents unless careless motorists change their ways, G. A. Hodgson, Ontario Department of Highways, warned yesterday.

But five hundred and forty of these, or 90 per cent., need not die if drivers would only "stop and think," he told the Toronto-York Division of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association at the Embassy Hotel.

Particular hazards mentioned by Mr. Hodgson were the thoughtlessness of men and women who resume driving, without further tuition, after a lapse of several years; issuance of driving licenses to employees for firm cars, many of whom were unqualified to drive; unnecessary indulgence in tooting auto horns and disregard for the rights of pedestrians, especially children.

He suggested that if the horn were left off motor vehicles there would be a decrease overnight of 50 per cent. of accidents. The horn should be reserved for emergencies only, he declared. All drivers were urged to familiarize themselves with traffic regulations and to "drive as if the child were your own, when you see one in your path."

Motor accidents in Ontario advanced 33.7 per cent. during the first three months of 1937 over the same period the previous year, he said.

Of the 2,446 accidents reported during the first quarter this year, 114 were fatal, he declared, compared with 64 fatalities and 1,956 other accidents during the same period in 1936.

The total of 829 collisions of motor vehicles with pedestrians showed an increase of 37.9 per cent.; 944 collisions between motor vehicles, an increase of 24 per cent.; 172 crashes with bicycles, 42.1 per cent., and 247 collisions with fixed objects, 70.3 per cent.

COTTON PROTEST "BASED ON FEARS"

CANBERRA, Sept. 18 — (CP Cable). — Prime Minister Joseph Lyons, commenting to-day on Lancashire's complaint regarding the Australian concession to Japan on imports of staple fibre fabrics, said the complaint was based on fears rather than on facts. Lancashire's position was adequately safeguarded, he stated.

"In view of the small quantities at present exported and also Japan's claim it is most difficult to arrange export control immediately. Australia agreed to exempt staple fibre fabrics from the quotas until June, 1938, reserving the right, when considering renewal of general control arrangements after this date, to include staple fibre fabrics in the art silk quota," the Prime Minister said.

Staple fibre is rayon yarn cut in small pieces and processed into cotton by machinery.

Lyons added Australia had also arranged for immediate reconsideration in the event of a material increase in Japanese exports of staple fibre fabrics to Australia.

"The Commonwealth has informed Japan she is unable to admit substantial quantities of staple fibre fabrics in addition to present textile quotas," Lyons said, "and would impose tariffs to prevent such a development. Extensive imports would detrimentally affect the Australian wool-growing and manufacturing industry."

JAP DEAL HURTS BRITISH COTTON SALE, AUSTRALIA

LONDON, Sept. 18—(CP Cable).—The Lancashire cotton industry, which yesterday was keenly satisfied over Canada, to-day was up in arms over Australia.

It was the second shock within a few days. The first came when Ceylon's import quota was modified to the advantage of Japan. The Japanese now get a big concession from Australia.

The effect of it is that Japanese cloths cut from staple fibre (rayon yarn cut in small pieces and processed into cotton by machinery) will not be included in either the rayon or cotton quotas under the current trade agreement between Australia and Japan. Imports of the processed article will be unlimited.

Lancashire cotton men are indignant. One authority describes the threat to Lancashire exports as "potentially more serious than the increase in Japan's quota in Ceylon."

Blow To Exports.

"These will be serious blows to Lancashire's attenuated export trade," declares Lennox B. Lee, chairman of the Calico Printers' Association. "One cannot help wondering if the government really is in earnest in its desire to assist."

"At least 80 per cent of the trade England does with Australia is in fibro-artificial silk," comments another cotton man. "If Japan takes it we can say good-bye to the trade because we cannot compete."

"The Lancashire case," observes the Manchester Guardian editorially, "is simply that the Australian government has put a further handicap in the way of increased Empire trade . . . while the Australian episode will hardly assist Imperial harmony it is only fair to note, on the other side, the Canadian government's recent concession on Empire content demanded on goods coming under the preferential tariff. This indicates a rather different spirit."

Under an agreement with the Board of Trade and the Colonial office, Ceylon gave Japan an unrestricted market for grey cotton cloth and a 50 per cent. increase in her quota on other cottons and rayons.

WORLD STEEL DEMAND NOW AT WAR LEVEL

65 Per Cent Content Idea Worrying G.M.C.

OTTAWA, Sept. 20.—(CP)—Demand for steel throughout the world has reached war-time proportions, the Tariff Board was told to-day. The Board resumed its inquiry into the automobile industry, a subject under consideration at various sittings since 1935.

Representatives of motor car manufacturers presented statements to the Board that it was becoming increasingly difficult to fill the 60 per cent Canadian requirement necessary for qualifying their products under the British preference.

On behalf of Steel of Canada, Montreal, H. T. Dipock answered his company was furnishing the automotive industry with greater tonnage so far this year than during the same period in any previous year.

T. R. Rahilly of the Algoma Steel Corporation, Sault Ste. Marie, assured the Board his company had arrived at a program by which they would be able to fill demands of their customers.

The present content requirement is to be lifted to 65 per cent. on March 31, 1938. "It's worrying us," said H. J. Carmichael of General Motors.

George H. Sedgewick, chairman, said the Boards own examination of the problem had indicated that with present equipment Canadian mills could produce about 10,000 tons more steel than was being supplied the automobile manufacturers, but apparently it was not available to that industry.

Expectation was the Board would sit until to-morrow night. Freight rates on automobiles going to Western Canada are to be considered as well as the question whether the price differential between cars in Canada and the United States is too great.

LEGION ONSLAUGHT TAKES NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP).—This city surrendered without argument today to a rollicking American Legion onslaught.

An estimated throng of 500,000 visitors, half of them Legionnaires, took over the metropolis as delegates met for the opening session of the Legion's 19th convention.

High-spotting the opening of the annual conclave was the report of Commander Harry Colmery, warning of Nazi influence and calling for protection of the United States constitution and for an independent judiciary.

The report, made public in advance of the opening session in Madison Suare Garden today, dealt bluntly with issues expected to be acted upon later this week by the more than 1,300 delegates.

Colmery called for a survey to determine all nations' territorial needs as part of a program for removing the causes or war, and urged early adoption by Congress of the Universal Draft Act now pending before it.

The national commander termed German claims to the right to propagandize Nazism in the United States as a "gratuitous insult" and "a brazen affront to every American citizen." He suggested an immediate investigation of all Nazi organizations in the United States.

$4,400,000 Bonus Harvester Gift

CHICAGO, Sept. 20 (AP). — The International Harvester Company announced yesterday its 65,000 employees in the United States and Canada would receive $4,400,000 extra compensation at the end of the fiscal year ending October 31.

Sydney G. McAllister, president of the company, said the directors in declaring a final 1937 dividend of $1.50 a share on common stock last Thursday voted also to appropriate $2,500,000 to the company's pension fund out of 1937 earnings. Last year $2,300,000 extra pay was distributed to the company's employees.

All Britishers Refuse To Flee Nanking.

Warships Guarding Embassy Staff; U.S. Officials Flee 30 Miles Up River.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Japanese aircraft bombed Nanking today, killing 40 civilians and demolishing as many homes. British and French naval commanders, however, refused a Japanese demand they move their warships up the Yangtze and out of the range of fire.

The United States embassy staff fled Nanking, however, Ambassador Nelson Johnson and his aides boarded the patrol boat Luzon, which sailed for Wuhu, 30 miles upstream from Nanking.

British and French warships would remain, admirals representing the two countries asserted, so long as the British and French embassies and their citizens remain in the Chinese capital.

Furthermore, the British and French warned, Japan would be held responsible for loss of life or damage to property of either nation.

The Japanese had demanded the withdrawal of foreigners so that the city could be bombed with danger only to Chinese.

It was the third air raid on the seat of the Chinese government in two days, the 12th bombardment of Nanking since the Japanese advance against Shanghai was slowed by Chinese resistance.

Chinese used a fleet of fast pursuit planes to harry the heavy Japanese bombers and save the city of more than 1,000,000 from destruction the Japanese command is believed to have determined on.

In a virtual ultimatum to all foreign residents of Nanking, Japan had warned to get out of the city by noon Tuesday or face the danger of death from aerial bombardment. But 24 hours before the warning period ended the Japanese launched their attack, endangering the lives of many high foreign dignitaries.

Britishers To Stick.

NANKING, Sept. 20.—(CP-Havas)—The staff of the British embassy here will remain in the city despite the probability of new Japanese air raids, it was announced today, as the United States personnel made preparations to quit the capital.

There was no intention of leaving, "for the moment," a British embassy spokesman said.

Other Americans were understood to be evacuated up river aboard a British steamer.

British officials declared:

"We are remining at Nanking for the time being."

They informed the Japanese admiral that the noon Tuesday ultimatum did not give the British sufficient time to evacuate or to warn their nationals; and added, pointedly, that the maps had been supplied the Japanese showing the location of the British Embassy, and there was therefore no need for them to leave Nanking.

Russians Also To Stay.

The Soviet embassy also indicated it would remain at the capital

Seven Are Rescued Off Blazing Boat

FORT ERIE, Ont., Sept. 20 (C.P.).—Condition of Mary Patricia Burkel, daughter of Dr. Arthur J. Burkel of Buffalo, most seriously burned of seven persons removed from the blazing launch Mary Pat, in Upper Niagara River yesterday, was reported favorable to-day. The child, badly burned about the head and body, was removed from hospital here to Buffalo Children's Hospital.

Cause of destruction of the craft, which Dr. Burkel valued at $12,000, was believed due to a leak in the tank which contained gas used in the stove to heat the cabin.

CARS KILL THREE GUN MISHAP ONE IN WEEKEND TOLL

TORONTO, Sept. 20.—(CP)—Accidents claimed four lives in Ontario during the week-end, automobiles figuring in three deaths and a hunting accident responsible for the fourth.

John Towers, 18, Toronto, was killed when his motorcycle crashed into the guard rails on Centre Road in Britannia 20 miles west of Toronto, Kenneth Jarvis, 21, Toronto, riding in the side-car escaped with leg injuries, shock and lacerations. An inquest will be held.

Mrs. Lavina Hounson, 44, Egbert, Ont., was killed when two automobiles collided at Barrie. When struck by a truck as he stepped from the sidewalk, William Samuel, 71, was killed at Galt, Mr. Samuel established the Galt Auto Top Company, retiring a few years ago. An inquest into his death will be held Wednesday.

The hunting accident victim was Albert Sauve, 19, of Spanish village, near Massey in Northern Ontario. When he attempted to pull his gun over the gunwale of his boat during a duck hunting expedition, the weapon discharged into his right side.

LONDON TEACHER'S BODY EXHUMED

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 20 (C.P.).—Body of Mary Wilkinson was exhumed to-day for renewed study by Ontario Government medical experts a few hours after two men were remanded on charges of murdering the attractive 37-year-old school teacher.

Dr. Charles A. Cline, prominent 70-year-old London physician, and Laughlin Jack Robertson, 50, stood silently in court as they were charged. Police claim Miss Wilkinson, whose body was taken from Thames River last Tuesday, died following an illegal operation.

Dr. Cline was remanded until September 25; Robertson until September 28.

Also held on unnamed charges in connection with the London school teacher's death were Mrs. Emily Jane Robertson, 36-year-old wife of Robertson, and a man whom police did not name. Mrs. Robertson will appear in court with Dr. Cline next saturday.

Police said the unidentified man, who received a week's adjournment, was held in county jail since last Thursday while provincial and city authorities pressed an investigation. The others were arrested on Saturday.

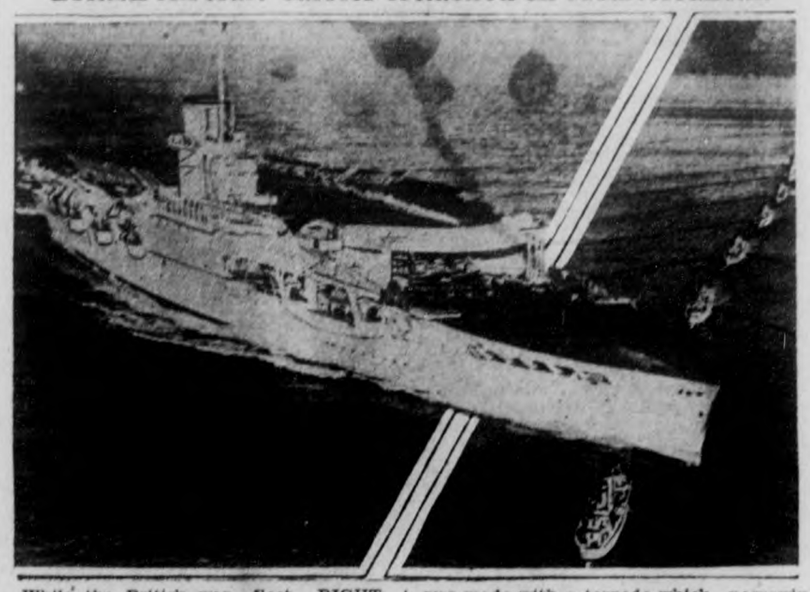
British Aircraft Carrier Attacked In Mediterranean



While the British war fleet, RIGHT, scoured the Mediterranean Sea in an intensive hunt for 'pirate submarines," the H.M.S. Glorious, LEFT, one of the navy's largest aircraft carrier, was reported attacked near Malta in the Mediterranean Sea. The attack, reported to the Glorious by an accompanying destroyer, the Comet, was made with a torpedo which narrowly missed the huge craft. A secret naval inquiry is being held aboard the Glorious at Malta. At the same time the destroyer Fearless was reported attacked by an unidentified aeroplane off Gijon, Spain. Six aerial bombs dropped on the British ship missed their mark.

Battling Irish Sea Shark Tows Boat 100 Miles.

Dinghy Manned In Relays 24 Hours—Plane Finally Needed To Find It

GLASGOW, Sept. 20—(CP Cable)—A wild ride in a little dinghy towed by a shark over a 100-mile zigzag route about the North Channel of the Irish Sea for 24 hours, provoking airplane searches and causing fire in an attending motorboat today provided the week-end saltiest tale from the sea.

Three shark-hunters—Captain L. L. David, H. Webster, and Harry Smith—left the parent ship Myrtle, Saturday in Carradle Bay, Kintyre, and harpooned a 30-foot, 10-ton shark, which rushed around and about Argyllshire waters in a violent dash for freedom.

They were members of a group attempting to find out whether a new Scottish industry could be built up from the distillation of shark liver oil.

It was 11 a.m. Saturday when the shark took the dinghy in tow. After it had been driven back by tide and wind in an attempt to reach the open sea, the shark neared the mothership and Tony Watkins, explorer, and Dr. Seccombe Hett, scientist, effected a perilous transfer to the dinghy, relieving the three crew men, who scramble back to the Myrtle.

As the shark continued its merry course throughout the day and Saturday night, several reliefs were made, but at dawn, when Watkins and Webster were manning the dinghy, the Myrtle caught fire and was unable to keep up with the fast-travelling shark.

While the mothership's occupants fought the flames, shark and dinghy disappeared. The coastguard became alarmed. Three planes set out and eventually located the dinghy. The shark was almost exhausted but alive. Watkins and Webster, weary but victorious buoyed the shark and went ashore.

Bar Cemetery At Dark Against Lovers

Martins Ferry, O., Sept. 20.

WHEN City Council voted to put gates on Riverview Cemetery and to keep them closed at night, oldsters chuckled and mumbled that times never change.

Reason for the council's action was that after-nightfall petters invaded the burial ground. The town's unofficial historians recalled that in 1871 another council had prohibited loitering in Walnut Grove Cemetery—for the same reason.

TWO IRON LUNGS SENT TO REGINA

TORONTO, Sept. 20.—Infantile paralysis sent 30 more people to hospital during the week-end and caused another death. More than 2,000 persons in Canada have been stricken since the epidemic started early in June and deaths have reached 71.

The week-end death occurred in Toronto where 15 new cases made their appearance to send the case list to 576. Toronto's death toll stood at 29. In Ontario since the epidemic struck 1,836 cases were recorded with 49 persons dying.

The Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto at the request of the Saskatchewan health department sent two iron lungs to Regina. The Saskatchewan authorities wished to be prepared if any infantile paralysis cases requiring the machines broke out in the province.

Hamilton General Hospital received three new cases during the week-end. They were an eight-year-old girl and two boys, 12 and 17. The hospital now has 30 infantile paralysis patients, one of them, in an iron lung.

Two persons fell ill in Galt where the case list stood at six. Three were stricken at Windsor where total cases since the epidemic started are now 17. Midland and Napanee recorded one case each.

Principal A. R. Scott of Goderich Collegiate has decided to overcome loss of teaching time at schools, closed because of the disease, by sending lessons by mail. He said he hoped the students would co-operate.

THREE ARE SLAIN EIGHT WOUNDED VAIN JAIL BREAK

FOLSOM, Calif., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Warden Clarence Larkin, two Folsom state prison guards and five convicts lay wounded in the prison hospital today, victims of an escape attempt in which a guard and two convicts were killed.

One of the wounded convicts, Ed Davis, reputed instigator of the break, was believed near death. Larkin suffered 12 stab wounds.

The 20-minute battle began when seven prisoners rushed the warden during his usual Sunday morning interview with prisoners in the office of the captain of the guard.

The seven men, armed with crude knives and two dummy pistols, stepped from line, seized Larkin and Guard Captain W. J. Ryan. They demanded Larkin order guards on the prison wall to hold their fire. Larkin refused.

In the meantime, the warden's secretary heard the argument over an open telephone. He phoned the guards to shoot as soon as Larkin and his captors were in the open.

Larkin and the guards, armed only with clubs, came out fighting, and 10 or a dozen bullets were shot into the struggling mass from the watch towers. Other guards ran in to help. When the battle ended all the convicts were down.

Ryan and the Guard James Kerns had serious knife wounds. H. E.

Last Heard Sunday Aklavik-Bound.

On Way Back From Search For Russians; Believed To Be Coming Out For Skiis

NEW YORK, Sept. 20—(CP)—A wall of Arctic silence today cloaked the whereabouts of Sir Hubert Wilkins and the party he headed in the flying-boat hunt for the lost Russian airmen but no fear for their safety was held at search headquarters in the Explorers Club here.

Wilhjalmur Stefansson, president of the club said nothing had been heard of the Wilkins' plane since 8 p.m. E. D. T. Sunday, while the searchers were attempting to reach Aklavik under adverse conditions.

While Stefansson said he believed Sir Hubert had brought the plane down on a small lake he started organizing "emergency equipment" that could be called on quickly for assistance.

On completion of his fifth unsuccessful search for Sigismund Levanefsky and the five companions who became lost in the Arctic stillness Aug. 13 while attempting a Russia-to-United States flight, the Wilkins plane landed on a lake near Aklavik at 11.50 a.m. E.D.T. Sunday.

At 7.50 p.m. the Soviet embassy at Washington and Stefansson received word from the Aklavik radio station that Sir Hubert had reported taking off from the lake in an effort to reach Aklavik. Ten minutes later, according to the word from the Aklavik station, the plane's radio "faded to nil."

Aklavik reported there was no flying ceiling at the time. It was snowing and freezing.

Four Experts Along.

Four men have been flying with Sir Hubert. His pilots, two of Canada's best-known airmen, are Air Commodore Herbert Hollick-Kenyon, now of Toronto, and Al Cheesman of Port Arthur, Ont., Ray Booth, radio operator, New York, and Gerald Brown, mechanic, also New York, completed the personnel.

Stefansson said he believed the poor conditions had caused Sir Hubert to land the plane a second time on one of the lakes dotting the region to await clearer weather.

Failure to communicate his whereabouts to the Aklavik station was not considered unusual. Several times since the sweeping search got under way Aklavik has been without word of the Wilkins' plane, but in such instances the station at Coppermine, some 600 miles away, usually picked up the planes' signals.

While Stefansson emphasized no

FULL ISOLATION OUT FOR STATES HULL DECLARES

LONDON, Sept. 20—(CP)—Declaration of Cordell Hull, United States Secretary of State, that complete isolation is no longer possible for the United States received a warm welcome in Great Britain today as perhaps presaging partial relaxation of Washington's policy of alloofness in international affairs.

At the same time the Associated Press said uneasiness was aroused by Paris reports Italy, angry at not being offered a more important role in the Mediterranean anti-pirate hunt, might set up a rival patrol with the aid of Germany, Portugal and Albania.

Informed Rome quarters declared, the Associated Press added, that although no such patrol was planned at present Italy does not intend to permit Mediterranean trade routes, which carry thousands of tons of Italian shipping, to be patrolled entirely by non-Italian vessels.

It was understood Italian naval units were being held ready with steam up to furnish escort if necessary for Italian shipping in the Mediterranean.

Aid For British Cause?

The British press saw aid to Britain's cause in Hull's "courageous speech" made in an International broadcast sponsored by the National Peace Conference last night.

Hull declared that though the United States is determined neither to thrust herself nor to be drawn into armed conflict between other nations, "this policy must be supplemented."

"We must make our contribution toward the realization of conditions upon which peace everywhere can be maintained, or ultimately we shall have to maintain and protect ourselves amidst an outside world ridden by war and force," he said.

"A policy of complete isolation from the outside world in its ultimate effects would be as ineffective as the opposite extreme."

2 Are Remanded London Murder

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 20 (CP).—Dr. Charles A. Cline was remanded to September 25, when he appeared in court today on a charge of murdering Mary Wilkinson, 37, Aberdeen school teacher, whose body was found in the Thames last Tuesday and who, according to police, died as the result of an illegal operation.

Lauchlin Jack Robertson, 50, facing a similar charge, was remanded eight days. Neither man was asked to plead or make any statement.

Mrs. Robertson, wife of Robertson, held on a nominal charge, will appear in chambers later today as well as an unidentified prisoner, held since last Thursday, whose name has not been divulged by authorities.

FURNITURE PLANT SHUT BY STRIKE

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 20 (AP). — The United Automobile Workers of America called a strike in the plant of the Imperial Furniture Company today, claiming they swelled the ranks of furniture workers now on strike to 650.

Union leaders claimed 400 men struck at the Imperial factory. They said 250 were on strike at the furniture shops of America.

F. Stuart Foote, president of the Imperial Furniture Company, said the strike was only "about 50 per cent. effective."

He added he ordered a holiday for the rest of his workers shortly after the strike started because strikers were pushing non-strikers out of the plant.

The demands of the union in this latest strike are substantially the same as those previously made at the furniture shops of America, where wage adjustments, a closed shop and the check-off system are sought.

Several hundred pickets surrounded the furniture shops of America plants this morning, but some employees entered.

Two Men In Second Car Are Also Taken To The Hospital

Mrs. Dorothy Coons, 163 Aylmer Street, is in St. Joseph's Hospital with a fractured skull and extensive head lacerations suffered on Saturday night when two cars collided almost head-on at the intersection of Aylmer and Hunter Streets. Bruce Spence, 233 Lake Street, alleged driver of the other car, and Joseph Jones, a passenger, were also admitted to the hospital. Spence sustained a broken jaw, teeth knocked out, and cuts, while Jones suffered facial lacerations.

The White car was travelling south on Aylmer Street, and was about to make an east turn at the intersection when the collision occurred. His car was extensively damaged, the right front wheel being folded-in under the engine. Richard Scrace, a passenger in the Spence car, escaped without injury.

Spanish Captain Nabbed At Bordeaux After Trying To Steal Sub

Bordeaux, France, Sept. 20

POLICE held the captain of the Spanish government submarine C-4 and three of his crew in custody today on charges of attempting to steal another under sea craft from the Brest drydock.

The submarine captain, Jose de la Haras, declined to tell police of his plans had he been successful in obtaining the other submarine, the Spanish government's C-2.

The captain of the second craft said, however, that De la Haras told him: "I have gone over to the Nationalist (insurgent) side. Give me your submarine and I'll give you 2,000,000 pesetas."

De la Haras and the three others were seized as they fled from the C-2, their attempt to obtain the submarine frustrated by a government seaman who shot one of the raiding party.

The C-2 had undergone drydock repairs. The other craft was still in need of renovation that would take some time before it could be released as seaworthy, and officials believed the C-4's captain was anxious to get the other submarine to join the insurgents.

Forest Fire Smoke Grounds Planes

Prince Albert, Sask., Sept. 20.

DENSE pall of smoke from forest fires in Northern Saskatchewan kept airplanes grounded yesterday and hampered fire-fighting efforts.

Visibility was greatly reduced as the fires blazed along a 300-mile front from Lake Ile a la Crosse to the Manitoba border. More than 1,200 men are battling the fires.

Lookout towers are useless and aerial patrols impossible due to the heavy smoke. Government forestry officials said conditions are the most hazardous ever recorded. Rains alone can end the menace to valuable timber stands, they said.

Mrs. Matthew Fleming Of Hall's Bridge Born Near Jackson Park

Isabella Tully, widow of Matthew Fleming, who lives at R.R. 1, Hall's Bridge, will be one of the oldest voters to go to the polls on election day.

In a recent interview with The Examiner, Mrs. Fleming asserted she would record her vote on October 6 next, "If they will come for me with a car."

Despite her great age, Mrs. Fleming enjoys remarkable health and has possession of all her faculties.

She lives with her only surviving son, William Fleming, and still does the family baking and other household duties. On a recent day when a reporter called on her Mrs. Fleming was busying herself around the house cleaning out the pantry. She rises at dawn each day. "Not because I am over strong, but because I do not sleep very well," she explained.

Carvings On Tree In Timmins Bush Stir Hope Lost Youth Alive

Timmins, Sept. 20.—(CP)

DISCOVERY of the name "Bill Barilko" and an arrow freshly carved on a tree trunk encouraged searchers today as they pressed a hunt through Godfrey township bush for 20-year-old Timmins youth, lost since last Wednesday.

Freshly-broken tree branches and boot markings on soggy muskeg also were taken as indications Barilko was alive. Veteran bushmen engaged in the hunt for the young hunter widened their search on a trial point to by the arrow.

"We convinced Barilko is still alive," said Constable H. Strickland of Ontario Provincial Police, in charge of the search. Police theorized Barilko had located one of the many camps in the bush and was staying there until he was able to find the way back to Timmins.

"There's enough food in some of those places to last him a month," a policeman said today.

LONDON DOCTOR STOKER JAILED MURDER COUNT

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 20.—(CP). Charged with the murder of attractive 37-year-old Mary Wilkinson, Public school teacher, Dr. Charles A. Cline and Lachlin J. Robertson were scheduled to appear before City Magistrate Donald Menzies for a formal remand.

Arrest of the 76-year-old physician and Robertson, a 50-year-old stoker at a gun-manufacturing plant, on Saturday was announced by Crown Attorney Norman Newton last night. He said because of "the unusual circumstances" of Miss Wilkinson's death—attributed to an illegal operation—a murder charge had been laid against both men.

The body of the Aberdeen school teacher was found in the north branch of the Thames river in London township east of the city last Tuesday. There was no water in her lungs, an autopsy showed, and she is believed to have been dead three days before reaching the river.

Dr. Cline and Robertson were held without bail and Mr. Newton said in disclosing the arrests that while they are held on remand inquiry will continue. Two other arrests have also been made, that of an unnamed man and of Robertson's wife, Emily, 36. The man was arrested Thursday on a charge, the nature of which was not disclosed.

Woman Held As Witness

Mrs. Robertson was arrested at her home (1223 Florence street) yesterday on a nominal charge and is being held as a material witness, said Dr. Cline and Robertson were arrested Saturday, the former at his office in downtown London.

Mr. Newton said investigation was being pressed into what was believed to be an illegal operation ring. He claimed an underground surgical room was uncovered by police and a fee of $125 was charged.

Miss Wilkinson left her furnished Dundas street apartment Sept. 7 and is said to have drawn money from a bank. When her body was found last week routine inquiry was made and it was released for burial. While announcing no inquest would be held, authorities continued an undercover probe, had an autopsy performed and Saturday appealed publicly for information concerning the case.

Inquest has been ordered for Tuesday night under Chief Coroner Dr. A. R. Routledge. The post mortem examination indicated the operation on the young teacher was done in an allegedly clumsy manner and death followed almost immediately.

Cigar Store "Chief" Still Attraction

St. Thomas, Sept. 20.

A LARGE metal Indian chief, in colorful regalia, which has stood in front of Honsinger's tobacco store in this city for at least half a century, proved an attraction for many American Legionnaires from Michigan and Illinois, who stopped off here Saturday en route to their national convention in New York City. It was the first cigar store Indian many of them had seen. Groups of Legionnaires posed around the majestic red man to have their photographs taken. Hundreds of Legionnaires passed through here yesterday and today, including a small detachment of Michigan State Police.

HEPBURN ENDING OLD THREE-WAY SYSTEM ON BONDS

ORANGEVILLE, Ont., Sept. 20—(CP)—After a week's speech-making in Central Ontario, Premier Mitchell Hepburn to-day began a tour of the eastern counties. He spoke here Saturday night and tonight speaks in Cobourg.

Meetings in Madoc, Kingston, Brockville, Cornwall, Ottawa, Eganville and Pembroke will keep him busy for the week. Before coming to Orangeville the Premier addressed a Long Branch meeting, near Toronto.

Coupon-clippers no longer dictated the financial policy of Ontario as they did durin gthe former Conservative regime under George S. Henry, said the Premier. One of the worst features of the old government's financing was the issuance of "three-way" bonds payable in sterling, American or Canadian currency at the option of the holder.

"Over $300,000,000 of Ontario's bonds are of this kind," he continued. "To date they have cost the people about $8,000,000 in exchange. No one can foretell what the cost will be in the future, especially if war breaks out and exchange rates fluctuate widely. We are are not issuing any more of these bonds. Our bonds are payable in Canadian currency only."

Finding Things Out.

The Premier said as his government continued investigation in estates for succession duties due the government, new information on how succession duty settlements were made under the former government was obtained. He declared Victor Sinclair, a Civil servant on a $14,000 salary, acted as solicitor for the Byrnes estate in Hamilton in a settlement which, Mr. Hepburn charged, lost the treasury $1,550,000.

"We found out some time ago Mr. Sinclair received a fee of $26,000

WARSAW FAIR HAS IMPROVED

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARSAW, Sept. 20. — Looking back over the twenty years since the first school fair was held in Warsaw one sees a vast change for the better.

Now individual exhibits are practically even and perfectly clean, also of a better quality, and are arranged to look well. A poor exhibit, is not to be seen. The flowers, cooking and ergs appeared especially so.

There was a time when there was a suspicion the exhibit was not wholly the pupils' work. Now, it is pretty certain, it is. Parents advise, but that is all. The carpentry was smoother. The scrap books, Coronation and Agriculture, were a delight to look at.

Because of the season vegetables grew according to the condition of the garden. Few beets especially were of the right type. The father of the girl who got first remarked that their garden had no fertilizer for two years, hence the beets had remained underground and were smooth.

A feature of the fair was darning woollen socks by girls, and splicing rope by boys.

On account of dampness the parade and outdoor drills were omitted, but singing and other tests were carried on inside.

Some of the public speaking by the younger children in the afternoon was held on the Presbyterian Church steps.

The children showed their calves, colts and lambs on the church grounds.

Farm Bonuses Are Still Being Paid

BELLFOUNTAIN, Sept. 20. — Strenuous denials were made here Friday night by Hon. Duncan Marshall, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, to Conservative charges that he had abolished the cattle-breeding bonus to farmers.

"I don't think any one will be fooled by that charge," he declared in a packed hall.

He thought the attack on him had originated in contrasts between Liberal and Conservative spending methods. The Conservatives, he said, had been characterized by foolish spending. Since his time as Minister the department's expenditures had been cut tremendously, but he denied that necessary services had disappeared.

"I'm told that $500,000 less in bonuses are being given annually than when Colonel Kennedy was Minister of Agriculture," he said. "I wonder how many of you collected. Not very many."

Among added services, Mr. Marshall claimed several agricultural schools, including Kemptville, had been re-established and were giving better service.

Chinese Bomb Damages Liner

During the early days of the present Sino-Japanese crisis when actual warfare had just broken out, all the world was shocked to hear of the bombing of the United States liner President Hoover a few miles out of Shanghai. Later investigation placed the blame on Chinese aviators who apparently mistook the liner for a Japanese troopship. In these, the first photographs to arrive in Canada of the bombed ship, are shown in the upper photograph, the companionway where an aerial bomb penetrated through the boat deck and one of the injured crew. The occupant of the room where the bomb landed had left his room a few minutes before the attack. John Kulick, one of the injured sailors, is shown in the LOWER LEFT as he recuperated in the ship's hospital.

JAPANESE RENEW AERIAL ATTACKS

SHANGHAI, Sept. 20 (AP). —Japanese artillery bombarded the Markham road section today, bringing fresh perils to the International Settlement as Japanese navy planes, taking advantage of clearing weather, resumed bombardment of Chinese positions on a wide front.

The aerial attack was launched against Liuhong, Lotien, Kiankwan, Chapei, and Pootung, Japanese naval officials declared, aiming at Chinese troop concentrations in those sections.

A Japanese army officer asserted Japan's land forces had repulsed Chinese counterattacks on a 26-mile front extending from the north at Liuho to Shanghai's outskirts.

The Japanese were said to have advanced within a mile of Liuhong, the powerful wireless transmitting base to the north where Chinese forces were in strong positions.

LAKE FREIGHTER IS ABANDONED ITS CREW SAVED

GODERICH, Ont. Sept. 20.—(CP). —Her back broken and settling deeper into Lake Huron off this port with every smashing wave against her wooden sides, the package freighter Gilly lay abandoned to-day, her crew saved by the steamship of two lake captains.

Loss of the ship, her engine and cargo was placed at $23,000. Those rescued were: Capt. Harold Ebel; Mate Jerry Masales, Parry Sound; two wheelsmen, Oscar Haywood, Prince Edward Island, (town unavailable) and Edward Cambridge, London, Ont.; Engineer Charles Dawes, Toronto, and the cook, Jack Charrington, Sarnia.

The Gilly cleared Southampton, Ont., Friday with 3,500 eight-foot cedar posts loaded at Manitoulin Island and ran into a severe storm. She was battered about for 16 hours before being taken in town by the freighter Superior, commanded by Capt. Dalton Hudson, early Saturday.

The Superior towed the Gilly almost within the confines of Goderich harbor when the backwash from a breaker snapped the steel towline and carried the Gilly out to sea.

The raging south-west winds quickly blew the Gilly into water unnavigable by the Superior. Seeing the plight of the stricken vessel, Capt. Bert MacDonald put out in his 30-foot gasoline launch and succeeded in taking the crew to shore.

Great Seamanship.

Capt. Ebel praised the seamanship of his colleagues whom he credited with saving his and his shipmates' lives. "That was one swell job of wheeling," Capt. Ebel said of the three attempts to throw the towline from the Superior to the Gilly in the storm before the line was finally made fast. "It was a great job. I never saw anything like it."

Cause of the Gilly's mishap was believed to be a broken oil line in her engine. The ship started to leak and when the anchors were torn away by the rough sea the ship was uncontrollable.

The Gilly is the former Bet-T, a Nova Scotia schooner. She was taken to Quebec last spring and equipped with an oil-burning engine. Her first season on the lakes, she was engaged in picking up empty oil drums at various ports and returning them to Sarnia.

Three Auxiliaries Meet At Springville

(Examiner Correspondence.)

SPRINGVILLE, Sept. 20. — A pleasant afternoon was enjoyed on Wednesday in Springville United Church when forty or more ladies interested in the common cause of the Women's Missionary Society met together. Fairmount and Cavan auxiliaries, guests of the day, provided the program.

Mrs. Hanbidge, president of the Fairmount Auxiliary was then asked to take the chair. Sketches by Dr. Judd from the study book, "Men and Women for Far Horizons" were given by Mrs. Russel Earl. Mrs. F. MacIndoo lent pleasing variety to the program with a solo.

Mrs. S. Staples (Cavan) read and enlarged upon several extracts written by Henry Drummond.

In closing Mrs. R. C. Hanbidge brought a mesage for the W.M.S. in which she stressed the need of prayer and service.

Tea was served by the Springville Auxiliary in the basement of the church. Tables were set in banquet style with yellow green floral decorations, and serviettes and place cards to match. Thus in the common bond of friendship a social hour was enjoyed.

ROWE PROPOSES TO GIVE FARMERS LICENSE REBATE

PENETANGUISHENE, Ont., Sept. 20.—(CP)—Conservative Leader Earl Rowe carried his campaign for support in the October 6 Ontario election to Western Ontario today after telling electors in his home riding of Dufferin-Simcoe of his party's motor license policy and criticizing the government for its action in the school tax question and Hydro matters.

Arriving in Dufferin - Simcoe where he opposes Education Minister L. J. Simpson, Mr. Rowe wound up a 3,000-mile Northern Ontario tour Saturday night with the promise his party would inaugurate a system of motor license rebates "to give a square deal to the man on the back concessions" who cannot drive his car the year 'round.

Reductions announced by the present government were described as "an election bribe" and he charged the government, while giving those reductions, "allowed the old school book racket to come back to the province."

Mr. Rowe spent the week-end at his Newton Robinson farm and today speaks at Chesley in the afternoon and Goderich at night.

Recalling opposition references to "the old gang"—the former Conservative administration — Mr. Rowe gave an indication of the make-up of his cabinet in event of victory. When Mr. Hepburn saw his cabinet, he promised, "he'll not see any of the Roebuck and Timbucks he put in" but would see "young men of more vision."

"That is straight election bribery, paid for by your own money and advertised in his campaign organ the Toronto Globe and Mail, Mr. Rowe declared as he held up during an address at nearby Elmvale the advertisement of the license decrease. "He now advertises when he goes out of power what he promised when he went into power."

Diet Important For Skin Beauty

By GLADYS GLAD

IT IS SAID that that famous Grecian philosopher, Socrates, and his followers, never washed themselves because they felt that cleanliness led to vanity. Another reason was because they felt that the process took too much of their time. As a consequence, I don't imagine that they were any too pleasing to look upon.

The oily type of skin is the sort that needs soap and water cleansings most frequently, and most oily skin is a natural characteristic of the brunette type, and cannot be remedied, and so they do nothing about it. In reality, the coloring of the skin has nothing to do with the oiliness of the skin.

It's true that southern, dark-skinned races have more of a tendency to skin oiliness than northern, light-complexioned ones, but that is due mainly to their dietary habits and living conditions, and not to the darkness of their coloring.

The truth of the matter is that although the external treatment of an oily skin is important, this condition also requires internal treatment for its correction. A diet rich in fats, sugars and starches puts burdens on the digestive system that have a detrimental effect on the skin.

Excess fats in the diet increase the secretions of the oil glands. The skin becomes unattractively greasy and shiny in aspect, and the pores grow large and coarse in their hopeless efforts to expel the fatty excess.

Different Types.

Of course, there are different types of oily skin, but it is my opinion that all types would show an improvement if the usual external cleansing and toning treatments were accompanied by a correction of the diet. The fundamental cause of an oily skin is quite often systematic, a result of ill-balanced diet, imperfect digestion or incomplete elimination.

Heavy foods, fats, greasy pastries, sweets, rich gravies and sauces, and fried foods are the type that contribute most to excessive oiliness of the skin. And the girl who is afflicted with an oily skin should restrain her taste for these foods. In place of them she should eat fresh fruits, fresh vegetables, leafy salads and bulky foods. She should eat generously of bran, agar, spinach, carrots, onions, figs, dates and oranges, in order to sweep her intestines clean of poisonous wastes. She should substitute fruit dishes and drinks for sodas, sundaes and sweets, if she must eat between meals.

And finally, she should be sure to consume at least eight to ten glasses of water each day. This procedure will help to correct the excessive oiliness of her skin and will restore her complexion to its formerly fresh, clean condition.

COMFORT FOR VISITORS

LONDON—(CP)—A sleeping department for visitors to patients at St. Bartholomew's Hospital has been opened with dormitories for men and women and a canteen with all-night service.

Drapes Stylish

Drapery, often intricately handled, was one of the highlights of the late Paris shewings.

It is used in this black crepe dress, a modle, draped panel being placed down the front.

The draped black silk jersey turban worn with the dress is of Indian inspiration, and the black kid-skin step-in shoes are trimmed with braid scalloping.

This season is one of the best for jewelry. "Bigger and better" jewelry seems to be the slogan. Gold colored jewelry is just the thing that an all-black dress calls for, and it is besides one of the most popular trends in jewelry.

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

MAN can not degrade woman without himself falling into degradation;
He cannot elevate her without at the same time elevating himself.
—Alexander Walker.

"However dull a woman may be, she will understand all there is in love; however intelligent a man may be, he will never know but half of it."—Madame Fee.

Dear Friends:

Recently I wrote about how much it would benefit everyone if more intelligent women were allowed in politics and when I say "allowed" I mean just that, for men seem determined to keep women out.

And in keeping her out, he is the loser, just as he is the loser when he keeps her out of his life as many bachelors could tell you. You do not need to read statistics to know that women do most of the buying in the world, and handle most of the money.

It isn't because she always wants to do it either, but she is truly a better buyer than men, gets more for her money, better goods, and (listen to the men laugh) is not so extravagant. So there.

Isn't it natural then, if she can do that in family life she would automatically do it in public life? I think so. After all, the world is not meant for men alone. Women often say in a puzzled or annoyed manner, "it's a man's world." Men say it when they cannot understand the women's way, assuming it is a woman's world.

It has also been said that a man will pay two dollars for a thing he wants, even if it is only worth one dollar. And many times the women get blamed for buying bargains they can never use. But let's forget all about that.

But let each decry the other as much as they like, yet man need women and women need men, so when they can get a home together, live together for years, bring up children together, bring them into the world together, why cannot they work together for the benefit of all.

Men would not lower themselves in the letting of women govern any more than they lower themselves in having them work in factories and offices. Women are NEEDED in politics, just as much if not more than they are needed for all the other things men want them to do.

Politics would be cleaner, government would be run more economically, laws would benefit each side, for criticize them all you like, women are essentially just. Men resent it because they do not understand a woman's point of view, but women are equally puzzled by the men's angle to it.

A house divided against itself must surely fall, and men and women trying to live divided against one another, separated in everything but home life, no wonder the world is in such a mess.

Women would never have wars, so look at the saving there alone. If peace were made as attractive with bands and uniforms as war is, men would like peace. But they do not like a stagnating peace, they want to be doing something.

Jesus did not leave women out. There was the Mary whom He loved, Mary His Mother, Mary the sister of his friend Lazarus, Mary Magdalene, all women, and never did I read that He relegated them to the background, or tell them "women's place was in the home."

Maybe women's place WAS there at one time, but the world has advanced since then, and it is still going places and doing things, and many of these things could be done by women for the benefit of all. But how can they get a chance to do any of them if men continually shoo them away?

Instead of a lot going to the few, much of it would go to the many, there would be less loose spending, better housekeeping in government, taxes WOULD come down, and all of us would benefit. I would like to hear what men think of this.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

A Better Plan Needed

It is unfortunate, so long as the enumeration method of compiling voters' lists in urban districts is followed, that the election act does not provide the necessary machinery for conveniently rectifying major mistakes made by those entrusted with the responsibility of doing the enumerating. The theory of the plan now followed is that the names of all those who are entitled to vote are listed by a house-to-house canvas and realizing that errors are bound to creep in the framers of the registration provided for revising officers to sit after the enumeration was completed and rectify any omissions that may have been made. It was felt that the enumerators might miss a name here and there and accordingly a revision of the preliminary lists was arranged for as a safeguard.

However it was probably never contemplated that all the voters on several blocks of one street would be left off, as has happened in connection with the local enumeration, nor that a canvasser would miss the 25 or 30 boarders domiciled at the Y. M. C. A. and fail to list a single one of them.

It would seem reasonable to suggest that when such mass omissions have occured there should be some more handy method of taking care of the situation than to compel a hundred or more voters, left off through no fault of their own to hustle to get before a revising officer in the short time allowed and be sworn in.

It will be recalled that at a previous election here when two enumerators got confused as to the boundaries of their respective districts and as a result none of the voters on one side of a south end street were listed, a special revising office was opened in a house in the middle of the omitted area and all the missing names were added, with a minimum of inconvenience to the voters. We are not sure that such a plan is provided for in the act but in was a common sense way out of the difficulty and if it has not the backing of the election legislation it might well be given that authority by an amendment at the next session. When large numbers of electors have been overlooked the situation seems to call for something more than a last-minute notice to dozens of voters that they have not been listed and that if they want a vote they had better hurry up and get sworn in.

Here's A New Bogey

We cannot help feeling that this business of trotting out bogeys is being sadly overdone at the present time and therefore we refuse to shudder at the story told by a Montreal delegate at the convention of the Trades and Labor Congress who told the workers assembled at Ottawa that there was a deep, dark plot afloat to start a Nazi regime in Canada. When we want to read about foreign agents planning that kind of thing we will be content to turn to the pages of one of Oppenheim's thrillers and let it go at that. The simple truth is that there is as much chance of successfully launching a Nazi plot in this country as there would be to get the Governor-General to accept the honorary presidency of the Ku Klux Klan and furthermore we refuse to believe there is anybody in Germany who is foolish enough to think that Canada is ripe for the adoption of Nazism.

We seem to be living in a day when these imaginary terrors spring up without the slightest provocation. There is so much loose talk about Communistic activities in the Dominion that we act as if we expected a bewhiskered Red with a bomb in each hand to spring out from behind every telephone pole. And here in Ontario we have heard so much about the C.I.O. menace and "organized butchery" and that kind of thing that the farmers will probably soon be afraid to travel down the concession lines after dark for fear John L. Lewis and his lieutenants suddenly emerge from a woodlot and carry them off.

The C.C.F. Manifesto

The manifesto issued by the Ontario C. C. F. as its platform for the provincial election travels for the most part along familiar ground and contains some phrases that have appeared in other campaigns conducted by the same party.

There are promises of a "soak-the-rich" policy through the medium of higher succession duties and increases in the income tax on wealthy individuals and in the corporations tax. The folk in the higher brackets are to be shaken down for enough to reduce taxes on the property of farmers and small home-owners, to cut the license fee on lower-priced cars, to slice the gasoline tax, to balance the budget and to reduce the provincial debt.

Labor is to have fair wages and working conditions through legalized and compulsory collective bargaining and severe penalties are promised against employers for intimidation, discrimination and the use of spies. The obvious corollary to this that if workers are to have legalized collective bargaining rights, their unions must also be legally responsible for unlawful actions and for financial losses caused through broken contracts has been conveniently ignored by the platform-builders. Then for fear the farmers and consumers may see in this labor clause of the program a chance for the cost of living to go up like a rocket, there is the old promise of socialized milling, packing, canning and processing industries.

There is not much new in all that but the final plank in the platform does hit an unusual note. "Questions of public importance "it says" will be referred to the people for decision by referendum." We would really like to hear a little more detail about that policy. The theory of our system of government is that we elect an administration to handle our business for us and if we are not satisfied with the way they do it we turn them out at the next election and put in another government. We don't expect them to come running to us to decide how every important matter is to be dealt with and it is not clear that very many people want a government of that kind in office. The expense and delay and inconvenience of consulting the public by referendum every time a decision is to be made does not appear to be good business nor does there seem to be the least need of such a policy.

Destroy Your Markers

The placing on sale of automobile licenses for next year at this comparatively early date brings with it one danger that has already been recognized by police departments in a number of Ontario cities. This year's markers have still more than three months to run. That means if they are replaced by 1938 plates now, and the old markers get into the hands of dishonest persons, using motor cars in their campaign against society, the police of the province are going to be badly handicaped in their eternal fight against the crook. There is nothing the motor criminal finds more useful than a set or two of automobile plates with which to mask his identity and fool the authorities and with the certainty that hundreds of these markers will be discarded earlier than usual this year the police suggestion that this condition offers dangerous possibilities is not a conjured up fear.

Motorists who buy their 1938 licenses now are asked therfore to see that their old plates are destroyed. In a number of places they have been requested by the police to co-operate with the law enforcement officers by bringing their markers to the police station so that the authorities can be assured that they have been disposed of satisfactorily. It may not be necessary to go to that extreme but at least the motorists of the province should assist the police by making sure that discarded markers are not left where there is danger of them getting into the hands of folk who will use them in unlawful enterprises.

Motoring Fatigue

An investigation of motoring fatigue, as it affects the driving capacity of automobile operators, has been completed by a noted Chicago physiologist. His report throws light on how far our terrible record of automobile accidents is due to fatigue of drivers.

People drive much longer distances than formerly. When motoring began, 100 miles a day was considered a fairly good stunt. Now many drivers will reel off that century of miles before the morning is half over. Can they drive as safely and surely at the end of a 400 or 500 mile run, as they did when the morning sun was cheering them on? Probably not.

A good many drivers feel drowsy during a long run, and must constantly struggle to keep themselves awake. A driver who must consistently be prying his eyelids open has no business on the road.

But it seems probable that the great majority of accidents are not due to fatigue of long distance runs. They are due primarily to impatience, a desire to get to some short distance in a hurry. A driver is often seen passing some car, and then stopping only a few rods ahead. He was so eager to get there, that he could not bear the thought of a half minute delay.

Excitable and poorly controlled people are the chief cause of accidents. They may run into trouble while doing errands around their home town, as well as on a long distance trip. People who are hurrying to their homes after a day's work are probably somewhat fatigued, so they do not give as good attention as they ordinarily would. But lack of self control, the spirit of hurry, and nervous impatience are principally responsible for the slaughter that makes our highways places of peril.

He'll Pick The Time

We do not imagine the fact that for the second time within ten days a large meeting of Alberta voters has passed a resolution calling for the resignation of Premier Aberhart and his ministry will have much effect upon the Alberta government. That over 2,000 electors gathered at this latest rally and unanimously joined in condemning the present administration may cause a certain amount of trepidation in the ranks of the Aberhart cohorts but we are certain that it will not have the effect of hastening the day when the government will venture to take the plunge into the election pool.

Mr. Aberhart and his followers were no doubt entirely sincere when they drew up their Social Credit program and sold it to the people of the province. They thought they had a panacea for all the financial woes of the country, a scheme that would work wonders and that they were crusaders on behalf of an oppressed world. The plan that was so enthusiastically placed before the electors, and almost as enthusiastically adopted, has failed to come through but in the meanwhile the Social Credit party has tasted the sweets of office and found them good and now, like every other political party when it gets into power it is not in the least bit anxious to surrender.

There will be an election in Alberta of course but it will come when Premier Aberhart fancies the chances are best for his government and not a day before, no matter how many mass meetings are held by the People's League and how many fiery resolutions are hurled in the direction of the Aberhart administration.

NOTE AND COMMENT

One of the puzzling features of the present election is where Mister Sage has got to.

If the frost is not yet on the pumpkin it is getting so close to it that it is becoming difficult to tell the difference.

Dr Royal S Copeland was defeated for the Democratic nomination for the New York Mayoralty However the senator should be able to take his medicine.

Guinea pigs that warble like canaries are reported by the University of Manitoba Agricultural Faculty. Just how they look sitting on a perch in a cage is not stated.

One of the best things we can think about the election is that it will be all over in less than three weeks. Perhaps that is why the Monday after has been set apart as Thanksgiving day.

The Globe and Mail has been saying some nice things about Chas. McCrea, Minister of Mines in the Henry government. He is not a candidate in the present election, incidentally.

The Trades and Labor Congress has voted to remain away from politics. However we assume labor men will go out and mark their ballots, as usual on October 6.

According to Canadian confectioners it is possible for women to reduce on candy. The accuracy of that statement should be easily tested for women are always trying the experiment.

Dr. Cotton-Thomas says that the C. C. F. party will appeal for a mandate to "make Ontario a province of fair taxes, fair prices and fair wages. And fair enough, too.

An outbreak of sleeping sickness among horses is reported from Nova Scotia. We have noticed something of the same sort about some of the nags whose speed we've fancied lately.

Candidates in other ridings may be dashing around the concession lines in high-powered automobiles but in Huron-Bruce the water wagon seems to be the favorite vehicle.

A 95-year-old Quebec woman advises girls to smoke pipes if they want to live long lives. Somehow we have an idea however she will have difficulty in selling that theory to the current crop of debs.

Seven organizations of unemployed in Calgary are being merged into one association. At least the fellow who brought about that move had no reason to complain of not having any work to do.

The Japanese Diet has unanimously approved all the undertakings in China. Japan, incidentally, is another of those countries where it is advisable in the interest of personal welfare, to approve of everything that is done.

If our opinion were asked about Judge Hugo Black and the Ku Klux Klan we could only say that a member of the nightshirt order is out of place on the bench of the United States Supreme Court.

THE PASSING PAGEANT

The Summer's past, but still the magic stays,
As Autumn, clear and golden, comes again.
A torch flung out to fire all the leaves,
Its blinding beauty shakes the heart with pain.

The feathered caravans are flying south,
Drinking the winds as they sail o'er the hills;
These golden days pass swiftly on the wing,
While Nature, with her glorious wonder, thrills.

What dreams march in the shadows as they pass
'Ere Winter comes to lock with ice the door!
Elusive joys which now are of the past,—
The tragic, sensuous sweetness is no more.

DURING the next few weeks motorists will start digging down for the $67,000,000 spent annually on automobile anti-freeze mixtures.

In mid-winter when they buy a second or third supply of the protective fluids most of them will grouse about evaporation as the reason for refills. One of the anti-freeze manufacturers has had two chemists investigating the matter for the last seven years and their report is that evaporation is responsible for only 10 per cent. of radiator losses. The bulk of anti-freeze dissipation, they found, was caused by expansion of the liquid on heating and the consequent loss through the radiator overflow tube and by the sloshing resulting from sudden stops.

New Sun Clusters

JAMES CUFFEY of Harvard Observatory has gone some 28,000 light years into space and has found what is regarded as an important new clue to the structure of the Milky Way. He came upon two separate clusters of suns, one weighing about 300 of our sun and other 75. But the startling thing about it is that the lesser cluster was found to be the other's moon, revolving around it in an orbit so great that it gives its parent a month equivalent to 60,000,000 of our years. This is regarded as the first positive evidence that at least some of the great groups of suns in our particular universe are twirling about each other in suborders. It becomes conceivable that our own sun, with its planet trailers, might be merely one of a cluster of suns playing moon to larger cluster-wheels within wheels within wheels.

According to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace a bumper crop of these proportions would increase the present cotton surplus to 8,500,000 bales or about 3,600,000 bales more than a normal carry-over.

Fishermen Demand More Maskinonge

Say Department Should Not Be Used For Purpose of Collecting Revenue

(By Gregory Clark in the Toronto Star).

PREMIER HEPBURN picked a bad town to talk about fish in when he picked Lindsay Ont.

In his speech in Lindsay the other night he announced that his government was going to turn Ontario into a sportsman's paradise by planting three times as many fish next season as were planted in any one year by the Henry regime.

But Lindsay is where Jim Gravestock lives, and Jim Gravestock who was away duck shooting the night the premier's speech was made, came rushing home to Lindsay to inquire in a stentorian voice:

"Yeah, what kind of fish? White fish and herring?"

And now, all over Ontario, wherever any of that hundred million dollars per annum tourist revenue is spent around woods and waters, sportsmen and hotel keepers and gas station attendants and merchants are all raising a hue and cry.

"What kind of fish?" is right.

And how big? And how many years from next season will they be big enough for the tourists to catch?

They'll Keep It Open

"This whole question," declared Jim Gravestock, in an interview today, "has at last been opened on the public platform by the premier himself. And will we ever keep it open?"

Mr. Gravestock is head of the Canadian Crayon Co., of Lindsay, and for nearly 15 years has been one of the leaders of the sportsmen of the Kawartha country in their fight to rescue the vanishing fishing of that lovely lake country which makes millions each year out of the tourist traffic.

"In Pigeon, Stoney and Chemong lakes," said Mr. Gravestock, "you cannot today catch one maskinonge for 10 you could catch only five years ago. The maskinonge is only found in a few waters in the whole world, and the Kawarthas are the greatest of them all. For half a century, people have been coming from all over America to fish for this freshwater tiger. It's the king. The top. And we have let it go to the vanishing point.

"How about the Muskoka lakes, the Lake of Bays," asked Mr. Gravestock, "as regards bass or lake trout or anything else? They are barren. How about the Georgian Bay, except in remote and inaccessible parts? How about the Rideaus, and great stretches of the Great Lakes that in their time, like the Bay of Quinte, or the North Shore, were alive with game fish?

Tourists Never Decreased

"Of course they're gone, because for exactly 50 years they have been invaded by an ever-increasing, never failing horde of people pursuing them. Even in the year of the depression, did the tourist traffic fail? Not as far as fishermen were concerned.

"Now, what do those tourists come for? Not all of them to fish and hunt, if you like. But one thing they do come for, and that is Ontario's wilderness aspect. They wouldn't come here at all if Ontario was just cities, towns and farms. They come for the wilds.

"How can we control the wilds? Only through the departments of game and fisheries and through the lands and forests.

"In 1928, I told Hon. Charles McCrea, then minister of fish and game, that in 10 years previous, that is, from 1918 to 1928, the government had taken from the department of game and fisheries $2,000,000 cash in annual surpluses to be kicked into the general revenue. Robbing these hard-pressed wilds, now one of our most precious assets, with a $100,000,000-a-year industry based on it, to balance a budget.

"In 1928," declared Mr. Gravestock, "the government began to see our point. The sportsmen of Ontario had awakened them, even if the business men and bankers of Ontario had not. They began to cease shaving off a surplus from game and fisheries. They began to quit looking on game and fisheries as a revenue-producing department. They began to spend their whole income.

Right Into Reverse

"Now for Mr. Hepburn. For five full years before he came into power, the department of game and fisheries was working on the new principle. They spent everything they made out of the sportsman on a program of modernizing their establishment. And the first thing Mr. Hepburn did to that department was take $280,000 off it the first year, another quarter million the next year, and this year I am fairly informed that he has milked it for $300,000.

"In short, he has set back the tourist and the sportsman and the business of this country worse than they have been set back in their whole history.

"Why, because by this time, if the former program—not a Henry government program but a sportsman's program—had been gone on with, we would today have had bass hatcheries and bass-rearing ponds such as they have in Ohio, in which they produce hundreds of thousands of bass as long as your hand to plant. And we would have had maskinonge hatcheries such as they have at Chautauqua, N.Y., where they rear muskies big enough to survive before they release them.

"Do you know what they do down here on the Kawartha lakes right now?" demanded Mr. Gravestock. "They have what they call a hatchery here. It is nothing but a small shanty where they capture in nets a few maskinonge out of our good Kawartha lakes in the spawning season and take their spawn. This spawn is taken away to Belleville, where in a worn-out speckled trout hatchery they hatch these maskinonge eggs into tiny little wrigglers about half an inch long.

They Race With Death

"And," exclaimed Mr. Gravestock, "before these wrigglers are four days old, for long they will die, they are quickly transported all over creation to be planted in lakes. Not back into the Kawarthas, where today you can't get one musky to the 10 you got a few years back, but into any of the lakes that somebody thinks would look well in muskies. We get some of them."

Sportsmen are, as you can see from Jim Gravestock, hot-speaking men and lively. But they have a grievance.

What about the Muskoka lakes? What about the lake of Bays? What can the tourist catch in these wide and pleasant waters?

Toronto sportsmen agree with Mr. Gravestock that the deadliest sin of the past 15 years, rapid decline of fishing in Ontario is unquestionably the violent return, by Mr. Hepburn, to the old scheme of things, when the game and fisheries department was a cow to be milked annually for a quarter to a third of a million dollars.

"A department that is vitally concerned with an annual business of $100,000,000," said one of the leaders of Toronto sportsmen, "can hardly be looked to for revenue.

When Summer Takes Her Leave

Already Canada Prepares For the Glory That is October and Then For Dullness

(From the Ottawa Journal.

SUMMER has announced her all too-near-at-hand departure. Done it in the customary way by the sending out messages. Used little, half curled, crisp brown leaves to say "adieu." Sent them rolling and scudding along highways and lonely back roads. Bid them carry news that only a few will welcome. The breeze that chases them down ditches and whirls them over hedges already lacks a penetrating warmth— and breathes of October. Gives promise of the tang that comes with ripened nuts, and touches of frost—like cobwebs—spread in beauty here and there.

The panorama is changing. Fields are turning tawny. Still lovely gardens show sad signs of decay. Oaks stand unchanged, arched elms are losing their Sealbery green. Maples—those color-loving gypsies of the tree world—are slowly donning their Autumn raiment. Like a palette in a master hand shades mix, mingle, paint great splashes where they are brushed, or bring out shadows against the glow that marks the obsequies of Summer.

September will still have days to offer when a sky borrowed back from June—all blue and cloud flecked—will canopy the world. Hours there will be hot as the stillness of a mid-Summer noon. But evenings will be cool, and dawn shiver as daylight banishes night. Earlier than usual—or so it seems—Summer has stood aside that her successor might present a sample of it wares. Already the land prepares for the glory that is October, and the dullness that surely follows after.

Nature must abide by the law of seasons. And now it is time to change her dress and meet the hour of her coronation in robes of russet, gold and crimson. Like the years that in countless line have gone before, white clad this aging 1937 will face extinction. Autumn is its apotheosis. Some can regret Summer when October glows—and Winter is still too far away to put its chill fingers on the pulse of life.

THE HIGHLANDS.

(Edinburgh Scotsman)

A WELL-KNOWN business man in London, who is a Highlander by birth, is leaving for an appointment in South Africa, but before doing so he is to make a brief visit to the North of Scotland to take a lease of a croft, so that he and his family may always have a Highland cottage and a bit of land to which to return during vacations and when he retires.

This typifies an increasing custom among Highlanders in London and abroad generally. There are hundreds of well-to-do business and professional men among Scots in London whose one ambition is to have a house in the countryside where they were brought up or where their forbears came from.

To the Editor

SOME ELECTION THOUGHTS

Editor Examiner:

Sir: Soon the voice of the People will be given on what should be a very vital question to the inhabitants of that which is termed the "Banner Province" of our "Dominion of Canada," and as a voter of many years I thought it appropriate to offer a few suggestions.

In Biblical History when our Saviour was on trial as well as the two thieves, and the multitude were asked which of the three they would have released unto them they chose Barabbas, and in summary of our Governments from then on, has it not been one of the two thieves Liberal or Conservative who has been leading us ever since. The people made the choice favouring the devil instead of our Saviour, the Clergy find it more congenial to not take active sides on political issues, although at present our respective leader if not a Rev. is linked up on the provincial platform as a strong Rowe supporter which means, that he likes the Liquor and Beer from manufacturers under conservative supervision better than under one present Liberal regime.

What a pity all of us could not sample them, in the short time allotted before October 6th. It may be Mr. Massey has hit some washing, which would be poor stuff and worthy of making a howl about it. The Policy of the two parties is the same on the liquor issue.

Again if I were Mr. Massey I would sever my connections with a party whose leader in just four years had two cars kept by the people of Ontario, one for affairs of the State and the other to go to church, no not to church, or his garage bill which Mr. Hepburn made him pay of two or three thousand dollars couldn't have been so high.

Again Mr. Massey on the School Tax question which though dropped has been revived by his party sides, with a party whose practice has been to pass in the form of a school grant, in many instances 45 to 50% to separate schools under the table, while Public Schools were getting 25% grants.

When Mr. Hepburn approved a more sane system of sharing corporation School Tax money on the basis of Protestant and Catholic corporation investments, the other thief sets up a howl, and when a new party springs into being, through the disgusting unfair practices of both the old parties. The two old thieves combine their armies to defeat it.

Unfair practises in patronage and services, Civil Service have been indulged in by both old parties, in conclusion let me say that we should choose men and leaders, who are Christian and who stand for Christian dealing, with their fellow men When this time comes we will not need a police force, to keep our factories open, religious strife will cease, as the people will follow a Christian Leadership. Politicians should remember that our Saviour knows everything even ones inmost thoughts, including Politics and we should not be ashamed to ask his guidance. He will not tell you to keep increasing your own salary, but will tell you it is easier for a camel to go thro' the eye of a needle, than for a rich man to enter into the "Kingdom of Heaven," which we all hope will be our future home.

A VOTER.

POLLYANNA

(Jefferson City (Mo.) Capital News)

YES, IT'S hot, and the world is in a mess, and everything is topsy-turvey and they're fighting in Europe and Asia, but, bless your heart, the watermelon crop is fine and roasting ears are plentiful, so why worry? It is a pretty good old world nevertheless, considering the things that are not just as you would have them, and come to think of it, there are a lot of fine folk here below and there's a good time coming in the sweet by and by, so perk up and be happy while you may. Things are never so bad but that they could be worse, and there is always a lot of good in the folk you know, if you'll only take the trouble to find it.

Unsettled North American stock markets and bearish crop news from the Argentine caused wheat futures on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today to move nervously within a narrow range around the previous close. Final prices were 1½ to ⅝ cents higher, October $1.26⅝, November $1.26⅛a, December, $1.23½ to ⅝ and May $1.24⅝.

Early reports of rains in Argentine, with general precipitation in all provinces except Pampas, caused an easier tendency in the first hour.

Later strength at Chicago, where Eastern interests were reported selling stock and buying wheat, brought out short covering and minor gains were posted. Some overseas support was encountered but actual exports of Canadian wheat worked during the session were small.

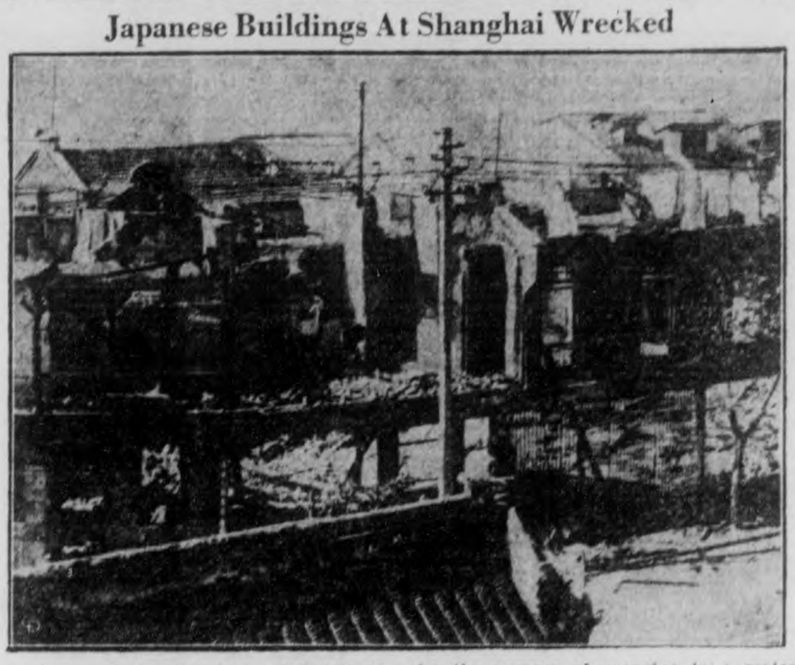
Japanese Buildings At Shanghai Wrecked



A gigantic battle within a few days is thought imminent in China following the strategic retreat of Chinese forces from Shanghai to the Yangtze delta under the direction of German experts. The Chinese, following the withdrawal, began forming a new line between Kiating and Nanziang for the purpose of engaging in a major fight with the Japanese. Chinese forces, however, wreaked havoc on Japanese property in Shanghai long before the withdrawal as shown (ABOVE). The buildings, almost levelled, were laid waste, when Chinese unleashed an unrelentless bombardment on them.

fear was felt for the safety of the search party, the veteran Manitobaborn explorer took steps to launch a hunt for Sir Hubert and the others if such a course became necessary.

He requested Superintendent S. T. Wood of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police at Ottawa to ask the "Mountie" inspector at Aklavik "his opinion of what has happened, what is being done, what help might be sent from outside if needed."

Stefansson communicated with the Mackenzie Air Service headquarters at Edmonton and learned it had an airplane, manned by intrepid Bob Randall, at Yellowknife, available to search if necessary. Yellowknife, on the northern shore of Great Slave Lake, in the North-West Territories, is approximately 800 miles from Aklavik.

In addition the Russian flier, Graziansky, has an amphibian plane at Point Barrow, 1,000 miles from Aklavik.

With the end of the unsuccessful fifth flight in the prolonged search for the missing Russians, Sir Hubert was believed to have ended at least the present stage of the hunt.

In the opinion of Stefansson, Sir Hubert intends to bring his large flying boat to New York and exchange it for an airplane equipped with skis to continue the search, probably until next summer, if necessary.

The veteran explorer further understands Soviet bases at Point Barrow and Rudolph Island during the winter will launch searches for Sigismund Levanevsky and his five companions, last heard from on August 13 in their attempted flight from Russia to the United States. Unless killed in a forced landing, he believes the lost men could live for another six months.

Trucking services which compete with government railways in France have been ordered to raise their rates.

Seek No More Bodies On Harbor Floor

QUEBEC, Sept. 20.—(CP). — City police called off plans to search Quebec's muddy harbor for other possible victims Saturday, as a coroner's jury opened an inquiry into the deaths of a man and woman who died early Thursday when an automobile shot from a highway into the harbor. Authorities said they had reached a belief only two persons were in the car.

A diver descended into 35 feet of Mr. and Mrs. Manson Gosnell, of Ovila Turcotte, 28-year-old father of five children, and Margaret Fortier, 22, acquaintances of only a few weeks.

of her birth she claims was January 14, 1844.

"Yes," the old lady asserted proudly, "I'll be ninety-four all out if I am spared until next January."

She was married to Matthew Fleming who died in 1900. Of their marriage there were four sons and a daughter, but her eldest son William is the only survivor.

Mrs. Fleming has lived in Smith Township for over thirty years, but not always in the house where she is living at present. While she has outlived four of her own children, there is a history of longevity in the family. She had a grandfather who lived to the age of ninety years and an uncle—a Presbyterian minister who died in Philadelphia at the age of ninety-nine years.

Besides her son her other immediate relative is a sister, Mary Fleming, who is at present visiting with the old lady.

The nonagenarian's recollections take her back to the days of the pre-buggy era in Peterborough, when the parson used to ride horseback over the scattered settlement. She can also recall erection of the first two brick buildings in Peterborough which she says were the China Hall and Casey's Hotel.

WATER FOR EIGHT HOURS

MOOSE JAW, Sask., Sept. 20. — (CP).—Because industrial demand slumped almost to zero as plants shut down for the week-end, sufficient water was available to service Moose Jaw homes for about eight hours yesterday it was announced by Mayor Harris Johnstone, as citizens prepared to enter the second week of water shortage.

Dwindling supplies heightened the seriousness of the situation. Drought is largely responsible for the water famine and only copious rains or discovery of a new water source can ease the situation.

The Separator Men sewed it up in the sixth on three hits, and they won in the final heat when McCarthy walked two and Frick doubled, to score later on an out.

old school book racket to come back to the province and charge $8 to $10 more for books.

His government would change the license policy. The man on the back concessions, unable to get 12-month service out of his car due to weather and road conditions, could send his license plate back and "receive a reduction in accordance with the time you laid your car up."

Mr. Rowe demanded his opponent, Dr. Simpson, state why "the old school book racket that Sir James Whitney kicked out has come back." He also asked the minister, whom he accused of being "afraid" to discuss the school tax question in his own riding, "to tell the story and tell it in full."

"I'll ask the Premier," he said, "to say if it was not a diabolical Liberal plot and trick and racket and if he didn't drag the bill into politics in a way that it would be repealed."

Mr. Hepburn had refused to give a signed statement by three competent engineers that the province did not face a Hydro shortage and the reason for his not doing so was because he could not get "one single engineer, let alone three, to put out his statement."

"If we had the standard of living we should have in the province," he said, "there would be a Hydro shortage now."

Hospitals started by Premier Hepburn would be completed by his government, Mr. Rowe said. This applied to institutions at Penetanguishene.

THE OTHER WOMAN LIVES JUST AROUND THE CORNER

It may seem unreasonable, but most men cannot understand why a woman who is usually happy and loving should have recurring periods when her whole character seems changed. He cannot appreciate the distress, the discomfort that all women must endure. He does not know what it is to do housework with an aching back and failing energy. All he does know is that other women seem more cheerful by comparison.

Are you such a three-quarter wife?

Don't let the ordeals that all women face cause you avoidable discomfort or endanger your home. Do as so many wise women have —try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and be "Smiling Through."

MAJOR WORLD LEADERS PLEDGE

gation to the League of Nations.

Canada Interested.

Mackenzie King voiced the interest of Canada in the expansion of international trade as a contributory measure to prosperity. He said Canada now employed no quotas, exchange restrictions or embargoes except on the arms traffic and for controlling disease.

Hull said the forces demanding peace had grown tremendously in recent decades but they faced a testing time. Declaring it was a temptation for some countries, included the United States, to attempt a policy of complete isolation, Hull said this would be as ineffective in its ultimate results as the opposite extreme of constant intervention in the affairs of other nations.

International peace, he said, could not be maintained by the might of any one nation or small group of nations. No such group could at present conquer the world, he said, and any such attempt would only fill the world with ruined, hostile and bitter peoples.

He called for the rebuilding of international commerce through trade agreements as an aid to the maintenance of peace and repeated the Roosevelt administration's pledge to continue the program of reciprocal trade agreements.

Premier Chautemps declared from his French country home that economic considerations were not the only causes of war but that questions of religion, of prestige and other factors also entered into the problem. The problem was complicated "nowadays by dictatorial regimes that aggravate differences in national characteristics and all too frequently set countries against one another," he said.

France Ready To Act

Only a universal combination of the nations could absolutely assure peace, Chautemps added, but he said greater freedom of trade would be helpful toward its maintenance and France would be glad to enter into foreign trade agreements with any peace-loving nations.

Mackenzie King called attention to the relations among members of the British Commonwealth of Nations in which "force and compulsion play no part." The same "fortunate relation" existed between the two countries which make up the greater part of North America.

"It will be recognized that in these instances, good relations are greatly facilitated by the existence of common standards of international policy and social ideals," he said. "It is a more difficult task to insure peace where this common basis has not been established. That is all the more reason for beginning with such interests as are common to all countries. None can be more so than the interest all nations share in economic prosperity and in an expansion of international trade as contributing to that end."

"In this stormy and transitional period of human affairs, the Canadian Prime Minister said: "Fear has largely supplanted faith in the conduct of nations and their ultimate civilization is at stake.

"It is quite plain, therefore, that governments and individuals alike must to the limits of the instruments at their command pursue the arts of co-operation and conciliation in every possible field of affairs, whether economic or political, and at every opportunity.

"However baffling the outlook at any moment may seem, governments and people must shrink from no offerings which may appear to fortify the processes of mutual reasons, discussions and good-will against the age old processes of force and compulsion in human affairs. The one and only bridge between hatred and good-will is understanding."

Other speakers were Premier Van Zeeland of Belgium, President Alfonso Lopez of Columbia, Prime Minister Mylan Hodza of Czechoslovakia and Chancellor Von Schuschnigg of Austria. The Chancellor's speech was read for him by an Austrian official.

from the estate," said Mr. Hepburn. "Now as we go into the books on the American side where some of the money was transferred, we find that still other payments were made to Mr. Sinclair."

In a review of his government's northern policy, the Premier said $10,000,000 annually would be forthcoming from northern lands and forests when mills, now under construction, started operations. Mr. Hepburn said the revenue this year would be $4,000,000, and next year he predicted $7,000,000 with the $10,000,000 mark reached the third year.

He reiterated his labor policy and his opposition to John L. Lewis' committee for industrial organization. Defeat of his government, the Premier said, would be a moral victory for Lewis, who would regard it as a mandate to send "his thugs" into Ontario to disrupt industry.

despite the Japanese warning. Diplomats of other nations were awaiting instructions from their home governments. Construction of heavy bombproof walls of concrete, a yard thick, was being rushed at the Russian embassy.

Two squadrons of Japanese raiders—Japanese here claimed there were 40 planes—roated over the city, widely deployed, and launched their attack simultaneously on widely distant sectors.

Seven distinct areas were known to have been hit, including the government aerodrome. Damage was believed slight.

Fleet Chinese planes took to the air and were reported to have brought down three Japanese bombers. Two of them are said to have been shot down east of the city, where a lengthy battle was fought.

Japanese claimed that there were only seven Chinese plane opposing them and four of these were shot down.

Japanese officials declared that Japan would not be responsible for any foreign lives lost when her air fleet bombs Nanking as the "base of Chinese resistance to Japan."

Commander of foreign warships were told by Vice-Admiral Kiyoshi Hasegawa, commanding the combined Japanese fleet at Shanghai, to move "at least 11 miles upstream" from their anchorage off Nanking's bund in the Yangtze river.

A PART OF YOUR INCOME IS NOT YOURS

Some of the dollars in your pocket are not yours. They belong to the old man you will be some day as surely as if that older man's name were printed on them. Unfortunately they are not so marked, with the result that without being aware of it you may spend the older man's money as well as your own.

The only safe plan is to take that other money out of your pocket and put it into some safe place so you will not be tempted to spend it. Don't rob the old man. For many years that old man will need money to live on when he can no longer earn it.

A safe, sure place for his money—a place where it will be ready when he wants it, as he surely will—is The Imperial Life.

Spend and enjoy life according to your means, but don't use that part of your income which is the old man's. Get an Imperial Life policy to look after him—then the money that is left is yours to spend and enjoy as you like.

"FINANCIAL SECURITY THROUGH LIFE INSURANCE," by Paul Speicher, an international authority, is an interesting book which should be read by everyone who plans to provide financial security for himself and family. Your local Imperial Life representative will make a copy available to you without cost.

Water Was Too Cold?

WINNIPEG — "I wonder how the water is tonight?" asked 16-year-old Joseph Rosenbaum Saturday night as he and Jack Wolodaraki, 15, stood on Redwood bridge looking down at the Red River. A second later he leaped the railing and plunged to the water. His body was not recovered.

MAGISTRATE TOLD WINE PARALYZED PRISONER'S BRAIN

Appearing on remand on a plea of guilty of theft of a suit of clothes from Parker's Dye Works, Edward Gleason Ottawa, was to-day sentenced to 2 months' imprisonment in the county gaol.

"You should know the police have eyes at the back of their heads," Magistrate A. E. Gee told the accused as he perused a lengthy police record.

"It was wine got me into trouble," Gleason urged.

Telling the accused he had better decide on a different course, the Cadi said: "There is supposed to be a brain up in that top part of your body called your head."

"Yes, I know. But the wine has paralyzed it," the occupant of the dock admitted.

Gleason's companions, stated to be Joseph Brown and Arnold McLeod, who both entered pleas of not guilty to similar charges were discharged. Before he gave them their freedom, Magistrate Gee remarked on the fact that each of them also had a police record.

"It's nothing very serious Your Worship," Brown interrupted.

Reading aloud from the record of the man the Cadi noted, "Drunkenness, begging, theft, begging, drunkenness, begging begging," etc., and told accused "You seem to be nothing but a drunken beggar."

Election Soon Be Over.

Addressing James Maguire who pleaded guilty to an intoxication charge and asked to be permitted to leave town in search for work, His Worship said: "There are a lot of men working on the highways these days. You should make hay while the sun shines. The election will soon be over."

Before leaving the court room with the promise that he would get out of town immediately, Maguire expressed the intention of going to Colborne to get work in the apple orchards.

William Curtin, 23, Ennismore Township, was fined $10 and costs and his driving permit was suspended for one month when he pleaded guilty to a reckless driving charge.

Provincial Motorcycle Patrol Officer Lloyd A. McClure told the court that Curtin was returning from Lindsay Fair when at about three o'clock Sunday morning he was involved in collision with another car on Chemong road.

The officer declared Curtin was driving with inadequate lights; he was on the wrong side of the road and showed signs of having been drinking although he was not drunk.

His car was damaged as a result of the collision as also was the other automobile involved which was driven by Norman A. Inch. Four passengers in Curtin's car and a passenger in the other car escaped injury.

"There is altogether too much reckless driving. Accidents are increasing and people are getting killed on our highways at an alarming rate. I do not know what the courts are going to do with fellows who insist on driving when they are not in a fit condition to drive," the Magistrate observed in announcing the penalty. "You would be well advised to either give your car away or give up liquor," he said by way of final warning to the accused.

SAVINGS LARGER IN PENNY BANK

Increased saving on the part of the city's public school children is noted in the current report of the Ontario Penny Bank issued by Bank Inspector J. R. Littleproud.

In Peterborough and vicinity during May and June there was a total of $16,912.41 to the credit of local school children as compared with $15,996.35 at the end of June in the year previous.

The province as a whole showed a similar increase in savings among the school children. At the end of June a total of 500 schools were depositing with the Ontario Penny Bank, the aggregate amount on deposit being $1,335,733.25 as compared with 497 schools with a total of $1,275,198.51, in the corresponding period of the year previous.

In his report Mr. Littleproud remarks, "Many schools seek to include lessons in money management in their contribution to the child's welfare. Money may be a useful or a dangerous tool, according as it is used. One of the most useful precepts yet formulated for money management ran thus, "Earn honestly, save regularly, spend wisely." Five hundred schools are now seeking to teach this lesson. Thirty schools succeeded in getting 80% or over of their classes to make deposits each banking day in the months of May and June."

Talks to the People — J. H. Burnham

All American writers agree that an attempt is being made to disintegrate and destroy democracy in the interests of certain sections of it. The people as a whole are implored in the name of the safety of the State to drop all minor differences in the meantime and to rally to the safety and unity of the people as a whole. That we in Ontario have causes of dissatisfaction with liquor and the school questions, high taxes and a disregard of religion and of human life is apparent enough, but the union of the C.C.F. with the C.I.O., whose difference from legitimate Labour consists in claiming the right to take forcible possession of plant, shop or farm until their demands are complied with, must surely convince the electors that sectional interests must not be allowed to take possession of government. Can democracy defend itself?

Unscriptural Titles Will Not Be Used For Ministers

Reverend or Father Considered Unscriptural By Pentecostal Conference

The fifth annual conference of the Eastern Ontario and Quebec Districts of the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada wound up with a full house on Sunday night as Pastor D. N. Buntain, general superintendent, late of Winnipeg, Man., brought the evening message on the subject "Repentance."

At the eleven o'clock service Mr. Buntain preached a very timely message on "Some Problems Facing Young Ministers Entering the Field," after which three very promising young men, Richard Fleming May, Ross W. Makin, and Ralph I. Cranston, were ordained to the full ministry of the church by the imposition of hands and prayer.

During the sessions seven young men were accepted on probation into the ministry.

New steps were taken by the Home Mission Department of the district to propagate the opening of new fields.

From Toronto and all east of the Ferguson Highway, including all Quebec, constitute this district of which Pastor George A. Chambers of the Full Gospel Church of this city is superintendent.

The district executive was asked by a resolution passed to provide a field evangelist whose entire time would be taken up in building up the smaller Assemblies.

A very lengthy discussion followed the reading of a resolution discouraging ministers of the Gospel from taking on themselves or accepting titles such as Reverend or Father or the such like. These terms were considered unscriptural and which alone belonged to Deity and are not taught to be used by man in the Scriptures. The terms Pastor, Elder Bishop and Evangelist, being the Scriptural terms, it was decided that such should be endorsed and hereafter used by the members of the district. The same resolution recommended to the General Conference meeting this fall in Toronto.

A strong ban was put on all worldly amusements sponsored by ungodly clubs, societies, or individuals. Any minister violating such a ruling left himself liable for censure and disfellowship.

A strong sentiment was expressed and voted upon by motion against the incurring of personal debts by the ministry and leaving such for either his successor or congregation to meet. This was in the interest of practical holiness for which the fellowship stands as a whole.

At the close of the business session, Mr. Chambers made it known that arrangements were under way, whereby a new large tabernacle accommodating 1,500 people or thereabouts would be erected this summer at the lakeshore camp, Cobourg, Ontario.

A hearty vote of confidence was tendered Mr. Chambers and the executive by the conference in concluding.

VOTERS' LISTS ARE BEING REVISED

Revision of the voters' lists by the members of the electoral board will be completed Tuesday evening. Citizens have already been informed that the responsibility of making sure that their names are on the list rests with themselves.

Police Magistrate Langley, who is sitting in the city council chamber for district number two of the centre ward informed the Examiner at noon to-day that he had made only nine changes in the enumerator's list for that section. Seven were new names added and the other two were only amendations regarding names already on the list. Judge Smoke had twenty-nine names on Saturday.

It transpired in the revision of the lists that residents on both sides of London street, east of George street, had been overlooked, also roomers at the Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A. and part of Bethune street north of Hunter street.

For the convenience of citizens it might be pointed out that the easiest way to make sure their names are listed is to call at either of the party committee rooms, or telephone one of them. They have copies of the enumerators' lists which can be readily referred to.

Mule Meat Tough For Nurses Horse Appreciated On Menu

Girl On Leave From Spanish Front Tells Of Life With Fighters

BARCELONA Sept. 20. —(CP)— Horse meat is quite acceptable to nurses caring for government soldiers on the Aragon front. Nurse Agnes Hodson of Melbourne, Australia, on her way to England for a holiday, told about a nurse's life near the front line as she passed through Barcelona.

"The boys in the trenches appear to be content with the food rationed, but for us it was sometimes a bit trying," she said.

"Horse is very good and we were always glad when it was served. Mule, on the other hand, is decidedly tough and the taste leaves plenty to be desired. Donkey? Well, it is much the same as mule."

Apart from horse, goatflesh was the chief meat staple in some of the villages where the unit worked. Goatflesh, she explained, is strong unless the goat is caught very young. A couple of times they had kid which is rather good.

Much of the time dried beans and tomatoes in season were the principal diet. "Dried beans are very sustaining, but you really need to be brought up on them to appreciate them," the nurse said.

In the early days of the war the Spanish militiamen had scorned the idea of digging trenches, Miss Hodson said. They said they had come to fight, not to dig graves for themselves. When a detachment from the International Brigade came up and started to dig in the Spanish troops sat about and laughed at the "silly" foreigners.

Took to Cover

Then the insurgent guns opened up and the Spaniards scurried for shelter in a concrete irrigation canal which was dry. A couple of shells landed in the canal. Shrapnel and concrete showered the men, killing and wounding many of them. After that pickaxes and shovels were at a premium. The militiamen had paid dearly for their lesson.

The busiest time Nurse Hodson's unit experienced was after the fighting near Huesca, when 500 casualties were admitted to the hospital in three days. The hospital was much better off for medical supplies and equipment than was the case in the fighting around Madrid in the early days of the siege.

A Scottish surgeon visited a clearing station where he found four attendants holding down a man, while a surgeon sawed off his leg. There was no ether, no tourniquet, and lack of other appliances. Horrified, the doctor demanded something should be done about it. He was told they had tried but failed.

He commandeered an ambulance and dashed into Madrid in search of the supplies but was unable to find them.

Conditions today, however, are different, Nurse Hodson said. The hospitals have plenty of everything except castor oil. That comes from Italy.

The Rambling REPORTERS

HAVE GAMBLING HABIT.

New York and the big American centres have their big-time gamblers who have been known to bet as much as $1,000,000 on the race of two raindrops down a Pullman window; but those cities can't show Peterborough anything. There are two local young gentlemen who will wager on anything from the number of peanuts in a bag of peanuts to the speed of two wingless flies running across as table top.

The resolution of the peanut bet caused amusement for many passing spectators when one of the bettors squealed loudly that he had been defrauded. He had set his estimate at 200, so his opponent calmly purchased a bag of unshelled nuts, and, setting his own estimate at 50, counted 50 nuts. The matching of wingless flies has provided an exercise of exchange of many dollars between the pair, but their favorite wager is whether the license marker on the next automobile to pass a given point on the street will be odd or even. Dollars frequently change hands over the matter of whether the next unsuspecting pedestrian to cross a street will mount the curb with the right or left foot.—C.P.K.

For Tuesday September 21

A day of rather unusual or surprising developments is foretold by the prevailing lunar and mutual configurations of the important planets. It is probable that either romantic social or purely festive functions may engage the attention, to the neglect of sordid activities. There is shown a temptation to extravagance and indulgence in such pursuit of pleasure, possibly accompanied by running at cross purposes to the counsel of elders. However, this sociability as well as speculation sports or gambling may prove profitable.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year in which romance, the pursuit of pleasure, or out-of-the-routine functions and adventures may hold the attention. However, speculative enterprises, gaming, gambling and sports enhance the social prestige and gratifications, all with profit, increased expense, extravagance and personal indulgence, to which elders may offer warning. Show, possibly vain glory and boasting hold sway.

A child born on this day may be endowed with many talents and tendencies toward reaching for the limelight. Pleasure, social ambitions, sports, gambling or speculative enterprises may be its ruling passion, with extravagance and show, all of which will heighten its popularity and prestige.

RURAL MAIL MEN FORM ASSOCIATION

Hoping to abolish "cut-throat" bidding for rural mail contracts in this district, rural mail carriers of Peterborough County moved to form a regional branch of the Rural Mail Couriers' Association at a meeting here Saturday. E. R. Thompson of Otonabee, was chosen president of the branch.

Iniquities in the present system of contract employment of rural mail carriers were explained by T. M. Crulkshank of Trenton and J. W. Perry of Napanee, representing the Central Group of Rural Mail Couriers. The Association stands for payments of a couriers on a mileage basis in accordance with the length of their routes, they said.

The meeting expressed itself almost unanimously in favor of formation of a local branch to be called the West Peterborough and Peterborough-Hastings Branch of the Rural Mail Couriers' Association. G. A. Young of R.R. 1, Havelock, was chosen vice-president and Laurence Oliver of R.R. 4, Peterborough, was named secretary-treasurer.

MEETING IS POSTPONED

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Sept. 20.—The public meeting, called by Reeve Percy Stinson, to be held in the Town Hall on Friday evening, in order to discuss plans in connection with suggestions set forth by the Provincial Fire Marshal as part of the program for "Fire Prevention Week," October 3-9, was unavoidably postponed, owing to the illness of Fire Chief J. J. Clarke.

Reeve P. Stinson occupied the chair, and explained the nature of some local fire hazards which might be removed, and the entire purpose of the gathering, announcing that it will be called again as soon as Chief Clarke is able to be in attendance.

HIGHWAY SCHEME IS ENDORSED BY LOCAL ROTARIANS

The Peterborough Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon today passed unanimously a resolution calling upon the Ontario government to proceed immediately with the building of the Yonge St.-Peterborough link in the Orangeville-Ottawa Highway.

The necessity of this work was effectively pointed out by Rotarian James Dutton who said that those who had been seeking to have this highway taken over felt that it would materially relieve traffic congestion while there was the further important advantage that it would shorten the distance between Peterborough and Toronto by eighteen miles.

A resolution moved by Rotarian Dutton and seconded by Rotarian R. M. Glover was carried by a standing vote and afterward the Rotarians signed a petition to the same effect.

The speaker today was Ken Weldon who delighted the club with a fascinating story of his hitch-hiking trip around the world in company with Bob Parker, Jr., of Hamilton, a trip that carried the two youths to 23 countries and into some very unusual adventures. After outlining the route of this unique tour, the speaker described some of the highlights of the unique journey, telling of watching public executions in Shanghai, of a sojourn among a head-hunting tribe in the northern part of the Phillipine Islands, of a visit to a Maharajah's palace in India, of an exciting night in the gambling casino at Monte Carlo, of a pleasant two weeks on the Island of Capri in the Mediterranean, and of a climb to the top of Mount Vesuvius and a night in the crater of the famous volcano. The young speaker told his story very effectively and held the interest of his hearers throughout.

He was introduced by Rotarian Sid Black while a vote of thanks was moved at the conclusion of the address by Rotarian Mack Gordon.

It was announced that the Oshawa Club was holding an inter-city meeting next Monday night and Rotarian Roy Goring was given instructions to make arrangements for a Peterborough delegation.

SOUTH MONAGHAN SETS TAX RATE

South Monaghan council met on Monday with all members present. Communications were received from the Department of Municipal Affairs re application for the one mill subsidy.

Robert Deyell, collector, waited on council and reported a small amount of tax arrears paid in since last meeting of council.

Barnard and Whittington moved that collector's time for the return of tax roll be extended till the next meeting of council.

Reeve Waterman reported that he and Councillor Barnard had engaged John Heaslip and John Deyell to build Cedar Bridge on quarter line between concessions 3 and 4, lots 6 and 7, and that same had been completed satisfactorily and recommended payment of the accounts.

By-law No. 481 was passed setting the tax rate for 1937 at 16.5-10 mills which was reduced one mill by reason of the provincial subsidy.

By-law No. 482 was passed to prohibit poultry roaming at large over private property.

By-law No. 483 was passed appointing Robert Deyell collector for 1937 taxes, remuneration to be $75.

Whittington and Perrin moved that the following accounts be paid: Department of Health, insulin, re Ella Johnston, $1.23; Municipal World, forms, 30c; Thos. Huggins, Jr., work concession 4, $18.45; John Heaslip, building bridge, $10.35; John Deyell, work on bridge and material, $14; Fred Waterman, council pay, $10; H. C. Barnard, committee work, $1; Fred Waterman, committee work, $2.

Keen Competition Features Lakefield Public School Field Day

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 20.—A good crowd of spectators, including parents and friends, attended the Lakefield Public school field day held on the school grounds on Friday. Misses Kidd and Madill held a separate series of races for the pupils in their rooms in the morning, while the remainder of the school mingled in the senior sports, which commenced shortly after 1.30 p.m.

The children's enthusiasm for the competitions was evidenced by the large number of entrants who appeared for all the events, with special interest being shown in both boys' and girls' broad jump competitions. The mile race, which was open to all, was won by Karl Skelcher, with Margaret Hunter carrying off the girls' championship and Donald Fry chalking up the highest number of points among the boys. Three points were awarded the winner of each event, with two points for a second and one for a third prize.

Manager Charley Dressen of the eighth-place Cincinnati Reds, of the National League, was unconditionally released along with two coaches. The announcement, said General Manager Warren C. KAWARTHAS WIN TENNIS TOURNEY

Members of the Whitby Tennis Club were entertained at the Kawartha Club courts on Saturday afternoon in a late-season friendly tournament. Local players were victorious in five of eight scheduled matches. Two men's doubles games had to be abandoned after the start of a slashing rain. The tourney was reminiscent of the old Central League days when Whitby players were regularly seen in action here.

Early in the afternoon, Miss M. Jackson and Mrs. J. Donaldson got off on the right foot, putting Kawartha into the lead by beating Misses E. McBride and S. Jyde 6-2, 8-6. Misses H. Jackson and B. Pamnett of Kawartha followed suit as they smothered Misses G. Richardson and M. Mathison of Whitby under scores of 6-1, 6-1. A third ladies' doubles fixture found Mrs. K. Kingston and Miss V. Davidson in good form. The Kawartha sister act was too much for the Whitby pair, Misses E. Correll and R. Johnstone who were subdued 6-2 and 6-1.

Mixed doubles matches provided interesting competition. Miss M. Fair and P. Lindsay garnered Whitby's lone point in a three-set triumph over Miss N. Boorman and D. Emery. Miss A. Davis and S. O. Shields of Kawartha nosed out Miss E. McBride and D. Pringle in an abbreviated set-to. Scores were 6-4, 6-8.

One of the finer struggles of the day was waged by S. Harris and R. Dancy of the visiting squad against C. Crowe and J. Donaldson. The locals won out 6-4, 7-5. G. McDougal and D. Pringle and W. Thompson and D. Beaton of Whitby were rained out in their scheduled matches against R. Hull and R. Tranter and R. Fournier and O. Benson respectively.

Did some one ask how the city tournament is progressing? Latest reports indicate that there is strong possibility of its completion before Christmas. On Friday night, Mrs. K. Kingston and R. Hull won from Miss B. Cutting and J. Cowling 6-3, 6-3. When the players were finally thawed out, they began hitting some very good balls. A good warm-up for the losers and a good workout for the victors. On Saturday Mr. and Mrs. J. Donaldson made Miss V. Davidson and M. Cotton look very ordinary, as they trimmed the highly touted combination after a shaky start, 2-6, 6-3, 6-3 were the scores. —"BOB".

GIANTS KEEP UP VICTORY MARCH TO HOLD MARGIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (C.P.). — To a lot of people, this is only the time to get ready for the end-of-the-month bills; but to big league baseball, it looks like the week for which everything has been headed since the "play ball" signal back in April.

Unless all signals are pointed backward, before the week runs out the Yankees will have clinched the American League pennant, and the Giants and Cubs will either have settled the National League squabble or given definite indication as to just what the fans can expect.

From the senior circuit standpoint New York's Giants and Chicago's bolstered Cubs, who are, at the moment, 2½ games apart in that order, go to work on each other's throats in a series starting to-morrow. From their three-game fuss, either the Giants will stagger all but "in" with the pennant or the Cubs will wallop their way to a fight down to the tape.

Over in the rival loop, meantime, the Yankees, with a 10½-game lead, only need any combination of five victories or five Detroit defeats, or a collection of the two, mathematically to eliminate the Tigers and nail the flag to their mast for another year.

Giants vs. Cubs.

Before swinginto at each other, the Giants and Cubs have a little preliminary work to-day in winding up their series with St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn's Daffy Dodgers, respectively. But from the results of yesterday's games, neither rival figures to change the shadow of coming events.

The Giants yesterday nosed out the Cards 4-3 in ten innings. Behind 2-1, Manager Bill Terry reached into the hat and came up with Wally Berger, a futile pinch-hitter for his most powerful pounder, Hank Leiber in the seventh. In the ninth, however, Wally belted a homer to tie the score and ultimately lead the Giants to a win over Lon Warneke.

Meantime, big Max Mutcher held the Cubs to four hits. Unfortunately, however, one of those four was Gabby Hartnett's homer with a mate aboard—just enough to cash in on Curt Davis' classy flinging for a 2-1 win over the Brooklyns, leaving the pennant situation in this form:

	W.	L.	Games Behind	To Play
Giants	84	58	——	17
Cubs	83	57	2½	14

Elden Auker's submarine ball baffled the Yankees and the Tigers trampled the American League leaders 8-1. The White Sox were mathematically eliminated from the pennant race by only breaking even in a twin bill with the Senators, losing the opener 5-4 and taking the nightcap 9-1.

Philadelphia's Athletics astonished themselves and Cleveland Indians by topping the tribe twice, 8-4 and 5-3. The Boston Red Sox-St. Louis Browns' bargain bill was rained out.

Pittsburgh's Pirates split with the Phillies, winning the afterpiece 5-1 after the Phils took the opener 8-1.

Boston Bees and Cincinnati Reds did the same thing, Boston coming through 7-6 and then losing 2-0 on Ival Goodman's two-run homer and Gene Schott's three-hitter.

The local doubles competition has been definitely called off by the games committee. Owing to the sudden cold weather and so many other competitions not completed, the cancellation of the above contest was found to be necessary. But if the weather should warm up, the committee will, from time to time, announce, through this column, just what the activities will be.

Monday, Sept. 20 (Group No. 3 schedule) — T. McDonald vs. A. Gillies; R. Bacon vs. J. McDonald. Leads and seconds (L. Turner and J. Lush). Skips and vices (F. Wise and T. Donaldson).

Tuesday, Sept. 21—To be announced.

Wednesday, Sept. 22—To be announced.

Thursday, Sept. 23—Men's twilight doubles at 7 p.m.; 3 10-end games; skips and leads, vices and seconds; $1 per pair.

Friday, Sept. 24—Mixed for local members. Each skip to choose his own rink, but not stronger than schedule calibre. Entry fee 50 cents per player.

Auburns Here Tonight In Crucial Fixture

Auburns tangle tonight here at 8.30 o'clock, in the George St. arena under the lights, with the Cheltenham-Inglewood Combines in a do-or-die contest. It is the return game of the Ontario intermediate lacrosse semi-finals. First game resulted in a 13-9 win for the Combines and, as goals count on the round, the locals must overcome that four-goal deficit or be eliminated for the year. Their chances on the home grounds are good and the Auburns feel confident they will knock off the Cheltenham gang here this evening and go into Provincial finals.

It ought to be the most exciting fracas of the year and the tilt will no doubt pack in the fans. Auburns have been dishing up grant lacrosse all season, have just emerged from a gruelling series with Oshawa and must win here tonight to keep Peterborough's hopes of a 1937 Ontario title high. This is the last local team at present in the running for Provincial honors, and if Auburns win this series they should cop the pennant. Both sides expect to be at full strength tonight and will be in there fighting their heads off from bell to bell. The game will commence at 8.30 o'clock, instead of nine.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

BACK ON the job after vacationing two weeks around and about. Had a swelegant time revisiting Montreal and exploring the narrow hilly streets of old Quebec city. Didn't look at a newspaper, view a sports event or ponder a moment on athletics the whole time—nossuh, when we take a holiday we don't fool! And now back home to get some rest and catch up on local sports. As tired as a coon in cotton-pickin' time and financially flatter than pea soup on a platter. Ah, well, 'tis not an unusual condition for this writer to find himself in.

* * * * * * *

SAW BAZ O'Meara, noted sports authority of the Montreal Star, and had a nice long talk with him. Chiefly about the Louis-Farr fight—and he passed along a lot of interesting off-the-record stuff on it—and his youthful memories of Peterborough. Driving all the way out to Chemong in Cresswell's car, it being one of the earlier cars around here; some Kelly friends of his; J. H. Burnham, one-time law partner of his dad's; and an etc. or so. An enjoyable gabfest and our one connection with the world of sports in the past two weeks.

* * * * * * *

HAD A big hello the other day from Fred Colling, of the ex-Petes. Sympathized with the skipper who went down with his crew before the booming guns of the Oshawa GM-men, but congratulated him on the fine fight the team put up before being eliminated. They nearly scared the Motor Citizens out of their rompers and gave 'em a harder battle than the Ponies did. The Petes did okay in the final month of play, and local fans saw plenty of first-rate senior ball around these parts the past summer. But the club will need a bit of bolstering before '38, and said bolstering should not be left over till spring. Fred remarked that he is again back in the insurance business again being right up to his ears—and they must be nearly six feet off the floor—in baseball for months.

* * * * * * *

ALONG WITH a goodly gathering of cash customers, we saw the final ball game around this neck of the forest here Saturday. Westclox men softballers were rubbed out of the O.A.S.A. intermediate "A" semi-finals by Toronto White Eagles, score being 7-4. A dandy joust between two smart squads, and no disgrace for the Clockmen at all. Manager Harry Baptie and his boys rate oodles of orchids for the good softball dished up in local playoffs and Provincial playdowns. They fell before a high class crew, and that seems to be that for the season. Just our lacrossers left in the running for an Ontario title now.

* * * * * * *

TOM PARSONS pitched pretty fair ball most of the way but the Eagles bunched hits a couple of frames to cop the nod. In the earlier stages, it looked like Westclox all the way from here to Hackney, but the Torontos kept pecking away till they got their fill. Some tidy fielding on both sides, too. We liked the way Ellis went up after a line drive—just like had had been prodded by Brick Bradford's degravitator! Calladine did some smart shoristopping and the others went oke, also. And Chuck Kearns pulled two slides that were honeys of the richest clover. Yeah, it was a nifty conclusion to the ball season in this city and, while 'twas tough to lose out, the local lads went down gallantly and scrapping to the very end. Yes, indeed, summer is ge-finished.

* * * * * * *

LACROSSE FANS don't want to pass up that big playoff tussle tonight at 8.30 in the George St. arena. It is the return O.A.L.A. semi-final game betwixt the Cheltenham-Ingelwood Combines and our Auburns. With goals counting on the round and the locals down four goals, it will be a battle royal all the way. Auburns ought to make up that four-marker deficit and go on to eliminate the Combines and hit the finals, but one never knows. They will be at full strength tonight and facing elimination so this—along with the fact he Woollens will be on home terrain—should shoot some extra zip into their classy fighting brand of play. The visitors must have plenty of class to put out the Roden A.C. and then beat Pete King and Co. in the first fray. With a bangup battle on tap and the local gutted-stick wielders our sole remaining entry in Provincial playdowns—well, the fans should go for this number like the ladies go for a bargain sale.

* * * * * * *

SECRETARY GENE DOPP of the O.A.L.A. has sent around final instructions in the intermediate lacrosse playoffs. On Wednesday, Hamilton or Owen Sound meets the Peterborough-Cheltenham winner in the first of the Ontario finals in best two out of three. Return tussle will be Friday and third, if necessary, on neutral grounds. If Auburns win here tonight, they'll get the first final fixture in Peterborough. No further games will be postponed and, if weather interferes here, the local squad will transfer tilts to Lindsay, Owen Sound is playing its games at Durham. At this writing, it sort of looks a trifle like Peterborough and Hamilton in the finals on Wednesday and Friday. But playoffs are most peculiar, y'know.

* * * * * * *

OSHAWA GM-MEN pulled out a 4-3 win over Hamilton Saturday in the Ambitious City in the first of the senior O.B.A.A. semi-finals. Must have been a pip of a melee with Doc Rowden whacking out a homer to win the tussle with the score tied in the eighth. The Canadian Press scribe refers to him as "the diminutive short-fielder of the GM-men", but there is nothing very diminutive about the Doc—who has always been a money player. Jake Biddle had a slight edge in the hurling duel, and again Tommy Foley—who has certainly been hitting in playoffs since he left Peterborough—got two safeties. Expect the next game will be on Wednesday, but haven't heard for sure. Hope the Oshawans repeat for the title this year.

* * * * * * *

PECKING 'EM off the grapevine: Buster Whitton will be back in the local lacrosse lineup this s'en . . . . The P.C.I.-ers' grid schedule is listed elsewhere tonight . . . . Oshawa intermediate ballsters, with Tip Anderson heaving, took an 11-0 smirk over Milton Sat'day in O.B.A.A. playdowns . . . . The mysterious Mr. Edwards of Kingston who applied lately as manager of the Cincy Reds is probably Ivor Edwards—says the Kingston scribe—who once applied as an umpire in the C.O.B.L.; It's a chuckle . . . . Asked one time what he'd do if two runners occupied the same base, Mr. Edwards candidly remarked that he'd call the game . . . . Will dig up some Orfuns' and P.C.I. football dope in a day or two . . . . Belleville Collegiate will not have a squad in the C.O.S.S.A. this semester . . . . A flock of races for good prizes will be held Thanksgiving Day at Hastings—more anon . . . . Curtain, who played for Orfuns last season, will be with Coach Bamforth's bunch this time . . . . After losing two playoff tilts to Gloversville, Knotty Lee's Colts of Ogdensburg nosed out a 6-5 nod on Sunday . . . . Wish we were starting our vacation again, by golly!

BARTLETT WINS EMPIRES GAMES MARATHON TEST

TORONTO, Sept. 20 (CP).—Nearly two months' intensive training is what Jimmy Bartlett, Canada's new marathon champion, credits for bringing him his first major long-distance running triumph.

The 29-year-old Oshawa, Ont., Olympian, first North American to finish the Berlin run, assured himself of a place on the Canadian British Empires games team Saturday by a clear-cut victory in the ninth Dominion marathon.

For seven weeks Bartlett ran 12 to 14 miles daily in preparation for Canada's top marathon, in which he scored two seconds, a fourth and a third in the last four years. Results of that daily grind, totalling about 25 full marathon distances, showed clearly Saturday.

Two Minutes' Margin.

Jimmy set out with the leader, Lloyd Longman of Toronto, and paced himself perfectly as he tagged on Lloyd's heels for 15 miles. Then Bartlett opened up and began to pull away in the 17th mile, gradually opening up a lead that extended to more than two minutes at the end of 26 miles and 385 yards.

Longman, who ran 22 miles with a blistered heel, held on to take second place from Duncan McCallum of Toronto. Bartlett's time was two hours, 41 minutes and 30 seconds, against 2:43:57 for Longman. Following McCallum, all within two minutes of each other, were Walter Hornby of Hamilton, Ont.; Fred Bristow, and Dick Wilding of Toronto; Gerard Cote of Montreal, and Harold Webster, Hamilton's 1936 Canadian and Empire champion.

Back in 12th place came the pre-tournament favorite, Walter Young, the racing policeman from Verdun, Que., who won the Boston and Salisbury marathons this summer. Troubled by torn muscles in the left leg, suffered at Dallas, Tex., in a race six weeks ago, Young never was a contender.

Thil and Senors Garcia and Montenaz is that nobody around the joint can speak English...Elmer Layden Moan's Notre Dame fans expect too much of his team...What, with 11 bona fide Irishers on the squad?

Don't look for Clark Griffith to send Nick Altrock on another scouting trip soon...The clown was dispatched to Sioux Falls, S.D., to look over a pitcher named Anderson... Nick wired Griff: "Have signed Joe Anderson, a southpaw. He is a honey."...It turned out Anderson's front name is Arnold and that he is a right hander...He won 14 of 17 starts...And since he's signed to a Washington contract, Altrock probably will say, "So What?"

Aquaplaning Sports Thrill Big Crowd

Five hundred persons braved the chill Fall winds of Saturday afternoon to witness a repeat demonstration of the Peterborough Canoe Company's water skiing and aquaplaning show in the waters of Little Lake off George Street Wharf. The show was the same as that staged on the Toronto waterfront for the benefit of C.N.E. crowds.

Thrilling performances on the precarious skils and boards towed at high speed behind a powerful launch were provided by a cast of water acrobats which included Bill Taylor, Eric Dennesen, Mel Hunter, Rolland Dennie, Jack Holland, Pat and Mary Perrin of Bewdley and Norma McIntosh of Bobcaygeon. Frequent spills added to the spectacle as the performers executed both single and double rides. The close confines of the water front added to the difficulties of the feats by necessitating frequent turns at high speed.

Sponsored by the Peterborough Canoe Company, the show was supervised by D. A. Loomis. Doug. Simpson piloted the 110 horsepower "Seafarer" which was used as a tow boat.

Oshawa Triumphs Over Tigers In First Of O.B.A.A. Series

GM-Men Defeat Mountain City Tigers 4-3 On Doc Rowden's Mammoth Homer

HAMILTON, Sept. 20 (CP)—Oshawa G-Men went one up on Moodie Tigers in their bracket of the senior O.B.A.A. semi-finals at the baseball stadium here on Saturday afternoon, taking a 4 to 3 decision after one of the finest battles of the entire season, but the champions of last season had to extend themselves to knock off the Hamilton titleholders.

"Doc" Rowden, diminutive shortfielder of the G-Men, was the hero of the piece, for the score tied in the eighth, Rowden slapped one of "Speed" Cotter's fast pitches over the left-field fence, a mammoth wallop, and put his team in front to stay.

Jack Biddle and Manager Cotter waged a great left-handed mound duel, with the bespectacled visitor having slightly the tilt. Cotter was nicked for twelve hits, while Biddle gave up ten and each fanned five.

Rowden divided hitting honors with Weldon, Hamilton catcher, each tagging three safely. Jubenville and Cotter were the other big hitters.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES

By Allen Morrison

The story of every good player's downfall is built around the failure of his putter or driver. You will read that Jim Whooda hooked his tee shot into the trees or pushed one off into the rough and thereby sacrificed his lead. He became wild with his driver.

The same thing is true of the average player. He, too, loses whatever advantages he might gain with other clubs by being wild with his tee shots. Do any of these players put aside their drivers? I should say not. The very thought of doing such a thing fills them with a feeling of shame. Shame for what? Simply this, failure to live up to an old custom.

Every player can do much better off the tee with his brassie. Furthermore, most of the experts have some loft on the face of the clubs they use for driving. They could not be consistently successful with clubfaces of the sort the average player tries to use. The player who thinks that he can be consistently successful with a clubface having absolutely no loft is indeed misguided.

A little loft and practically no bulge on the face of the club you use for driving will keep you on the fairway with plenty of distance.

Napanee Wins First From Dover Centre

NAPANEE, Sept. 20 (CP)—Napanee Mic Macs defeated Dover Centre 11 to 1 here Saturday in the first game of the final series for the intermediate "C" Provincial softball title. The 1936 champions only averted a shutout by a run in the fourth when Card dropped Foy's deep fly to allow the runner to make the circuit.

Henderson limited the visitors to four hits and allowed only one runner to advance beyond second. He struck out ten.

In the sixth inning Henderson accounted for three runs when he hit for the circuit with two mates on. Four safeties climaxed by J. Stinson's double built up the last three runs. Dover nipped a possible local rally in the second inning with a fast infield double play that provided the fielding feature of the game.

Golf Notes

PETERBOROUGH GOLF CLUB.

Robert Abbott was declared the official champion of the Peterborough Golf Club on Saturday evening when he was presented with the championship trophy at the annual banquet to close the club's summer activities. R. L. Dobbin made the presentation. The club has enjoyed a very successful season, with keen competition and large entries in practically every event, the weekend sweepstakes especially enjoying the popularity of the members.

The following cup presentations were made:

'B' flight championship, presented by A. Mowat to Ford Birkeland.

Western Clock trophy, to O. A. Degraw, by W. J. Hardill.

Macdonald Cup, to Fred Hills, by H. T. Cranford.

In the Tombstone Trophy competition, W. C. Ackerman made the presentation to T. T. Gentles. The former won this cup way back in 1921—using only 3 clubs and a couple of balls.

The match and handicap committee prizes were won by Russ Kitchen in Group 'A', and W. J. Hardill in Group 'B.' They both received their cups from H. T. Bradburn.

The sweepstake results were:

Longest drive—J. E. Esson, 266 yards, against the wind.

Best gross—Dr. J. C. Green, 79.

Best net group 'A'—R. Abbott 67, S. Payne 72, O. A. Degraw 73.

Best net group 'B'—Sam Whitehouse 64, Morley Shaver 66, A. Donnelly 67.

The juniors played for prizes presented by J. L. Bradburn. Harlow Cutting and Bob Garner tied for first place, with two snappy 68 nets. They spun a coin for first prize. Bob got the nod, and Harlow was second, and Davie Rogers took third place marbles with a net 70. These scores were very good, considering the weather conditions on Saturday.

Clockmakers Ousted From Race Following 2nd Straight Loss

Westclox Beaten 7-4 On Home Grounds—Loose Defensive Work

The Polish White Eagles, Toronto winners, flew too high and too fast for Westclox in the Intermediate O.A.B.A. semi-final game at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon, and the visitors won 7 to 4, thus taking the series in two straight.

To turn the trick on Saturday the Eagles had to come from behind and also had to have some help from some loose Westclox defensive work. The Peterborough gang opened up on Tilly Fasolo, the Eagles' pitcher, as if they were going to make a runaway of the game and some timely hitting and smart base running in the first frame, and gave them three runs. They added another in the fourth and leading 4 to 0, looked to be well away. However, Fasolo got better as the battle progressed and he blanked the Big Bens for the last five frames and the Eagles, after having been held scoreless and almost hitless in Tom Parsons' effective pitching until the fifth staged two big innings, in succession that gave them enough runs to win the ball game. The Westclox defence faltered in both frames and the visitors were quick to take advantage of the breaks.

Hurls Good Game.

Parsons really pitched much better ball than nine box score shows, for a number of the hits marked up against him were scratchy. Fasolo held the losers to five safe blows, two of them by Ross Curry, and he got excellent backing from his team mates.

The fielding of Wodynski at short for the visitors, a nice catch by King, the Eagles' backstop, several running snatches by P. Romano in right field, the smart defence work of Dormer and Bill Calladine and a jumping grab by Jim Ellis were the fielding features of the engagement which was played in football weather and in a drizzling rain during the last three innings. Hastings with a triple, double and single led the Eagles' attack, while Kowalik came through with a long homer in the ninth.

Got Good Start.

Westclox got away to a great start. In the first Kearns singled to centre and went to second on a passed ball. Dormer hit to Surphila and Kearns slid safely to second on the play. Kearns scored on a wild pitch, hook-sliding around King at the plate. Bill Calladine singled through short to score Dormer and Currie rifled a triple to left centre to send Calladine in. Ellis fouled to J. Romano and Starr struck out.

In the third Dormer beat out a bunt. O'Leary also bunted for a sacrifice and Dormer went to third on J. Romano's bad throw. Bill Calladine's fly to P. Romano in right sent the run in. It was Westclox's last counter of the game.

The Eagles did not get a man on until the fourth when Surphila walked to open the inning. J. Romano grounded to W. Calladine, King hunted safely for the visitors' first hit, but Kowalik struck out and Lewis was out on a spectacular catch by Ellis.

The Toronto gang broke into the scoring column in the next frame. With one out Hastings singled to centre and P. Romano walked.

Fasolo advanced the pair with a sacrifice and Hastings scored on Pat Calladine's bad throw to third. P. Romano came home on a passed ball. Surphila walked. J. Romano singled to third. King sent Surphila in with a single past Dormer, but J. Romano was out trying to go to third on the play.

The visitors took the lead in the sixth. With two away Parsons walked Wodynski and Hastings promptly scored him with a double to right. P. Romano singled to right to score Hastings.

Fasolo was safe on Starr's fumble and Surpolis singled to fill the bases. L. J. Romano grounded to Dormer.

In the eighth after Wodynski had filed out, Hastings drove one past Starr and turned it into a triple by fast running. P. Romano singled over second to send another run in, the next two flying out.

Kowalik featured the ninth with a long homer to right field after two were out. Then Lewis and Wodynski singled and Hastings walked to fill the bases, but P. Romano ended it with a fly to Curry.

Electrics And Packers Fail To Score In Phelan Cup Game

Lacrosse Defence

ROWAN CHUTE

Coach and defence player of the local Auburns, who will be seen in action here tonight in the crucial lacrosse semi-final struggle with the Cheltenham-Inglewood Combines.

C. G. E. Outplays Opponents But Hard Luck Prevails Around Goal Posts

The Canadian General outplayed the Canada Packers on Saturday afternoon, in the final of the Father Phelan Soccer Charity Cup before a meagre attendance. After battling ninety minutes they failed to register any counters, although the C.G.E. had the better of the play throughout, but the ball seemed to roll on the outside of the uprights; that was coupled with a superb exhibition of goal-tending by Curtis and Chamberlain.

It is not very often that you get six brothers playing in any one kind of sports but this distinction goes to the Mitchell family—Alex, James and Kenneth —playing a first-class brand of soccer for the Electrics; while George, Newton and Asa Downer performing likewise for the Packers in the same game.

Smart Combination.

In the early stages the players concentrated in long swinging tactics that finally had to be altered in an endeavor to break down the solid defensive system of the half-backs on either team. A break away by the Packers' left-winger—Harris—terminated when MacKenzie intercepted a movement to rob the inside man of an opening. He punted up-field where A. Mitchell snapped the ball on the drop and with a left-swinging drive sent Keith, on the right, away to the other end. The inside man connected with a low grounder that the Packer goalie just managed to clear in the nick of time. Quickly the scene of action was at the other end with Chamberlain being the main factor in holding the Packers off the scoring list. Jimmy Mitchell gathered up the loose ball to send his left winger inside the goal territory and manoeuvred his way into an excellent position to place A. Mitchell in possession as he headed the ball past by inches. Jones, at centre-half for Packers, initiated a combination play with his forwards to find the C.G.E. full-backs nullifying their efforts at the logical moment which was backed up by superb goal-tending of Chamberlain. On one occasion G. Downer broke away fast on the right to centre across the goal. F. Todd, at inside left, met the cross with deadly accuracy to witness the Electrics' goalie make a brilliant save. Freddy Earle, at centre-half for the Electrics, covered a lot of ground throughout the first half through his keen anticipation of attack by his opposition that constructed an energetic front line of the C.G.E. Time and again, Keith, then McPhail, would travel along the wing to upset the Packers' defensive procedure with the latter missing the far upright by inches; also on one visit A. Mitchell rattled the cross-bar from ten yards out. Towards the half-time period, the Packers introduced the close passing style of play to find the half-back line of McCracken, Earl and Ken Mitchell dominating the situation, although a narrow escape from registering by the Packers was frustrated by Chamberlain, C.G.E. custodian. Half time—No scoring.

Outplayed Packers

On resuming the second moiety, the Canadian General forced the issue with a steady attack that had Curtis, galle, responding with an effective display in goal as the shots of Keith and Clark had plenty of sting behind them, in fact, the collision between the outside right and custodian necessitated the trainer's attention. After ten minutes of play, the Packers got over the half-way line for the first time and made their presence known by peppering the custodian with all kinds of shots. But this attack failed to materialize through the close tacking of Mackenzie who seemed to get the better of the argument in every tussle and his co-partner—J. Mitchell—never failing to pop up the logical moment and more particularly when Buchan was right through for goal but the C.G.E. man jumped up in the air to head out a drive that was aated for the corner of the upright. Only twice did the Packers become dangerous in the latter period. Jones breaking up a C.G.E. raid to place Buchan in possession who sent his pivot man—G. Downer—on the run for goal while Mackenzie covered his man to perfection, as he let drive for the crowd—but that proved a saviour as the left footer rattled the sticks. The remainder of the battle continued in the Packers' territory during the last twenty minutes that was interspersed with break-aways on the wings by Harris and N. Downer. Five minutes to go, Stan Clark accepted an opening by Ross in between the full-backs and out-ran them as he went ahead for the goal to miss by inches. Let it be said that the Electrics did everything but score to gain possession of the coveted trophy. Full time—No scoring.

Canada Packers—W. Curtis, goal; A. Todd and A. Downer, full-backs; N. Downer, E. E. Jones and B. Wilson half-backs; Art Downer, G. Downer, J. Buchan, F. Todd and W. Harris, forwards. Subs—W. Cribbess, E. Adkinson and E. Rishes.

Canadian General—J. Chamberlain, goal; J. Mitchell and W. MacKenzie, full-backs; W. McCracken, F. Earle and Ken Mitchell, half-backs; H. Keith, A. Ross, S. Clark, A. Mitchell and T. McPhate, forwards.

Referee—W. Jones. Linesmen—W. Buchan and J. McMaster.

BRONKS GAIN TOP HOLE.

CALGARY, Sept. 20 (CP).—While Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Regina Roughriders girded themselves for tonight's game in the Saskatchewan City, Calgary Bronks relaxed in the Western Interprovincial Football Union upper berth after defeating Riders here 8-7 Saturday.

Bronks ran up their third win in four games when Keith Ottson, Calgary end, dropped on a fumbled ball behind the Regina touch-line to sweep the score late in the third period. A successful convert gave the Bronks the one-point lead they held until the final gun.

ORIOLES LEADING ROYALS IN RACE

BALTIMORE, Sept. 20 (CP). — That unanswerable Baltimore argument, the home run, may give the International Baseball League the best possible attraction for its final playoff series—Newark vs. Baltimore.

Newark's great team, pennant winner by 25½ games, already has reached the finals by eliminating Syracuse. Baltimore, the team that came back after filling the cellar berth for a long time early in the campaign, held a 3-1 lead over Montreal's second-place Royals in the other semi-final series today and looked like a good bet to win.

The Orioles got a gift run in the ninth inning yesterday to mark up victory No. 3 over the Royals, 14-13, but it was mostly by means of homers that they won. They swatted four, after having won Saturday night's clash mainly because of a four-ply clout by Manager Bucky Crouse. Montreal tried valiantly to provide the only answer for a home run—another homer—but stopped at three.

Columbus-Milwaukee In The A.A. Series

CHICAGO, Sept. 20 (AP)—Columbus and Milwaukee, champions and ex-champions of the American Association, will fight it out for the post-season playoff title and the right to meet the International League rulers for the Little World Series crown.

Columbus, winner of the 1937 Association pennant, qualified for the final playoff series yesterday, defeating Minneapolis 7-2 for a fourth victory in six games played. At the same time, Milwaukee's Brewers, who placed fourth in the regular schedule standings, walloped Toledo 12-3 for a fourth win in six tilts.

WAS OUT ANYWAY

DOVER, England—(CP)—Harold Gimblett of Somerset, playing in a county cricket match with Kent, skied the ball which was caught and then ruled "no ball." But he was thrown out before he could get back.

RUSTLE OF SILKS

By MARIE BLIZARD

CHAPTER 38.

From their lofty perch in the church tower at Mougins, Mari looked over the sweeping expanse bounded by the Esterels on one side and the Italian Alps on the other.

Alec sketched hastily, squinting at the distant view, returning to the pad before him, whistling softly. Occasionally, he looked up to smile at Mari or say, "Cigaret?"

She shook her head.

"Five minutes more," he said.

"Don't hurry."

No, let it always be this way. Let there be no tommorows, no yesterdays.

For Mari had begun to think of her tomorrows. Woman-like, she was not content, could not be content, to think only of the day. Ever since she had lain awake the night after Alec had kissed her, she had been thinking: what next?

Alec's hard kisses had shaken her, surprised her by the intensity which she had not suspected in him. She had been more surprised by her own starved response. And immediately she had questioned not the simple physical reactions but her emotional state. Was she falling in love with Alec?

It did not occur to her to ask herself if he was falling in love with her. She had come to accept the many attentions of Alec's, so like those to which she was accustomed. And Letitia, venturing on their new intimacy, had these days found reasons to leave them alone, to defer to Alec in conversation with the two of them.

That she was happy with Alec Mari knew, that he was physically attractive to her he had proved to her. So inexperienced was she that she didn't know she might have repeated her experience countless times with other men and so learned to classify her emotions.

So astute in her business, so unerring in her art, she was naive in her attitude in matters of this kind.

Woman of the world she may have appeared to all who knew her. Yet now, confronted with the first stirring within her insulated armor, she reacted like a high school girl. She wondered if she wanted to marry Alec. Wondered what marriage to Alec would mean to her, to her career, her future.

Alec slipped his pencils into his pocket and closed his book. "That's all for today."

"That's all for today." Tony's voice saying the words back to her across the years.

"Alec, would you like to go to the Casino tonight? We've never been there you know."

Alec turned her hand over and kissed the palm. "You don't belong here," he said. "I've only a few days longer"—he was sailing in four days from Naples—"and I want you to myself."

Alec, she knew, had little money and guessed that, in his gracious manner, he was reluctant to tell her he could not afford it. She preferred to believe that he meant he wanted her to herself.

He was jealous she knew, of the time she spent on other people. She had learned after the first lazy week that she had to spend two or three hours a day with Letitia. Correspondence was piling up, sent on daily from Paris.

Reggie had turned up unexpectedly with the Warriners, friends from California, and Mari had given a dinner party for them. Alec's face had shadowed when he saw her in her beautiful satin gown wearing her jewels. She wished she hadn't worn them, felt a tug of sweet sympathy and understanding. It didn't matter to her that Alice was poor. She didn't want him to be conscious of the difference in their material wealth.

She thought she ought to have asked the Warriners to leave the hotel and join her for a few days. But she didn't do it. Alec's eyes following her about seemed to ask her not to. They made her feel pleased, possessed, a woman wanted for herself alone.

Alec was a dependent person. She had never known a man like that, she told herself with complete inaccuracy.

Only four days more, before he went back to America.

Those four days were heavenly. Mari hired a motor because they had so many side trips planned; trips to the mountains, to Grasse, the perfume manufacturing center.

There the two of them stood like children before the old house where Fragonard had been born and to where he had returned when he fled from Paris.

"He was a good painter, too" Mari said tenderly.

"Will you come to see my house in Atlanta when I am a great painter?"

Solemnly Mari said she would. It was the only time that Alec had mentioned his home.

"What's it like?" she asked later when they sat at a vine-shaded table in the shadow of a purple hill.

"Big, untidy. With magnolias and peach trees around."

"Would I like it?"

He shook his head. "No, you belong here. I always want to remember you here. I'll always see you with your flaming head against the sunset, the long lines of you in white slacks."

Mari sipped her iced chocolate. She said, "If I don't turn my head from such temptations as this, their lines will be wide, instead of long."

She smiled but something inside her felt heavy and yet.... yet there was another thing she felt hearing Alec's words, which told her that for him this was an interval and it was coming to an end. Could it have been relief that she felt?

No, for there was no lightness in her. She felt suddenly cold within, remembering his caresses, his kisses, the long hours they had had together.

She asked, without intending to, and as directly as she could, "Alec, you do care for me, don't you?"

His head bent quickly, the soft hair touching her wrist as he first touched his cheek to her hand and then his lips.

"Then why do you go away?" she said softly. "I don't want you to."

His eyes looked away from her face. His mouth looked strangely wistful. It was the first thing about him that had appealed to her, called to something maternal in her. Then he smiled a little. "You will go back to Paris and forget me. I've been part of a holiday, Mari, but you have been part of me that I will always remember, a memory that will bring me sadness and happiness. You'll always be my beautiful lady to me."

Mari wished he wouldn't talk like a South American. She had heard all that before. But Alec was to say something to her that she had never heard before.

"I....I'm married, Mari. That's why I have to go back."

Mari looked at him with no flicker of expression on her face. Then suddenly she laughed, roared with laughter, rocking back and forth. When she had finished, she wiped her eyes, and to the startled Alec, she said evenly, "The check, please, Alec. It's time we were getting on."

Avoid 3rd Candidate Advises Mayor Hall

KITCHENER, Ont., Sept. 20 (C. P.). — Mayor Alexander Hall of Oshawa, speaking on Friday in the interests of Oscar W. Thompson, North Waterloo Conservative candidate in the Ontario election of October 6, urged workers of this industrial city not to split the labor vote.

He asked them to do as the workers of Oshawa are doing, refrain from placing a third candidate in the field and rally behind the Conservative candidate. Two labor organizations have placed candidates in the field.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S ENTERTAINMENT

"Oh, my goodness!" squeaked the Lady Mouse Teacher of the Hollow Tree School. "Oh, this is terrible!"

"What's the matter?" asked the Rat Gentleman janitor, who had just finished sweeping the walk in front of the hollow tree.

"Why, look there!" exclaimed Miss Mouse pointing with her tail. She was walking on her hind paws and her front paws were used to carry her books and a bag in which, probably was a powder box, some lipstick and, for all I know, a bit of cheese. "Just look at that!" squeaked Miss Mouse, again pointing with her tail.

"You mean that notice on the door?" asked Mr. Rat.

"Yes, if you please," answered the teacher. "Who put it there?"

"Uncle Wiggily. You can read it, can't you?" asked Mr. Rat.

"Of course I can!" exclaimed Miss Mouse in a high, squeaky voice. "What sort of a school teacher would I be if I couldn't read that note?"

Read It Anyway

"It says this," went on Mr. Rat, just as if he didn't believe what Miss Mouse said. "I'll read it for you." So he read:

NO SCHOOL TODAY
THERE WILL BE AN ENTERTAINMENT

"I can't understand it," said Miss Mouse. "Here I come back to teach school, after having been ill a week at the opening because I was mauled by two Fox boys, and I see this notice on the door the very first morning when I get back. Very strange, I call it!"

"I'm sure Uncle Wiggily meant to be kind," said Mr. Rat.

"Oh, of course he did," said Miss Mouse. "Uncle Wiggily is always kind and he was very kind to me up at his camp this Summer. But I can't understand him going to give an entertainment instead of having school."

"Perhaps he wants to be kind to the animal pupils," suggested Mr. Rat. "You know Uncle Wiggily has been teaching school the week you were ill and he may think he was too severe with the children."

"That must be it," agreed Miss Mouse. "Well, that's all right. But I wonder when Uncle Wiggily is going to give his entertainment?"

And Here He Is!

"Just as soon as the animal children get here!" called a jolly voice behind Miss Mouse and Mr. Rat. Uncle Wiggily, his pink nose twinkling very fast, hopped out of the bushes.

"I thought," he said to Miss Mouse making her a low and polite bow, "that on your first day of school, after having been ill, you wouldn't feel very much like teaching."

"To tell you the truth, I don't," said Miss Mouse, smiling.

"That's why I thought we'd have an entertainment instead of lessons," said Mr. Longears.

"But who will do the entertaining," said Miss Mouse.

"I will," offered Uncle Wiggily. "I am going to play the mouth organ, sing and dance."

"I could do a funny act pretending to sweep the room but, instead, sweep the blackboard," offered Mr. Rat.

"That ought to make them laugh," said Uncle Wiggily. "Besides, I can invite some grasshoppers and crickets in to sing. Shall I go on with the entertainment, Miss Mouse?"

"Please do," said the teacher with a laugh. "It will be fun."

"Then we'll go in and get ready," said Mr. Longears.

You can imagine how surprised the animal pupils were when they read the sign on the school door. But they were very happy. And if moving picture will stand long enough for the eye of the needle to see it, I'll tell you about Uncle Wiggily's song and dance.

SECOND OUTLAW GROUP

PARIS, Sept. 20 — (AP). — A second outlaw secret society, described by the Surette Nationale as a revolutionary arms running ring, was reported uncovered to-day in connection with the investigation of "The Hooded Ones."

Four members of "The Hooded Ones" (Les Cagoulards), arrested in raids that turned up caches of machine guns, grenades and other munitions two days ago, were still under questioning in connection with their mysterious, anti-Communist organization when the French disclosure was made.

RICH RESOURCES ENABLE DOMINION CUT MOST DEBTS

BOSTON, Sept. 20. — (C.P.). — "Canada is so rich in natural resources that our powers of recovery are phenomenal." E. A. Danby, city treasurer of Brantford, told the Municipal Finance Officers' Association of the United States and Canada in annual conference here yesterday.

"Canadian municipalities," he said, "emerged from the period of depression with their credit unimpaired and with a wealth of experience gained that will stand them in good stead to weather any succeeding years of adversity."

All sections of Canada were able to show reductions in per capita debt, he added. A recent survey of 61 municipalities in all provinces, had shown a net debt of $191.89 per capita in 1933 as compared with $180.18 in 1936.

"The last report of the Ontario Department of Municipal Affairs shows a reduction in the debenture debt of Ontario municipalities of $23,627,000 for 1936, as against 1930," the Brantford city treasurer reported. "I mention these facts to show that we are dealing with the problem and are definitely making progress in the right direction."

The speaker urged that municipal treasurers endeavour to improve their local conditions by effecting economies and by locating sources of revenue other than the land tax.

"During the depth of the depression," he said, "there has been a temporary halt in expenditures, but now with the first sign of good times plans are under way for generally increased appropriations. This tendency must be resisted, as we are most of us faced with capital commitments which have permanently increased our budgets for some time to come."

HIGHWAY DEATHS UP 68 P.C. OVER '36

TORONTO, Sept. 20. — Seventy-five people killed in motor accidents in the Province of this year, compared to 32 in June, 1936.

This is one of the highlights published in a report released yesterday by the Accident Recording Division, Ontario Department of Highways. Fatalities totalling 290 during the first six months of this year showed an increase of 68.6 per cent. over 1936. Fifty-four children under 15 years were fatally injured the first half of this year, compared with 28 in 1936.

An increase of 28.3 per cent. in motor accidents in the Province during the month of June, and an increase of 27.9 per cent. for the first six months of this year compared to 1936 are reported in the Ontario Traffic News.

Urban (city, town and village) accidents, with a total of 3,552 showed an increase of 21.2 per cent, and rural accidents increased by 41.7 per cent. as compared with the general increase of 27.9 per cent.

The hazards represented in motor traffic for children is shown in the report that during the first six months of 1937 a total of 54 children under 15 years of age were fatally injured compared with 28 deaths in 1936, and 1,686 non-fatally injured compared with 938 the same period of time last year.

"The large increase (35.4 per cent) in a collision with other motor vehicles type of accident, was largely responsible for the increased number of urban mishaps reported," states the Ontario Traffic News.

On rural roads collisions with fixed objects in the Province of Ontario increased during the first six months of this year by 76.2 per cent; collisions with bicycles an advance of 50.0 per cent; with pedestrians by 38.1 per cent, and collisions between motor vehicles 36.5 per cent.

The number of vehicles in accidents, totalling 8,234, was 30.7 per cent above the total for the same period last year.

Off the coast of Wedgeport Nova Scotia, John Bull won his first international trophy of the year when the International Fishing team of Great Britain defeated the American team of seven fishermen. Though the matches were concluded a half day early because of adverse weather conditions, the British team had such a lead it was felt further fishing would probably make little difference in the final outcome. C.C.F. PREDICTING 40-45 IN FIELD

TORONTO Sept. 20 — (C.P.). — Co-operative Commonwealth Federation leaders to-day predicted 40 to 45 party candidates would be entered in the October 6 Ontario elections before Nomination Day, September 29. Up to the present 34 C.C.F. standard bearers are in the lists.

In the last Ontario elections in 1934, the C.C.F. had 37 candidates in the running, but only one was elected. Sam Lawrence, lone C.C.F. member in the last Legislature, is running again in Hamilton East, opposed by a Liberal and a Conservative.

John Mitchell, Ontario C.C.F. leader, who delivered the party's "keynote speech" in Oshawa last night, is seeking election in Waterloo South where he opposes N. O. Hipel, Liberal Speaker in the last Legislature, and F. Stewart Scott, Conservative.

The total candidates, 12 days before Nomination Day, rose to 220. Liberals and Conservatives have almost filled the lists, each major party having nominated 82. Bringing up the total are the 34 C.C.F. candidates and 22 others of various persuasions, including five Independent-Liberals, two Independent-Conservatives and two Communists.

SCIENCE BAFFLED BY SKULL DISEASE

By Stephen J. McDonough
(Associated Press Science Writer.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 20. — (AP). — A new skull disease which is a complete mystery to science was reported Saturday to the fifth International Congress of Hardiology.

Dr. Sherwood Moore of St. Louis Mo., said he had found the bone disease in the X-ray pictures of 229 persons out of 6650 he had examined. He could find no cause for its development and only partial treatment.

It is known as "hysterosis" of four kinds and its chief symptom is a tremendous thickening of the skull —sometimes five times the normal bony covering of the brain. Sometimes it also greatly enlarges the bones at the base of the skull and may create pressure on the brain.

This disease should always be suspected in any person who is abnormally fat Dr. Moore told radiologists attending the closing meeting of the Congress but this does not indicate that more than a small percentage of fat people have it.

98 P.C. in Women.

The disease is found more frequently among inmates of insane asylums and similar State institutions, Dr. Moore said. Approximately 90 per cent. of all the cases occur in women, he added, and this fact may furnish a clue to what the disease is.

"I cannot yet prove this," Dr. Moore said 'and it is only offered as a theory. But it may be that some women apparently being capable of bearing children cannot do so for one reason or another.

"As a result the calcium available for building a baby's bones and teeth may be deposited in the skull and the surplus of other baby-building materials may serve to upset the other processes of living thus leading to the symptoms of obesity, nervousness, and muscular weakness."

The only treatment now available, he added, is relief of the fat condition and the muscular weakness.

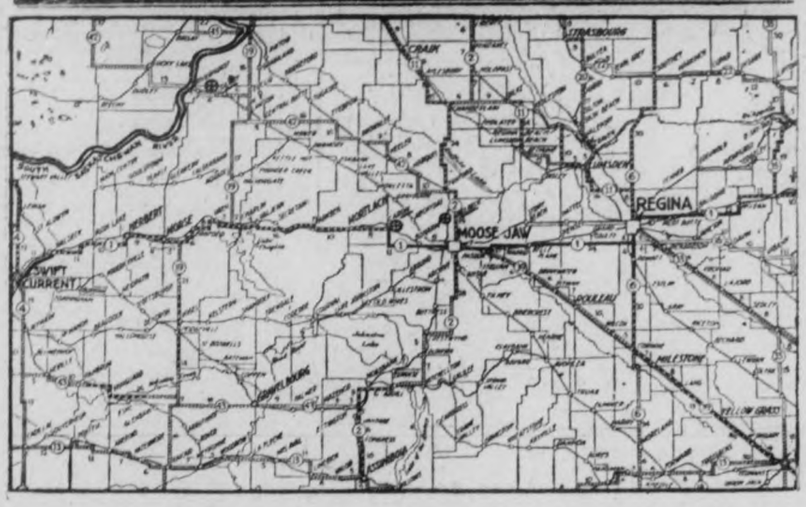
Moose Jaw Asks Federal Aid In Building Water System



The city of Moose Jaw, Sask., threatened with a water shortage involving more than 20,000 persons, has placed before federal and provincial authorities a scheme for the piping of water from the South Saskatchewan river to Moose Jaw. The scheme would cost an estimated $2,024,343. At present the city receives a total of 850,000 gallons daily, while the daily requirements are 1,000,000 gallons. The water now used is obtained from Caron, Snowdy Springs, Forsythe and Britannia wells. Because the present water supply could only be mantained for a short while, a new well is being developed at Caron, 20 miles west of Moose Jaw, which is expected to furnish an additional 100,000 gallons daily. The scheme as put forth by the civic administration involves the building of two reservoirs, one at Gilroy and the other at Belbeck, and a pumping and filtration plant at the river. A pipe line which would supply water to villages and farms along the route to Moose Jaw, has also been suggested. An [illegible] city of Moose Jaw is shown in the upper photograph, while the [illegible] shows the points where the suggested water system would be built.

NEW DUTY PROBE SURPRISES BOOTH

OTTAW9, Sept. 20 (CP)—C. Jackson Booth, an executor of the estate of the late J. R. Booth, issued a statement last night in connection with a speech by Premier Hepburn at Port Hope Wednesday in which the Premier said the estate would be investigated for $3,500,000 succession duties the Government claims are unpaid.

Mr. Jackson Booth's statement said:

In justice to the executors and heirs of the late Mr. J. R. Booth, we feel the following facts should be made known in view of Mr. Hepburn's remarks at Port Hope on September 15th.

The succession duty on the estate of the late Mr. Booth was settled with the Treasury Department in Toronto in 1927, and the settlement arrived at was considered by us to be onerous and excessive. However, we accepted it and the succession duty, amounting to $4,280,000, was paid and the matter was closed.

Since May of this year the Treasury Department auditors have been investigating the affairs of the estate. Every facility has been accorded them and a recent letter from the succession duty office expresses its appreciation of our co-operation.

Our first and only intimation that the Government had any further claims on the estate was contained in Mr. Hepburn's speech. No demand or claim of any kind has been made on us to date and we are entirely in the dark as to the grounds on which the government's claims are based.

URGE ENFORCING BOAT, FIRE DRILL

OTTAWA, Sept. 20—(CP).—Five resolutions from the Canadian Seamen's Union were passed Saturday at the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada. Chief resolution asked "immediate enforcement of the law governing life boat and fire drills and that both such drills be conducted at least once a week."

It asked that regular inspection of life boats, left belts and life belt gear be made twice during the season on the Great Lakes and once every six months on deep water and coastwise vessels. It recommended that, cards be placed in sleeping quarters of crews with full instructions for fire stations and designating the boat to which each seaman was attached.

Further it recommended that life belts be placed in convenient and conspicuous positions in all cabins and that the regulation be immediately enforced to prevent a repetition of what happened on the ill-fated sand merchant which sank two years ago in Lake Huron.

D. Ferguson of Toronto, said he sailed the lakes for seven years before he took part in a life boat drill and "then it took two and a half hours to get the boat overside. It was stuck in the davits by paint."

J. A. Sullivan of the Montreal Union, said a ship left Toronto a few weeks ago carrying 900 trade unionists and their wives and only enough life boats and rafts for 200 persons.

Sullivan said: "Life boat drills are supposed to be held every week. I sailed the Great Lakes from 1922 to 1935 and only participated in one life boat drill. Fifty-one seamen were drowned last year. We intend to see it doesn't happen this year.

ITALY READY TO JOIN BRITAIN, FRANCE IN PATROL

FRENCH ARREST IRUN GOVERNOR TROUBLE BREWS

Prisoner Threatens Consul To Be Held

PARIS, Sept. 21—(CP-Havas). — Alleged threats against France and French officials by the insurgent governor of Irun, Spain, to-day complicated the far-flung French police investigation of an abortive attempt to capture the Spanish Government submarine C2 at Brest Saturday.

The Irun military governor, Major Juan Troncoso crossed the frontier into France yesterday and put himself at the disposal of the French authorities, declaring he and he alone was responsible for the submarine raid. He was taken into custody at Hendaye, questioned, set at liberty, and then arrested. It developed to-day that Special Commissioner Rene Ceugniard who released Troncoso, had been dismissed from the government service.

According to the Leftist newspaper Le Populaire, a warning that the arrest would be "equivalent to a declaration of war against insurgent Spain," was made by Major Troncoso in preliminary questioning by Ceugniard. This bold statement led to his arrest, the newspaper said.

The newspaper also reported Troncoso warned French authorities that the French Consul at insurgent-controlled San Sebastian would answer for any action taken against him and that he must be considered a hostage for his (Troncoso's) person.

Troncoso is head of the insurgent espionage service in the Franco-Spanish frontier region and had been in the habit of crossing the border to Hendaye almost daily.

SPADE SLAYING COSTS FIVE YEARS

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 21 (CP)—Five years in Kingston Penitentiary, less the nine months he has already been confined in Essex County Jail, was the sentence imposed by Mr. Justice A. C. Kingstone in Fall Assizes today on Kasper Gross, 38, Kingsville, 25 miles southeast of here, convicted of manslaughter in the spade-slaying of George Brown, 28, Windsor.

Although a Spring Assizes jury disagreed, Gross was found guilty one week ago of wielding a spade last Christmas Day which inflicted a head injury to Brown which resulted in his death one month later from abcess of the brain. The blow was struck during an altercation between Gross, George Brown and Stanley Brown, his brother, outside the Kingsville cottage of Stanley Brown.

"It was a drunken brawl," Mr. Justice Kingstone said before pronouncing sentence. "There was little, if any, provocation according to the evidence. We can't treat this offence lightly." Gross, a Jugo-Slavian, is married and has one child.

Kenya Tribe Riots Wrecks Building

MOMBASA, Kenya, Sept. 21.—(CP Cable)—Wholesale arrests have been made in the Moshi district of Tanganyika, where natives of the Wachagga tribe rioted and destroyed the buildings of the Kilimanjaro Native Coffee Union.

A company of the King's African Rifles and the Commissioner of Police left for the district, being patrolled by police and Royal Air Force planes.

Origin of the trouble is obscure. Apparently the natives became dissatisfied with the prices received for their coffee. Allegations of infiltration of Communist propaganda from South Africa also were considered.

Wilkins Party Safe Plane Down In Mackenzie Delta

Radio Message After 36-Hour Silence Reaches Aklavik as Search Planned

EDMONTON, Sept. 21.—(CP)—Captain W. R. (Wop) May, northern superintendent for Canadian Airways, said today he had been advised by wireless from Aklavik that Sir Hubert Wilkins' aerial party searching for the missing Russian fliers was still down on the Mackenzie river delta.

Sir Hubert and his four companions will wait a break in the weather before taking off in the flying boat for Aklavik.

Captain May was advised last night that the party was down.

The message ended fears the big Soviet-owned flying boat might have crashed. Last previous word of the fliers was their radio message Sunday saying weather was bad and they would attempt to land somewhere on the Mackenzie Delta.

The expedition was ending its fifth flight in search of Sigismund Levanevsky and five companions who disappeared in the Arctic Aug. 13. No further word was heard from Wilkins until Aklavik reported to may last night communications with the flying boat were re-established.

About To Start Search.

Pilot Art Rankin made ready at Aklavik to fly in search of Wilkins when anxiety was felt earlier.

Soviet flight representatives were reported from Fairbanks, Alaska, to have received word Wilkins and his party made a safe landing somewhere in the Delta but were so exhausted after the flight they slept from the time they landed Sunday until yesterday noon.

Wilkins was understood to be in doubt as to his exact position but expected to fly to Aklavik as soon as the weather clears.

With the explorer are Pilot Herbert Hollick-Kenyon of Toronto, Co-Pilot Al Cheesman, Port Arthur, and Mechanic Gerald Brown and Radio Operator Ray Booth, both of New York.

FIVE GRAND RAPIDS PLANTS PICKETED

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 21 (AP)—Five Grand Rapids industrial plants were picketed today as labor troubles spread from the furniture manufacturing field to a knitting mill and an auto appliance factory.

The number of workers who walked out was disputed in several cases but strikers said they were definitely picketing the following concerns:

Glove Knitting Works, which employs approximately 1,000; Imperial Furniture Co., 500 workers; Furniture Shops of America, 350 to 400 workers; Grand Rapids Chair Co., 200 workers, and W. B. Jarvis Co. (manufacturer of auto appliances), with number of employees not disclosed.

The Knitting Works management announced it intended to operate as usual despite the strike call of the United Garment Workers of America. Victor Moore, head of the employees' union of the knitting mill, said his group would not participate in the strike. Moore said his union had a big majority of the workers.

In most cases the factory managements announced police protection would be provided for workers not participating in strikes.

CAR PRICE SPREAD FIGHT ALWAYS ON IS MAKERS' CLAIM

OTTAWA, Sept. 21. — (CP)—Canadian motor car manufacturers are making every effort to reduce the spread between Canadian and United States' prices, H. J. Carmichael, vice-president and general manager of General Motors, Oshawa, declared to-day before the Tariff Board.

The Board, which opened its last session yesterday in its examination of the automobile industry, had asked for the manufacturers' answer to the question of why the retail price spread was 25 to 35 per cent. when the duty on American cars is only 17½ per cent.

As evidence his company was trying to cut the differential, Mr. Carmichael produced figures showing the retail mark-up on a typical small car was 29.5 per cent. higher than the American figure in 1937, whereas last year it had been 32 per cent.

On a larger car the spread had been reduced from 32½ to 29 per cent.

Aside from such factors as smaller output and higher distribution costs, Mr Carmichael stated Federal taxes played a considerable part in the spread. United States' Federal taxes on the small car were $18.60 or three per cent., while in Canada they were $52.02 or nine per cent.

One Per Cent. More.

The Canadian dealer in imported automobiles makes a profit only one per cent. more on his investment than the American dealer, A. O. Thorne of the Canadian Importers' Association, said.

Mr. Thorne was the first witness answering the request of the board to show why the price spread between Canadian and American cars is so broad.

Having regard to extra costs facing Canadian dealers, Thorne said, the one per cent. extra profit was not high.

For instance, the Canadian dealer in imported parts was not able to return them to the factory when they became obsolete, while the American dealer could send them back. Also the Canadian had to pay duty on promotion literature.

The spread between American and Canadian prices on imported cars averaged 35 per cent., Thorne said.

"The 35 per cent. is pretty high," Chairman George H. Sedgewick intervened.

Thorne added he believed the effective protection on Canadian-made cars is more than 30 per cent.

C. P. Hebert, member of the board, suggested this notion of 30 per cent. protection must include excise and sales having regard to the fact the import duty is only 17 per cent.

Thorne said sales and excise taxes had not been taken into account.

Must Be Some Protection.

M. N. Campbell, member of the commission, said this must lead to the conclusion "there must be some protection even if cars were absolutely free."

The chairman asked if a car could be bought in United States and brought into Canada cheaper than it could be bought from a domestic dealer.

Thorne said there was little difference. He added there were other inducements to buy in Canada, how-

Scrub Rugby Game Costs Hamilton Lad Life.

Hurt Saturday In Collision, Plays Again Monday And Hemorrhage Follows

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 21. — (CP)—Injured last Saturday in a game of scrub rugby, Walter Lloyd Grandy, 14, collapsed after participating in another game last night and died in hospital from cerebral hemorrhage.

Chief Coroner Dr. J. H. Mullin ordered an autopsy but it did not disclose a skull fracture. The hemorrhage was on the opposite side of the brain that was injured, but, according to medical evidence, resulted from the blow.

The boy played with several chums last Saturday in a scrub game and suddenly collided with another boy, striking his temple.

Dazed by the impact, he continued playing and apparently was in good health when he returned home. He attended school yesterday and went to the Hamilton Amateur Athletic Association grounds later.

During a scrub game there, Grandy was running when he developed an intense headache. He left and went home where he complained of a headache.

Later he became unconscious and Dr. W. G. Kenny was summoned. The boy did not respond to treatment and it was decided to remove him to hospital, where he died.

Dr. Miles Brown, assistant medical superintendent said the baby was suffering from intestinal intoxication. It was ill yesterday, but the mother did not realize the seriousness of its condition until it lapsed into a coma today.

Demand For Parity Is Granted By London And Paris

Spanish Premier Warns World War Sure Unless Cruel Conflict Over By Summer '38

ROME, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Italy agreed tonight to join Great Britain and France in the anti-piracy patrol of the Mediterranean.

Foreign Minister Galezzo Ciano advised the British and French governments of Italy's readiness to join the patrol on the basis of parity with those two nations.

Great Britain and France, the Italian government said, have agreed to this demand.

Italy previously had refused to join the patrol, set up by nine powers at Nyon, because she was offered only a comparatively minor role as guardian over the Tyrrhenian Sea just off her coast.

A communique stated Great Britain and France, through conversations by their Charges d'Affaires, had made clear they recognized fully the position of Italy as "a great Mediterranean power."

The British and French representatives proposed a meeting of naval experts of the three countries to determine modifications of a practical nature to the presently-drafted Nyon plan, thereby permitting full Italian participation.

This meeting is to be held shortly in Paris.

The communique observes that the Italian decision, like the preceding one concerning the Mediterranean anti-piracy patrol, had been taken with full knowledge of the German Government.

World War Coming.

GENEVA, Sept. 21.—(AP)—World war is almost inevitable said Spanish Premier Juan Negrin to-day, unless the Spanish civil conflict is over by next summer.

Speaking to newspapermen, Dr. Negrin said:

"If war is prolonged, the risk of world war becomes more real every day. If it doesn't end by next summer, it will be almost impossible to avoid world war. It can be finished next summer if the Spanish right to purchase raw materials is freely recognized."

JAPANESE DELAY BOMBING NANKING CITY WAITS TENSE

SHANGHAI, Sept. 21 (CP)—Japanese officials here said no air raid on Nanking may be expected today or tonight, despite threat to begin major attacks at noon. They declined to give reasons.

Washington Protests

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 (AP)—State Secretary Hull announced today that the United States had made representations to Japan in protest against that nation's announced intention to bomb Nanking from the air.

A Warning From London

LONDON, Sept. 21 (CP Cable)—Great Britain will hold Japan responsible if any British Nationals are killed or injured in bombardment of Nanking.

Sir Robert Craigie, newly-appointed British ambassador, today made formal representations to the Japanese government against the bombing of non-military objectives.

The British embassy in Nanking is next door to the Chinese Ministry of Communications and lies in a danger area.

NANKING, Sept. 21 (AP). — A tense silence settled over the Chinese capital today as the Japanese ultimatum to all foreigners to evacuate Nanking expired at noon. The Japanese, indicating destruction of Nanking was their aim, had warned they would not be responsible for the lives of foreigners after that hour.

The United States Embassy and the Italian Embassy were the only two to heed the Japanese warning that to remain in the capital might mean death. British and other diplomats refused to evacuate and counter-warned that the Japanese Government would be held responsible for any damage to their nationals or property.

The Italian move was considered to be dictated by the friendly relations between Rome and Tokyo. The Italians, however, moved their quarters only to a warship in the river and will make daily trips to the Embassy.

Officials Disagree.

A disagreement on policy was believed to have arisen between United States Ambassador Nelson Johnson and Admiral Harry Yarnell, commander-in-chief of the United States Asiatic fleet. Yarnell was known to be strongly against any yielding to the Japanese threat and was thought to have opposed Johnson's evacuation of the Embassy. Eighteen Americans are remaining there.

Anxious eyes scanned the midday skies for the heralded approach of the Japanese bombing squadrons. At the military airdromes the fleet Chinese fighting craft — the city's main defence—were tuned up and on the line ready to take to the air.

High overhead, scouting planes sat seemingly perched on cloud banks waiting to signal the approach of the Japanese raiders.

Chinese were fleeing the city by the thousands. They rushed quietly through the gloomy streets to the bombproof caves scooped out of the nearby hills.

WINDSOR CAPTIVE BELIEVED FIREBUG

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 21 (CP)—Possibility that George Kulikowski, 46, alleged "firebug," now held in Essex County Jail on a nominal vagrancy charge, may have been responsible for a series of disastrous fires in the Province of Quebec, will be probed today by D. C. Craig of the Ontario Fire Marshal's Office, Toronto.

Following his arrest August 19 on suspicion of having kindled three fires in Kingsville, 25 miles southeast of here, Kulikowski's finger-prints were sent to police in Quebec, Ottawa and Montreal to see if he might be linked to the Quebec fires. When questioned about these blazes, Kulikowski has invariably lapsed into a semi-coma.

Kulikowski has also been questioned by the Detroit arson squad in connection with the mysterious fire which destroyed Detroit's Western High School in 1935. While he is alleged to have spoken incoherently of burning a large public building in Detroit, investigators were unable to pin responsibility on him.

When he makes his next appearance in county police court Thursday, Kulikowski will be charged with arson in connection with the Kingsville fires, which caused a total damage of $5,000, Assistant Crown Attorney Roger J. Des Rosiers said today.

On previous appearances in court, Kulikowski has appeared to doze throughout the proceedings. But on two occasions he has made a break for liberty when the opportunity presented itself, being recaptured in short order each time.

Prisoner Escapes From Brampton

BRAMPTON, Ont., Sept. 21. — (CP)—One of three prisoners being held on charges of breaking and entering escaped from the municipal offices to-day. Two other men, who gave their names as Abe Adam and Percy Graham of Toronto, were held while the third got away.

The trio were arrested outside a service station, from which they fled when Sidney Dales drove up with Constable Ernest Armstrong. Dales noticed their car outside the station and became suspicious.

Unemployment relief is now unnecessary in 19 districts of France.

Three Brothers Slay General To Be Sure Of Vengeance

BELIEVED TO BE GRIFFON

BUFFALO, N.Y., Sept. 21.—(AP)—A 16-year-old diver, back from an exploration cruise of Lake Huron, said today definite trace was found of the explorer Lasalle's ship, the Griffon, lost in a storm nearly 250 years ago.

Eugene Kinney of Buffalo, official diver on an expedition headed by his uncle, Eugene F. MacDonald, Chicago industrialist, said their search had resulted in discovery near Manitoulin Island of wreckage believed to be the Griffon's keel.

Shoot Kentuckian On Street Day Of His Second Trial For Murdering Fiancee

SHELBYVILLE, Ky., Sept. 21. — (AP)—Brig Gen. Henry H. Denhardt, due to go on trial again today on charges of murdering his fiancee, was shot to death here last night.

The three brothers of Mrs. Verna Carr Taylor, whom the 61-year-old former Lieutenant-Governor of Kentucky was alleged to have slain, surrendered after the shooting, which occurred on the main street of this small tobacco town.

They were jailed without formal charges being made against them.

Denhardt, "stormy petrel" of Kentucky politics, who had survived three wars and had been wounded in a political controversy in Bowling Green in 1931, died of several bullet wounds.

Patrolman Jeptha Tracey said Roy Carr admitted firing the fatal shots. He was jailed with his two brothers, Dr. E. S. Carr and Jack Carr.

Tracey said Roy Carr said "I did it" as he turned over a 45 calibre revolver with two shells discharged.

The patrolman said he took a 38 calibre revolver from Dr. Carr with all the shells discharged.

Coast Guards Quit Seeking Endeavour, Sunk Or On Way To England

Boston, Sept. 21.—(AP)

THE United States Coast Guard today terminated its search for the British yacht Endeavor I, convinced she either had sunk, or was on her way to England.

The search ended after four Coast Guard craft scoured several thousand square miles of the North Atlantic in a search covering an area 450 miles east of Boston to Sable Island, off the Nova Scotia coast.

Endeavor I, in tow of the British Viva, broke her tow line during a gale a week ago, 200 miles east of Nantucket Lightship.

Ex-Doughboys Give 5th Avenue "The Works" In Grand Style

500,000 In Mammoth Parade Keep Vast Throng Pop-Eyed With Their Antics

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(CP). — The "old Madmuseil from Armistee-e-e-e"—that legendary lady of 1917—along with the rest of New York got the works to-day from a rollicking bunch of ex-Doughboys who set the town on wheels for the American Legion's annual convention.

The visitors, crowding close to the 600,000-mark reached the peak of their celebrations with a mammoth parade down Fifth avenue starting about the time ordinary city dwellers munched bacon and eggs.

When the last trumpet has been blown and the Legionnaires "dismiss" they should be as tired as they ever were coming out of the line.

Old Madmuseil and the quaint little spot that is Manhattan virtually reeled from the long and persisting musical (and sometimes not too musical) salute from the doughboys. They paraded about in models.

The "40 and eight" section, the dyed-in-the-wool Legion funsters, kept hundreds of thousands of New Yorkers pop-eyed with their antics. They parade about in models

Signs Barlike was alive were found by searchers yesterday, and they centred their hunt where the name "Bill Barlike" and an arrow were seen freshly carved in a tree trunk.

Doctor Loses Fight In Dakota Wilds To Deadly Rattler Poison

Rapid City, S.D., Sept. 21 (AP)

DR. Paul D. Emerson, 55, senior soil scientist of the United States Soil Conservation Service, died in a lonely canyon eight miles from here while attempting to stem the poison of a rattlesnake bite.

Fellow officials found the body slumped against his machine yesterday. Around the left leg below the knee was a tourniquet. Dr. Emerson had applied in an effort to keep the poison from spreading from the bite on his ankle.

The victim also had used a razor blade to make an incision. In his hand was a suction pump, part of the equipment he carried in a new snake-bite kit.

LIBERAL POLICIES SAVED NEWSPRINT HEPBURN CLAIMS

COBOURG, Ont., Sept. 21.—(CP).—Prompt and aggressive action by the Liberal administration at Queen's Park prevented the migration of the newsprint industry from Northern Ontario to the Southern States, Premier Mitchell Hepburn told a campaign meeting here last night.

Elaborating on the Government's timber policy before a Liberal rally, Mr. Hepburn said these policies had halted a trend by the industry toward the south after scientific research made possible the manufacture of newsprint from southern pine.

When the Liberals came into office in 1934, he said, large areas of Crown lands had been granted to friends of former Conservative governments who were holding them for speculative purposes. They were demanding fancy prices from pulp and paper manufacturers.

As the feasibility of making paper from southern pine woods was demonstarted manufacturers started building mills in the south and in a year $64,000,000 was invested in the mills in the south.

The Government introduced legislation to reclaim the alienated timber limits for the Crown and it was fought "to the last ditch" by Conservatives in the Legislature, he said.

When the timber areas were reclaimed, the government was able to bargain with pulp and paper manufacturers and to lease these interests cutting rights on Crown territory in return for a guarantee to erect mills and guaranteed continuity of operation.

12 New Mills in Sight

As a result 12 new mills were under construction or projected in Northern Ontario with a total investment of $50,000,000.

The Government's action, he said, brought prosperity instead of stagnation to Northern Ontario. When it took office more than 30,000 people were on relief in the North. Today there was a shortage of skilled bushmen in both logging and pulpwood cutting camps.

Unemployment had been practically eliminated in Northern Ontario, he claimed. At the same time, a deficit in the Lands and Forests department had been turned into a profit of $4,000,000 this year, and next year it would be $7,000,000. The year after, when mills now being con-

SEARCH RENEWED FOR CUTTEN CASH

CHICAGO, Sept. 21 (AP) — Administrators of the estate of the late Arthur W. Cutten, once reputed to be the biggest grain trader in La Salle street, intensified their efforts today to determine his true wealth at the time of his death June 24, 1936.

Dwight H. Green, former United States district attorney, who is representing the administrator, the American National Bank and Trust Co., yesterday won the probate court's approval for the employment of two special investigators.

Green said the two men would do most of their work at Toronto, and would leave for there in a day or two. The investigators are Joseph H. Gellen, a public accountant who once worked for Cutten, and E. H. McDermott, a tax expert.

Reports have persisted since Cutten's death that his estate was far greater than the $350,000 estimate filed with his will. Rumor had it that much of his holdings were in Canada under various names and symbols.

That report was followed by a supplemental inventory listing holdings at Guelph, Ont., including a golf course valued at $50,000.

$2,000,000 Demanded

Claims against the Cutten estate approximate $2,000,000, the largest of which is the government's demand for $1,132,000 for allegedly unpaid income taxes and interest. Cutten was indicted twice for income tax evasion shortly before his death.

Green said the investigators would attempt to trace Cutten's dealings in various brokerage accounts in Canada and the United States. There were between 75 and 100 such accounts used by the "little giant of the grain pits," whose activities were hidden from competing traders under various names and figures or symbols, Green said.

Cutten's wealth was once estimated as high as $100,000,000. Some reports said he lost heavily in the 1929 market crash and in later dealings. Others were that he transferred many assets to his brothers in Canada or secreted them there under other names.

Just before his death he won a supreme court fight against the government's attempt to bar him from trading in grains.

"SUFFERED SIX YEARS WITH CONSTIPATION"

"For six years I suffered with constipation, and I decided to try ALL-BRAN. I have been eating it once a day for about four years, and it has certainly done the work." —Mrs. Herman Futrell (address on request).

Tests prove that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is safe and effective for correcting common constipation.

Within the body, ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water, and gently exercises and cleanses the intestines. It also furnishes vitamin B to tone the intestines, and iron for the blood.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily, either as a cereal with milk or cream, or in cooked dishes. Three times daily in severe cases. You'll find this food far better than habit-forming pills and drugs. ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London.

PICKPOCKETS BUSY AT LINDSAY FAIR

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, Sept. 21.—According to police reports pickpockets were very much in evidence at Lindsay Fair. A resident of Omemee named McQuade, Chief Lawler reports, had the sum of one hundred dollars extracted from his person by a light fingered individual. Others lost sums ranging as high as ten dollars.

Director of the Lindsay Central Fair were not in a position yesterday to state whether or not they will come out on the right side of the ledger following the three bad days of the annual show. The attendance on the three days was not up to last year's record. The Saturday night program had to be abandoned on account of the rain, and this will out down the grandstand receipts.

Fred J. Reed, B.A., of Reaboro, a teacher in the West China Mission, was the guest speaker at the Lindsay Rotary luncheon Monday. He delivered a very interesting address on the causes of the present "undeclared war" in China. Boycotts, he claimed, were responsible for the trouble. The boycott, he said, was born in China, and is instinctive in the Chinese people. The people stand upon the legality of boycotts. They see no other way of pushing back the necroachments of modern industrial nations in the country.

The death took place at Ross Hospital of a well-known resident of Eldon township, in the person of John Graham, aged 48 years. His death followed injuries sustained while working on a stone crusher. He was a member of St. Andrew's church, Eldon, and also a member of L.O.L. No. 935, Hartley. He is survived by his wife, two sons and one daughter.

Alice Maude Osborne, sister of Richard Osborne, of Peterborough, passed away at her home, 94 Russell street, town. She was born in Peniel and took up residence in Lindsay about seven months ago. She is survived by four brothers and three sisters.

MARSHALL SCORES ROWE'S FIGURES

FINGAL, Ont., Sept. 21 (CP).—Hon. Earl Rowe, Conservative leader in Ontario, was charged by Agriculture Minister Duncan Marshall last night with making false statements on the reduction of motor car license fees already in effect in Ontario. Mr. Marshall was the principal speaker in support of Premier Hepburn's candidature in Elgin, in the October 6 Provincial election. He claimed Mr. Rowe had said "the rich man's car would be assessed $25 less, despite the fact the Premier had announced a flat decrease of $5 for each car. This, he said, was incorrect.

The speaker ridiculed Mr. Rowe's proposal to refund part of the fee paid by farmers who could not use their cars throughout the winter.

BREAD CONTROL BOARD PROPOSED

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 21—(CP)—A Bread Control Board should be set up to regulate bread prices in the same way the Ontario Milk Control Board now regulates the price of milk, thus protecting the public from exploitation, David A. Croll, Liberal member in the last Legislature for Windsor-Walkerville riding and candidate for re-election in the Ontario October elections, said here last night.

Mr. Croll charged Windsor bakeries which recently raised the price of bread from 10 to 11 cents a loaf were a "combine" which should be investigated by the Federal Government under the Combines Investigation Act.

"I don't care about the increase in prices if it is necessary to maintain service and keep up the quality of the bread," Mr. Croll said. "I don't care if the increase is going into wages. But the bread companies should have to prove that before they can raise the price of bread as they have just done.

"To-day the price is high enough, but how do you know it won't go higher. If the bakeries tell you tomorrow the price will be 15 cents, what could you do about it? You'd pay or else do without.

"You've stood these increases long enough. Now the time has come to do something about it. If I'm elected I'll see that something is done about it."

SALARIES RAISED NEW AGREEMENT CORNWALL MILL

CORNWALL, Sept. 21.—Workers in the rayon mill of Courtaulds (Canada) Limited here, are receiving a general wage increase of three cents per hour, one week's holiday with pay and other benefits under a new agreement signed by the company and Cornwall Rayon Workers' Union, Arthur Laverty, union President, announced yesterday. Details of the agreement were confirmed by E. Hazeley, Courtaulds manager.

The agreement provides for recognition of the union as the collective bargaining agency, for company employees who are, or may become members of the union, but does not affect the company's right to employ nonunion labor. The union has agreed not to intimidate or coerce workers into joining the union, a clause of the agreement provides that "all departmental questions shall be later negotiated between the company and the union."

Effective September

The three-cent-per-hour general increase was effective Sept. 12. Time-and-a-half will be paid for all overtime in excess of a normal eight-hour day and for work on Sundays or four national holidays, New Year's, Christmas, Dominion Day and Labor Day. Each of the company's 2,200 workers will be given one week's holidays with pay each year, and those whose work does not permit them to observe the national holidays will be given ten days' vacation with pay. LIBERAL RALLIES HELD IN CHANDOS

Liberal rallies in the northeast corner of the county were held at Glenalda on Friday night, where Alex. L. Elliott was assisted by Rork Ferguson, M.P., and at Apsley Saturday night, where the speakers were Mr. Elliott, Warden Roy Brown, Mr. Ferguson and F. D. Kerr, K.C.

Mr. Kerr said that during the election campaigns of the last fifteen or twenty years, speakers found themselves in the unpleasant position of having to refer to deficits and depression and a general situation that seemed to offer no hope for improvement. In the present appeal to the electors every supporter of the Hepburn government was in the happy role of advocate for an administration that had balanced the budget, reduced taxes, and also paid off a large part of the Provincial debt. Liberal speakers felt enthusiastic, Mr. Kerr said, in appealing to the citizens for the re-election of the Hepburn government and in the election of Mr. Elliott for the county and city of Peterborough.

Pump Line Clogs Barge Sinks

FRONTPORT, Mich. Sept. 21. —(AP).—United States coast guardsmen here blamed a clogged pump line for the sinking of the motor barge J. H. Redfern, in Lake Michigan, one mile off Point Betsy, yesterday.

The coast guard station here said the barge, en route from Michigamme to Filer City, started leaking off North Manitou Island. An hour later, they said, flares were sent up, and the Ann Arbor car ferry No. 7 stood by. The barge's pumps were unable to handle the increasing amount of water in the hold, and as the barge sank lower in the water, waves whipped up by a strong northwest wind carried away the deck load and the pilot house. Guards took the crew off.

League Refuses To Grant Spain Seat For Three Years

Britain Willing to Talk With Any Nation Asking Lower Bar To Colonial Trade

GENEVA, Sept. 21.—(CP-Havas).—Great Britain is ready to contribute to world economic betterment by opening discussions with all governments looking toward a modification of preferential customs duties in British colonial territories, Foreign Secretary Eden told the League of Nations Assembly today.

He also said a most-favored-nation agreement between Great Britain and the United States "would be of capital interest to the entire world."

Eden spoke after the Assembly had refused to grant Spain a seat in the League Council for the next three years. The Valencia government failed by nine vote to obtain the two-thirds majority necessary for a new term on the Council. Her previous three-year term expires this year.

The British foreign secretary appealed to Italy to join in the Mediterranean anti-pirate patrol by stressing the Nyon powers did not want to eliminate any Mediterranean States from their collective moves.

He said the Nyon accord contained clauses providing for consideration of new proposals at any time, with the door left open to other participants. However, he stressed that the accord had to be pushed through rapidly since the removal of this "new type of piracy" was an urgent matter.

Making satisfactory note of a recent improvement in economic conditions, Eden said Great Britain's protectionist policy was unjustly criticized. An important part of the British market remains largely open, aiding world economic recovery and proving Britain's policy is elastic, he said.

The foreign secretary expressed certain countries in a "disadvantageous colonial position" had not collaborated with the League's raw materials commission.

The raw materials problem is not essentially a colonial problem since colonial regions furnish barely three per cent of the world's raw material supplies, he stated.

Main Trouble is Cash.

"We are convinced that no modification in the preferential customs system can resolve the difficulties besetting various countries who have established currency control and who find themselves in a disadvantageous position," he added.

"These countries do not have difficulty in obtaining raw materials, but in paying for them.

"These payment difficulties are linked with a problem greater than that of raw materials. They hinge on freedom of commercial exchanges. Their solution demands concerted action by the various governments aimed at abolition of trade quotas and currency restrictions.

"Great Britain is ready to collaborate in moves designed to improve trade exchanges, but efforts in this direction will only prove effective if the coutries laboring under difficulties are ready to modify their policies with a view toward re-establishing normal commercial relations and renewing confidence.

"Regardless of what ideologies they favor Governments have one aim—to improve the living conditions of their people. We can gain through collaboration and can lose everything through conflict."

He said the United States, second largest import market of the world, had adopted a vigorous customs-lowering policy.

In discussing the Spanish problem, Eden stressed that London had backed all attempts to localize the civil strife in the Iberian Peninsula.

ROTARIANS TOLD OF STRANGE IDEAS ABOUT THE TEETH

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 21. — Superstitions, ancient and modern, concerning the teeth were related by Rotarian Dr. Hugh R. McLaren at Monday's luncheon held in the St. Lawrence Hotel.

"Teeth have been from time immemorial objects of speculation and adoration," the speaker said. "The story is told in the Talmud of a braggart who boasting of his knowledge of astronomy, was asked by a Rabbi how many teeth he had. The man's negative reply evoked the following: 'You do not know what is in your mouth, so how could you be expected to know what is in the sky'!

"Even to-day there are many who do not know the number of teeth they are supposed to have," Dr. McLaren said.

The speaker introduced his subject, "Folklore in Dentistry," with several observations by Aristotle whose statement that the "molar teeth never change in man or in any other animal," brought forth the comment that it was remarkable that such a man as Aristotle should have forgotten that he shed his deciduous teeth as a child.

African Dentistry

"In certain portions of Africa there are many queer ideas regarding the manner in which the oral cavity may enhance its beauty by various manipulations with the dentures." One of the most popular ideas which still exists is that removal of the lower incissors improves and adds to the facial beauty. The removal of these teeth is accompanied by a great deal of ceremony. The actual extraction takes place after a couple of huskies take hold of the "victim's legs and arms, then a small wooden prop is placed in position to keep the mouth open, after which with the aid of a stone hammer and wooden staff the offending denture is removed.

The patron Saint Appolonia was tortured first by having her teeth removed one by one then burned at the stake for her refusal to renounce her Christian belief. Another story in the Talmud indicates the toothache was a punishment for some misdeed.

An Old Superstition

In the Fiji Islands the belief still exists that an expectant mother should not eat fish lest her child be born with the teeth of a fish.

Many and varied are the beliefs and ideas pertaining to the lessening of pain at teething time in babies, and to ensure the permanency of the teeth from decay. Rubbing butter, honey and the brain of a hare on the gums of the baby in Greece are believed to make teething easier, while rubbing with the teeth of any wild animal is believed to aid in another country. In Bavaria the father rises without speaking to anyone else in the house, proceeds to wet his thumb and rub it on the baby's gums in the name of the Holy Trinity.

A pleasant little custom in Southwest China is for the bridegroom to take his bride outside on the wedding day and gently but firmly knock out her front teeth, while in Formosa the practice of removing two of the front teeth to facilitate breathing is adopted.

An ancient belief in Germany was that to rub the tooth of a dead person on an offending molar would take away the pain of toothache. These and many other ancient myths are still held in parts of the world.

Decorative Teeth.

In some places the extracted tooth is used for decorative purposes, while in others it is made into tools, used in the lancing of boils, and for cones used in dressing the hair. In the Congo the teeth of the wild boar are used as money. Extraction is the oldest form of dentistry, with the rubbing of the gun with the fat of a green frog being listed as a means of loosening the tooth to cause it to fall out. "However," the speaker assured his listeners, "even modern dentistry is not quite that simple."

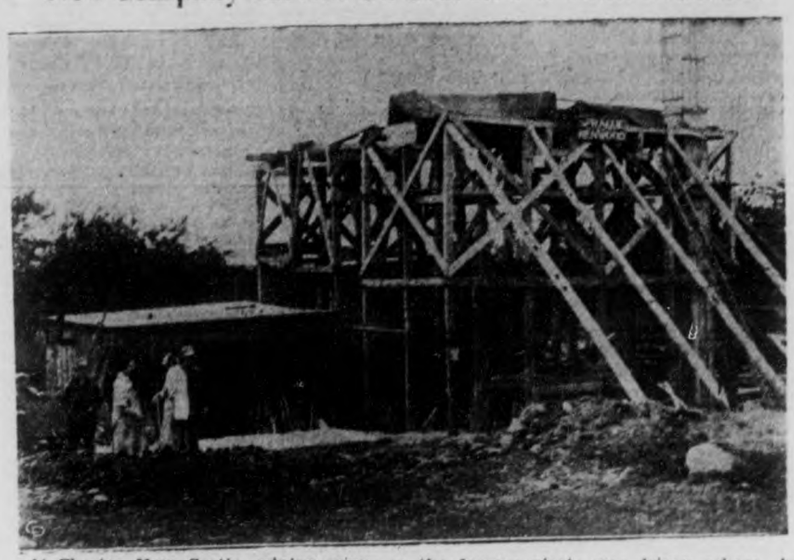
It will be restricted to the town's main section of its present half-mile stretch.

New Company Carries On Search For Kidd Treasure



At Chester, Nova Scotia, mining operations are underway to find the hidden treasure of the pirate, Captain Kidd. The operations, undertaken by the Seventh Oak Treasure Co., have already driven a shaft down 125 feet in the face of terrific difficulty in keeping the shaft free of water. It is the 29th shaft to have been sunk since 1795 when parties began looking for the booty said to have been buried there when the famous pirate was driven ashore by naval vessels pursuing him. Various syndicates have spent upward of $500,000 looking for the wealth. As far back as 1830 drills brought up particles of gold, and 1877 what was believed to have been the cache was struck and links of an ancient gold chain came to the surface. The present company is using electrical pumps and hoists.

BLANK CHEQUE IS GIVEN OFFICIALS TO BATTLE POLIO

TORONTO, Sept. 21.—(CP). — As Ontario Medical Health officials to-day renewed a stern struggle against infantile paralysis they had the "blank cheque" support of the Ontario Department of Health. Hon. Dr. J. A. Faulkner, Minister of Health, reviewed the Department's battle against the disease in a Cobourg address last night.

A "blank cheque" was given the Department by the Government to fight the disease, the Minister told a Cobourg audience. "At a time like this we don't think in terms of money," said Dr. Faulkner.

"If the expenditure of money in various ways can help in saving lives and curbing the disease, then the Ontario Department of Health will have been of service to the people of the province," the Minister said. "We are spending thousands of dollars daily and will continue to do so as long as is necessary."

Number of Cases Dropping.

No indication was forthcoming throughout Canada yesterday that the disease was disappearing, although the number of cases reported daily was dropping. Strict measures, were still in force in Ontario, centres of the outbreak, in Western Canada and the Maritimes.

Serum for 1,844 cases has been supplied by the Ontario Health Department.

Toronto recorded 30 new cases from Saturday noon till early Monday evening. This brought the total Toronto cases since the outbreak to 591.

Galt officials yesterday decided to close the city Collegiate to pupils from South Dumfries and Beverly townships where three cases have occurred. All school fairs in Waterloo county were cancelled. McMaster University, Hamilton, will not open until Oct. 6.

Tablet Unveiled At Millbrook To Memory Of Mrs. Wm. C. Allen

St. Thomas' Church, Millbrook, Honors Memory Of Late Rector's Wife

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Sept. 21.—A feature of peculiar interest at the morning service of St. Thomas' Anglican church on Sunday was the unveiling of a tablet in memory of the late Mrs. William Cartwright Allen, the Venerable Archdeacon William Simpson, B.A., making the address, and offering the dedicatory prayers.

The dedication ceremony immediately followed the entry of the choir and clergy singing the processional hymn, "For All the Saints Who From Their Labors Rest." The tablet was the gift of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Thomas' church, and is placed at the left door into the vestry, facing the chancel, the companion tablet to the memory of Mrs. Allen's husband, the late Reverend Canon William Cartwright Allen, being parallel to it at the right of the vestry door.

Appropriately, the tablet is almost opposite the pipe organ at which Mrs. Allen presided for forty-seven years as organist, and which, through her initiative and untiring efforts, was installed in the church. The inscription on the tablet reads: "To the Glory of God, and in Loving Memory of Mrs. William Cartwright Allen, who entered into rest May 6, 1936. Presented by the W.A. of St. Thomas' Church."

For a period of thirty years Mrs. Allen was president of the W.A., capably filling the office and was honorary president up to the time of her death. Mrs. C. M. Westmacott succeeded her in the presidency and still holds the position.

Thanksgiving Service

Sunday morning was the annual Harvest Thanksgiving service in St. Thomas' Church, which was beautifully decorated with flowers, grain, fruits, and vegetables for the occasion, the rector bringing an inspirational message based on Psalm 19-1 and emphasizing the fact that "these annual harvest thanksgiving services are among the most popular on the church's calendar, and show that man recognizes God in nature; that God is with us and has been active on man's behalf. We are declaring today that the God of the harvest field, the God of the garden, is the same God whom we worship in all our church services."

"Purpose, sacrifice, obedience and submission are laws prevailing in the natural and the human realm, but in the latter case they are superseded by the greater law of grace exemplified in the love of God."

Announcement was made that on Sunday, September 26, at 7 p.m. Right Rev. Dr. Fleming, Bishop of the Arctic, will preach in St. Thomas' Church. The rector also read a letter from the Primate of all Canada stressing the need in the west this year, especially in Southern Saskatchewan, and the intention locally of trying to fill a car from Millbrook and district, including Pontypool, Bethany, Springville, Ida, Baliieboro, etc., a public meeting to be held in the Town Hall on Wednesday night to discuss the project. Reeve P. Stinson has been named "key man" in connection with this undertaking.

It's in the NEWS!

THERE are two classes of news in Examiner columns every day: (1) Interesting stories about events all over the world; and (2) The advertisements. Yes, the advertisements are news, and in many ways, the most important of all, because they affect you more directly and personally than any other.

A new and better method of refrigeration is devised — and you learn about it through advertisements. Improvements are added to automobiles which make them safer than ever—again advertisements carry the story. Styles change in clothing—and advertisements rush the news to your doorstep. A manufacturer finds a way to lower the price on his products—he advertises to tell you about the savings.

You'll find that it pays to follow this news every day. Reading Examiner advertisements is the sure way to keep abreast of the world . . . to learn of new comforts and conveniences . . . to get full money's worth for every dollar you spend.

This Is The Last Chance

The warning may not accomplish anything very useful; nevertheless The Examiner would be remiss in its duty as a community newspaper if it did not call the attention of urban voters to the fact that the revision of the lists in the forthcoming election ends tonight, so that there is just this one last chance to have names that may have been omitted, added.

We are satisfied that a good many people who are complacently doing nothing at all about the matter will find when it is too late that their names have been left off the list. There has been a lot of what, for lack of a better name, we might call sloppy enumeration in Peterborough and as a result, there are folk who will not have a chance to use their franchise on October 6 if they do not take advantage of the opportunity furnished by the revising proceedings which come to a close tonight.

You have a few hours this evening to attend to this important piece of business. If you have not already done so we would suggest that you call up one of the party committee rooms where the lists are available and find out whether or not your name appears. If by any mischance it has been left off you still have an opportunity to make sure of your franchise by appearing before the revising officer for your district. That opportunity expires tonight. Finding out tomorrow that you have been missed will be of no avail for in urban centres there is no chance of having a name added after the revision of the lists has ended. They have a little more scope in the villages and townships for the election act allows eligible voters whose names are not on the lists to be sworn in at the polls on the endorsation of another voter in the same subdivision whose name is on the offical roster.

Mrs. Fleming Sets An Example

It strikes us that the announcement from Mrs. Isabella Fleming, 93-year-old resident of Smith township that she proposes to exercise her franchise at the coming election throws a challenge at a whole mass of electors who are more or less indifferent as to the result of the campaign. We have heard so many say that they did not care whether or not their names were put on the voters' list and so many others declare that they were not very much concerned about who might happen to be elected that this emphatic declaration from a nonogenarian elector is a welcome and refreshing change.

Mrs. Fleming, in view of her advanced years, could have been very easily pardoned if she had taken the position that having borne the heat and burden of the day over so long a period she might be allowed to enjoy the twilight of her life without being bothered about such things as elections but she has refused to do anything of the kind. Rather does she prefer to get out on October 6th and discharge her responsibility as a citizen of the banner province of the Dominion.

It seems to us that if we were one of the political workers in the district where this "grand old lady" lives we would feel like hurrying over to Mrs. Fleming's home without delay and saying to her something like this: "Mrs. Fleming, I do not know how you are going to vote when election day comes around, and I don't care. I just want to have the honor and privilege of driving you to the polls". That would be a nice gesture and a recognition of the example this 93-year-old elector is setting for the rest of the community.

Coming Into His Own

The motorist who has been the target of governments ever since gasoline-propelled vehicles made their appearance on the highways seems to be coming into his own at last as a result of the present election campaign. From regarding him merely as a milch cow, the politicians have got around to the point where they recognize the fact that there are a lot of folk who own cars and that they all have votes and accordingly there is a sort of auction sale going on at present, with the support of the motoring fraternity sought on all sides.

Premier Hepburn started the thing off by cutting five dollars off the cost of automobile licenses for next year and, reluctant as he must have been to get the publicity attendant upon such a step in the midst of an election campaign, arranged to have the plates go on sale at once.

Then along came the C. C. F. with a manifesto that not only promised to reduce the automobile license fees but also offered to cut a hunk off the gasoline tax as well, thus boosting the government bid.

And now Hon. Earl Rowe has come to bat with still another concession for the harassed motorist. There are a lot of folk, he says, especially on the back concessions and in the north who do not use their cars in the winter months. Why should they be compelled to pay a license fee for the whole year when they only are part-time drivers? And so Mr. Rowe has promised that if he is called upon to form a government the people who do not use their cars in the cold weather will only have to return their licenses and they will be given a rebate for the period in which their machines are laid up.

It is a merry little game, this manoeuvring for the votes of the car-owners and it seems to put a rather low estimate upon the intelligence of the electorate.

Strangely enough none of the parties is making a plea for the support of the pedestrian. Or perhaps it is not so strange. Probably the boards of strategy have decided that the pedestrian is not a good risk and that he may not last until election day.

We Wish Them Luck

The rural mail carriers of this district have gone some distance toward getting their claims for better remuneration for their services recognized by forming a branch of the Rural Mail Couriers' Association of Canada. The object of the organization is to seek to abolish "cut-throat" bidding for rural mail contracts and it is self-evident that there is more chance of accomplishing that end if they are able to present a united front than by spasmodic protests from one district or another.

The men who carry the mails in rural Canada are asking that they be paid on a mileage basis in accordance with the length of the routes. As The Examiner said a few days ago, that is the plan followed in the United States and it appears to be a much fairer method than the haphazard system under which Canadian rural mail is handled. We believe that the men who in all kinds of weather see that the farmers of the country receive their letters and papers are entitled to a decent wage for their work and that more than that, they should have a feeling of security in their jobs so long as the service they render is satisfactory.

This practice of having to work under the handicap of knowing that the next time the contract is let someone may come along and offer to do the job for less money is not the kind of treatment the government of a prosperous country should accord its employees and incidentally is not the kind of treatment that is usually given civil servants.

We are not blaming the present administration at Ottawa for the existing system. It has been in force for many years and has been followed by government after government. It may—and probably does—represent a saving but we are not sure that the people of Canada are anxious to have public expenditure cut down at the expense of a poorly paid class of government employees.

We wish the new association luck in its efforts to improve conditions for its members. Nothing unreasonable is being asked and it may be that if the rural mail carriers keep on carrying their request to the door of parliament the time will come when a more sympathetic attitude will be adopted by the powers-that-be.

An Important Highway

Lining up with other local organizations, the Rotary club has set its seal of approval upon the suggestion that the Ontario government should proceed at once with the construction of the Yonge Street-Peterborough link of the Orangeville-Ottawa highway.

Apparently Queens Park is committed to an extensive program of road construction. That being the case, the promoters of the new trunk road between Orangeville and Ottawa should have no difficulty in putting up such a strong argument in favor of the immediate undertaking of this important link that Queens Park would be completely sold on the merits of the plan. From a general view-point this particular highway has much to commend it. In the first place it would offer a parallel road to King's Highway No. 2 and thus relieve a lot of the congestion on that thoroughfare caused by heavy east and west traffic. In the second place it would afford a trunk road for a populous and prosperous farming section of Central Ontario, giving the residents therein better connections with the highway system of the province.

So far as Peterborough is concerned, there is every reason why this whole community should be pressing for the speedy building of this road which would reach Peterborough from Yonge Street via Port Perry, Bethany, Cavan and a short stretch of Highway 28. The most obvious reason why we should want this link completed is the decidedly important one that it would shorten the distance between this city and Toronto by eighteen miles and that is a consideration not to be lightly disregarded. Moreover, with a good highway into Peterborough from their district, hundreds of farmers along the route of the proposed link would make this city their shipping and shopping centre, a development that would be of much benefit to Peterborough's merchants.

It is to be hoped the campaign will be pushed so vigorously and receive such unanimous support all along the line of the link that is now being asked for that the Ontario government will hasten to include the Yonge Street-Peterborough road in the list of those highways that are listed under the heading "Must be built at once".

Piracy Is Ended

Although the "anti-piracy" patrol in the Mediterranean by Great Britain and France is just beginning, the purpose it is designed to serve may safely be considered as having been accomplished. There will be no more interference with the ships of Russia, Great Britain and France carrying food and supplies of war to Spain. No more will the mysterious submarines of unknown powers emerge from the deep, send their destructive forces against vessels engaged in legitimate business and disappear as swiftly as they appeared.

The change, of course, is easily explained. England and France have sent a wartime armada into the Mediterranean. Their assembled vessels represent the most powerful naval concentration the world has witnessed in twenty years. Accompanying the fleets are planes which will maintain a constant patrol from the air.

It is not unfair to assume that the pirate submarines have been sent into the Mediterranean by Italy. This charge has been made repeatedly by Russia, while other nations, refraining for diplomatic reasons from definitely fixing responsibility upon Italy, are known to be in possession of evidence supporting the Russian charge.

Italy knows that it is no longer safe to continue submarine aggressions. The situation holds danger from two sources—the revelation to the world that she is engaged in piratical operations, which is not a pleasant thing to be known, and the peril of swift, devastating retaliation from the naval might of Great Britain and France in the Mediterranean.

The risks are too great and will not be incurred. The mere presence in the Mediterranean of battleships and cruisers, destroyers, chasers and planes will bring submarine piracy to an end.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Mistakes on the part of enumerators are giving a lot of people a chance to say "Good morning, Judge."

Australians are teaching their dogs to play cricket and one thing is certain the canines will have expert teaching.

Fable: Once there was a woman who looked at the newspaper advertisements and still felt satisfied with her kitchen.

The pioneers did not know they were heroes and maybe future generations will wonder at our bravery in daring to travel the highways.

Col. Geo. Drew is predicting the advent of a new political party. Before he gets in too deep we would suggest that he have a talk with Hon. Harry Stevens.

Hon. R. C. Matthews says he has always found Canadian newsmen a gentlemanly and well-informed lot. Thanks, Mr. Matthews, that certainly is cricket.

The re-election of Paddy Draper as head of the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress is the best kind of evidence that Dominion workers want to proceed on safe and sane lines.

Leamington after having been officially dry for 27 years has now voted itself wet. That whizzing sound you hear is the rush of folk who hope to get beverage room authorities.

Another public meeting in Alberta has called upon Premier Aberhart to resign but the Premier will probably be content to move that the communication be received.

Work is going to start at once on $206,000 worth of new roads in Victoria and Haliburton, and we do not suppose that Wm. Newman, member for the district, has protested very vigorously against the expenditure.

Another thing that will interfere with the politicians getting out the vote on October 6 is that the world series opens that day. Try getting a fan to leave the radio when Joe DiMaggio is facing Carl Hubbell with the bases full.

PAGEANT

Down the pageant of the scattered years
There are some jewelled memories, set apart,
Love's first young kiss, than which there cannot be
A thing more precious; summer smells
Of wild strawberries on a country road;
The drifting smoke of some French fisher's home
Along the Gaspe Coast.

And Northern lakes, like sapphires in the sun;
Grey Northern hills, with hidden golden veins;
And our own Northern city, lighted up
At dusk; and motor-cars that slip along
Like golden beads along a hidden string,
Over the far horizon.

Oh, life is good! so live it to the full!
Welcome adventure, for the time is brief,
And all too soon will come the lonely day
When all dear, warm things must be laid aside,
And you and I lie down, to go to dust;
To colour, maybe, some red velvet rose,
Or be a flaming bush on yon grey slope.

ST. LOUIS seems to have established its title as the breeding spot for a special type of sleeping sickness. This kind of encephalitis first appeared four years ago at St. Louis, laid 1,000 low and killed 200 directly or by rendering them susceptible to heart failure or pneumonia. That epidemic subsided with the passing of 1933's hot weather and there was no notable reappearance of the disease until this summer. A little over a week ago the fresh outbreak began with nearly 200 victims and 40 deaths already.

Although this disease, a virus which attacks the nervous system resembles in some respects infantile paralysis practically all its victims are adults, not children.

Two new artificial lungs for use in the treatment of infantile paralysis have recently been announced, the devices being cheaper and simpler than the $1,000 to $2,450 big steel boxes now in use for that purpose. One of the new respirators consists of a copper hood which fits over the patient's abdomen from hips to ribs, the other of an aluminum hood which covers the entire torso from hips to collar bone. Intermittent air suction in the abdominal hood expands and contracts a patient's lungs by forcing his diaphragm up and down while similar suction in the torso hood compels breathing by moving both the diaphragm and the chest wall.

School Attendance Down

LAST WEEK the United States office of Education estimated that the elementary school enrollment this fall at 20,206,000, a million fewer than at the 1930 peak. The downhill trend whose start accompanied a rapid fall in the birth rate during the depression is expected to continue at least until 1941.

This year 1.33 per cent. more people belong to United States churches than last year reported the Christian Herald in releasing its annual church statistics. But Statistician Roger Ward Babson moderator of the National Council of the Congregational—Christian church has recently impugned the Herald's figures in a sermon in which he said that church rolls" contain not only the names of millions who have repudiated the church of their youth—but also millions who are dead and buried physically."

Thomas M. ("Doc") Sayman, 83 years old, and a famous middlewester manufacturer of soaps, salves and patent medicines is dead. An old time medicine showman, Sayman set up his St. Louis soap factory in 1894, erected a glass case near the entrance and installed therein the stuffed hide of Dolly, the horse that had pulled him many a mile in his itinerant days. Fond of flourishing his blue-steel revolver which he called "Ol Becky Trueheart" he was not infrequently arrested but the St. Louis police were never severe with him because in addition to many benefactions to the poor, he always gave $500 to any officer who shot and killed a robber.

Feeding Zoo Animals

ACCORDING to Dr. Raymond Lee Ditmars, curator at the New York Zoo the 2,500 animals in that institution have one man whose unique job is to cook their food. Among the things the animals will eat in 1 year are: 1,600 frogs, 50 lbs. of dried flies, 220 pounds of ant's eggs, 1,300 chameleons, besides such usual food as carrots, beef, bananas, apples and grain. The daintiest feeder in the zoo is the pigmy marmoset which, for meat, eats only the smallest young lizards.

A short time ago the small-time circus of one time cinema cowboy Jack Hoxie played Independence Mo. Among the menagerie was a 57-year-old performing elephant named Mena. Hoxie decided that Mena, her trainer and his pinto pony were costing too much money so he gave Trainer Cooper $10 and went on his way. The money bought elephant, horse and man one meal. Then Cooper decided to start a circus of his own and set up on a vacant lot and put the old elephant through her paces. Townspeople brought tomatoes, lettuce, carrots and hay for the animal and finally after three days Mena's owner sent for them and booked them into the Indian State Fair.

In the Santa Cruz, Calif. hills, George Spray called a convention of nudists at his Elysium Foundation and 300 appeared. Rival Nudist James F. Curl who had called his convention for two weeks later belittled Spray's gathering saying that some of the delegates had been seen wearing pants. He sneered "A nudist wearing pants is no nudist at all. He should be taken from the orthodox ranks." Spray's reply was that the other nudists were "sore" because his meeting came first.

A BOTTOMLESS PIT

Editor Examiner.

Sir: I understand that the county road committee with the advice of the county engineer, decided to fill in the bog hole south of the Central Smith butter factory but after spending a large sum of tax payers money, were compelled to stop the work. If they had only consulted Edward Archer who had charge of the bridge for a number of years, or Mr. T. H. Graham township road overseer, or myself they would have been advised to leave it alone, but the engineer thought he knew it all, but he has a lot to learn yet about this bog hole, and the road committee also.

If you will allow me space I will give the county taxpayers some facts about this road and bridge. About forty years ago when this road was first built the traffic was light. There was a small bridge over the creek but soon after it began to sink each side of the creek so it was decided to build a floating bridge where it was sinking and one was built about 100 feet long which did for some years but as traffic increased and loads got heavier more of the road started to sink. At this time I was reeve and J. H. Graham was deputy reeve, we decided to try and fill in the road, had the advice of the late John Belcher county engineer to fill in and sink the old bridge and after filling in each side with logs and stumps we started to draw stones and clay., we kept on piling in stones and clay, when one day it appeared to stop sinking and we had the road up about six feet but when we went to work next morning our road was all about six feet underwater so we made up our minds it was no use, so we decided to wait until it froze up.

Mr. Graham and myself got three 18 foot, 2-inch pipe to see if we could find bottom but after putting down 54 feet they were still going as easy as when we started. We then bought 2 acres of cedar trees and gave Sandy Young the job of cutting down those trees and he placed them across the road 600 feet long and eight feet high we then built the new bridge on top of these trees and in the spring it all went down to the level of the water. But when we got through we had a good bridge which stood for 29 years, now with more money spent there is no bridge, and 100 feet of open water.

It is stated that they are going to try driving timbers for a new bridge (rot) no good as there is no solid bottom, nothing but a floating bridge will ever do in that place.

IS HE A TRADE UNIONIST?

Editor Examiner.

Sir: The Examiner in an interview with Alex Welsh secretary of the National Textile Workers Council acquired some very encouraging information concerning trade unionism in this City who asserts there are thousands of working people in this City who are now in the process in securing trade union membership who will support a trade unionist as a candidate for the provincial election. The C. C. F. candidate is a toolmaker by trade which comes under the heading of machinist in trade unionism. In this City there is a machinist union known as the Peterborough Lift Lock Lodge No. 435 of the International Association of Machinist (I. A. of M.) with a membership of two one working at the trade the other retired from active service. From these facts it will be misleading to support the C. C. F. candidate as a trade unionist however much he may lean in that direction. Like the other candidates that are in the field, he and his colleagues no doubt will brag bluff and bally hoo all kinds of promises which does not amount to a hill of beans when elected. The electors are getting so accustomed to such boloney that it skites off like water off a ducks' back.

ALEX. MURRAY.

THE C. C. F.

Editor Examiner.

Sir: That amiable and entirely impossible body of philosophers and super-people the C. C. F. have put a very fine man in the field as their candidate for what? To get fair wages, fair prices, fair weather, fair play, fair returns, fair health, the end of the ravages of disease and of even that which awaits us even without disease, inevitable death. Dr. Cotton-Thomas ph. D. furnishes the technical proficiency for the local body but would do much better if I may without impertinence say so, if she would proclaim the Gospel of Christ which comprises all those things she is asking for. Mr. Johnston says New Zealand is prosperous. I say it is not and nobody in N. Z. at the present moment agrees with Mr. Johnston. It is also not C. C. F. as Mr. Johnston appears to think. The C. C. F. is a very fine program of hopes, aspirations and other impracticalities, the very moment the C. C. F. "specifies" it falls to the ground. Up in the clouds it is Al, but like a cloud brought to the ground it becomes a fog. Now the C. C. F. believes in brotherly love and giving up what we have to each other for the general benefit. That is Christianity and when done by law or force is C. C. F..

C. I. O. or communism or communistic socialism, when not done it is just where we are now and leaves us free to practise all the Christian virtues if we wish to and that is Gods plan. He allows us to do that. It is part of the doctrine of personal responsibility, rewards and punishments without which, Dr. Cotton-Thomas there can be no Christianity. It is also surely plain enough that if every body is to work for the benefit of everybody else there can be no fair wages, fair prices and etc.

The attempt of the C. C. F. to change over the gospel to an economic basis is wrong for while it is economically right to change even the most unconscionable and usurious profits it is only morally wrong and until the moral basis the Christ basis is not substituted for the economic basis but tempers it there can be neither happiness nor rest.

The C. C. F. has endorsed the C. I. O. and cordially approves of its program which is the sit-down strike or take-forcible-possession strike and is a defiance of liberty law and order and places all property at the mercy of strikers who may not have one dollar interest in it.

Motorists Can Help to Curb Accidents By Reporting the Dangerous Drivers

(From the Woodstock Sentinel-Review).

THE TOTAL of motor vehicle accident in Ontario continues to rise with appalling momentum, states H. G. Fester, general manager of Ontario Motor League, writing in Canadian Motorist. The article begins: "Despite wholesale publicity in the daily and weekly press, editorial appeals calling upon the motoring public to exercise care and courtesy, hundreds of thousands of safety bulletins issued by the Ontario Safety League; despite the safety activities of Ontario Motor League; despite efforts of the Department of Highways and the tolerant, considerate police forces of the province," etc. Just how the Motor League and departmental officials and traffic officers feel about it, one cannot say, but the newspapers, here placed in the front rank by Mr. Fester, probably ought to do some thinking. Advertising brings results, as a general proposition; why is it not doing more to check reckless driving?

Perhaps the educational campaign is achieving much more than it is possible to estimate. What the accident toll would otherwise have been no one can determine. But it is unlikely that any of the organizations here listed are at all satisfied with the situation. Their membership, along with all citizens concerned about the dangers of highway traffic, might well consider whether they are avoiding personal responsibilities. In this same issue of Canadian Motorist quotation is made from the letter of a Toronto man who in driving from Barrie to Bradford reports being passed by at least 50 cars doing 55 to 70 miles an hour, while six or seven passed just below the tops of hills. The writer added: "Had we been highway police, we could easily have raked in $1,000 in fines during 30 minutes' driving."

But the department has urged motorists to report just this sort of dangerous practice. Why did the Toronto man not turn in the license numbers of at least half those cars which passed others on hills? If he had seen an attempted murder, he would not have ignored it, and these drivers of whom he complains were endangering many lives.

Traffic police cannot possibly be on the spot to observe and check all the reckless driving that takes place. Perhaps their number ought to be increased, but a majority of dangerous practices will always be detected only by other motorists, private citizens. There is no use fooling with this menace. The safety campaign must be backed up with personal co-operation. Mr. Fester writes that Canadians, on the whole, are reluctant to interfere with other people's freedom, "but the menace of the wild, incompetent motorist is straining their patience to the breaking point." But the "breaking point" may come too late to save the life of the too-tolerant motorist or someone in his family. It is better to crack down on reckless an incompetent drivers, even at some inconvenience, than to suffer lifelong regrets.

BOOM IN BAGPIPES.

(Edinburgh Scotsman)

THERE are only a few traders in bagpipes in London, but these appear to be sharing the boom in the popularity of the Highland instrument which is accompanying the international demand for kilt outfits. It is thought that the pictures of the members of the Royal family in Highland dress which have appeared in the world's press has been the greatest factor in this boom. Those engaged in the business have received orders for bagpipes from the most remote quarters of the world. Labrador and Honolulu, Johannesburg and Pekin, Jamaica and Teheran. One firm's display in London has even brought inquiries from Moscow. But the Dominions, through the Scottish Societies, continue to provide the major proportion of the export trade in both bagpipes and Highland garb.

DON'T WANT WAR.

(Detroit Free Press)

WHILE THEIR countrymen were slaughtering each other in the Orient, Japanese and Chinese delegates to the Friends World Conference at Swarthmore greeted each other with handshakes and words of good will.

And at the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada, at Halifax, Chinese and Japanese bishops agreed that the people of neither country desired war.

We doubt if there ever was a war, which the people involved would have sanctioned if they had not been misled by individuals or groups with axes to grind.

When peoples have been taught to fear and hate each other it is easy to bring them to blows.

The spirit of tolerence shown by these Chinese and Japanese delegates to religious conferences in this Country and Canada must be ground out of a nation before it can be led to the trough of war and made to drink.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 21 (C.P.). — Firmness in overseas markets and fair domestic mill demand were factors in strength of wheat futures on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. Closing values were 1⅝ to ¼ cent higher, October $1.27¾, November $1.27½a, December $1.23¾ and May $1.24⅝a.

Prices moved spasmodically within a two-cent range. Early losses were eliminated and throughout the session offerings were light.

Principal support came from local investments and mill purchases, presumably to cover good flour sales. Export demand for Canadian wheat continued small.

Major world markets were unchanged to more than a cent higher. Liverpool closed 1⅛ to 1¾d up following steadiness in the Buenos Aires market, good Continental buying and firm shippers' offers.

CAR PRICE SPREAD IS MAKERS' CLAIM ever, such as the right to turn in used cars.

The fact appeared to be, said Mr. Bedjewick, that the seller of an imported car was able to make a greater allowance on a turn-in than was the dealer in Canadian-made cars.

"The dealer in imported cars has more dollars to play with in commission," the board chairman added.

For Nash-Lafayette distributors, Toronto, R. C. Bannister said he was supplying the board with a complete breakdown of costs to show why the spread was 25 per cent., but the information was confidential.

H. J. Carmichael, vice-president of General Motors, Oshawa, said the spread between Canadian and United States cars had gradually been reduced.

$3 Cheaper By Importing.

Commissioner Hebert said that nevertheless in 1936 a car could be bought in Detroit and brought to Canada duty paid $3 cheaper than a Canadian-made car could be bought.

"We are just an anxious as the board is to reduce prices to the Canadian purchaser," said Carmichael. The industry was highly competitive which gave assurance prices would be as low as possible. In the past year, Canadian General Motors had made only five per cent. on $54,000,000 of sales.

Comparing the Canadian plant with others, Carmichael said prices were lower here than in England, Germany or France although production in those countries was much larger.

The General Motors vice-president said every effort would be made to build up the Canadian industry, but he was fearful of the handicap of increasing imports of other cars.

This year, he said, there would be about 20,000 cars imported into Canada.

Marcelle Edwards Manville, fourth wife of the playboy asbestos heir, Tommy Manville, is pictured at Newark Airport as she left New York for Reno, where she will file for divorce. Inaccuracies In Spelling Found In Going Over Enumerators' Lists

Many of the enumerators who recently worked in the city on the task of compiling voter's lists were evidently not chosen because of their ability to spell correctly.

Perusal of enumerator's rolls reveals many inaccuracies in spelling and some voters may find themselves in the position of having to satisfy the deputy returning officers of their proper identity on polling day, as a result.

Four enumerators, for example, had as many different ways of spelling the Christian name Margaret. It is variously spelled in the lists as "Marget", "Magrat", "Margreth" and "Margareth".

Other mis-spelled words taken at random from the lists are quoted as follows:

"Josepine, Elizebeth, Elazebeth, Elezabeth, Loydd, Kathaline, Catheline, Catholine, Genavive, Genieve, Leana, Malcome, Leonie, Dorathy, Dorithy, Arther, Clarance, Mable, Carline, Agnis, Agness, Burnard, Alexanderia, Ester, Eliana, Keneth, Dorris, Elenor, Eleinor Gladis, Prisalla, Michal, Ingeline, Georgeina, Margorie, Loura, Emlie, Jennet, Henryetta, Earnest, Franches, Morice, Girtie, Geredine."

PRESUMABLY somebody went away over the week-end and arrived at their destination minus a suitcase. It is at the city police station awaiting a claimant, having been turned in by J. E. Anglin, 49 Benson avenue.

Mr. Anglin who operates the stage between Peterborough and Tweed reported to police that on Saturday night when a woman passenger was boarding the bus, the driver queried her, "Are these your two suitcases lady"? Receiving a reply in the affirmative he stowed two suitcases aboard the bus, but on arrival at Tweed his passenger claimed only one.

Realizing that he had picked up somebody else's property by mistake, the driver turned over the unclaimed suitcase to his employer immediately on arriving back here and Mr. Anglin in turn reported to the police.

COST INCREASED OF JAPAN TEAS

Peterborough citizens who have a taste for rice and certain Japanese and Chinese teas are feeling the effects of the Sino-Japanese conflict, local grocers reported today. Prices of these several commodities have been advanced by an increasing scarcity resulting from the war.

Japan teas have advanced about 3 to 5 cents a pound in price while it is expected no more supplies of cheap China teas will be available after present stocks in this country are exhausted. The matter will not cause any great concern here, however, as Peterborough tea drinkers depend mainly on the product of Ceylon and other tea centers of the world.

Chinese exports of rice have been virtually cut off during recent weeks with a definite effect on the world rice supply. The effect in Peterborough, 7,000 miles from the scene of strife, is an increase of about 25 cents in the price of the 100 pound bag.

of locomotives pulling miniature French box-cars, labelled "40 hommes, huit chevaux."

Most Fifth avenue shops were solidly boarded up as protection against parade-witnessing throngs. Jokesmith and tireless paraders, some of them pajama-clad, held the tarffic-less Times Square sector and support trenches within a half-mile radius of the threatre-zone. They had outposts in the financial district, too.

Seemed Like a Million.

The noise of bands, fife and drum corps, toy cannons, cowbells and the voitures made it seem like 1,000,000 visitors were in town rather than a mere 500,000.

So loud was the Legion din that not a pigeon could be found round and about Grand Central Terminal, their usual stamping ground.

The mammoth parade was called by Legion officials the greatest in the history of the organization.

The colorful procession marched between close-pressed lanes of approximately 1,000,000 spectators, whose cheers at times drowned blaring bugles and beat of drums.

Police officials dispatched 5,971 policemen and detectives along the line of march to keep the vast crowd in order.

National Commander Harry Colmer and other Legion and civic notables reviewed the seemingly endless lines at the Grand Army Plaza at 59th Street. Another grandstand was erected in front of the New York Public Library at 42nd Street.

Necks craned skyward to watch 96 Army Air Corps planes antic in flight formation over the long parade of bright uniforms and colorful floats.

Staid Fifth Avenue itself was unrecognizable beneath the flaunting galety of brilliant banners and flags.

A very large number of attractive gifts were piled in the basket.

A very enjoyable evening was spent, the guest of honor renewing many old friendships. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Trailing Negligee Is Glamorous

By Central Press.

TRAINS are a bit of a nuisance to wear in public, although they do add glamor to an evening dress. But trains in the privacy of your own or a friend's home, in a negligee or hostess coat, are delightfully feminine and alluring.

The trailing draperies of Ann Sothern's lovely negligee would make any woman feel queenly. The gown is made of burgundy crepe roma, with an interesting front panel of deep rose pink.

Shirring at the shoulder creates soft folds, which are caught in at the waist with more shirring. The butterfly sleeves and graceful train are sophisticated touches.

The marriage was quietly solemnized in the manse of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church on Sunday at three o'clock of Agnes Kay, daughter of Mrs. Kay of London, and the late James Kay, to Everett Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ross of Thedford, Ontario. The Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a charming afternoon dress of "blackberry" velvet, and a velvet halo with nose-veil, in a contrasting brown shade. Her accessories were brown, and she wore the groom's gift, a large gold locket, and a corsage of Talisman roses and lillies-of-the-valley.

The ceremony was witnessed by Mrs. A. T. Barr and Ferguson Barr.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Ross are residing at 45 Hunter street east.

Shaw-Thrasher.

TWEED, Sept. 21.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thrasher, Mount Pleasant, Rawdon, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Saturday, Sept. 18, when their only daughter, Edna Emma, became the bride of Milton T. Shaw, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Shaw, Ivanhoe, in the presence of about forty-five guests.

The marriage was solemnized by a former pastor, Rev. F. G. Joblin of Scugog Island, and the ceremony was performed in the drawing room beneath an arch of evergreen and white crepe roses with a background of foliage and cut flowers.

The charming bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore a DuBarry model of ivory bridal satin fashioned on Empire lines with a coatee of embroidered silk net. Her train length veil of silk net with embroidery was in cap effect with a coronet across her forehead banded with orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of coral pink Sweetheart roses with baby's breath and maiden-hair fern and wore white accessories. The bride's cousin, Mr. Charles Thrasher of Oshawa, rendered wedding music from Lohengrin.

Miss Lela Johnson of Salem, cousin of the bride, made a pretty bridesmaid in pale pink ankle length Dresden sheer, fashioned on Princess lines and a corsage bouquet of pink roses, fern and baby's breath, with white accessories. Mr. Ross Ketcheson, Moira, cousin of the groom, was best man.

Following a reception, the young couple left on a motor trip by way of Gananoque, Clayton and Watertown, through the Adirondacks and home by Niagara, and will en route visit relatives at Greenville, New New York.

The bride travelled in an imported tailored suit of brown English tweed with blouse of coral sheer, wool felt hat, with chic veil and brown accessories.

Wannamaker, became the bride of Kenneth McCauley Broadworth, Stirling, son of Mr. William J. Broadworth and the late Mrs. Lulu Armstrong Broadworth, the officiating clergyman being Rev. C. Ernest Tatham of Toronto.

The bride was prettily attired in a gown of Coronation blue transparent velvet made on Princess lines with matching turban and wore a corsage of pink roses, maiden hair fern and gypsophila, while her attendant, Miss Pearl Wannamaker, a sister of the bride, wore a navy triple sheer dress with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow roses, maiden-hair fern, and gypsophila. Mr. Donald Broadworth, brother of the groom, was best man.

The happy couple left immediately after the ceremony for Ottawa and points east, the bride travelling in an imported French wool crepe navy suit with navy felt hat, gloves and accessories. The couple will on their return, reside in the Township of Rawdon.

Horne, of Wolfe Island. The Rev. P. E. Zufelt performed the ceremony.

The bride was charming in an afternoon dress of navy blue sheer, a matching halo hat with short veil, navy shoes and white gloves, and wearing a corsage of Talisman roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank McKinlay, parents of the bride, were witnesses at the ceremony, the latter gowned in navy crepe, with which she wore a black velour hat, white gloves, and a corsage of roses.

A wedding breakfast was served after the ceremony at the bride's home, and attended by immediate relatives and friends. The bride's cake centred the lace-covered table, which was also attractively arranged with autumn flowers.

The young couple left by motor for Wolf Island, the bride donning for travelling a navy coat with a collar of fitch fur. Later they will leave for an extended motor trip to California.

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

"Adversity is a medicine which people are rather fond of recommending indiscriminately as a panacea for their neighbors. Like any other medicines, it only agrees with certain constitutions. There are nerves which it braces, and nerves which it utterly shatters."

—Justin McCarthy.

Dear Friends:

Did you ever think you had had your fill of adversity, in fact it seemed to you that you had had far more than your share, then some "kind" friend comes along and says "you have had it hard enough, but look at so-and-so. See how hard they are having it."

Or maybe someone has done something to annoy another, and and you hear them wish all kinds of adversity on them, to cure them of whatever ails them. It's just like a peddler of some medicines who claim their stuff will cure everything from in-growing toe-nails, to bad breath.

There are things I have suffered and came out the winner, but I can not say I enjoyed it. It took too much out of me, physically, mentally and morally. It left me shaken and sometimes fearful of what might come next.

And there have been other adversities which broke me completely. Just about 18 months ago, things piled up so badly that my brain could not attend to it, and I had brain-fever. I prayed for death but it stayed aloof. So, can anyone tell me how that adversity benefitted me or anyone else.

All it does is take something from you which you never get again. Some ships ride the storm, but repeated storms will cause them to be swamped and go down to the bottom of the sea, and that is no place for a good ship.

If troubles come and you can master them, then you gain strength and confidence. Too much medicine of the wrong kind will make your body sick. Too much trouble will make you sick in mind and body. Some people insist that we never get more than we can bear, but I beg to differ with them.

Most of the break-downs are caused, not by senseless worry, but by things coming too fast and furious for the human mind to combat them. When a person has a long seige of trouble and are doing their best, then some other big trouble strikes them, down they go, and they never get as far up again.

And I still say it is not God who puts us through this torture, it is those around us, and it is only the ones we love who can hurt us until we break down under it. We can read of suffering, or accidents, we can buffet the world, we can strive and fall in our profession, or make small wages, do our best and still come out a little ahead of the game.

But when there is added to all that, treachery and deceit and being let down by those we love, then is when our nerves get shattered, and both body and mind find it too much to fight. We are bewildered, we cannot understand, we can bear no more, and death still stays away from us.

And people who have a breakdown do not as a rule get much sympathy or understanding for their outside appearance has not altered much. Sometimes I have felt like crowning a person when I heard them tell another to "pull themselves together". It is so easy to take another's troubles lightly, it is easy to laugh when you haven't been hurt, but only those who have suffered know what the other is going through.

So, Mrs. M— please believe that I understand. You ask me to tell you what to do. My dear, what CAN you do but shoulder your burden. In a little while you will be able to pray again. Do not try to force it. When it call comes back in the night, do not try to fight it. Have your cry, then if it still stays with you, do as I do, get up and work with your hands. It is the only remedy I have found, and unseen to you, time has started to do its healing work. Do not overtime your body but do enough to really tire you so that sleep will have a chance. God bless you. Try not to get bitter. I shall pray for you. Write again.

Your Friend,

ROBERA.

SWEET CORN

Sweet corn is said to have been introduced as "papoon" corn by General Sullivan after his expedition against the Six Nations just after the Revolution, says the New Jersey department of agriculture.

Wife Preservers

If you use a trouser hanger to keep the pages of your cook book open while you follow its directions, hang the book up on a level with your eyes. It is then easy to read and will not become soiled.

Bridal Gown

If it's an autumn bride you're planning to be, you'll need a nifty negligee in your trousseau. Don't stint yourself on this item, for if you are the average bride you won't get a chance to buy yourself a glamorous garment for some time after the wedding, the budget just not allowing it. So pick out the prettiest and most becoming thing you can find. It will be something to cheer you up when the occasional gray days come—as come they must to all.

The dark beauty of Marjorie Lord, featured screen player, is effectively set off by this peach colored negligee of marquanza trimmed with apple blossoms on the collar, cuffs and accenting the shoulder line.

Fastening at the throat is a deep peach satin bow with long streamers. The satin slip is the same shade.

You'd never eat these coarse, tough, strong onions . . .
If you could have these— tender and sweet
Like tender, young ONIONS the choice, young TEA LEAVES have the flavor you like
IT'S easy to see why there's such a difference in the flavor of different teas—by considering what happens to an onion as it grows big and coarse.
The small, crisp, young onions are tender and sweet—filled with a flavor that's delicious to most people. Then, as the onions grow big and coarse, they lose their sweetness—become strong and harsh in taste.
Think of this when you're buying tea. You're really getting the leaves of the tea plant. In every package of Tender Leaf Tea, you get the choice, young leaves, filled with flavor. No coarse, heavy leaves are included for bulk.
The difference in the aroma of tea leaves was shown in a recent test. Fourteen leading brands of tea were measured for aroma by a new scientific instrument. Only one other brand—much more expensive—was the equal of Tender Leaf Tea. Some of the others had only one-sixth as much aroma.
Your grocer has Tender Leaf Tea in two convenient sizes. The name suggests how good it is!

School Lunch Can Be Treat Instead Of A Burden

Job Of Packing And Eating Can Be Mild Adventure

(By MARY MOORE.)

SIMPLY because a meal comes out of a box instead of off a plate is no reason why the luncher in your family should be the object of some concern—for his lunch—your job of packing it and his time for eating it—can be a mild adventure each day.

To try to persuade you that packing a lunch five mornings a week is fun would be silly, but if you approach the job with a spirit of adventure it will be at the least, interesting.

Since one or two members of a family often have little idiosyncrasies that others do not experience, your little luncher's whims can be indulged individually by way of the lunch box.

The curse of box lunches is their monotony—when I think or write about a carried lunch I always remember the summer I was assistant ledger-keeper in a bank—the manager and I every morning "called over" the previous day's cheques—we did this sitting on high stools at a high bookkeeper's desk, and in the drawers right under my nose the ledger-keeper kept his lunch—fried egg sandwiches packed while the eggs were still hot—the whole office staff had to do their morning's work to that aroma every day. I almost cannot eat an egg sandwich to this day because of it.

Your lunches need never be the same—every day can bring a change of breadstuff, fillings are numberless, methods of packing fruits and salads are as limitless as your imagination, and the toothsome little tit-bits such as dates, nuts, raisins, are such a gratification.

The thermos bottle used for hot liquids is such a priceless piece of equipment I bless the man who invented it every time I use one. (By the way does anyone know who he was?)

Granted then that you provide equipment for your lunch box just as you do dishes for your table—thermos bottle container for salads or desserts or entrees with a tight cover—and waxed paper aplenty:

School Children's Lunches.

No. 1.—
Hot Vegetable Soup (in container)
Salmon salad Sandwiches in Whole Wheat Bread
Whole Fresh Pear
Small Square of Cheese
Raisin and Nut Drop Cookie
Milk (optional).

No. 2—
Almond and Cheese Sandwiches in Rye Bread
Grated Cabbage and Carrot and Parsley Salad (in container)
Gingerbread or Layer Cake
Hot Cocoa in Thermos

No. 3—
Clam Chowder (in Thermos—This would be leftover from the previous night's adult dinner)
Boy Bean Bread and Peanut Butter Sandwiches Celery Hearts
Apple Tart Cheese Plum (see note.)

Note regarding Lunch No. 3—We have not included milk because the Chowder is composed chiefly of it—the plum will quench that end-of-meal thirst—and of course there is always water in the tap. By the way, notice what a mighty easy lunch No. 3 is to put together.

No. 4—
Hard Cooked Egg and Lettuce Salad (in container)
Toasted Buttered Crackers
Two Peaches Oatmeal Cookies
Chocolate Malted Milk (in Thermos)

Box Lunches for Office Workers.

No. 1—
Canned Beef Soup, in Thermos, (see note.)
Crab Meat and Cabbage Salad
Thin Crustless White Bread Triangles
Fruit Cake Grapes.

Note regarding Lunch No. 1— If your office working daughter is one of the fastidious types that seems to live on fresh air—she might want her soup strained—we recommend a meat soup because it imparts the protein nourishment that many such girls need.

No. 2—
Boston Brown Bread Nut and Cheese Sandwiches
Whole Tomato (don't forget salt)
Orange Layer Cake
Chocolate Candy Coffee.

No. 3—
Thin Cream of Celery Soup
Drained Whole Shrimps, in wax paper.
Mayonnaise to dip them in Lettuce Wedges to eat out of hand with Shrimps (see note)
Buttered Tea Biscuit Marmalade
Tea (made at office).

Note regarding Lunch No. 3— If you will go to the stationery department of many a large store you will find plenty of little paper dishes—all sizes and shapes—some of them with covers, too. Such things as mayonnaise could go in a thimble-sized one—this goes for marmalade and jams, too. But do lay in a stock of them—so that when you have an inspiration for some food to put in the box you are not impeded because you do not have the right container for it on hand.

No. 4—
Stuffed Tomato Salad
Whole Wheat Cracker and Cheese Sandwich
Raisin Tart Hot Cocoa.

Box Luncheş for Boys and Men.

No. 1—
Bacon and Egg Sandwiches in Soy Bean Bread (see note)
Whole Tomato (salt)
Chocolate Cake. Whole Pear
Hot Cocoa.

Note regarding Lunch No. 1— Soy Bean Bread has a distinctive flavor that is very pleasant with bacon and eggs. It slices well and does not go stale readily—try to get a loaf at least once a week.

No. 2—
Potato Soup (Thermos)
Ground Beef Sandwiches in Whole Wheat Bread
Banana Cheese Cookie Grapes.

No. 3—
Hard Cooked Egg and Chopped Pickle Sandwiches in White Bread
Lettuce and Tomato Salad (in container)
Apple Cake Dates Coffee.

Tested Favorite Recipes

Grape Butter (Spiced and Plain).—Pull washed grapes off stems and to them add an equal quantity of quartered, washed apples (do not pare or core the apples). Cook them in just enough water to keep them from sticking until they are tender—stirring often. Mash through colander just fine enough to keep back grape seeds. Measure and add half the quantity of sugar. Heat through slowly, standing vessel on asbestos mat, stirring often until thick. If desired plain bottle in sterilized jars at this time and seal. If you wish to spice it, add 1 cup vinegar and ¼ cup mixed ground spices to 6 lbs. pulp and 3 lbs. sugar—add this when pulp and sugar are first put on to cook. Seal in sterile jars.

Grape Conserve — Three pints grapes, skins and seeded pulp (to seed pulp slip it out of skins, put on to heat and by the time boiling point is reached the seeds will float to the top—strain them out); finely cut rind from one half orange, ¼ lb. raisins, 1 cup English walnut meats. Mix all ingredients and boil until thick with 3 pints sugar (6 cups). Pour into sterile jam jars and seal with paraffin.

The Conserve is beloved by all who taste it.

Mrs. MARY MOORE

Question—I intend being married the early part of October, and would like your advice regarding the following:

The ceremony will be performed at the minister's home about three o'clock in the afternoon. I want to have a small reception afterwards with a buffet lunch — about 25 guests. Are formal invitations necessary?

The guests will be unable to see the ceremony—is there a difference in the wording of the invitations because of this?

Do the guests come directly to my home and await the arrival of the wedding party after the ceremony takes place?

Should announcements be used as well as wedding invitations?

When are they sent out?

Also is it correct to send a wedding present when only attending the reception? Thanking you,
A. M. T.

Answer—Thank you for your letter.

Formal invitations are not necessary.

Hand written invitations by the bride or the bride's mother or older sister have become a charming way to summon close friends to small weddings or receptions. They can contain a simple statment of the facts: "Mary and Tom are going to be married in Rev. T's. Studio on October 7. After the ceremony they will return to our home where we will have a reception for a few of their closest friends, when we hope you and Uncle Bill and Cousin Jim will be present—about 3.15 p.m., October (7). Sincerely ...."

After a church ceremony the bride and groom and wedding party always arrive at the bride's home or scene of the reception before the guests so that they may receive them—this then would be the proper procedure for you—invite the guests so that they arrive just after you get back from the minister's studio.

Announcements should be sent to all the friends, relatives and acquaintances you wish to receive them that were not at the wedding. These are sent out as soon after the wedding as possible—no later than a week after.

It is quite correct to send a wedding gift when only attending the reception.

Hoping this information is satisfactory, we shall look forward to helping you with your cookery and household duties.

Question—I wonder if you will please publish a recipe for Swiss steak. Also how to steam salmon steaks between plates or broil them in the oven.

Could I make some marmalade — grapefruit, lemon and orange now. I know this is not the season but mine is all gone and as we can get those fruits all year and the family does not care for any other kind.

Wishing you continued success in your interesting work. I think everyone that reads your page talks about it—I know I do. Hoping I am not asking too much, E. F.J.

Answer—Thank you for such a pleasant letter.

Swiss Steak No. 1

Order either flank or round steak (if round have it cut 1½ inches thick). Into 3 or 4 lbs. of it pound 1 cup of flour. Sear the steak on both sides in hot fat. For each pound of steak allow 1 teaspoon salt and sprinkle the salt evenly over the steak. Sprinkle with pepper and pour over boiling water to about 1 inch depth. Cover tightly. Let simmer from 2 to 2½ hours. One-quarter cup catsup may be added with the water if desired. Add more water as needed and loosen steak from bottom to keep it from sticking to pan.

Swiss Steak No. 2

Two lbs. round steak 2 inches thick. Pound in ½ cup flour and sprinkle with paprika salt and pepper. Brown in very hot drippings. Cover with boiling water and bake slowly for 2 hours—adding chopped onions and tomatoes after first hour.

Steamed Salmon Steaks

Wipe the steaks with a damp cloth and sprinkle very lightly with salt. Spread squareof cheese cloth on large plate and place the steaks on it—folding it over to cover the steaks completely. Stand in steamer and steam until fish will flake when pulled apart with two forks—showing only whitened opaque flesh at centre of steak. Serve with rich sauce containing either lemon or tomato in some form.

Broiled Salmon Steaks

Wipe the steaks with a damp cloth and sprinkle lightly with salt and brush with butter then sprinkle very lightly with paprika. Place on greased broiler and broil under hot broiler until golden—about 4 or 5 minutes—turn and brush other side with butter, sprinkle with paprika and broil for 4 or 5 minutes longer. Serve with lemon or lemon butter balls.

Marmalade can be made at this time of year without the marmalade oranges (Seville)—the precaution of extracting all the pectin from the pith by soaking overnight having to be taken.

Marmalade (Emem's)

One large grapefruit, 1 large orange, 1 large lemon, 12 cups water, 10 cups sugar, juice 1 lemon. Wipe the fruit, squeese out the juice reserve the seeds. With a sharp curved knife remove the white pith from the skins. To this pith and the seeds add 1½ cups of the required water and let stand overnight. Cut the rind into extremely fine long strips. Put the rind and juice into enamel kettle, add the remaining 10½ cups water, cover and let stand overnight.

In the morning drain the thickened water from the pith and seeds—squeezing it to extract every drop of it—and add to the rind and juice. Boil this uncovered until the rind is tender and liquid is reduced by about one-half.

To test for jelling add 1 teaspoon methyl hydrate to 1 teaspoon juice, mix then let stand 3 minutes. If sufficient pectin is present to form jelly it can be gathered in a thick mass from this mixture. If very little forms boil longer then make test.

Add sugar, stir until dissolved, cover, heat to boiling point, then boil uncovered for 15 minutes or until syrup when tried on cold plate will jell. Add lemon juice, remove from heat pour into sterile glasses and seal with paraffin. Cover with tops or waxed paper.

We recommend this method highly and hope you like it.

Milling Mob Of Legionnaires Capture New York

Arriving at New York by train, motor car and aeroplane, 350,000 American Legionnaires, dressed in navy blue uniforms and with yellow stripes down the trousers, disrupted traffic and business with marching, tooting and antics similar to that shown ABOVE. The train the locomotive engineers are driving along the city streets, is made up to represent the French railway engines and cars which transported troops to the front during the great war. Behind this engine is a boxcar labelled "Quarante et Huit" meaning 40 men or eight horses. On flat cars, also drawn by the make-belief engines, were mounted miniature cannons which fired off deafening blank shells much to the amusement of the throngs of Legionnaires. New York's force of 18,375 police have been put on 24 hours duty.

OBITUARY

FRED FREEMAN.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Sept. 21.—Fred Freeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Freeman, Tweed, passed away at the Belleville General Hospital on Sunday afternoon. Death came after an illness of two weeks, with typhoid fever, contracted while working on a farm near the village. The young man continued to work until about a week ago, when he was forced to return to his home. Medical science proved unavailing, however, and though he was taken to the hospital at Belleville on Sunday morning, nothing could be done and he passed away in the afternoon.

The late Fred Freeman was a young man possessed of many admirable qualities which made him a favorite with old and young alike. His sudden passing in his late twenties has come as a decided shock to all who knew him. The deepest sympathy of the community is extended to his aged parents and to his brothers and sisters by whom he is survived.

HERBERT E. KENT.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Sept. 21.—Herbert Edwin Kent of Harrowsmith, who died at the General Hospital, Kingston, was one of the pioneers in the cheese making industry in this province. He was born in the Township of Thurlow in the County of Hastings, in 1866, and became a cheese-maker at Lonsdale when a young man. He made cheese at various factories in the County of Prince Edward, on Amherst Island, at Wolfe Island and other points in the County of Frontenac. THREE BROTHERS SLAY GENERAL

Neither Jack Garr or Denhardt were armed.

The killing occurred after Denhardt and one of his attorneys Rodes K. Myers, of Bowling Green, had ended a conference regarding the scheduled trial.

Didn't Run Fast Enough.

Myers, who was with Denhardt, said the firing began as "we started across the street to the hotel.

"When I told General Denhardt 'There are the Garr boys,' Denhardt ran toward the hotel and I dashed in another direction. The first two shots missed. Another struck the general in the back and he fell near the hotel entrance."

Myers said Roy Garr shouted "You are the — who killed my sister and I am going to kill you."

One of the brothers approached him, Myers said.

He said he raised his hands and pleaded "Please don't shoot me, I haven't done anything to you."

"'You are the — who defended the — who killed my sister,'" the attorney quoted the brother as shouting. Mrs. Taylor was shot to death last November during an automobile ride with the general.

Denhardt contended the vivacious widow, 20 years his junior, ended her own life because of her family's objections to her marriage to the general, divorced in 1933.

However, the state claimed the general slew Mrs. Taylor, mother of two daughters because she refused to marry him.

The first trial ended in a jury stalemate—a reported 7 to 5 for acquittal. Denhardt was at liberty on $25,000 bond.

Denhardt, who had seen service in the Spanish-American, Mexican and Great wars was associated with his brother in publishing a newspaper at Bowling Green.

WORK IS STARTED ON NEW HIGHWAY EAST OF APSLEY

Construction of ten miles of provincial highway from Apsley to the Haliburton county boundary has been begun. In his visit last week to Chandos township Alex L. Elliott, Liberal candidate, learned that although this contract had been let some time ago to the Johnston Construction Company, and the job and expenditure were fully authorized, practically no work had been done. Mr. Elliott called the attention of the Department of Highways to the facts in regard to this project, and since his intervention the Johnston Company have begun work that is already giving employment to twenty-five men from that section of the county.

Mr. Elliott has declared at several of his meetings in the country that he will give the road problems of this tourist county his closest attention, if he is elected, and he has also stated that the projected Port Perry-Peterborough highway will be a major interest.

PRICE OF BREAD IS LIKELY TO INCREASE

The need for an increase in the price of bread is being considered by Peterborough bakers, it was learned today. The rising price of flour during recent months has already forced increases of one cent a loaf in a number of Western Ontario centers.

"The price of bread ought to be increased here," James Dutton of Stocks Bread said this afternoon. "The increase is liable to come at any time."

The move has been under consideration by local bakers at recent meetings it was learned. Current bread prices are 9 cents for standard loaves and 10 cents for special loaves. Likely to be a one-cent increase when it comes, the increases would put bread prices here at 10 and 11 cents.

At present around $7.10 a barrel, bread flour has increased almost $2.50 a barrel this year.

Historic Old Roseneath Church Marks 74th Anniversary

Special Speaker Is Rural Dean E. C. Moore, Young's Point

(Examiner Correspondence.)

ROSENEATH, Sept. 21.—The 74th anniversary of St. James' Anglican Church, Roseneath, was observed on Sunday, September 19, by two special services at 11 a.m. and 7.30 p.m.

The special speaker at both services was the Rural Dean of Peterborough Deanery, the Rev. Edgar C. Moore of Young's Point. Rev. William Stocks, rector of Hastings and Roseneath, had charge of both services.

One of the oldest church in the district, it was built by pioneer settlers in 1863, and its membership consists largely of the descendants of those pioneers.

Standing on an elevation of land known as the English Church Hill, about one mile northeast of Roseneath, the bell in its square belfry calls the worshippers to church each Sunday.

Surrounding the church is the well-kept cemetery with its green velvety lawns.

In the interior of the church the appointments are in good taste and the altar cloth, reading desk and lectern drapes are rich, green satin, with the symbols embroidered in gold.

The chapel organ, the font, and lectrn are all gifts of former members now passed on.

At the front of the church is a beautiful stained glass window placed there by members of the family of the late Rev. John McCleary, a former rector who died in 1886.

A bronze memorial tablet in memory of Sergeant Heber Nichol, son of the late Frank Nichol and Mrs. Nichol, who lost his life in the Great War, was placed there by his parents.

Forceful Sermons

At both services, Mr. Moore, in forceful sermons, stressed the church as a great corporate body, emphasizing the importance of this corporate body in order to accomplish what is desired. Points brought out and enlarged on were: There would be no Bible without the church; Christ would be a lone figure without the church; the church is the vehicle by which Jesus came, and the vehicle by which the message of Jesus comes, through the great train of churchmen, all down through the centuries.

He spoke of the cleansing of the church at the time of the Reformation; of the heavy responsibilities entailed by our freedom of worship; of the failure to sense the importance of the church to the welfare of our country. He stated that Communism and Fascism enemy forces of the church cannot be dealt with by force. He spoke of the hardships endured by the pioneer settlers; of their integrity, and stability, coupled with a firm realization that God was ever present with them. He compared their experiences to those of the Jews in Psalm 74 when the loneliness of the new land drove them to the deeper things of life.

Throws Out Challenge

In concluding the evening sermon Mr. Moore threw out a challenge to the young people, when he said, "Dare you go on carelessly without equipping yourselves to meet the problems that will come to you regarding your churches? Dare you neglect to acquire knowledge that will intelligently enable you to meet crisis of social upheaval? Dare you do without the philosophy of the church, that holds the key to solve the industrial and social problems?

There is no need to go red if you catch the gleam thrown out to you by your forefathers; carry on where they have led you."

At the evening service, Mrs. A. Nill sang a solo, "When Heaven Was Filled With His Glory."

Beautiful cut flowers and potted plants adorned the chancel.

The church was well filled for both services.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, September 22

According to the lunar transits, this should be a particularly lively and enterprising day both in the business and personal affairs. It is a good time for launching new enterprises or a readjustment or rebuilding on old lines that have been more or less static. Industry, practical plans and bold initiative are sure to find worthwhile compensations.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a very active year in the developing of new projects or the building up of long stagnant conditions, with initiative, hard work and constructive ideas proving highly gratifying. It is a time for pushing to determined objectives. Social, romantic and domestic affairs also prove active and pleasant, with friendship, love and gaiety to the fore.

A child born on this day may be bold, courageous and enterprising with much inclination to active sports, in which it will doubtless achieve public recognition and popularity. It will be aggressive and constructive in business if inclined in that direction for an outlet in its energies.

ANTI-COMMUNIST WARS ONLY BLIND LITVINOFF STATES

GENEVA, Sept. 21—(AP)—Maxim Litvinoff, Communist Russia's Foreign Commissar, attacked the anti-Communist crusades of Germany, Italy and Japan before the League of Nations Assembly to-day, terming them only excuses for "invasion of other states and breaches of international treaties."

He called on the assembly to "call a spade a spade and aggression aggression or whatever slogan it decorates itself with."

Referring to the three anti-Communist powers, Litvinoff declared:

"In a burst of inexhaustible love for the dear peoples they proclaim their mission to be the freeing of those peoples from Communism.

"To carry out their self-appointed mission of conferring great blessings on other nations, they are ready to spare no energies and resources of their own people, they are ready to reduce to the minimum its most elementary material requirements and leave it on hunger rations only to have sufficient arms to root out Communism in other countries."

Anti-Communism, Litvinoff asserted, often "signifies a yearning for tin, zinc, mercury and other materials" and denied that either of the present wars—in Spain or China—could be justified as anti-Communist crusades.

"We frequently hear that all democratic parliamentary governments are on the eve of Bolshevization," he said. "It is not far from this to the assertion that it is necessary to confer the same blessing on them to save them from the destruction by which they are threatened, as in the case of Spain, by means of armed interference and attack."

Italy and Germany have sided with the insurgent cause in Spain with the avowed aim of preventing "Bolshevization" of the Iberian Peninsula. Japan's invasion of China is explained in Tokyo as an effort to suppress anti-Japanism and Communistic influences.

Members of the Fire Department are doing their bit in the present move to refresh the appearance of downtown Peterborough buildings. Exterior woodwork to the front of the Fire Hall has been refinished.

NAMES WERE OMITTED

Workers for the Liberal party have been busy today chauffering to the Court of Revision voters resident on London street. Through an oversight, enumerators returned the names of eligible voters on that street too late to be included in the list.

BROADCAST APPEAL.

An appeal was broadcast over station CFRB today for a man named Chambers, described as being 25-years of age; bald-headed; and with a number of gold teeth. He was stated to be an accountant, who was last heard of in Peterborough in 1935.

MANY TOURISTS.

An unusually large number of American visitors are in the district at the present time, some of them for the duck shooting, but the majority anxious to get in a little fishing before the season ends. Vendors of fishing licenses report a surprising number of sales on Monday.

REAL FANS.

They grow some really lacrosse fans up in Peel county. Quite a number of enthusiasts from that section accompanied the Cheltenham-Inglewood Combines to Peterborough Monday night and some of them had to make the long trip in the rumble seat. There are warmer ways of spending a cool September night.

THROUGH TO-NIGHT.

Revision proceedings in connection with the preparation of the urban voters' list in the present election will be ended to-night. No more city names can be added to the list after this date so that it is expected the officials will have a busy session to wind up with.

FORM TEXTILE AUXILIARY

Organization of a Women's Auxiliary to the United Textile Workers Union is to be carried out as a meeting in the Paragon Hall Wednesday afternoon. It is expected wives of Auburn and Bonner-Worth workers will constitute the bulk of the membership although women working in the plants and other women of the workers' families will be welcomed to the organization. Officers will be elected at the meeting.

ENDORSES NEW HIGHWAY

The executive of Peterborough Chamber of Commerce at a meeting Monday evening endorsed a resolution calling upon the Ontario government to proceed immediately with the construction of the Yonge street-Peterborough link in the Orangeville - Ottawa highway. The resolution previously endorsed by the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs of the city, is also to be presented to the Business Men's Association for endorsation, after which it will be forwarded on to Queen's Park.

LIBERAL MEETINGS

Alex L. Elliott, Liberal candidate for Peterborough, is scheduled to address a rally in Keene on Thursday, September 23, at 8.30 p.m. and on Friday night, September 24, he will address rallies at Douro and Warsaw.

MINIMUM FINE IS GIVEN CARTER

Harry Carter, 241 Stewart Street, today pleaded guilty to unlawful possession of liquor on August 29 last when he appeared on adjournment before Magistrate A. E. Gee.

He was fined $100 and $14.50 costs with the option of 3 months' imprisonment in the county gaol.

Edward Borbridge, who acted for the Crown, told the bench the case was not a flagrant one, and would be met with imposition of the minimum penalty.

Joseph Murphy, Auburn Road, was remanded without election or plea until Monday next, when arraigned on a charge of aggravated assault of his wife. At the time of his arrest on the charge the accused was on suspended sentence for assaulting his 6-year-old daughter, the Crown stated.

According to police, Murphy was arrested shortly before midnight after his wife left the house through a window only partly dressed and phoned a complaint to the station. He was found by officers hiding in some bushes near his home, it was alleged.

SWING BRIDGE TO BE WIDENED

Plans of the Federal government to widen the swing section of the bridge at Bensfort were recently announced to the county council, whose road committee has been asked to assume the cost of rebuilding one of the piers.

Members of the committee visited the bridge Monday afternoon, and formed the opinion that two piers needed to be rebuilt. It is expected that a diver will be engaged to obtain accurate information as to the condition of these two piers as a preliminary to a decision regarding the extent of the proposed work.

The canal department intends to widen the swing to the full width of the rest of the bride, an improvement that has become more necessary since the flat road through Otonabee was widened and re-surfaced. Mebers of the committee report that this department is planning to begin this work as soon as possible.

PERCY INSTITUTE HAS FINE REPORT FROM GIRLS' CLUB

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARKWORTH, Ont., Sept. 21.—The regular meeting of the Percy Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. William Shaw on Wednesday, September fifteenth, with an attendance of thirty-six members and fifteen visitors.

The president, Mrs. G. A. Helson opened the meeting with the Ode and the Lord's Prayer after which Mrs. W. J. Harper gave a very splendid talk on the motto, "Life's greatest happiness is found in making others happy."

A committee was appointed to arrange for the October meeting when Osborne and Lakeview branches are to be guests of Percy branch.

Mrs. Percy Windover and Mrs. Lorne Hutchinson were appointed as delegates to attend the Belleville convention on October twenty-seventh and twenty-eighth.

Mrs. G. A. Helson, "Leader of the Classy Clothing Club" gave a detailed report of her trip to the Canadian National Exhibition with her judging team on September eighth. This team composed of Orietta Gummer, Clara Helson and Mary Herriott were placed first in the section on "Being well dressed and well groomed," as a county team, while for individual work Orietta Gummer won first place, Clara Helson, fourth and Mary Herriott, tenth.

Mrs. W. A. MacDonald, a vice president of the Durham W.I. in Grey County brought greetings from her branch.

Gift Appreciated

A donation of a very pretty handmade lace doilie was received from Mrs. Dennis, a lady ninety-two years of age, which was very much appreciated by the branch. This was sold to the highest bidder, Mrs. Joseph Greenly, the proceeds to be added to the branch funds. The roll call, "A helpful idea for Monday or Saturday," was well responded to.

To show the appreciation of the branch for the splendid work done by them as leaders of The Girl's Clothing Clubs, Mrs. G. A. Helson and Mrs. William Herriott were each presented with a donation of five dollars. They were asked to accept this, not as pay for their work, but as a very slight token of the appreciation of the members of Percy Branch for their untiring efforts in the girls work.

An interesting program in charge of Mrs. Lorne Evans and Mrs. Oscar Laver was as follows: a paper on "Living life to the best of our advantages," by Mrs. Joseph Greenly; a solo by Mrs. Cyril Churchley; current events by Mrs. Oscar Laver and a singing contest.

The meeting then closed with the singing of the National Anthem and the usual social half hour.

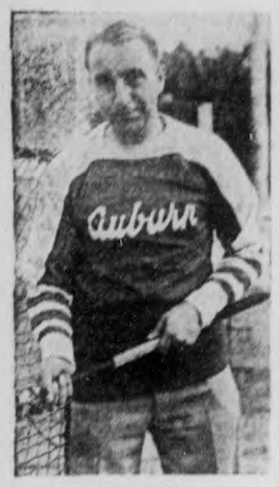
Elgin Beats Hastings Clerks To Deadlock Softball Finals

Tough Luck



PETE KING

Tough luck dogged the plays of the veteran Auburn's player many chances to score around the rival nets going for nought.

Village Team Meets 11-6 Setback In Fourth Game Of Tight Series

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Sept. 21. — Elgin evened up the local softball championship series at two games each when they defeated the Clerks 11 to 6 last night (Monday). Just before the start of the game Elgin protested to Umpire Hogan claiming that the Clerks should not use gloves other than the pitcher and catcher. After a long and furious argument the Clerks abandoned their gloves and the game started with G. Scriver umpiring behind the bat.

After two scoreless inning Elgin scored 5 runs in the third. J. Preston singled and scored on J. Richardson's double. Scott was safe on an error scoring Richardson. He scored on E. Preston's hit. G. Richardson and R. Richardson both circled the bases on a flock of Clerks' errors. They came back again in the sixth with 6 more to settle the game. Roy Richardson, first batter homered to centre. Fleming singled, Stinson was safe when Gibson dropped his third strike and threw wild to first, Fleming scoring. J. Preston walked, as did G. Richardson.

At this stage Tape replaced G. Gibson on the mound for the Clerks. Scott then singled scoring Stinson and J. Preston. Roy Richardson then singled, scoring Scott and G. Richardson to give Elgin a 10-run lead. The Clerks scored one in the fifth on L. Gibson's single and 2 errors. Two more Clerks scored in the sixth on Tape's single and Calbery's homer. Their final runs were scored when Stevenson singled, went to third on G. Gibson's single, and both runners scored on Tape's double. Tape scored the Clerks' sixth and final run when Calbery was safe on on error.

Good Mound Job.

The Elgin pitcher, J. Richardson, allowed 12 hits. He struck out one and walked two. G. Gibson, in the five innings he pitched, allowed 9 hits, struck out 1, and walked 2. Lloyd Fleming led the hitters with 3 hits in four times up.

The teams:

Clerks — L. Gibson, lf; J. Gibson, c; Stevenson, ss; Crate, 2b; G. Gibson, p, 3b; Herrington, rf; Tape, cf, p; Calbery, 3b, cf; Wilson, 1b.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21—(AP). — Friends of Rabbit Maranville all around the country were disappointed by the Cincinnati club's announcement that Charlie Dressen's successor will be a National leaguer. . . . Don't bet that James J. Braddock and Max Baer will open Mike Jacobs' heavyweight elimination tournament. . . . Joe Gould hinted to-day he may not let Jim fight Max, or anyone else, this year. . . . When Alex Gilles defaulted to Tommy McDonald last night (Monday) he handed, right on a platter, to Tommy and his rink the championship of group 3. Not wishing to take any honor or glory from Tommy's rink for their splendid showing this summer but it is most unfortunate for all concerned to have a championship decided by the 'default' route.

A very pleasant event took place at the final meeting of the games committee for the season when a number of club members to pay honor to Robert Hendry, chairman of the committee who spent a time and labor during the past season in a successful effort to put the game across. Bob was the recipient of a travelling toilet set. Mr. Hendry has been connected with the games committee for a great number of years and has a record that is not equalled by anyone.

SOUTHENDERS GAIN FIRST SOCCER WIN

King Edward Public School soccer team recorded their first win yesterday afternoon on King Edward Park by defeating Queen Mary to the tune of 7 to 0. Best for the winners were Langton, Leether, and Murduff; for the losers Rhodes, Mortimer and Taylor.

King Edward boys settled down to the game immediately and rattled in two goals through the efforts of Leether and C. Murduff. Eventually Queen Mary half-backs found their bearings and tried hard to offset the fast moving wing men of the opponents, which permitted Langton to make splendid openings for the rest of the attack. From one of these manoeuvers Jamieson evaded the half-back cleverly to send a lightning drive into the far corner of the net. This was followed up by two smart goals by Leether when he accepted a pass out on the wing from Murduff and then Langton trapped the ball quickly to give the scorer a perfect opening. King Edward 5, Queen Mary 0.

Losers Improved.

On resuming, Queen Mary aided with the wind came into prominence through keener tactics by the half-backs of Rhodes, Ridyard, and Ackford to have the better of the argument, but King Edward were always dangerous in every break-away; in fact, Taylor in goal for Queen Mary outguessed them repeatedly by making spectacular saves when they were in the act of scoring. The West-end boys played combination sometimes to get inside the full backs, but failed to press home the advantage. On two front line attacks by King Edwrd, they tallied through first time scoring tactics by Langton, who has the earmarks of an all-round athlete. King Edward 7, Queen Mary 0.

King Edward — W. Curtis, Jr., goal; G. Farrance and L. Shea, full backs; A. McMaster, T. Foster and K. Anderson, halves; R. Leether, C. Murduff, K. Langton, H. Foster and D. Jamieson, forwards; subs., H. Dalliday and J. Weaver.

Queen Mary — R. Taylor, goal; R. Blondin and R. Hughey, full backs; J. Ridyard, R. Ackford, and Arnold Rhodes, halves; J. Morley, W. Smith, Fred Mortimer, W. Jones and Gordon Matthews, forwards; sub., Norman Andrew.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

NEXT SATURDAY in Cobourg, the local Orfuns open their O.R.F.U. schedule with Coach Peck's Red Raiders of the Lakeshore town. And the following Saturday here, Toronto Eastsides tangle with the Peterborough gridders. The raffle draw will be made at this first home game. Tickets have been going pretty fair but some of the players aren't making their returns as they should. A players' meeting will be held Thursday eve at eight in the "Y" and all should attend. The dressing-room at Riverside is almost completed and the gridiron there is being fixed up. Lights will be installed for practises this week. Meantime, sweaters and equipment for the squad have been ordered. So everything is getting squared around for the start of the 1937 rugby season.

* * * * * *

COACH BILL TURNBULL is rapidly whipping the Orfuns into shape. We can't give an outline of the team for a few days yet. Lacrosse has been cutting in somewhat on the drills, several of the gridders being up to their battle-scarred ears now in the gutted-stick playoffs. But these will be over this week and the team picked to journey Cobourg-ward Saturday. With most of the '36 crew available, plus several newcomers, the Orfuns shape up as a powerful grid machine—but will be in with some tough teams, too.

* * * * * *

AND COACH BAMFORTH is busy these days rounding his 1937 P.C.I. seniors into condition. He is highly optimistic this season, having a bunch of promising huskies on hand for the daily drills. While several stars of last autumn have graduated, the Garnet and Gray outfit which lost out to St. Mike's in a close Ontario semi-final last year will be as strong, if not stronger, this season. It is a good mixture of speed and beef, the mentor's main worries probably being on picking an outstanding punter and a reliable snap. No doubt the same set of bewildering Bamforth plays that had us cockeyed and rival players nearly nuts a year ago will be in evidence again this fall. Seems a good junior P.C.I. squad is being lined up, also.

* * * * * *

AT BELLEVILLE Collegiate, several of the forms plan to try out the new six-man football game which is going over big in some U.S. halls of learning now. The abbreviated outfit consists of three linemen and three backfielders—but from this point on deponent hasn't the haziest. It must be most embarrassing to a backfielder to have to unfold his bag of tricks behind the negligible screen of three linemen; much like disrobing at the corner of George and Hunter streets on a busy afternoon, what?

* * * * * *

WHAT MUST we do to win an Ontario championship, anyway? Must we import some more Irvin Baileys, Bert McLeods, et al? Like a lot of other lacrosse fans, we were pretty high on the Auburns all summer. Figured them a championship crew in intermediate O.A.L.A. company. But last night they were rubbed out in Provincial semi-finals by the Cheltenham-Inglewood Combines. Score was 13-9, same as the first fixture, which gave the Combines the round by a 26-18 score. While a large crowd of the faithful sat and shivered as the Woollens sweated their way out of the picture. A good game, plenty rugged and exciting, but the visitors earned the nod all the way. After the first frame they always looked four or five goals better. They have a nice outfit.

* * * * * *

AUBURNS DID not play up to form. They fought hard every minute, but they didn't click at their best. When their very best was needed. On the other hand, the Chelt, chaps turned in a whale of an effort. Our lads missed passes and missed scoring opportunities close in. Well, they lost to a better club on the night's performance and they did not curl up and quit in the late stages. Owing to a similarity in sweater colors, the locals decked themselves out in the Petes' O.H.A. uniforms—and the superstitious gees will now say: "What can you expect? They threw away their winning jerseys when it was money time and climbed into losing togs." But superstition won't score many goals for a squad nor block many shots from rival sticks.

* * * * * *

BY THE same token, riding a referee and pinning the blame on him doesn't help when there is four or five goals difference in play. True, Referee Gord Thoms of Toronto called two bad penalties against Auburns—and he was booed plenty from then on—but that did not cause the locals' downfall. Thoms used to play outside wing for Argos in football and with St. Simon's lacrossers—so he could have taken care of himself in a jam. So this winds up lacrosse, and we have nothing left this year but rugby. At least, the gutted-stick boys built themselves a fine arena, supplied heaps of hotcha lacrosse all season and wound up with a sizeable financial bulge in the sock. Which, after all, is better than a kick in the pants.

* * * * * *

SOUTHEND SOFTBALL League pulled the curtain with its final performance of the season the other day, leaving DeLaval to take the bows, the title and the Warne Trophy. This outfit won the fourth tussle and the championship from Keene, 7 to 5, with a three-run splurge in the windup inning to put the clutch on the pennant. It was the best season this loop has had, threatening to overshadow the organized City Softball League. Some good teams, players and games in the circuit which supplied plenty of interest to fans of the south end of the city—folks who used to haunt E.P.I. baseball games back in the palmy days. Congrats to the loop officers, the champs and the runners-up.

* * * * * *

HITHER AND yawn: Cy Collison, who once twirled softball here recently pitched Toronto Renfrews to the T.A.S.A. senior "B" crown . . . Drake Jopling is thinking of returning to the N'Yawk Rovers for this coming winter . . . They're bowling now in the Lindsay arena . . . Belleville grid colors this year are gold and royal blue—and the toast is called the Panthers . . . Local school soccer loop plays Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays . . . Oshawa scribe says the Hamilton ball diamond is the best he ever saw, adding the infield is much like Riverside Park here . . . We understand that Toronto Eastsides, in our O.R.F.U. group, will play home games away . . . Trenton Fliers open their grid season tomorrow in the Quinte city . . . P.C.I. senior rugbyists are trying to line up an exhibition game here Thanksgiving Day with St. Mike's or some other Toronto team . . . Not only does the name Auburns fit the headlines better, but what cheer leader can yodel this mouthful: "Cheltenham-Inglewood, Cheltenham-Inglewood, rah, rah, rah!"—is there no justice?

PETERBORO CLUB LOSES DECISION

The Peterborough C.C. travelled to Oshawa on Saturday to play the first of home and home matches against that club. In cold and dull weather the match resulted in a win for Oshawa by 38 runs, final score O.C.C. 90, P.C.C. 52. For the winners Fuller 27, Bennett 22 not out, Sargent 16 and Mann 11, were best. For the Peterborough side Howarth 16, G. Colbran 14 and F. Smith 12 were high scorers. Toward the end of the Peterborough innings the light became really too bad for play, but it was decided to carry on in order to come to a definite result.

A return game, the last of the season, will be played at the Oval next Saturday, Sept. 25.

Arizona Cowhands Will Play With Western U. This Year

Pigeon Spikes Retirement Reports With Light Workout At Sarnia Camp

TORONTO, Sept. 21 — (CP). — There's nothing like living up to a name. So, when those Mustangs from University of Western Ontario take the field in the Intercollegiate football wars this season, it's likely two "cow boys" will be in the line-up.

Footballers do a good many odd jobs to keep in shape during the summer months, but the strangest story this year is the one of George Oliphant and Ken Scoble of the Mustangs. They made their first appearance at practice yesterday after working on an Arizona ranch all summer.

Oliphant, a substitute middle wing and Scoble, who played regular with the intermediate team last year, just reached their old stamping ground in London after a 2,500 mile hitch-hike. It isn't likely they'll have to do much running around to develop wind and leg muscles.

Pigeon Reports to Camp.

Meanwhile, there came glad tidings to Montreal's Big Four Indians and Chief Brave Johnny Ferraro. Ferraro welcomed George Pigeon to camp.

Pigeon spiked reports he would retire from the game this season by showing up at the training field and getting in a light workout. Captain of the team last year, he appeared in fine shape.

Toronto Argos tuned up for their game Saturday with Queen's University and Coach Lew Hayman lopped off five players to bring his list to 34.

The Tigers from Hamilton had a newcomer in the person of Dr. Pony Stull, a powerful winger, who looked good in practice. Tigers get their first test Saturday against the Canadian champion Sarnia Imperials.

Carl Hubbell, Giants.—Pitched shutout ball in seven inning relief trick, allowing four hits and fanning six to beat Cards 10-3.

Lefty Gomez, Yankees.—Blanked Tigers 5-0 with four hits, fanning nine.

Gabby Hartnett, Cubs.—His two-run double provided winning margin for 5-4 victory over Dodgers.

Ethan Allen, Browns, and Ben Chapman, Red Sox.—Allen hit three-for-three and drove in three runs in 8-6 opener win; Chapman had four-for-four in 7-5 nightcap win, batted in one run and scored two others.

Auburns Rubbed Out By Cheltenham 13-9

Local Lacrossers Fade From Picture Before Big Crowd In Semi-Finals

Peterborough's hopes of a Provincial championship faded this year as the local lacrossers were rubbed out of the picture, the Cheltenham-Inglewood Combines beating Auburns by a 13-9 count here last night before 1,500 fans to take the O.A.L.A. semi-final series by a 26-18 score. It was a fine fixture all the way, but the visitors earned the verdict.

Play was fast and rugged in every heat with the Auburns battling bitterly to the end. They started with a bang, facing a four-goal deficit from their previous game, and had an edge in the first quarter. The Combines dominated play the next two heats and the fourth was fairly even. There were 13 penalties handed out in the heated contest, the losers drawing seven—two of them being unearned.

The count was 2-1 at the end of the opening stanza for the homesters, but the visitors had a 6-4 edge at the halfway mark. The Cheltenham crew had a lead of 9 to 4 going into the last heat and led most of the final frame till Auburns put on a dying spurt to cut down the lead. The same scores marked both semi-final fixtures. Auburns are now through for the season, and their conquerors go into the Ontario finals.

Whitton Goes Good

Buster Whitton was outstanding for the losers, while Magee, Dallin and Vitarelli played fine games, too. King had poor luck around the rival net half a dozen times when scores seemed imminent. The whole crew fought doggedly all the way and went down fighting at the finish. Their passing was not up to form and they missed a number of chances through poor shooting in close. They checked hard most of the route. H. Harris shone in the winners' net with a fine performance, and he was ably helped by Rock, G. Harris, Walsh and Manser. The winner looked good in earning the nod, playing smart, fast and rugged lacrosse throughout.

Five minutes had gone in the first when Whitton scored from Dundas. King was robbed in the hot going and then Wilson's long drive got by R. Creighton. Dodds and Vitarelli were galed for roughing it, and Red pulled off a nice rush. Whitton combined with King and Dallin to score a nice one near the finish. Vitarelli was chased for slashing early in the second but Crowe scored right away on Magee's assist. Dodds got it back on a pass from Walsh and Watts got the finger for holding. Dodds intercepted to tally and then Hazel took Rock's pass for a neat one. Vitarelli came back to score, aided by Magee. Manser counted in a scramble and, after E. Creighton and G. Harris were waved off for roughing it, Dodds scored on his own rebound.

Combines Have Edge

Walsh started the second half with an unassisted counter and the Combines had a distinct edge in the third quarter. Wilkinson got Rock's rebound for another and Vitarelli limped off hurt. Magee got an unreserved penalty for slashing as he defended himself. A local score was called back for an injury and then Walsh went through to tally on Jones' assist. Dundas got an undeserved penalty for slashing and Referee Thoms was booed lustily till the quarter ended. In the wild fourth frame, Puckering got the first goal but Magee got it back fast on E. Creighton's pass. G. Harris was chased for boarding and Dallin got a nifty counter on Whitton's assist. Wilson and Whitton mixed it and went off and Cheltenham began stalling. Dodds broke away with G. Harris and scored, followed by Jones on Hazel's pass. Harold Harris got another and then Whitton's long shot fooled the goalie. King scored in a scramble as Auburns kept battling. H. Harris and King drew penalties for mixing it, and Magee ended the scoring with a nice marker on a rush the length of the arena.

The teams:

Combines: Goal, H. Harris; defence, Watts and Hazel; centre, Rock; wings, Harold Harris and Jones; rover, Wilkinson; alternates, Wilson, Puckering, G. Harris, Dodds, Walsh and Manser.

Auburns: Goal, R. Creighton; defence, Chute and R. Creighton; centre, Magee; wings, Crowe and Vitarelli; rover, E. Creighton; alternates, King, Dundas, Dallin, Whitton, Miller, Cadd and Sloan.

Referees—G. Thoms and B. Leighton of Toronto.

King Carl Hubbell Is First N.L. Pitcher To Win 20 Games This Year

NEW YORK, Sept. 21 (CP).—From all angles—pitching, hitting or quadrilateral—the Cubs and Giants figure to show a brand new way of going about the business of beating off each other's ears in their current crucial series for the National League pennant.

Simply because they're two altogether different ball clubs than they were as late as a month ago, all performances in their previous meetings can be tossed into the discard in figuring the three-game set that got under way in Chicago today.

The Giants, with more power and a vast improvement in their two top right-handers, Hal Schumacher and Harry Gumbert, are far stronger than the team which has lost 11 of 19 games to the Cubs this year.

Chicago, on the other hand, boasts three far improved twirlers in Larry French, Tex Carleton and comebacking Curt Davis.

Champion N.L. Pitcher.

King Carl Hubbell was taking a well-earned rest today after becoming the first National League pitcher to win 20 games this year, with an elegant four-hit, seven-inning relief trick against the Cardinals yesterday, as the Giants gassed the Gashouse gang 10-3. This left the New Yorkers 2½ games in front, since the second place Cubs beat Brooklyn 5-4 after stopping a four-run Dodger rally in the ninth.

Hubbell missed by some three hours the distinction of becoming the first 20-game winner in the big leagues. Lefty Gomez beat him to it with a four-hit, 5-0 win for the Yankees over the Tigers.

In the other tilts on yesterday's curtailed program, the Browns and Boston Red Sox split a doubleheader, St. Louis winning the opener 8-6 and dropping the nightcap 7-5. All other clubs had the day off.

ORIOLES GAIN MINOR FINALS OUSTS ROYALS

BALTIMORE, Sept. 21—(CP).—If the whole thing had been planned in advance, the International League probably couldn't have arranged a better final playoff series for the Governor's Cup than the one which starts at Newark to-night between the league's "wonder team" the Newark Bears, and Baltimore's Belting Orioles.

After their runaway of the pennant race, it was almost a foregone conclusion that the Bears would reach the final, just as they did. Baltimore was the "dark horse" of the playoffs and right now looks like the best bet to give Newark an argument in the four-out-of-seven final.

The come-backing Orioles routed Montreal in four straight games of their semi-final after losing the first encounter. They topped off their triumph last night with a 4-2 victory over Montreal and Harry Smythe, the pitcher who beat them in the opener.

Before the season started, Baltimore was figured as the best bet in the league, but the Orioles never began to live up to their promise until the season was half over. They were in the cellar until mid-June and seventh on July 4. Then they began to climb and before the end of August were safe in fourth place, their final resting place.

Riders Threatened With Elimination

REGINA, Sept. 21—(CP).—Regina Roughriders, football champions of the West, were threatened to-day with elimination from the current Western Interprovincial Union race as their winless record showed three defeats.

Winnipegs unleashed a spectacular third-quarter aerial attack last night to score a converted touchdown and win 6-4 after Riders counted a field goal and a rouge in the first half.

Victory in the first meeting of the two teams this season marked Blue Bombers' second success in three league games. Calgary, with half their eight games out of the way, lead the circuit with three victories.

Fritz Hanson faded 15 yards on a faked end run in the third quarter then lined a pass to Bob Fritz, who leaped high to take it near the goal line and trotted over for the major score. Stevenson kicked the extra point.

GASOLINE STOLEN FROM GAS TANK

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TRENT RIVER, Sept. 21—The gas tank of M T. Lean was broken into early Friday morning and a quantity of gasoline taken. A duplicate key was used to unlock the lock. Mr. Lean and family were asleep at the time and were not awakened. However two parties saw the car drive up a short distance, turn around and switch off her lights, afterwards stopping at the tanks adjacent to the store. After removing a quantity of gas they were seen to drive south on Highway 30 towards Campbellford. Police are making investigations.

RUSTLE OF SILKS

By MARIE BLIZARD

CHAPTER 39

THE COMPLEXION of the scene at Villa Mimosa changed the day that Alec Garland left. The rooms were filled with guests. Rosa added a vague number of relatives to her staff to see that trays were served in the mornings, that bathing dress was freshly prepared for the odd hours demanded by the guests. Dinner—on the nights when Mari and her guests did not dine at neighboring villas or one of the hotels—was a formal affair served at 10 o'clock.

Mari sent to Paris for the motor that she had long since purchased. There was an American made station wagon in the garage. The wine cellar was stocked and the cocktail hour was observed as formally as it had been disregarded during the first two happy weeks.

The garden resounded, not with the quiet conversation of two people deep in contentment, but with the shrill laughter and high well-bred voices of men and women at a typical smart Riviera house party. For Mari had summoned her gayest friends from Paris to finish off her holiday on the superficial note with which she felt it should have begun.

She put away her denim overalls and brought out her most sophisticated satins, her smartest beach togs, her most dashing costumes.

She rose early, and after spending the morning working with Letitia or sketching, and glad for the work, she joined her guests for luncheon at one of the beaches near the hotels.

The afternoon was spent in idle gossip with these grownup children who moved about the continent with the seasons. Evenings, after their late dinner, there was always a party—champagne, music, the flash of jewels, the echo of synthetic laughter. And Mari's was the gayest.

The contentment of simple things was not meant for her.

That was the morning after Alec Garland had told her that he had a wife in America. She had been surprised then that the news had angered and not saddened her. She saw him as a likeable weak person, which he was. But she saw herself playing the part of a fool. And worse—for she saw herself as a loveslck girl—not sick with love for Alec but sick with love for love.

She had to readjust her values then, call upon her resources to take stock of herself. The final sum of them did not add up satisfactorily. Many women would have envied her all the qualities she had; her independence, her ability, her financial security, her beauty and her charm. She doubted the strength of the latter.

What good was charm to a woman who couldn't use that charm to get the only thing that women want?

She was not thinking of Alec when she asked herself that question.

As for Alec, the moment that she saw him in the new light in which he had presented himself, the spell was broken. She had laughed then at her own ridiculous self. Mari Barat, destined for world fame, mooning like a school girl, holding hands in the moonlight, visualizing a dreamy future and herself with a market basket over her arm saying, "Send it to Mrs. Alec Garland, Peachtree road."

Suddenly a small white house came before her eyes, a kitchen where she would cook three meals a day. There'd be no Rosa there to concoct a lunch to serve on a sun-splattered terrace. She shivered delicately picturing herself washing Alec's clothes. Not for her!

In Paris she had a shop four stories high where she was queen. She had a small house and cool and fragrant rooms. She was free and there was no one to disturb the smooth, luxurious pattern of her present life. She wished that she had not leased the villa for a month. She wanted to be back at work. And she had plans. She would travel to Egypt, to the North Cape, a fortnight in Switzerland!

And in the meantime, she would wire Mark to join her for her last few days. Perhaps it would be wise to have Larry Holk come down. Perhaps he should start publicity in motion for her models for the next summer's trade in America. Her own costumes would introduce several features she meant to incorporate.

Thusly did she put all of herself away, merging every part of herself into the machine that she had become and departed from so briefly.

Larry came immediately, and in his wake there were photographers and interviewers.

"Who is she?" a hundred voices asked when the photographers surrounded the svelte figure on the beach—the stunning, slim woman in a daring bathing suit that was only a wisp of white, a striking hat of knitted straw on her head; or later at lunch at one of the American bars in black cire satin pajamas with four inches of gleaming bracelets on each wrist, a skull cap of fabric on her thick burnished hair which fell to her shoulders.

She wore either black or white at night, never a color. Yet each of her evening costumes seemed to create a different woman of her. See her in white chiffon, so cunningly molded to conceal and yet reveal, with a filigree of silver in her hair, and you see a Grecian goddess.

Perhaps the next night was the one she chose to wear soft black, with pearls about her throat and her hair pinned high on her head, and you saw a timeless lady out of a picture of old Vienna.

"How old is she?" they asked each other. You'd never have known that either. She was ageless whether she wore the soft black or whether her frock was nun-like in the plainest of white organdie and she had tucked a white flower in her hair worn in the page boy cut that she introduced.

This was Larry Holk's doing. To everything that he suggested to build up the personal legend of Mari Barat, she acceded without arguments. Nothing meant anything to her but the progress of her work.

She kept in constant touch by telephone with her establishment. She demanded the presence of her various employes. She urged and encouraged ideas of a revolutionary nature. Until that time, she was content to progress slowly, conservatively. Now, she was burning with a fever of activity.

Another girl would have bought a new hat, acquired a new boy friend or wept it all out on the shoulder of a confidante. But Mari Barat had made herself a complex person—for all that to others hers was a simple problem that could have been worked out easily.

Mari acquired another means of forgetting her own lack of satisfaction. She learned to gamble and loved it. Fortunately luck had been with her. Mari could not afford to gamble; she was successful and her income was high but her position demanded high standards of living and did not permit very generous sums for gambling. To Mari, it was an exciting outlet, and, in its way, a fortunate pastime for her. For at Casino she met Carla Mentone.

SEEKING TO DIVIDE C.C.F.

MIMICO, Ont., Sept. 21—(CP).—To damage the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation in the Ontario election, J. S. Woodsworth charged here Saturday night, the Communist party is backing Labor candidates in ridings where they oppose C.C.F. contestants.

Speaking in support of A. H. Wood, C.C.F. candidate in York West for the October 6 elections, the federal C.C.F. leader, said: "I have done my best to assist in giving the Communists the right to run in this country. But if they want to run, let them come out as Communists."

PICKED UP TITANIC'S SOS

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Sept. 21—(CP Cable).—William James Whiteside, wireless operator at the Father Point station on the St. Lawrence River at the time of the Titanic disaster in 1912, died Saturday while visiting his parents here.

Whiteside was the first person on land to pick up the liner's SOS signal. Three years later he picked up an SOS from the liner Empress of Ireland when she sank in the St. Lawrence after a collision.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S SONG AND DANCE

"Can you imagine!" exclaimed Jingle.

"Isn't it wonderful!" said Baby Bunty.

"I wish it would be like this every day!" barked Jackie Bow Wow.

A group of animal children were reading the sign on the door of the Hollow Tree School. The sign said Uncle Wiggily was going to give an entertainment instead of having lessons.

"I hope there is no joke in it," mewed Tommie Kat.

"Uncle Wig wouldn't fool us," said Baby Bunty, the orphan rabbit.

Truly enough Mr. Longears didn't tease the animal boys and girls when they had taken their seats in the large class room. The rabbit gentleman was seated on the platform as was Miss Mouse at her desk.

"Attention, children!" squeaked the Lady Mouse.

"Oh, it sounds just like lessons!" whispered Floppy Tailspin, a piggie boy. But Miss Mouse went on:

"There are to be no lessons today. Instead Uncle Wiggily, who has been teaching you a week while I was away, ill, has decided it will be a sort of holiday for you. So now, Mr. Longears—"

First Number

Miss Mouse looked over at the rabbit gentleman who said:

"The entertainment will begin. The first number on our program is a sweeping act by Mr. Rat, our janitor."

Mr. Rat came shuffling into the room. He had a cap on each of his hind paws, he wore a shoe on his head and he had his coat on backward. All of a sudden he began to sing:

"I am a jolly janitor,
I sweep and dust and mop,
I am so very fond of work
I hardly ever stop.
My broom and I have lots of fun,
I sweep the floors so clean
That n'er a speck of dust or dirt
On them is ever seen."

Then the funny janitor, instead of sweeping the floor, began to sweep the blackboards and the children laughed and Miss Mouse laughed and Uncle Wiggily laughed and the Janitor Rat made funny faces which caused the children to laugh more than before.

Then Uncle Wiggily opened a box he had and out jumped a lot of crickets and grasshoppers. They lined up on the teacher's desk and began to sing and chirp in a jolly way.

"Aren't you going to do anything to entertain?" the Lady Mouse asked of the rabbit gentleman.

Sings About a Cat

"Oh, yes," he said. So he played the mouth organ and he sang a song about a little pussy cat whose fur was red and blue. And every time she lapped her milk she had to sneeze: "Ker choo!"

"And now for my dance," cried Uncle Wiggily.

"Yes, and now for my nibbles!" cried a harsh voice and in popped the Fuzzy Fox. Seeing the sign on the door he thought it would be easy to catch Uncle Wiggily.

"First I shall dance!" said Mr. Longears dignified like and brave. "Don't be frightened children," he said kindly. "Watch me!"

With that, all of a sudden, Uncle Wiggily played the mouth organ and began to dance. He danced over and he jumped hard upon the tail of the Fox Bad Chap so he was glad enough to howl and run away.

So it all happened for the best and if the clothes pin doesnt pinch the tail of the sardine so it can't go swimming with the anchovies, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's nature class.

2 REASONS FOR HOSPITAL

EDMONTON, Sept. 21—(C.P.). — J. Normandeau, farmer of L'Amoureux district, 18 miles north-east of Edmonton, had only one reason for heading toward Misericordia Hospital here when he drove from his farmhouse yesterday—to take home a small son recovered from an illness. Fifteen minutes later the farmer had two reasons. His six-year-old daughter's left arm was gashed by flying glass when another automobile struck the Normandeau sedan. In a neighbor's car, the farmer completed the journey at top speed.

SIGNS OF DIVISION IN BRITISH LABOR LOOM OVER ARMS

LONDON, Sept. 21 (CP Cable).—Prospects of a party split over the question of supporting the government's rearmament program grew stronger today as the Labor party launched a campaign to increase its membership by 100,000.

While party leaders at scores of week-end meetings throughout the United Kingdom delivered scathing attacks on the government—excepting on rearmament — the parliamentary pacifist group, holding its national convention in London, denounced rearmament.

George Lansbury, veteran pacifist and former Labor leader in the House of Commons, presiding at the convention, moved a resolution, which was unanimously carried, deploring the rearmament policy and regretting the Labor opposition's acquiescence when the arms program went through parliament.

It was recalled that Lansbury's differences with Labor leaders over the attitude toward sanctions against Italy in her Ethiopian adventure led to his resignation from the party leadership. Lansbury opposed sanctions.

Need Ample Defence

Col. J. U. Wedgwood, M.P. addressing a party campaign meeting in London, said that a Labor government would maintain such armed forces as were necessary to defend Great Britain from dictator-governed countries.

Arthur Greenwood, another party stalwart, speaking at Maryport, said: "I am not arguing whether rearmament is necessary or not, but when the present (arms) program is completed another depression, far worse than the last, will follow."

Herbert Morrison, M.P., Labor leader in the London county council, speaking at Wellingborough, said that an isolated Britain meant a defeated Britain. He contended Britain could not be indifferent to what hapened outside the empire.

Morrison urged the British people to demand that Britain take a leading part in organizing Europe for peace instead of for war.

Decision In October

Labor is preparing for its annual conference at Bournemouth Oct. 4. There the rearmament problem is expected to be debated at length. A possible indication of the result was seen Sept. 10 when the Trades Union Congress by an overwhelming majority, 3,544,000 to 224,000, voted that Labor "is prepared unhesitatingly to maintain such armed forces as are necessary to defend our country and to fulfill your obligations."

Emanel Shinwell, M.P., opposed that decision in a speech Saturday. He said he did not object to defending Britain but he believed that if there had to be armaments, they should be produced by the nation rather than by private companies.

Another problem facing the Labor party is how to bring Sir Stafford Cripps, the leader of the Socialist League, back into the Labor fold.

Cripps, a veteran parliamentarian, refused to participate in the campaign for new members, asserting that friends of his who were active in the plan to unite the Independent Labor party, the Communists and the Socialists, were being discriminated against by campaign organizers.

SAWED OFF HORNS

PORT ANGELES, Wash., Sept. 21 (AP).—If anybody shoot Roscow, a two-year-old mule deer, it won't be the fault of friendly game protectors.

Roscow had been having things pretty soft, living on handouts from camps and farms. Then he grew a set of four point horns—and hunting season on bucks opened Sept. 16.

Game protectors sawed off his horns in the hope hunters will mistake him for a doe.

Disdains Rifles

For the successful resistance which the Chinese have so far offered to Japanese forces in the Hongkew area of Shanghai, a large part of the credit is given to Chinese soldiers like this man. Disdaining rifle or traditional big sword, this man and his fellows like to get within throwing range of the foe with their hand grenades, a few of which are shown. Reports indicate that these grenades were destructive monkey wrenches in the Jap military machine.

Seeking Rare Life In Mysterious Canyon Mesa

Shiva Temple, mysterious 275-acre plateau, isolated by a deep chasm from the north rim of the Grand Canyon, has been scaled and explored for what is believed to be the first time in world history, by the group of scientists shown ABOVE. Connected with the American Museum of Natural History, they have already snared dozens of small animals in an effort to find new revolutionary types of animals life. So far only "leaf-eared" mice, chipmunks and a lone rabbit have been snared. The group also hopes to discover new data on the earth's formation. Dr. Harold E. Anthony, heading the party ,is shown at the extreme RIGHT.

Durham County Plowmen Form An Association

I. W. Larmer Is Elected President Of New Organization—Expand Into Northumberland

(Examiner Correspondent.)

MILLBROOK, Sept. 21.—The Durham County Branch of the Provincial Plowmen's Association was formed at a meeting held in the Town Hall on Friday evening, the chair for the first part of the gathering being taken by an ex-President of the Provincial Association, L. H. Winslow.

The former Cavan and South Monaghan Plowmen's Association has been disbanded and merged in the new organization, officers elected for the latter including:

President I. W. Larmer, first vice-president, Clarence Allen, Newcastle; second vice-president, George Neals, Manvers; secretary-treasurer, V. R. Hunter, Cavan. Two directors have been appointed by the various councils from each township in the county, the two chosen on Friday night to represent South Monaghan being Jay Whittington and William C. Dawson; two others were appointed for Cavan, taking the place of former appointees elected to office, L. H. Winslow and Irwin Allen.

To Take in United Counties

The objective in view is to make the organization known as the Durham and Northumberland Plowmen's Association, and to this end the officials will get in touch with men from the adjoining county and endeavour to have the Association so extended and named. At present the Board is made up of fourteen directors, and the officers. The treasurer reported $17 from fees and other sources as a balance on hand from the Cavan and South Monagan Association; $100 grant from the Counties Council; and grants in prospect of $65, but stated that to give worthwhile prizes, when a plowing match is held, at least $300 is required. The Association's fee of ten dollars for affiliation with the provincial organization has been paid.

On motion of Neals-Allen it was decided to hold a plowing match this fall, Wednesday, October 27 being mentioned as a tentative date. The membership fee in the Association was fixed at $1.00 which will also allow one member of a family to compete at the match, which will be open to entrants from the two counties, with one class open to the entire province.

Committee to Secure Site

Each director will be expected to canvass his territory and secure as many members as possible, and arrangements were made to secure donations for the prize list. The entry fee for non-members will be one dollar, and the committee to secure a site for the plowing match includes the president, secretary and the directors from Cavan and South Monaghan, the idea being to locate the match, if possible, in the latter township which is in Northumberland county.

A. E. Summers, Agricultural Representative, was present on Friday evening, and was made a member of all committees in connection with the business of the Association.

Darlington and Cartwright had not sent in the names of the directors appointed by their respective councils, but Cavan, Manvers, and Clarke were represented at the meeting.

The next meeting will be called when reports of canvassers and other workers in connection with the plowing match are ready to be presented, and the Department in Toronto will be asked to provide a judge for the day.

Incidentally Mr. Winslow, who resigned the chair when the new president had been elected, noted the fact that Cavan now has the honor one of its boys, Bill Allen, of Ida, as junior champion plowman of the Province.

CHARGED WITH MURDER

PINE RIVER, Man., Sept. 21. —(CP).—Mike Yatkowsky was held by police to-day, charged with murdering his father-in-law, Peter Senyk, 49, whose body was found in a shallow grave near his farm home last Aug. 18. Near the carefully-hidden grave was found a blood-stained axe. Yatkowsky, missing since the body was found, returned Saturday to this town 250 miles north-west of Winnipeg and was arrested when he stepped off the train.

LACK OF PLEDGES MEANS ELECTION ABERHART HINTS

EDMONTON, Sept. 21—(CP).—If Albertans in sufficient numbers fail to sign "blue pledges' promising to support the Social Credit Government, it may be "compulsory" to call an election, Premier Aberhart last night an audience of 1,100 at the Edmonton Prophetic Bible Conference.

The Premier said the Provincial Government did not want "nationalization of banks and loan councils to control credit but State issue of credit," and challenged "the banks or the Federal Government to show the sanction or authority for the present method of monetizing our credit."

Declaring political opponents contended "only 30 per cent (of the people) are favorable for an immediate cessation of our attempts to deliver the people," Mr. Aberhart added:

"The only way that this can be settled is by turning in the blue pledges or, if you prefer it and will not sign the blue pledges, it might be compulsory to have an election. You understand there is no need of an election. But we must know what you think."

During the past week 31,376 signed pledges had been received, Premier Aberhart announced. He did not state the total signed so far. Only previous announcement in connection with signing of the pledges being circulated throughout Alberta, was made September 5, when Provincial Secretary Manning reported 30,750 signed pledges had been received the previous week.

CASE CLOSELY WATCHED

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 21 (CP).—An unsuccessful fight for life by six-year-old Lillian Desramaux has interested Windsor physicians. The child was unconscious for three weeks before she died of meningitis. "A remarkable feature of the case was that the girl lived so long on artificial feeding," said Dr. George E. White, who attended the little victim. She was fed through the nose and by intravenous injections.

HITLER IS TESTING NEW NAZI ARMY HUGE WAR GAMES

BERLIN, Sept. 21—(AP).—Under the watchful eye of Chancellor Hitler the German army today began a week of the most extensive manoeuvres since the Great War.

Twelve army corps were deployed secretly through the northern provinces of Mecklenburg and Pomerania. The war games were launched with the army, navy and airforce cooperating in the defence of the Baltic coast.

Presence of Hitler, together with the fact Marshal Werner Von Blomberg, Reichsminister of War, personally took over supreme command, indicated the importance military authorities attached to the manoeuvres. The general staff was believed located at Rostock or Waren.

All the phases of the games—the first warlike test of the new German army after two years of existence — were cloaked in secrecy. Foreign correspondents were barred; traffic was routed around the area; citizens were cautioned to be on guard against spies.

The large territory covered by the war games, extending from the Baltic coast as far south as Central Germany and beyond Berlin to the east and Hamburg to the west, was regarded as proof that the airforce will play the dominant role.

Cities in the area will be plunged into darkness as citizens cooperate in air defence manoeuvres.

Subway steps, curbs, bridge ends and lightposts were painted white as a safety measure during the "black-out" periods. In Berlin, grade schools were closed to serve as barracks.

FIND SWING MUSIC BAD FOR MORALS

NEW YORK, Sept. 21—(AP). —Laboratory experiments, with an unsuspecting boy and girl as the guinea pigs, proved swing music as "very bad for the morals," a music official announced to-day.

"It's far more harmful than obscene songs because it arouses the lust of the listeners before they realize it," said Arthur Cremin, director of the New York Schools of Music.

Cremin, president of the American Creative League of Music Students and leader in a drive for legislation to bar hot tempos, said he had proved this by experiment.

"We placed a young man and a girl in a room where we could watch them without being observed. First, we provided a program of good music, classical pieces and popular songs, such as waltzes. They were friendly, but that was all.

"Later we arranged another meeting. This time the radio played swing music. They were much bolder, both of them. The boy took much more leeway in his actions and the girl didn't object."

"You mean they necked?" he was asked.

"Yes. I mean they necked," said Cremin, sadly.

SCRAP ON STAGE REVEALS REMEDY FOR FAMILY RIFTS

By Howard W. Blakeslee
(Associatd Press Science Editor.)

BEACON, N.Y., Sept. 21 (AP). —Troubled husbands and nervous wives have found a new cure for family rifts, a therapeutic theatre here, where they go on the stage and quarrel to their hearts' content.

The results of the first six months use of this theatre for domestic, and for more serious mental troubles, is reported in a new publication, "Sociometry, a Journal of Interpersonal relations." The editor is Dr. Gardner Murphy of Columbia University. The publisher is J. L. Moreno, M.D., who built the theatre.

The idea is defined thus: "The full psychodrama of our inter-relations does not emerge; it is buried in and between us." In this theatre, spontaneous play-acting, done under medical supervision, has brought out some of the hidden facts of married lives.

The new journal describes the play-acting of "Robert" and his wife "Mary." They re-enacted some of their tiffs, and at the same time spoke aloud the thoughts they had felt, but not uttered, during the quarrels.

"She never puts things in the right place," was one of "Robert's" asides. One of "Mary's" was: "He is so restless. Why didn't he let me wash the dishes?"

"Robert's" trouble, it developed, was two neuroses, one about time and the other about space. He always worried for fear of being late for appointments. This "time" trouble was so bad he went to one appointment three hours early to escape worry over being late. In "space" anything misplaced, even the slightly up-tilted corner of a rug, worried him.

"Robert" and "Mary" found the cure for their troubles on the therapeutic stage. They learned how to talk to each other when things went wrong.

Shhh—Don't Wake The Baby

A lesson in the correct technique of baby-holding is demonstrated by Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, of New York, as he issues a warning to the audience which gathered at the opening of the new health centre at St. George, L.I. Mayor La Guardia, running on a Fusion ticket, won by a large margin the Republican primary for mayor of New York. La Guardia, in winning the primary, dealt a stinging defeat to Tammany Hall when he defeated both Senator Royal S. Copeland, Tammany candidate for mayor, and Jeremiah T. Mahoney, Democratic candidate.

ITALY BOASTS BRITAIN, FRANCE 'CAME TO ROME'

Conference in Paris To Set Patrol Areas

ROME, Sept. 22—(CP)—Italian participation in the anti-piracy patrol of the Mediterranean will be arranged at the Anglo-Franco-Italian conference of naval experts expected to open in Paris next Monday, it was believed here to-day.

Only technical matters, concerning the re-assignment of patrol areas or adoption of a system whereby Italy will not be limited to definite zones, remain to be decided, it was said.

(Despatches from Tangier, International zone of Morocco, said the French steamship Koutoubia was attacked by an unidentified airplane south of the Balearic Islands last night. The liner, which carried 700 passengers, was undamaged.)

Italy's decision to attend the three-power conference was announced last night in a communique which emphasized that the French and British Governments had never failed to recognize Italy's position as a great power."

Previously Italy had refused to join the patrol, decided upon at a nine-power conference at Nyon, in Switzerland, on the grounds her navy was not accorded parity with those of other nations.

Exult Russia Excluded.

To-day's press comment stressed that Communist Russia had been eliminated from the forthcoming conference of naval experts at Paris. Ei Popolo Di Roman exultingly said "the question of surveillance of the Mediterranean to-day re-enters its proper channel as it is now up to the powers which have the juridical title and means to solve it—there will be no intruders."

El Popolo said France and Great Britain had come to Rome "the long way," but that it was inevitable that they should come because "all roads lead to Rome."

Il Messaggero predicted the negotiations still would be "long and difficult" and warned that Russia might yet raise obstacles.

DOG LEADS PARTY TO LOST HUNTER

TIMMINS, Ont., Sept. 22 (CP)—Barking of a stray dog which had joined searching parties was Bill Bariiko's first sign help was near, the 30-year-old Timmins hunter said today as he rested after a week's wandering in the bush north of here.

Bariiko, following an unused trail, saw the brown and white collie burst through a thicket into clearing where he was standing. "I never was so glad to see anyone or anything," Bariiko said.

Bariiko was found yesterday a few miles from the spot where he separated from a party of friends last Tuesday. Police and friends had searched ceaselessly since his disappearance, following in the last two days freshly-carved arrows in tree trunks.

In all the time he was lost, Bariiko, surrounded by celebrating family and friends, said he never really knew in which direction lay Timmins. He thought he had walked about 60 miles in all in the seven days, circling about and retracing trails.

Dog Sticks With Searchers.

The dog joined the searching parties late last week and stayed with Frank Boychuck and Lorenzo Godin throughout the search. Boychuck and Godin, friends of the missing youth, were the first to follow the dog to where Bariiko stood.

"It wasn't too bad after the first night," said Bariiko.

"I spent the first night in the bush, but after that I always managed to reach a cabin, where I could build a fire and rest comfortably until the next day."

Forced to depend on a good throwing arm for food, because he had no bullets for his gun, Bariiko said he managed to eat often enough.

"The first day I got pretty hungry, but I managed to kill two partridges Thursday and got a rabbit later in the week."

Last Minute News Flashes

EDMONTON — Sir Hubert Wilkins' giant flying boat left Aklavik, N.W.T., at 12.50 p.m. E.D.T. today on a trip to New York. Prisoners Confined To Their Cells Kingston Outbreak

Hoots Fill Prison After 80 Are Locked Up; Grumbling Reported Over Crosley's Trial

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 22—(CP)—Disciplinary measures kept an unstated number of convicts in their cells at Collins Bay Penitentiary today following unconfirmed reports of a sitdown strike.

Shouting yelling at the prison last night followed reports that 80 convicts were involved in the sitdown and refusal to work but Warden W. H. Craig said there was "no organized ceasing of work."

(At Ottawa justice department officials said members of a work gang early yesterday refused to work and were locked in their cells for "safe-keeping.")

Word of "trouble in the penitentiary" spread last night and it was learned that day and night guards were used for over-night duty. Ordinarily about 200 prisoners are housed in the institution, three miles from Kingston Penitentiary where five years ago a riot flared and troops were called out.

"We are always having convicts who refuse to work and that is nothing new in the penitentiary," Warden Craig said. "I hold court several times a week to deal with these cases. We called in a number of guards because we did not have enough officials at the penitentiary."

When shouting and yelling came from the prison last night attempts to communicate with officials immediately failed. Outsiders could get no nearer than the big fence surrounding the buildings and grounds.

Protesting Over Trial

It was reported grumblings over the murder trial of Chester Crosley, negro convict accused of fatally stabbing guard John McCormick last year, led to transfer from Kingston Penitentiary of prisoners to Collins Bay.

Kingston Penitentiary has been the scene of outbreaks. Most serious one took place Oct. 17, 1932 when troops were summoned to subdue convicts who seized guards, barricaded the prison tailor shop and threatened to set it afire. Three days later rioting broke out again but prisoners were quelled by tear gas.

Damage of $30,000 was caused in May, 1934, by fire believed set by prisoners who hooted firemen as they fought the flames. Fifty prisoners locked themselves in a flaming workshop when two fires occurred in the works department on March 31, 1935. Guards, however, battered down a steel door and herded the unruly convicts back to their cells.

Spaniards Arrest French Consul

PARIS, Sept. 22 (CP). — The French Consul at Malaga has been under house arrest for the past 24 hours, Havas News Agency reported today in dispatches from Bayonne.

The news agency said insurgent authorities at the Spanish Mediterranean seaport had refused to permit the Consul to leave his home, apparently as a reprisal against the arrest in France of Major Juan Tronoso, military governor of Irun and head of insurgent espionage on the Franco-Spanish frontier.

Insurgent authorities in the Franco-Spanish frontier zone closed the border to all French subjects attempting to enter Spain. French authorities also took "precautionary measures" along the French side of the Bidassoa River which marks the boundary.

HONEST ABE ORPEN NOTED SPORTSMAN PASSES IN TORONTO

TORONTO, Sept. 22 (CP).—Abram Michael Orpen, who parlayed the profits from a handbook into ownership of three Canadian race-tracks, died today after a lingering illness. He was 83 years of age.

The internationally known sportsman died in the Central Toronto home he built from the first of three fortunes made as a contractor, gambler and director of race-tracks. Ill since spring, when he suffered a stroke, he had been in a coma since Saturday.

Though sick for months, "Honest Abe," as thousands of race-track followers knew him, recovered sufficiently to work at the downtown offices of the Metropolitan Racing Association as late as three months ago.

It was from a back room in those offices—a combination pool room and place of business—that Orpen's booming voice directed operations of four tracks: Long Branch, Kenilworth, Queen's Park and the light of his eye, Dufferin—the "Little Saratoga" of Canadian racing. He owned Kenilworth at Windsor, Long Branch and Dufferin here, and operated London's Queen's Park.

Friend Of Society And Poor.

Orpen, a native of Toronto, was known as much for his generosity to the poor as for his gambling. He mingled alike with the city's society and the poor. In the winter of 1930, he paid for two meals a day for 500 men, maintaining his "soup kitchen" for many months.

There were countless stories of things done and said by the white-moustached, bald-headed gambler. And his life closed shortly after one of the strangest incidents in his full career.

Orpen reported to police three men had kidnapped him as he entered his National Sporting Club on the Lakefront. He bargained with the men and obtained his release on the promise of $1,000 payment to the kidnappers, and his word he would not describe them to police.

One of Orpen's proudest boasts was that he never broke his word, and police never did hear a description of the men.

Poker, Dice, Bookmaking.

Orpen built his first fortune on the earnings from his Alhambra hotel where poker, dice and book-making flourished. Keeping a book in those days, Orpen once said, was "not quite legal; not quite illegal."

On his gambling profits Orpen branched out as builder and contractor. Orpen-owned companies sprang up overnight, mining properties were added and venture pyramided on venture until 1907. Then the Orpen luck changed. His business houses crashed, his mining properties turned out worthless and he started from the bottom.

His second fortune was made by 1916 in his gambling houses and two tracks, Dufferin and Kenilworth. But most of it went when the government closed race tracks in the late war years.

It was not until 1921 that Orpen's tracks were allowed to open again, and he made it the occasion of his greatest promotion work—the $75,000 match race at Kenilworth between Sir Barton and Man O' War.

Orpen gave thousands of dollars. How much of the third fortune he has retained few know, but it has

TORONTO, Sept. 22.— (CP).—The Imperial Airways flying boat Cambria will make a two day tour of Ontario cities starting to-morrow morning, the Airways officials announced here to-day.

Repairs have been completed on the giant flying boat which lost a pontoon during a landing on Lake Ontario here Sept. 3. Trial flights were being made to-day prior to the take-off at 7 a.m. (E.S.T.) Thursday.

LEGIBILITY HALF BUT '38 LICENSES NOT BE RECALLED

TORONTO, Sept. 22.—Under ideal daylight atmospheric conditions the new orange on blue auto markers are only half as legible as the faded 1937 white on red plates, a series of tests conducted yesterday afternoon by three police officers showed.

Similar tests were made last night to ascertain the legibility of the plates on the Lake Shore Road—a normally lit thoroughfare carrying a heavy flow of traffic.

Police Conduct Tests.

Inspector Edward Dunn, head of the traffic squad, with two experienced men, checked the new plates with the old for two hours yesterday afternoon at Fleet and Bathurst Streets.

With traffic travelling at approximately thirty miles an hour, and with the sun shining directly on the markers an analysis of the results showed the white on red 1937 plates visible at 188 feet. Under the same conditions the new orange on blue markers were legible at only 99 feet.

In a more rigid test with the automobiles travelling into the sun, numerals and letters on the new markers could be distinguished at 75 feet, exactly half the distance at which the 1937 plates could be read.

Would Recall Plates.

Deputy Chief Guthrie and Inspector Dunn were emphatic in their belief that something—preferably recalling the entire issue of new plates—would have to be done if the public was to be protected.

The Deputy said he followed a car at night on Bloor Street, equip-

WINDSOR GIRL HURT

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 22 (CP).—Rose Tratechaud, 20, Windsor, received treatment in hospital today for a badly bruised face while police are attempting to learn who committed an assault. The girl was ordered to hospital last night by Dr. Burwell Seymour. Several blows must have been rained upon her, police believe.

Three young men, waiters at a hotel, are under investigation. Two have been questioned and have denied participating in any altercation prior to parting company with Miss Tratechaud yesterday after a party.

45,000 FAMILY LIST ASSURED RELIEF IN WEST

Ottawa Also Promises Feed For Their Stock

OTTAWA, Sept. 22 (CP). — The Dominion will provide direct relief for 45,000 families in Saskatchewan this winter, together with feed and fodder for their livestock, Agriculture Minister Gardiner announced today.

Ravages of persistent drought have raised the number of relief families from 25,000 last year. Estimates for drought areas in other parts of the West are still to be made.

Signs of scurvy have appeared in the West, the Minister said. As a result, the Government will launch a scheme to move large quantities of surplus fish, cheese, vegetables and fruit from other parts of Canada into the drought areas.

In addition to providing direct relief in the areas of greatest suffering, the Dominion will make direct grants-in-aid to the provinces to help municipalities on the border of the drought belt.

Limit on Stock.

There will be limitations on the amount of stock for which the farmer may receive feed and fodder, Mr. Gardiner said. The Dominion will provide feed for one horse for every 25 acres of land and for two cows to each family of four persons or less. For larger families the number of cows is limited to four.

"That is," said the Minister, "if a man wants to keep more he'll have to look after the others himself."

An estimate places the needs of Saskatchewan farmers at 700,000 tons of hay and straw.

We could use more if it were available, but that is all the surplus available," said Mr. Gardiner. "It will have to be bought in Manitoba and that is all they have."

The Government will ipay up to $5.50 a ton for hay and $4.50 a ton for straw.

Cost 10 Million in '37

Cost of relief in the West last winter was nearly $10,000,000. Mr. Gardiner declines to estimate how high it will be for the coming months.

"We are making a grant-in-aid to Saskatchewan and Alberta," he said, "to take care of the drought outside of the prescribed area. There will be a limit on the amount and the provinces will decide themselves where it is to be spent."

The amount is to be made known after the necessary orders-in-council are approved.

"There have been reports from prairie medical men that they have seen signs of scurvy for the first time," the Minister said.

The Minister explained that relief recipients at some seasons apparently were unable to buy fresh fruits and vegetables at their local groceries or chose some other kind of food.

"As a result," he said, "we are going to buy a number of commodities across the country and ship them out there.

"The Department of Agriculture will take charge of assembling the commodities, which will consist chiefly of apples, potatoes, carrots, cabbage, cheese and cured fish."

Only 40 Casualties, Main Buildings Escape Shelling

Chinese Aces Fight Off Three Raiding Fleets; Populace Flees in Confusion for Dugouts

NANKING, Sept. 22—(AP)—Japan ignored British and United States protests against unrestricted bombardment of this capital's civilian population today and her planes bombed the city for hours in an ineffectual effort to carry out its threatened destruction.

Daring Chinese pilots in fast pursuit planes fought off three separate Japanese air fleets, numbering some 100 planes. At least four Japanese bombers were sent crashing to earth.

Although more than 100 bombs were dropped, loss of life and damage to property were relatively small.

The casualties were believed to be not more than 40 Chinese civilians killed or wounded.

An Associated Press survey showed that all government and military buildings had come through the bombardments virtually unscathed.

Close Call For U.S. Embassy.

One Chinese anti-aircraft shell just missed the United States Embassy building and blasted a gaping hole nearby. Shell fragments spattered against the gate-house of the Embassy compound.

Only Second Secretary J. Hall Paxton of the Embassy staff remained in the city proper. Ambassador Nelson Johnson had evacuated the Embassy to the gun-boat Luzon in the Yangtze.

The British refused to evacuate, protested strongly and warned the Japanese they would be held strictly accountable for any loss of British lives and property.

(A Tokyo despatch said Sir Robert Craigie, the British Ambassador, and Joseph Grew, the American Ambassador, had called on Foreign Minister Koki Hirota, but the Foreign Office denied that either protested or made any reservation of indemnity right).

In Shanghai, Japanese officials said that notwithstanding the protests, Japan had not abandoned her announced intention of destroying Nanking as the centre of Chinese resistance. The raid was in progress even as the Japanese announcement was made. After almost 24 hours of tense waiting since expiration of the Japanese ultimatum to evacuate the city, the warning sirens screamed out their warning.

All Dash For Dugouts.

The populace of the city of more than 1,000,000 Chinese dashed to prepared dugouts and other shelters or fled to the hills in motor cars, rickshas or on foot. The streets presented scenes of wild confusion as the natives fought their way out of the thickly-settled areas.

Before any Japanese planes had been sighted, 13 youthful Chinese aviators, piloting pursuit planes, roared into the sky and headed to the north-west to challenge the invaders.

Suddenly and surprisingly, from the south-east, an estimated 30 to 40 Japanese machines appeared at about 10,000 feet. When they were in position, the Japanese wing leader signalled and all the craft let loose bombs on the southern section of the city where the government centre is located. Chinese anti-aircraft batteries opened fire.

Shortly before the invaders swept in from the south-east other Japanese planes apparently had showed up to the north-west, but too far distant to be seen by civilian observers. The obvious strategy was to draw the Chinese pursuit craft away from the city clearing the way for the raid from the south-east.

Other Chinese pursuit ships, however, attacked the Japanese flanks. Soon several Japanese planes

JAPAN EXPRESSES HER DEEP REGRET ENVOY WOUNDING

TOKYO, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Japan to-day expressed her "deep regret" for the wounding of the British ambassador to China in an aerial attack outside Shanghai and British quarters said the note met demands for an apology and assurance such incidents would not again occur.

The British demand for punishment of the aviators who machine-gunned the ambassador, Sir Hughe Knatchbull-Hugessen, Aug. 26, was, however, answered ambiguously.

The note on this point observed: It is needless to say that the Japanese Government will take suitable steps, whenever it is established that Japanese aviators killed or wounded intentionally, or through negligence, the nationals belonging to a third country."

The note was handed to the British ambassador to Tokyo, Sir Albert Craigie, by Foreign Minister Koki Hirota yesterday and its terms made public to-day.

THOMAS SARGENT AND MRS. YOUNG RESIGN OFFICES

At odds with the rest of the executive over the question of possible cruelties to donkeys involved in donkey baseball, President Thomas Sargent and Secretary Mrs. Ada Young of the Peterborough Humane Society tendered their resignations to a meeting of the Society on Tuesday. The meeting declined to accept the resignations and it was later learned an effort will be made to have the two officers continue.

Mr. Sargent viewed the donkey baseball demonstration staged here recently by the Kiwanis Club and gave the opinion it involved no cruelty to the donkeys. It is understood Mrs. Young concurred in his opinion but that others sided with the view of the Provincial Humane Society that donkey baseball was inhumane.

Dr. Thomas Johnston, local Humane inspector, in his report to the Society, gave the opinion donkey baseball is not cruel but that it is neither amusing or clever.

"I found the whole thing rather disgusting," he commented.

Exhibitions of donkey baseball have been staged for charitable benefits at Lakefield, Norwood and other district points as well as Peterborough during recent weeks.

Dr. Johnston also reported to the meeting Peterborough has been swept by another epidemic of dog poisoning. He said he would seek the maximum penalties of a $500 fine or a year in prison if he caught any one of the culprits.

He criticized the city for not owning a dog pound, claiming Dog Catcher Charles Holland is keeping the dogs he catches in his own house.

"If the City Council can afford to hire two dog catchers it ought to be able to provide one pound," he declared.

Hop Fence To Fair Then Buy Ticket

Stratford, Sept. 22—(CP)

THE ticket-taker at the west entrance of the annual fair today saw two youths walk out of the grounds, go to the ticket-seller's wicket, buy two tickets and re-enter the fair again.

"Say, are you fellows crazy?" the ticket-taker asked.

Then he saw Constable Alex. Templeton walking at a discreet distance behind the two young men.

"I caught these two trying to sneak in over the fence," the constable said. "They tried to tell me they were going over to buy a ticket anyway, but I just came along to see that they did."

Competition In Airways Sets Britain Thinking

Takes Fourteen Men To Move Elephant

Washington, Sept. 22—(AP)

THE National Zoo closed its doors yesterday for the first time in forty-seven years, a dozen men worked all day, a big game hunter walked along with his rifle, a keeper stood by with a whip—and Jumbina, a 9,000-pound elephant, moved into a new pachyderm house. The 26-year-old elephant travelled in an 11,000-pound oaken box. Calm in the face of it all, she lumbered over a wooden bridge and entered her cage peaceably.

Proposes Planes To Outmatch Best—Will Approach Dominions For Uniform Craft

By Edwin S. Johnson
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Sept. 22 — (CP). — Aroused by growing competition from United States and German civil aircraft manufacturers, British constructors are concentrating on the production of a new air liner to meet the challenge to their markets in the Dominions and foreign lands.

A meeting of the airline operators has been held with Viscount Swinton, Air Minister, in attendance. His presence was construed as an indication the problem is viewed with anxiety by the Ministry and that financial assistance from the Government may be forthcoming to ensure speedy action.

It is understood the Air Ministry will open negotiations at an early date with the Dominions on a plan for unified action in meeting foreign competition, the question of suitable craft for speeded-up intra-Empire service, consolidation and extension of present markets.

To meet the highly-organized industries of Germany and the United States, it has been suggested airline operators throughout the Empire

Legion Lets Go—Whoops It Up Fifth Avenue 17 Hours

New York Turns Out En Masse For Greatest Parade In City's History

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—New York today parodied "Nobody knows how tired I am."

Everyone smiled understandingly and with evident relief after participating in the greatest endurance contest that has ever tested the hardiest spectator of New York spectacles.

They had witnessed the American Legion parade in all its might and majesty up Fifth Avenue in a procession so long it stretched from one day into the next.

A person could have watched the start of the 17½ hour show, spent most of the day in Chicago and flown back to see the finish.

New Yorkers actually saw part of the parade in the movies and then joined the milling throng as the veterans paused to martial music—it was that long.

Aged Man On Lone Trip To Antipodes Hardie By Name Hardy By Nature

DAVE Hardie, 88-year-old resident of this city suggests that there is perhaps something in a name after all.

Despite his advanced years he leaves here tomorrow at the outset of a lone trip to Australia. He is to embark on the SS "Niagara" at Vancouver on September 29. Following a voyage across the Pacific he will be reunited in Sydney, New South Wales with two daughters and two sons whom he has not seen for the past 25 years since first coming to Peterborough.

The aged traveller will meet also, for the first time, six grandchildren, two of whom are stated to be over six feet in height.

Travelling is not a new experience for Mr. Hardie. Born in Aberdeen, Scotland he went with his parents to Australia at an early age. Later as ship's sailmaker he sailed around the world several times, he claimed.

With the transition from sails to steam, Mr. Hardie found work afloat hard to get. He plied his trade ashore, locating in business here as a tent and awning maker. He has his workshop on Patterson street and during his absence the business is being carried on by members of his family here. He expects to be back in the city around Christmastime.

Mother Of 8 Cheerfully Gives 6 Away, Can't Feed Them On $8 Month

Oklahoma City, Sept. 22 (AP)

MOTHER of eight and expecting another, 35-year-old Mina Mason cheerfully gave away six of her children today because, she said, "I can't feed them on $8 a month."

There were no tears as Mrs. Mason came to county court to sign away her brood to various orphanages.

"I'm happy, I'm very glad," she said.

"They're all I have, but I can't keep them any longer. I can't feed them."

Since her husband went to New Mexico last March in search of work, Mrs. Mason said, she has heard from him but once. Her only income has been from relief.

ROWE WILL ALLOW BEER ROOMS YEAR CLEAN UP OR CLOSE

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Sept. 22 (CP)—Conservative Leader Earl Rowe today prepared to invade St. Thomas, home town of Premier Mitchell Hepburn, after disclosing the Conservative party's proposed liquor board set-up and stringent control of beverage rooms. Mr. Rowe will speak at Petrolia this afternoon and St. Thomas tonight.

In his Owen Sound address Mr. Rowe said if elected at the Oct. 6 Ontario voting he would set up a three-man liquor board in place of the present one-man commission. "We will appoint a chairman and two commissioners who will command respect," he said.

Under the proposal the commission would revert to the type in operation before Premier Hepburn named K. C. Odette a one-man commission. The Conservative policy would be to restore public confidence in the present liquor act, Mr. Rowe said.

He charged the government with "maladministration" of the liquor act. His government, said Mr. Rowe, would give the act "its first fair trial for a period of 12 months." In this 12 months period beverage room operators must get their houses in order.

Must Restore Confidence

"During that period we will request the co-operation of the license holders to restore public confidence in this act, which I believe is possible," said Mr. Rowe. "The beverage rooms of this province must be cleaned up or closed up." Conservatives would establish "a system of strong nonpolitical centralized control with the co-operatiln of a decentralized supervisiors system of local non-political boards." The boards would make recommendations to the provincial commission. Profit at any cost was the keynote of the present government's liquor

Was Declared "Officially Dead" Years Ago

Joseph Bibeau, American Legionnaire, is shown with his wife and their three children, in their temporary shelter in the American Legion headquarters at Manville, R.I. Visiting relatives a few days ago, Bibeau, was told that other relatives have collected a $10,000 war risk insurance on him, after they were informed by authorities that he died in battle at Argonne. U.S. army and navy officials have listed him as Jack Lawrence Foster, whose seven brothers were killed in the war and whose relatives were dead. A blow on the head during an auto accident in Los Angeles, on Christmas Day, 1936, restored his memory. An investigation is being started by the Manville American Legion to declare his army status, and collect his war insurance.

NOT BE STAMPEDED INTO SEAWAY DEAL HEPBURN ASSURES

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 22—(CP)—The kind of "ballyhoo which loaded the people with the Hudson Bay Railway and the Moosonee extension of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway is not going to "stampede" Premier Mitchell Hepburn into supporting construction of the St. Lawrence Waterway, he made clear here last night.

That development would only take traffic from Canada's railways, just at a time when they were getting back on their feet, he told an election meeting.

Earlier, at Tweed, in East Hastings, the Premier had returned to the scene of his Government's only by-election defeat with the declaration that the Conservatives were now protesting against an election "because they know they are going down to defeat."

Here he assailed the Conservative liquor administration and pointed to $30,000 beer sales by the Conservative Club of Kingston as an illustration of that party's inconsistency and insincerity in its appeals to dry voters.

Mr. Hepburn repeated his challenge to Conservative Leader Earl Rowe to name the beer-licensed hot dog stands and children's saloons he had mentioned. Such talk, the Premier said, was merely a smoke screen to cover the Henry Government's record.

25 Per Cent. Jobs to Veterans

He told his audience here 25 per cent. of all appointments made by the Liberal Government had gone to returned solders, a record unique in Canada. Some returned men had been laid off, but had been placed on an eligible list and re-employed when vacancies occurred.

A sample of his government's attitude toward labor was the settlement of the Brockville strike of Stetson em-

Mercy Flight Saves Mother Of Dead, Unborn Baby

Pilot Lands On Magdalene Island Beach In Forty-Mile Gale

CHARLOTTETOWN, Sept. 22—(CP)—Mrs. Lebourbois, wife of a Magdalene Islands physician, lived to-day, due to modern equipment of a Charlottetown hospital and the ability of Canadian Airways Pilot H. S. Jones.

On remote Grindstone Island, far out in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, she was to have given birth to a child. But the child died before it was born and she became critically ill.

Although no airplane had ever landed on the Magdalene Islands in the summer time, Pilot Jones determined to attempt a mercy flight to bring the woman here for hospital treatment upon receipt of a telegram from her husband to bring a plane "at all costs."

The plane set out in the face of adverse weather reports and landed on a Grindstone Island beach in a 40-mile gale after circling round for 10 minutes.

Then the woman was placed on a stretcher in the body of the plane from which seven of nine seats had been removed and brought to Charlottetown. An ambulance waited at the airport and rushed her to hospital, where a successful operation was performed.

BANKS WARNED TO SERVE PEOPLE

EDMONTON, Sept. 22—(C.P.).—Banks operating in Alberta must serve the people "or they will lose their charter in Ottawa," Premier Aberhart said here last night at a Social Credit rally. The Premier said the Provincial Government did not intend to close the banks or confiscate savings.

"The banks are a Federal institution and they have no right to close," he said. "I will take every step I can and threaten them in every way I can if they close their doors. They must serve the people or they will lose their charter in Ottawa."

The Premier charged the Alberta Liberal Party was divided into two groups, one of which wanted to "uphold the financiers." He added: "The leader of the Liberals is going to go as a candidate for that."

E. L. Gray, Alberta Liberal leader, was chosen last night as a candidate for the October 7 Provincial by-election in Edmonton riding to fill the vacancy created by the death of G. H. Van Allen, Liberal.

GRIFFITH BACKS LANCASTER CAUSE

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Sept. 22. — An enthusiastic audience greeted T. P. Lancaster, Conservative candidate in this riding, on his visit to Cordova Mines for a Liberal-Conservative rally. He was supported by E. J. Leeson of Havelock and Reeve W. E. Griffith of Belmont.

Mr. Griffith came out very strongly for the re-election of Mr. Lancaster as in the best interests of the county ratepayers versus a Peterborough city Liberal, and condemned very vigorously Mr. Hepburns attitude in respect to labor in connection with the Oshawa strike, contrasting it with the peaceful and orderly manner in which the railway employees obtained better wages and labor conditions in their recent negotiations with the C.P.R.

He claimed that Hepburn was an absolute dictator and browbeats his followers into submission whenever they disagree with him. As a former Liberal, he stated that he could not support Mr. Hepburn now, and pleaded with the electors to vote for Lancaster on October 6 next, that they may be assured a square deal for themselves and the united Townships of Belmont and Methuen. He stressed what Mr. Lancaster had obtained, even in opposition, for the benefit of the township ratepayers.

WILKINS REACHES BASE AT AKLAVIK

EDMONTON, Sept. 22.—(CP)—Sir Hubert Wilkins, whose efforts to find Russia's missing transpolar fliers have been unsuccessful, is expected to leave his base at Aklavik, N.W.T., today on a return flight to New York.

Sir Hubert and four members of his search party returned to Aklavik yesterday after being grounded by bad weather since Sunday on the Mackenzie River Delta.

Major G. E. Bent of the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals said last night he had learned Sir Hubert, his pilots, Herbert Hollick-Kenyon of Toronto and Al Chessman, Fort Arthur, and two New York technicians would hop off some time today for the south.

Reason for the flight to New York was not known but it was believed an airplane suitable for winter flying would be obtained there and search for the Russian fliers resumed.

BLAST BARES NEST OF DINOSAUR EGGS

WATERTON, Alta., Sept. 22.—(CP).—Members of a highway construction crew to-day considered seeking expert opinion on what is believed to be a nest of petrified dinosaur eggs laid bare by blasting operations in Waterton national park on the Alberta-Montana border, 190 miles south-west of Calgary.

The petrified eggs are nine inches long and six inches in diameter, the nest is more than three feet in diameter. The find was made a year ago by a crew blasting rock on the chief mountain highway, connecting Waterton and Glacier National Park in Montana.

Speculation as to value of the discovery was aroused only recently as parks employees read of research work done in the fossil beds of the Cypress Hills, near the United States' boundary south of Medicine Hat, Alta.

Carradale Shark Dies And Sinks

GLASGOW, Sept. 22. — (CP Cable).—Carradale Bay's prenomenal shark, which towed a dinghy-load of men around the north channel of the Irish Sea for 24 hours over the week-end, died to-day and sank.

The ten-ton shark, still alive but exhausted after its determined bid for freedom, had been buoyed to the motor boat Myrtle when five Scottish shark hunters went ashore after their week-end ordeal. The harpoon, which had served as a tow rope, still was embedded in the sharp.

The Myrtle was unable to raise it when it went to the bottom to-day and a vessel with a crane was sent for. The shark hunters are attempting to find out whether a new Scottish industry can be built up from the distillation of shark liver oil.

London Murder Inquest Is Halted Abruptly

Crown Fears Wide Publicity May Prejudice Fair Trial

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 22 (CP)—How Mary Wilkinson came to her death remained an official secret today after an abrupt adjournment of an inquest into the 37-year-old London public school teacher's death. No evidence was taken at the brief hearing last night.

An autopsy showed Miss Wilkinson had undergone an illegal operation but authorities were non-committal as to whether this caused her death. At the same time plans proceeded for the preliminary hearings of the two men charged with her murder.

Crown Attorney Norman F. Newton, in asking Dr. A. R. Routledge, chief coroner of Middlesex county, for an indefinite postponement at the opening of the inquiry, said:

"Widespread publicity given hearsay and other evidence at this inquest might prejudice a fair trial."

Facts in the case will be brought out Saturday at the preliminary hearing of a murder charge against Dr. Charles A. Cline, 70-year-old London physician, Mr. Newton said. He added the preliminary hearing of Lachlin J. Robertson, 50, also charged with murder, would not proceed Tuesday unless counsel were appointed for him. Robertson, a factory fireman, said he had no money for lawyers' fees.

50 Girls Among Spectators

Fifty young girls were among the 200 spectators crowded into the courtroom for the inquest into the death of the teacher whose body was found in the Thames River here Sept. 14.

Police said she died Sept. 9. A sum of money and jewels she took with her two days earlier when she left her Richmond street apartment in north London were missing, police added.

Two other persons are in custody in connection with Miss Wilkinson's death. Mrs. Emily Robertson, whose husband is charged with murder, is held as a material witness and Lorne McFarlan is charged with vagrancy. Identity of McFarlan, the "mystery prisoner" became known for the first time yesterday. He was arrested last Thursday.

SPECIAL SERVICES HELD IN MILLBROOK

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Sept. 22.—A special service was held in St. Andrew's United Church on Sunday at 11 a.m., at which an unusually large congregation was present, and Rev. G. A. Williams, of Toronto, was the speaker for the occasion.

The pastor, Rev. A. L. Sisco, was in charge of the service, the musical feature being tenor solos sung by Lawrence Dunbar, of Perrytown, who this year was gold medalist at the Durham County Musical Festival.

Rev. Mr. Williams spoke from the text: "The harvest truly if plenteous, but the laborers are few," emphasizing God's need of human co-operation in producing a harvest in the material world, and in the spiritual world, as well, requiring man's submitting his will to that of the Great Father in His plan of salvation through faith in Jesus Christ, individual acceptance of the Savior being included in the working together in garnering in the sheaves for the Kingdom.

In the evening the Young People's Union conducted the service, B. B. Dawson, president of the Peterborough Presbytery Y.P.U., being in charge, and Richard Williams gave the address. "Living with a purpose" was the subject chosen, the fact that God has a plan for every life; that He needs our co-operation; and that avoiding aimless living and seeking to know and fit into the Divine plan for individual life, is the only way to experience true satisfaction and lasting success, were points developed with impressive clarity.

Music was provided by the young people's choir, and within the altar railing was banked with fall blossoms and foliage, bringing something of the beauty and fragrance of nature into the sacred edifice.

ITALIAN RAIDERS KILL ANTI-FASCIST

TUNIS, North Africa, Sept. 22. — (CP-Havas)— French authorities to-day pushed an investigation of the assassination of an Italian anti-Fascist here yesterday after having banned a banquet which was to have been given last night in honor of the officers of the Italian training ships, Amerigo Vespucci and landing party of some 50 members of Christoforo Colombo.

The shooting occurred when a the crews of the vessels raided the offices of the local Italian unit of the Leftist League for the Rights of Man.

The victim, Giuseppe Micell, local secretary of the league, was killed when he attempeted to repel the raiders with a revolver.

Eight persons were arrested, including two cadets from the training vessels.

The Italian Consulate refused to dicuss the attack, which occurred in full daylight. The party from the training ships was believed to have made the attack as a reprisal against the local anti-Fascist newspaper, Italiano Di Tunis, published in the building.

A SITDOWN STRIKE

NEW INDUSTRIAL PLANT

Britain's first plant for extracting oxygen from the air is to be erected in Thornaby-on-Tees, England.

"DAVE," said Mr. Picobac, addressing the manager of Essex Centre's Gas Pump and Parlour Car Garage, "these motor trailers are getting to be quite a thing. I was sitting on my verandah smoking my pipe and thinking of nothing in particular, and I counted three of them go by."

"There's about half a million of them in the States," said Dave. "If this town was up to date we'd have a trailer city annex here before now."

"You're right," said Mr. Picobac, savouring his pipe, "catering to tourists is one of our biggest industries. We ought to do everything we can to attract 'em and make 'em want to come back here."

"I'll say so," opined Dave. "They're a big help to my business."

"I'm doing my part," continued Mr. Picobac, "I tell 'em all about the good Burley tobacco we grow down here, and then I do 'em the favour of giving 'em a smoke of Picobac. Every man-jack agrees with me that Picobac is a mild, cool, sweet smoke in a pipe."

Picobac is the pick of Canada's Burley crop, grown in sunny, southern Ontario, barn-cured and matured for three years in the wood.

Former Peterborough Boy
At Mission Work in the West.

Peterborough friends will be interested in the following items, clipped from last week's issue of the "Canadian Churchman", about an old Peterborough boy, formerly a member of All Saints' church, and now at mission work in the Diocese of Saskatchewan.

"The Paddockwood Mission, north of Prince Albert, held a boys' camp at Okema Beach, Emma Lake, in July. Nineteen boys were in attendance, with the Rev. H. E. Ashmore in charge. It was organized in an experimental way and it is expected that a like procedure will be adopted yearly. Daily Bible study and family prayers were under the direction of Mr. T. W. Howarth. Campfires, sports, etc., were led by Mr. Art. Holmes. During the week a visit was made to the University Art School at Murray Point, and a sail over the lake in the motor boat proved a great attraction, not to mention the marshmallow roast."

"The Rev. H. E. Ashmore, travelling priest for the northern area, tells of having a strenuous visit to the Pine Valley district, where he baptized six children, twenty-four people being present at the service. Next day a communion service was held, twelve people partaking of the Lord's Supper. A few days later at Mayview a baptismal service was held when seven were baptized, ranging in ages from 18 to 6 months. Immediately after this service a quick drive brought him to the next service when three more children were received into Christ's Church. In the evening he drove to Cookson in the Sturgeon Valley Mission in charge of Mr. J. M. Morris of Wycliffe College, where another baptismal services took place and four children were baptized. Forty-seven people were present at this service and the others were equally well attended. At 8.30 a service of Holy Communion was held, twenty-five persons communicating. After repairing tires twice, Mr. Ashmore called this a day, having driven in all 84 miles."

Bath-Mortimer.

A very lovely house wedding took place quietly at half-past ten on Wednesday morning when Mildred Emmeline, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Mortimer became the bride of Harvey Lloyd Bath, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Bath. The Rev. G. S. Easton of Trinity United Church performed the ceremony against a beautiful floral setting of flowers, ferns and foliage in the drawing-room of the bride's home on the River Road.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a charmingly distinctive princess gown of "bridal ivory" velvet. Self-covered buttons fastened the front from the heart shaped collar to the hem, and trimmed the long close-fitting sleeves. Her shoulder length veil of fine net fell in points at the front, back, and at each side, and was crowned with a flat cluster of orange blossoms, worn slightly at one side. She wore ivory sandals and carried a bouquet of Madame Butterfly roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

The ceremony was witnessed by immediate relatives of the two families, with only members of the families attending the following wedding breakfast. Mrs. Mortimer, mother of the bride, was gowned in wine sheer, with black accessories and a corsage of pale yellow Johanna Hill roses. Mrs. Bath, mother of the groom, wore a dress of dark green crepe, matching hat and accessories, and a similar corsage to that of the bride's mother.

The young couple left later for a motor trip to Montreal, Quebec City, and points in the States, the bride wearing for travelling a smart brown wool dress, with hat, suede shoes and gloves in a dark green shade, and a brown lapin coat in short swagger style. JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

"Oh what a crowded world one moment may contain."—F. Hemans.

And this:

"A Wonderful stream is the River Time,
As it runs through the realm of Tears,
With a faultless rhythm, and a musical rhyme
And a broader sweep, and a surge sublime
As it blends with the ocean of Years."
—Benjamin F. Taylor.

Dear Friends:

Do you ever think of the "moments" you have had in your life? The time you graduated, and the moment when you received your diploma. The time you began to take an interest in boys, (who had been nothing but a nuisance in your life up to this) and the high moment when one asked you for a "date."

The time you went with your boy-friend, neither of you just quite knowing whether you were to go throgh life together or not, and the moment you both knew that life would be bleak if you were not together.

The moment when you held your first-born in your arms, and the feeling of exaltation it gave you. The moment when you knew for sure, after a long tedious illness, that they were definitely on the mend, and the way your heart rose in a prayer of thankfulness to God for His mercy.

One moment stands out more clearly in my memory than others, as if it were etched there, and that is the time when I saw my daughter walk after infantile paralysis. The first faltering steps, while I held my breath for the moment of miracle I saw appearing before my eyes.

One woman said to me later, "you do not scold her if she climbs trees, or plays games," and I said no, for one time she could not run or play, and if God had not been good she might have spent her time on a couch or in a wheel-chair.

And the moment when you knew for sure that the one you loved was dead, that never again would you hear their voice, or see their smile. The tearing pain at your heart, and the rending tears and sobs which shook your whole being. Those moments can never be forgotten.

The moment when you realized that your life was broken from something which seemed worse than death, the heart-broken bewildering moments when it seemed impossible that you could live through this agony, and the moment when you knew you must pick up the broken pieces and try to make a different pattern, when all you wanted to do was to die, but death stood afar off.

The moment you knew definitely there was a God, ah, that gave something to your life which seemed to compensate for all your sorrow. A God who is really interested in YOU, not an abstract Person ruling the universe, but One who is truly desirous of giving you happiness, or lightening your load, of helping you over the rough spots, that is a moment which calls for reverence.

And so, if life looks kind of dreary for you right now, take out some of your high moments that life has given to you, and enjoy them all over again. The sorrowful ones and the sad ones will come unbidden, for they seem to lie in wait for some little annoyance to prick our memories, then out they troop to get us farther down in the depths.

But the bright happy ones have to be summoned, yet when you DO call them, they fill the blank hours as nothing else can do. And now I am nearly finished and I've said nothing about the moment when you see the first white hair, or, if you are a man, the frantic efforts made when the moment comes and you see the beginning of baldness.

Nor the moment you realized that life could not be a continuous honeymoon, or the other one when your husband (who has told you so very often you are going to do everything together) says he thinks he will go out with the gang tonight. Yes, we all have our "moments" and it is up to us to make them as colorful and interesting as possible, so that we can enjoy them right then, and later in retrospection. Take a moment to tell me some of yours.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

ARE YOU ONLY A THREE-QUARTER WIFE?

THERE are certain things a woman has to put up with and be a good sport.

Men, because they are men, can never understand a three-quarter wife—a wife who is all love and kindness three weeks in a month and a hell cat the rest of the time.

No matter how your back aches—no matter how loudly your nerves scream—don't take it out on your husband.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

After Twenty Years

While the world talks of another war, and while there is actually the bitterest sort of war in China and Spain, there are men who are not yet through with the World War of 1914-18.

The Examiner has received information regarding an accountant who was shot through the foot in the early fall of 1917, and that was twenty years ago. Treatment was given to the wound at the time, but recovery seemed to be so marked and certain the soldier went back to the front in May of 1918.

Within recent days he has had trouble, and an examination revealed there was a considerable degree of infection, sufficient to warrant sending him to a military hospital at once. The ex-service man has not complained at any time of feeling pain in the foot and he walked with a limp so slight that it could hardly be noticed.

And now after 20 years the World War points at him and marks him as yet one more who must be off to the hospital for immediate treatment. And yet we talk and plan and anticipate another war!

Difference Of Opinion

In most of the rural municipalities the tax notices go out about this time of year, and the provincial Government requests that on the tax notices there shall be printed a notice saying "The general tax rate has been reduced one mill by Provincial Subsidy."

The publisher of one weekly paper in whose office several sets of tax notices are printed, found a difference of opinion regarding the addition of this notice to the usual form. In one township the reeve desired the wording about the provincial subsidy to be printed in good round letters. He believed the government was entitled to such treatment and it was only fair that it should be prominently displayed. Further than that, he was of the opinion that if the tax notices were sent out soon it would be good stuff with an election on the way. He is a Liberal.

The reeve and clerk of the adjoining township did not want the notice put on the tax papers at all. When they found it was ordered by the government they asked that it be placed in the smallest type possible, and they were certain if that were done a good many people would never notice it. They were convinced it was just that much more propaganda on behalf of the government. They are Conservatives.

Two Girls Went Away

Two girls who are attending the Collegiate Institute at Clinton went on a trip at the week-end. The parents of one of the girls were out of town on Sunday, the father being a minister. He was away in a neighboring community. When the parents returned home late in the evening a note was found stating the daughter had gone on a visit advising them not to worry as she had enough money, but she gave no hint as to where she had gone. The girl who accompanied her left in much the same way.

Fortunately it was not difficult in this case to trace the girls. Police found they had been seen at several places along the highway, and it was suspected they were making their way toward Hamilton where there were relatives. So sure were the parents that they left for that city and brought the girls home before hearing where they were.

But it is recorded in the story from Clinton that the parents of both girls spent a good many restless hours before receiving any reports indicating which way their daughters had gone. They did not know for sure so they had to depend on surmise, and that is not the best guide, nor is there much comfort or assurance in it.

It is also stated the girls were surprised when they found their parents had been worrying and staying up during the night trying to find trace of them. Apparently they thought what they were doing was quite all right. But at best they have a very inadequate conception of the concern which parents feel for their children. It is something which never takes a holiday, and it is immediately touched into action when any occasion arises. And the touching into action of that feeling is a painful process. Young people probably spend little time thinking about that. They would not willingly injure or hurt their parents, and they might draw back from doing anything which would cause them trouble, but the unannounced disappearance of two girls of 17 years is sufficient to strike their parents with all the tragedy of a direct blow. Parents do not as a rule ask or require much from their children, but they are at least entitled to a great deal of kindly consideration, and in the case at Clinton that quality had been sadly overlooked or entirely ignored.

Cannot Stay Out

Cordell Hull, United States Secretary of State, has given indication that United States cannot hope to permanently follow its present policy of aloofness from world affairs. Mr. Hull made it plain enough his country had no desire to be drawn into foreign alliances, nor was there any wish to fight the wars of other nations. But according to Mr. Hull:

"We must make our contribution toward the realization of conditions upon which peace everywhere can be maintained, or ultimately we shall have to maintain and protect ourselves amidst an outside world ridden by war and force."

There have been several events since the beginning of the war in China which indicate clearly enough how impossible it is for a great nation like United States to try to live separate and apart from the rest of the world. There are many United States folk in China as there are in other lands, and they have been carrying on business there as they have a right to do. But when war starts they are at once in danger. China is not going to guarantee their safety and evidently Japan is not much concerned about what happens to them. So the question of looking after them is placed right back on the doorstep of Washington. Washington might prefer to have nothing to do with affairs in China, but when the present war in that country is brought home to Washington then comes the realization that a war in any country becomes the concern of every nation.

Just how far Secretary Hull believes his country will go we do not know. United States has wealth and might and a desire and a will for peace, and such an influence should be turned loose to work toward that end.

A Word For Good Drivers

After reading new figures regarding the number of traffic accidents, we are convinced there should be more accidents. A statement of that sort needs explaining, and the explanation is not difficult to furnish. Just this—the stage is set a good many times for an added accident but good driving on the part of some other party prevents it.

Driving to Peterborough from the Western portion of the province on a bright day and with every condition favorable to good and safe driving, it was possible to see instances where an added accident might well have taken place, like this:

At Rockwood, near Guelph, a young man was driving a sedan with five people in it. He pulled out from in front of a store and made a complete "U" turn without giving any signal of his intention, and that was on Highway No. 7 where a number of cars were passing. The car which should have struck the sedan happened to have a good driver and he had good brakes on his car. He was able to slide into the place at the side of the road in front of the store which the other car had just vacated.

There was another one in Kitchener. The set-up was this—a car parked on the side of the street and one approaching from east, another from the west. Happens that way often enough, making three cars abreast on a narrow street. A girl riding a bicycle on the sidewalk turned to go on the road, looking not at all to see if there were cars in either direction. Drivers of the approaching cars both saw the situation and came almost to a stop while the girl on the wheel made her way down the street. Good driving headed off an accident there.

The next one was a short distance out from Acton. A farmer with a prize animal from a fall fair in a truck turned suddenly and with no warning to a farm driveway on his left. There were three cars following. The car nearest the truck with a poorer driver would have crashed. As it was he missed the truck by inches.

There was another on the street in Peterborough. The driver of a car saw a ball roll out on the street from between several parked cars. He had sense enough to realize that where there was a ball there would be a child near. He stopped and in an instant out came the child directly in the path of his car. There was no accident because there had been exceptionally good driving.

So much is written and spoken about careless driving that it is time a word was spoken on behalf of the good drivers on our streets and highways. We are certain as can be that the set-up is prepared for many accidents which never take place, and they do not take place because we have good drivers who use their wits and their eyes and all their senses all the time they are on the road. A good deal of credit and consideration is due them. Nothing much is heard of these people and for that reason we are trying to voice appreciation. They have sense enough to see accidents in the making, and the additional sense which keeps them from participating.

Living In A Village

A clergyman who lives in a village in the Western part of the province was discussing the problems he was facing. He told the Examiner there was much to be said in favor of living in a village or a town; there was more time for good reading and good thinking; everything was more natural and the artificial side of life was not always to the front. He did not believe there was the same unwise effort to compete with other people in matters of social standing, and the feeling of community interest was apt to be much greater in a village than in a city. If anything happened all the people knew whether it would be a good thing or a bad thing for their little community and as a result the folk were apt to act more with one accord to protect their interests. The chief concern of this clergyman was for the young people of the village. He stated the case this way:

"There are young people, and particularly young men and boys, and their surrounding causes me more concern than anything else. When they are going to school they have something to do, but of course there are limits to the amount of education which they can receive in our schools. It is when they are through school the problem really commences.

"It is all stated here—they have not been sufficiently educated for much that the world requires today and only a very few of our families can afford to send them away to continue their education. So they are left at home in the village and there is for the great majority of them nothing to do. If they were able to go away and have a chance of making a start at anything in the way of honest work elsewhere it would be the best thing for them. Some of them do so, but it has been difficult in recent years. Those who stay at home have nothing to occupy their time. The discipline which comes from regular hours and the sensation of feeling tired from a day's work and the need of going to bed at night so one may be up and feeling fit in the morning—all these things are absent. The young fellows gather at the pool rooms and they start frequenting the beverage rooms, and they tell me there is no other place to go. At times they will secure work on the roads building plans or some of them will work on farms, but they are not making a definite start in life. They are approaching the stage where they will be ranked as unskilled labor and I fear they will stay there, and worse still they seem to lose the desire to work. They are not in a position to earn promotion through good service. So it is they drift, and I know they are drifting, and what measure of ambition they have seems to gradually go out of them. There was a time when there was much said about the cities robbing the villages of their young life, and I may have believed at the time there was something in it. I wish the same movement was in operation again because the problem of the young man in this village with nothing to do is one which is beyond me in the matter of solution."

It is not our intention to drape this honest opinion founded on the experience of a good man with much comment. Every city has its full share of men who have come from villages. They left home because there was nothing else to be done about it. The fact that within recent years it has been difficult to leave home has made the situation of the village youth just that much worse. The devout clergyman who lives with that problem and who sees it grow and develop is undoubtedly a faithful witness when it comes to recounting its undesirable effects.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A radical, we are told, is any ordinary citizen who has had his imploring thumb ignored by forty heartless drivers.

The individual who coined the simile "As useful as a wooden man" evidently never anticipated Charlie McCarthy.

Add to the 1937 list of similes: As easy as getting a job on an Ontario highway during an election campaign.

Variety might be given to political broadcasting if they booked George S. Henry to sing "That Old Gang of Mine" over the air some of these nights.

There is always a lot said at election times about the silent vote. So far Peterborough is concerned on this occasion it seems to be pretty well all silent.

One hundred and five British flyers have been killed in accidents this year. That record sounds bad until it is compared with the highway casualty list during the same period.

A heckler at a Lindsay meeting was silenced by allowing him to sing his favorite song. The trouble with that kind of thing is that in most cases the price paid for silence might be considered too great.

The Ontario leader of the C. C. F. gave an address at Oshawa the other night and glancing over it, the impression is gained that Mr. Mitchell does not believe that the defeat of Premier Hepburn and Hon. Earl Rowe should be regarded as a national disaster.

VICTUALS

(By A. R. K.)

¶ There's one sure thing in Aunt Lucile, she dotes upon a hearty meal, good victuals give her joy; a meal to her means much indeed, it's exercise as well as feed, that nothing can destroy.

¶ My Aunt Lucile is here just now, and there was pleasure on her brow, she got asked out to tea; she was to take some sewing too, to have a little job to do, that's how it ought to be.

¶ Quite early like she got back home, and she began to hum and groan, of victuals she craved more; they'd fooled her on their tea she said, she'd starve before she got to bed, or fall upon the floor.

¶ When it was late in afternoon, they just passed things about the room, then poured a cup of tea; a cup and saucer and a plate, it filled my Aunt Lucille with hate, to juggle on her knee.

¶ The sandwiches were two by two, and one could look at them clean through, the tea was rather thin; and that was all Lucile had got, and she was feeling rather hot, and empty like within.

¶ When Aunt Lucile sits down to eat, she likes a firm substantial seat, she likes a table there; and there is lustre in her eye, when gazing at a good supply—of victuals everywhere.

THE OPENING of the school term in New York shows a still further decline in the number of students who are booked to study languages.

Records show that where ten children enter the common schools at the beginning only one emerges at the other end to continue looking for higher education.

New York furnishes the following figures for 1934 (last year for which they are available) and they show the decrease over the preceding year in the number of pupils entered for these subjects:

Spanish I	30,000
Elementary Algebra	140,000

Strictly Fresh Eggs.

IN NEW YORK city Market Commissioner W. F. Morgan has been forced to issue a warning for the benefit of tourists, and it has to do with the roadside market gardens where stands are maintained selling fresh eggs and vegetables.

What's the trouble?

Just this: Many of the people operating these roadside stands go to the huge Washington Market in New York and buy all their supplies. They were formerly street peddlers. Now they dress to look like farmers, go out into the country along the highways and sell their stuff as being home grown and fresh.

Have You Hay Fever?

THERE HAVE been a number of facts established regarding that hardy and miserable annual—hay fever. Some of the findings are summarized:

Hay fever is not contagious. That has been proven beyond doubt.

Goldenrod took the blame for years, but now it is claimed it has rarely if ever caused a case of hay fever.

Hay fever is not a disease of the eyes and nose. It is constitutional.

It is not a trivial malady. Many cases because of neglect have developed into asthma.

Diet is not a factor in the treatment of the trouble.

Hay fever can be treated and cured but not by nasal operations.

Strange as it may seem, but it is now claimed that heredity is an important factor in contracting hay fever.

The disease is not caused by hay, neither does it set up a fever. So the name is wrong.

For nine days Poe once lived on boiled dandelions because he had no money to purchase anything else.

In his youth Edgar Allan Poe was an excellent fencer, jumper, runner, boxer and swimmer.

Poe was court-martialled and expelled from West Point because he was writing poetry during the time he was supposed to be practising with a gun.

There are no speed limits on the highways in Italy. But there is drastic action in case of a serious accident.

It is estimated there are 10,000,000 Italians living in other countries, and of these almost 2,000,000 live in the United States.

During the war with Ethiopia many cars in Italy were transformed into charcoal burners in order that the supply of gasoline might be conserved for military purposes.

During the cold weather astronomers have worked at a temperature of 25 degrees below zero. That took place in the unheated dome of Wisconsin observatory.

There are some interesting exhibits at the annual radio show in London. Included is the original set used by pioneer Marconi in his 1896 experiments. Also in the museum at the show is the microphone used by Dame Nellie Melba in her first broadcast in 1920 and the portable receiver which King George the Fifth used to hear the then Prince of Wales' first broadcast. An Unusual Test For Candidates

A Dozen Pertinent Questions Asked And 40 Per Cent Should Be Answered Correctly

(From the Kitchener Record.)

A PERSON who wants to enter the civil service is required to pass both an oral and written test. At least it was that way a few years ago, and we haven't heard of any changes in the rules and regulations since then. For example, in the oral test the applicant for a certain position may be shown a variety of articles such as a piece of chalk, a button, a penknife and so on. About five or ten seconds are allowed to glance over the articles and then the applicant is asked to look at a far corner of the room and mention as many of the things in the group as he can recall. Presumably this is used as a memory test. We mention this because candidates who contest seats in the Legislature of this banner province of ours don't have to pass examinations of any sort. About all they need is the party stripe and the gift of gab.

Since many nominations have been held it is too late to introduce a simple intelligence test for the candidates in the forthcoming Ontario election, but we notice where someone who likes to poke fun at politicians has thought up a number of questions that should be put to the standard-bearers and the answers noted to determine their rating. The queries are as follows:

1. In what province do you live?
2. How many toes have you on your right foot?
3. Is Queen Victoria still living?
4. Who is our present King? (Half marks given if the answer is Edward the Eighth or William Lyon Mackenzie King).
5. Are you more careful in spending your own money than in spending other people's?
6. Are you always careful to use the terms "maladministration," "despicable tactics," and "gross misrepresentation" at least half a dozen times per speech in referring to the other party's behavior? What do these expressions mean?
7. What is the indemnity of a member of the Legislature. Do you intend to collect it in the event of your election?
8. Does C. I. O. mean Communists in Ontario?
9. Which one of the following terms would you apply to a political opponent who is rather socialistic: Red, Communist, Bolshevik, visionary, intelligent person?
10. What makes you think you are equipped to help run the affairs of this province? (Answer limited to one-half hour oral or 10,000 words written).
11. What is the difference between Tim Buck and William Lyon Mackenzie?
12. Define "net debt" as contracted (1) by your own party, and (2) by the other party.

We don't know what the pass mark is but it should be at least 40 per cent.

Premier Worries Over Missing Bird's Egg

Finds Time Amid All the Cares of State To Wonder Over a Strange Disappearance

(By Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, in the Countryman.)

NATURALLY The Countryman is interested first and foremost in the country, but there is a rus in urbe where I write, in which sometimes reminders of the country may be visible for those who have eyes to see.

The old garden between Downing Street and the Horse Guards Parade has existed for at least 250 years, and perhaps it retains for that reason some traces of more rural surroundings. Only a few days ago, I was delighted to find resting on the trunk of a small hawthorn tree, a specimen of the beautiful, but rarely seen, Leopard Moth, its long, white, blue-black spotted wings folded over its back.

The larva of this insect is a woodborer, and, as far as I know, there is no tree in the garden which would be suitable for its food. Nevertheless, from its perfect condition, I am sure it could not have made any long flight, and it must have passed its earlier stages somewhere in the neighborhood.

When I first came here in January of 1936, I at once affixed a nesting-box to one of the trees in the garden. Nothing happened for a long time, but last March I saw a pair of blue, or perhaps I should say, black tits, for they were a grimy couple, flitting about the branches of a lime tree. Shortly afterwards they were flying in and out of the box.

I did not have time to make any examination till the week-end after I had become Prime Minister, when on looking into the box, I found the nest completed and three eggs in it. Unfortunately, I saw little more movement, and looking again in June, found that the nest was deserted and the three eggs had been reduced to two. Now what is the solution of the mystery of the vanished egg?

Did the tits themselves carry it away, or did some marauder make off with it? I remember, long years ago, my mother's twin sister, a lady much beloved by me for her sweet disposition and her keen humor, related a conversation with her venerable gardener. Said my aunt, 'John, I see the blackbirds have been busy again with the cherries'. 'May be, Ma'am,' the old man replied, and then with an indescribably sly chuckle, he added, 'but I fancy some two-legged blackbirds must have been round here.' I wonder if some animal of the same species went off with my tits' egg.

ALGOMA PIES.

(Sault Ste. Marie Star)

ALL DOUBT as to the supreme excellence of Algoma blueberry pies should be dispelled by the pie eating contest at the fall fair.

The capability as pie eaters of John Yanchuk, Raymond Overland and Ormond Dee, who won the three prizes offered in the contest, is unquestioned for the winner accomplished the feat of getting rid of his half of a standard sized pie in one minute and 2 seconds and the others were only the shake of a lamb's tail behind him. It was almost unbelievable.

And the thing that struck the observers was that the pie just simply melted in the mouths of the 25 contestants. One moment you saw it—and the next it wasn't there.

The capacity of the small boy in the matter of eating is always a thing of wonder and no doubt these winners would have made a smart job even with peach or apple pie.

But with Algoma blueberry pie...!

The spectators simply stood there, to quote Billy Marshall and Wilson Sims, goggle-eyed.

HUNGRY TURKEYS.

(New York Sun)

WHEN GRASSHOPPERS, which have been driving mid-West farmers to distraction, invaded Texas they provided free food for turkeys. The insect diet, supplemented by cheap corn resulting from a plentiful and early crop, has added weight to the birds, which are reported to be fat and healthy. Thus more and cheaper turkeys are promised for Thanksgiving and for all the long season in which this eminent bird is now available. A year-round demand for turkey and the means to satisfy it has developed.

Fattening turkeys has become a scientific business. A turkey, it seems must have its vitamins, and tests mad by the poultry husbandry department of the University of California showed that for growth turkeys require at least twice as much vitamin A as chickens do. Grasshoppers are not listed among the best source of this vitamin, but evidently they contain plenty of it. Turkeys turned into mid-Western fields infested by hoppers devoured the pests with avidity, and when Texas turkeys are turned loose on the range they fatten on a diet of corn, grasshoppers and boll weevils.

THE BICYCLE CRAZE.

(Sarnia Observer)

THERE HAS been an astounding increase in the patronage of bicycles in Ontario. Especially in the cities, towns and villages has the bicycle attained the popularity that was characteristic of 40 years ago. In the last nineties there was a bicycle craze in Canada and the United States. Even the most inferior roads were swarming with male and female bicyclists. Touring clubs were formed and there was much organization to promote riders to various parts of the country. Special trucks were built for racing and circuits were formed for the holding of races at night at electrically lighted speedways.

WORKED TOO WELL.

(T.B.H., in Toronto Telegram)

A FARMER up in Brant found a new use for the Hydro which he recently installed.

He had seen "electric fences" advertised, so he ran a wire around the top of the fences of one field and connected it up with the Hydro system.

Shortly after a valuable horse put its head over the fence and he found out how his scheme worked.

It was a hundred per cent. successful in keeping livestock from breaking out of the field.

While the farmer skinned what was left of the horse, he tried to remember how lucky it was that he had not leaned against that fence or some of the kids had not climbed over it before the horse became inquisitive.

NOT ALL WRONG.

(St. John Telegraph-Journal)

ALL THE provinces of Canada agree that the present economic and financial system has its defects. All but one of them, however, also agree that radical changes which are not of proven value should not hastily be entered upon lest worse befall. The exception is Alberta. Is it reasonable to assume that all the other provinces are wrong? If Social Credit is practical we would expect it to appeal to Great Britain, whose people are eminently practical, or to the United States. Nowhere, in fact, has it been accepted in Alberta, and there its efficacy has not been demonstrated.

SOME OLD TREES.

(Edmonton Journal)

A DISCUSSION in England's county newspapers has revealed some interesting facts about old trees. A Berkshire newspaper started it with a casual assumption that the Aldermaston oaks or their fellows at Hatfield Park were the oldest trees on the island. They are about 600 years old. The Yorkshire Post at once pointed out that the Cowthorpe oak could boast of at least 1,000 years. However, the Fortingale Yew has been awarded the decision. This ancient tree in Perthshire is said to be 2,50[illegible] years of age and the oldest in Europe. What a story it could tell!

FAR FROM PREPARED.

(Hamilton Spectator)

CANADA'S rearming is going on apace, Ottawa tells. Yet our non-permanent active militia have no boots on issue, our mechanized units still lack the vehicles and guns, and where are our anti-aircraft batteries, and what about those tanks? It seems that even when we are "rearmed" we will be relatively in the same position as before, in face of the world armament race, and will have to rely as usual on Old Mother England to be our real defence.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c

Talks to the People – J. H. Burnham

A short time ago I wrote the press upon the tremendous change in the attitude of the Catholic Church towards both mixed marriages of all sorts and the status of civilians in all cases. The church has proclaimed in Quebec what Protestants have been contending for many years and that is a recognition of the Supremacy of The State. This supremacy has now been recognised by the Church with regard not only to marriage but to all other relations which The State claims are its own function. The Rev. T. W. Jones, D.D., in a further interview regarding this momentous change says: "First of all it recognises and honours the fact that members of The Roman Catholic Church are primarily citizens of the state and as such amenable to its laws on the same basis as all other citizens." It is to be hoped now that this pronouncement has been made that we shall all be able to unite in undivided efforts to improve the state. Orange "Sentinel" and Toronto "Telegram" please copy.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

World wheat prices were comparatively steady in quiet trading to-day. Wheat futures on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange moved listlessly within a 1⅛ cent range and closed ⅝ to 1⅛ cents lower, October $1.27, November, $1.26⅝; December, $1.22; and May $1.23⅝ to 1.24.

A little commission house selling sympathy with the easier trend of Liverpool caused prices to drop a cent, but mill demand and overseas buying lifted the market.

After small gains were posted hedging sales appeared. Volume of trade was small though receipts of new crop wheat yesterday totalled 1,932,000 bushels.

Granted Man Leave To Get Married Turns Up Again On 19th Anniversary

The long arm of coincidence had an unusually long reach on the occasion of the 19th anniversary of the wedding of Thomas Record, local storekeeper, this week.

It was during the War that Mr. Record's marriage took place. He had met the bride-to-be while serving overseas with the 17th Battery in the 5th Brigade. To go to London for a few days for the marriage, he had obtained leave from the front in France and all that remained to be arranged was the allowance for his future wife.

Before he had arranged the allowance, his major was killed and he had to take his leave without having conclude dthe necessar yarrangements. At the last minute, just in time to avoid a postponement of the wedding, word came to him in England that the necessary formalities concerning the allowance had been executed. The matter had been handled by a Lieutenant E. F. Irwin, who had taken over command, and the message contained the lieutenant's good wishes.

Mr. Record was reflecting on these events surrounding his wedding as he tended his store on the anniversary this week. He noted a stranger among his customers but paid no particular attention to him. And the stranger paid no particular attention to Mr. Record until another visitor called the storekeeper by name.

The stranger stepped up and asked: "Are you by any chance Thomas Record?"

The stranger was Lieutenant E. F. Irwin.

ed, were made of hardier stuff.

They were sandwiched in 15 and 20 deep on both sides of the avenue and far back in intersecting streets from where they could see only the top of the banners and the tallest marchers.

For standing room in office windows some paid as high as $3 and many increased their stature two feet by buying peach baskets for 25 cents apiece.

Legion officials said the parade was the greatest it ever held. It took 17½ hours to pass that reviewing stand, surpassing the previous record of 11 hours at Cleveland last year, when 60,000 marched. No one counted them yesterday but the consensus seemed to be around 200,000.

been estimated anywhere from $300,000 to a few millions.

Time after time, directors of the sporting club reported men had lost more than they could afford, sometimes money that was not theirs' to lose. And each time Orpen would have the case investigated. If some good could be done, he would refund the amount lost.

Once Orpen, possessed of keen humor, was called before the police commissioners for questioning on complaints gambling housese were tipped in advance of police raids. He was asked if it was true.

His answer, "the police always give me warning," created a furore among the commissioners until Orpen added: "All my club members have keys. The police are the only ones that use the doorbell."

Toronto's Mystery Man.

For 20 years or more Toronto's "mystery man" was Abram M. Orpen, friend of men in high places, philosopher and owner of racetracks. Of humble origin, he was lucky and shrewd—he readily admitted these characteristics—and his ventures yielded golden dividends.

Orpen "quit work" after serving his apprenticeship with a contractor. The young man announced he never again would take off his coat to do a piece of work. "And I never have," he said proudly in 1932.

Twenty-five years a bookmaker, Orpen made enough money before the pari-mutuel machines came in to buy Dufferin Park, the Toronto half-mile track. Dufferin was a sensational success financially.

The most celebrated horse race ever staged in Canada was under Orpen managership at Kenilworth Track, Windsor, in 1920. Orpen brought together Man o' War, owned by Samuel Riddle, and Sir Barton, owned by J. K. L. Ross of Montreal, when the turf world was in hot dispute over the merits of these great runners. Orpen put up a purse of $75,000 and horse followers from all parts of the continent came to watch Man o' War win easily.

Before he purchased the Hillcrest race track, a half-mile oval in the centre of Toronto, at the turn of the century, Orpen operated a handbook at Woodbine track. For a time he managed a hotel. But always he was interested in gambling, and so successful was Hillcrest that he purchased Dufferin in 1902. Hillcrest was sold in 1916.

Kenilworth was opened the same year, and in 1924 Orpen started Long Branch, a mile track west of Toronto. In 1935 Orpen leased the Fair Grounds at London for yearly two-week meets.

In 1935 he opened wickets for dollar betting at the London track, an innovation so popular he placed it in operation at all his tracks. He was the first in Canada to instal equipment for photographing finishes and was the inventor of a three-section starting gate used now at nearly all Ontario tracks.

Known For Generosity.

While Orpen's chief interests were horse racing and betting, he was known in Toronto as a philanthropist. He made friends with prominent politicians and ministers. For years he was accompanied everywhere by an armed bodyguard—his chauffeur.

Orpen was 63 in the spring of 1937 when he reported to police that three men had kidnapped him as he entered his National Sporting Club. He was forced to drive them to a downtown park where he said he withdrew $1,000 and sent the trio away with it. "I dealt my way out of that mess," he told reporters.

A few days earlier he told of losing $81,000 on a "tip" by his close friend, Charles Vance Millar, author of the famous "Stork Derby" will. Orpen and Millar bought a narrow strip of property dividing two downtown buildings, expecting to make a big profit by selling the strip they considered "essential" to one building or other. Orpen held his interest several years and finally sold at a loss.

It was Orpen's belief that any man with a few dollars to spare should have the right to bet it, either at the track or elsewhere. But he was frank in announcing his customers couldn't expect to beat the races. "Betting on the horses is a losing proposition," he said. "It is a game the public cannot beat. Once, twice or oftener the bettor may win, but if he follows the game day in and day out he will always end a loser."

Orpen was born in Toronto February 10, 1854. He married Isobel Wrigley of Newmarket, Ont., and nine children were born of the union. The only three living are: Fred M. and Abram M., Jr., and Mrs. T. Ambrose Wood.

Cows Do Not Care For Soprano Solos

PORTLAND, Ind., Sept. 22 (A.P.). —Farmer Joe Bryan's contented cows—made that way, he reported recently to the Department of Agriculture, by music—don't care for soprano solos.

"They get nervous," Bryan said to-day in telling how the right kind of music soothes his cows and makes them give more milk, "when they hear a woman singing a solo."

Bryan has a radio in his big barn, north-west of here, and if he gets soft instrumental music, he said, the cows keep happy.

former Labor House leader in the British House of Commons, who moved a resolution at a parliamentary pacifist group convention being held in London, deploring the British government's rearmament policy. At the same time Labor party leaders were delivering scathing attacks on the government — excepting rearmament—as the party launched a campaign to increase its membership by 100,000. A split in party ranks over the question of the government's military program seemed imminent because of various views on the question.

Agony to Move Them When He Awoke

"For three years," writes this City man, "I suffered with pain across the lower part of my back. In the morning, I awoke with knees so stiff that it was agony to move them. Special treatment would make the pain a little easier—but that was all. Then a friend recommended Kruschen, which my doctor said I might take. I began with about a coffeespoonful first thing in the morning. To my surprise I found my rheumatic aches and pains disappearing. I kept on with Kruschen, and although I am more than middle-aged, I have been free from pain for two years, and able to go to my office every day."—A. W.

WRECKERS LEAD LOOP PLAYOFFS BY SINGLE GAME

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Sept. 22.—Havelock Wreckers took a one game lead in the finals for the championship of the Kawartha Junior Softball League when they defeated Hastings Juniors 12 to 9 last night (Tuesday). It was the first game in a best 2 out of 3 game series with the second game in Havelock Thursday night.

Havelock scored their first run in the first innings when McMullen walked, went to second on Jamieson's hit and scored on Kennedy's single. They scored 2 in the second when Pollock and Voyer were both safe on error and advanced on an infield out. They scored on Moore's hit. Two more Havelock runs were scored in the third when Voyer and Moore, who had singled both scored on McMullen's hit. Another two crossed the plate in the fourth on a walk to Jamieson, McCutcheon's single, a walk to Pollock and Voyer's single. They scored one more in the fifth when Harnden was safe on a fielder's choice, stole second and scored on Kennedy's single. They scored 4 in the seventh when Harnden was safe on an error and Kennedy walked. McCutcheon was safe on a fielder's choice, Harnden scoring. Pollock was safe when Phillips dropped his third strike and Kennedy crossed the plate. Voyer singled scoring McCutcheon and Pollock scored on Moore's single to wind up the Havelock scoring.

The first Hastings run was scored in the first when Phillips was safe on an error. He stole second and scored on Radford's single. They added one more in the second when Puffer singled and scored on Phillips' double. Three Hastings runs scored in the third on a double by Radford, a triple by McCoy and McKee's hit. They scored 3 more in the fourth when Phillips doubled, Radford walked and both runners scored on McCoy's double. McCoy scored on McKee's single. Their final run was scored when Brinklow doubled and scored on Puffer's single in the fifth. Hastings managed to clout 2 Havelock pitchers for 11 hits but committed 6 errors to practically toss away the game. McKee led the batters with 2 hits and 2 walks in 4 times up.

The teams:—

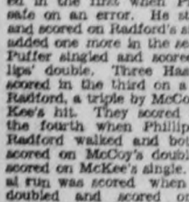
Hastings — Phillips, c; Radford, 1b; McCoy, 3b; McKee, p; Turner, lf; Kelley, cf; Brinklow, 2b; Puffer, ss; Calbery, rf and Scriver, rf.

Havelock—McMullen, 1b; Harnden, lf; Jamieson, p, rf; Kennedy, rf, p; McCutcheon, cf; Pollock, ss; Voyer, 2b; Moore, 3b; Haggerty, c.

Score by innings:	R	H	E
Hastings	113	310	0—9
Havelock	122	210	4—12

Umpires—Hill, Havelock, bases; Wellman and Wilson, Hastings, bases.

Roy Worters, former New York American goalie and "Moose" Ecclestone, Toronto amateur hockey coach have been engaged as umpires for the final game between Elgin and the Clerks at 5.30 Wednesday evening.



Bobby Jones, Grantland Rice, George Mose and Frank Willard played a friendly game over the famous course of the Garden City Golf Club on Long Island. Instead of accepting Bobby's invitation to make it a foursome, I followed the foursome, making good use of my camera. I took 70 snapshots during the round. Needless to say, most of them were of the former champion.

Having heard so much about his game of recent years, I felt rather fortunate in having such a wonderful opportunity to study his game at first hand as well as by pictures made with a high-speed camera. Bobby himself said: "I'm swinging every bit as well as I did five years ago." I'm inclined to agree with him. His physical condition is exceptionally good, his eye is just about a perfect and he was off the line only twice in 18 holes. He missed only two shots and these mistakes were so slight that he was able to keep even or under par at all times.

Even in a friendly game this is some shooting over the difficult Long Island course. Most of his recent exhibition rounds have been under 70, all of which seems to indicate that the master might have got another go at competition if he found the time and the place to his liking. Judging from the crowds that gather for these friendly games there are many fans who would like to see him return to competition.

By CEC. PERDUE

QUITE A few caballeros and colleens from Peter's borough and district are cogitating—which is a six-bit word meaning to think—on how to spend a lucrative Thanksgiving Day in Hastings. On account of there is a big guest and field day down thataway on Monday, Oct. 11th. Commencing at 12.30 in the afternoon. Athletics for big prizes through the afternoon and a dance in the gloaming. Most of the events are as wide open as a European war, but a few races are listed for Hastings gees and gals. Entries should be sent to Fred Crate, Hastings, and we don't think there is any fee attached. Committee consists of F. Gilbert, F. Crate, T. Coughlin and S. Stevenson. If you are long on wind and strong in the underpinning, you might spend a profitable Turkey Day in the village.

OUGHT TO be some info shortly on the local boxing club, known as the Riverview A.C. Quite a gang of mitt slingers were training at the George St. gym several weeks ago and we suppose they are still at it, and readying up for a fight show soon. The R.C.A.F. of Trenton has a flock of fighters and they plan to stage bouts in Belleville, so maybe some of the Fliers might come here to trade punches in the ring with local boxers. It's just an idea.

WHILE ALL teams like to go through to a Provincial title, we know of cases where a team was further ahead financially to get knocked off in the playdowns. Our junior Colts last winter, for instance, and the Westclox girl softballers this summer. The Colts, had they licked Barrie, would have been sent into a lengthy round-robin playoff serial with jaunts to Niagara Falls, Brantford, Toronto and Barrie—and likely no home games, since our ice was about shot. They ended the season with a bit of gravy but would have been plenty in the red had they won. Westclox gals made a bit of money this year but would have been ducking creditors had they beaten Ottawa and been forced to go to Windsor in finals. But, on the other mitt, our lacrossers and baseballers could have helped themselves to plenty more shekels if they had stayed awhile longer in competition.

IT IS probable that a few local cars will journey to Oshawa early this p.m. for the second game of the senior O.B.A.A. semi-finals. The GM-men, C.O.B.L. champs for the second straight year, are after their second consecutive Ontario title and have a very fair chance of repeating They nudged out the nod over Moodie Tigers of Hamilton a few days ago and may oust the Ambitious Citizens tonight. Meantime, the G.W. Grads of Toronto have one decision already over London Silverwoods in the other senior semi-final. They may cop their second in a row today with Irish Rasson slated to hurl. The Grads and the GM-men should dish up a rousing final serial, with such ace flingers as Rasson, Smoky Smith and Jake Biddle doing the gunning.

* * * * * *

"ASIDE FROM the splendid leadership of Rowden who has been the sparkplug of Oshawa," says the Quinte writer, "another pleasing surprise has been the hitting of Tommy Foley, erstwhile Peterborough fly-chaser. While with the Petes, Foley was always a flop in the money series but not so now. In fact, it is the opposite. Foley had a midseason slump but came back in the loop playoffs to lead Oshawa on the offensive. We hope the Lifflock City moguls will not be peeved when we admit we procured Foley his job in Oshawa the day that the Belleville Redmen played in Whitby last winter. Another standout for the GM-men the past month has been Jake Biddle, who went to the mound in six of the eight games Oshawa played in the C.O.B.L. and turned back Hamilton on Saturday. He hurled two great games in Central League playoffs, one against the Petes and one versus the Ponies."

TONY PACKOWSKI has returned to St. Lawrence University from Kingston to resume his studies at the Canton College and to play football there. He is a noted quarterback in that neck of the woods. We are glad that Tony has completed his summer course under the tutorship of Professor Joseph Daley of the Ponies' staff in the Limestone City and, while Student Packowski failed to make an "A" grade in the difficult General Motors' course, he no doubt learned a lot. So did the Ponies' officials. Another summer student, named Clancy, had more success a few seasons back, winning a C.O.B.L. scholarship—but it was a much more expensive course, we hear.

KNOTTY LEE has his Ogdensburg Colts in the thick of the Can.-Am. pro ball loop playoffs now, and on even terms with Gloversville. Both teams have won three games in the lengthy final series, the deciding fray being listed for Gloversville today. It took 11 innings yesterday for the Colts to cop the 6-5 duke, VanRoboys singled in the winning marker, and he also won the fifth game with a homer. The men of Lee have been hitting a hard clip since they appeared here last month in an exhibition game—having but an outside chance at the title then, but being within a game of the championship today. We'd like to see the smile on old Knotty's pan if they won out—'twould put a September sunrise to shame!

DEEF, DEM and dose: The Cheltenham-Inglewood lacrossers, who ousted the Auburns here Monday, go into the finals today . . . Understand the Petes made some money this past summer; no doubt they'll have a business meeting soon to clean up things . . . . W. E. Jackson is coach of the junior P.C.I. gridders . . . . Orfuns are getting set for their opening Sat'day in Cobourg . . . . R.C.A.F. rugbyists play today in Belleville; games in this group are played in midweek . . . . Westclox men softballers expect to wind up a good season with an outing . . . . Jerry Creighton should fit nicely in the half-line for the Garnet and Gray senior gridders . . . . Nothing but rugby talk now till hockey hits the headlines . . . . POME: This epitaph doth make one cry; our lacrossers were too young to die!

Toronto Beaches Wanting For Big Four Power Drive

Slim Ab Box Cog Around Which 1937 Balmy Machine Is Built

TORONTO, Sept. 22 (CP).—Toronto's Balmy Beach team has been tried for this 1937 football campaign and found wanting—but not much. Whether the Easterders will become strong enough to topple Barnia's mighty Imperials in the Ontario Rugby Football Union race is one of three questions.

Alex. Ponton has gathered around him the remnants of the 1936 club and sprinkled among them an assortment of schoolground graduates. The combination, defeated by Ottawa's Big Four Roughriders 13-2 in an exhibition game Saturday, may just possibly pay dividends in its first year.

Twice the wearers of the gold and blue had the ball within Ottawa's 10-yard line. Lack of a finishing attack was shown when they failed to carry it over on either occasion. Surprisingly enough, though, Balmy's defence withstood its first test well. And it was about the defence that Ponton expressed doubt before the game.

Slim Ab Box is the cog around which the Balmy machine is built. Box can cause much damage to the opposition with his slick kicking, running and passing, provided he is given proper support.

Strong Backfield.

He will have capable company behind the line at least. Young Hank McDonald from the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph has clinched the quarter-back position, with Frank Seymour, Herbie Moore and Sammy Sward practically assured of first-string backfield jobs. McDonald may be great in his first senior season. With Guelph Aggies he showed himself to be one of the best signal callers in the "minors."

Both Ponton's 1936 regular insides have departed, Ernie Hempey to Montreal and Ab Pople to Welland. To fill the breach—and loss of two such steady performers is not easily filled—Ponton has veterans Tommie Eisenhardt and Bob Reed from last season's team and Cal Moore, formerly of Barnia Imperials.

At this stage of training, less than three weeks from the O.R.F.U. opening, Syd Reynolds and Lloyd Daniels appear to be set as outside; Bill Irwin and Hugh McGarry at inside and Jack Taylor at snap. Of these only McGarry was not with the club in 1936. All are steady performers, and Reynolds is one of the three or four best tackling ends in the east.

Best of the substitute linesmen are Jack Broad, Jack Hogan, Jack Frizelle, Gordon Downard, Bert Harris and Ross Scott. Ponton, however, is not counting too much on his line replacements, but is sweet on young Lyn Thompson, understudying for Box's kicking job.

Concentrated plunging power and a stone-wall defence may be lacking—still you can't count out the Beachers before a real trial for, as Ponton says, those youngsters "will work like dogs." And Box has days when he is without a peer.

Golf Notes

PETERBOROUGH GOLF CLUB

C.L.G.U. day saw a large field of players compete for the spoons with the best net being won by Mrs. J. H. Vernor. This player has been in more playoffs than any other, but this time she made sure of it, her net 79 being too good for the others. Mrs. F. L. Roy won the spoon for approaching and putting.

Next Tuesday, Sept. 28th will be the closing field day and presentation of trophies won during the year.

MAKING AERIAL TORPEDO

Claiming it will make Britain safe from aerial attack, Harry G. Matthews is completing his rocket aerial torpedo in the desolate Welsh mountains near Swansea.

Lawn Bowling

By HERB MARTIN

THERE WERE SO many important games going on last night (Tuesday) that we had quite a time trying to keep track of them all. However, we did the best we could and will try and give the results as we saw them. On green No. 2, H. Freeman and R. Burns were battling it out in the single semi-finals, and what a battle it was, well worth going a long way to see. Burns took the lead right at the start, and the best Freeman could do was to tie the count on two occasions, and it was Burns' ability to come through on the last bowl that won him the game 21-17. On several ends Freeman seemed to have Burns in a hole, but the last bowl did the trick.

A COUPLE of greens over B. Rogow and G. Fee were fighting it out in the finals of the Leads and Seconds competition. Rogow won the game, and we offer him our congratulations, but somehow, we have to make special mention of Fee's rink. The 'underdogs' were in their first year's bowling, and gave each other wonderful co-operation throughout the game.

AND THEN ON green No. 6, R. Bacon and G. Soulby fought it out in the semi-finals of the Skips and Vice competition. Bacon's gang nearly tossed it away when Soulby grabbed a big 7 in the second last end. Bacon will meet Cairns in the finals tonight (Wednesday).

AND NOW COMING back to the finals in the club singles. When we left to come home, R. Payne was leading R. Burns 15-10. We have since been informed that Payne won 21-13. In this game, as in the other, Payne did to Burns what Burns did to Freeman, the former kept continually drawing in with his last bowl to count. It was a good series all around, and we congratulate everybody, and especially to Benny Chester, who had charge of this contest all the way through. He did his job well and thoroughly; Benny says so himself.

ALL PLAYERS who are left in the novice competition are asked to be on hand tonight (Wednesday) at 7 o'clock. The probabilities are such that it looks like a nice night for Thursday, our twilight doubles. We admit at this time of the year, we are bowling on borrowed time, and it is getting late for tournaments, but as long as it stays fine the committee will stage something.

Port Colborne To Enter New League

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., Sept. 22 (CP)—Port Colborne Hockey Club is prepared to place a strong entry in the Senior Ontario Hockey Association, officials decided last night at their annual meeting.

Reports were read from Toronto that the O.H.A. is planning a senior grouping of one Toronto entry, Oshawa, and Hamilton. There is no mercantile league planned in Toronto this season, it was learned, and it was hoped the O.H.A. would invite the Sailors to join in the senior loop.

Most of last year's senior team will be available for play here and some new material is being added. A manager and coach will be named later.

Dr. W. W. Moffat was re-elected president and other officers are: W. J. Freeman, vice president; Martin Hebert, secretary; J. F. McKay, treasurer; J. J. Forbes, E. T. White, W. H. Cowan, William Mountain, Alex Maclean, Mayor H. H. Knoll and James Walter, executive.

Ambers-Montanez Bout Only One On Show To Get Play From Big Time Gamblers

NEW YORK, Sept. 22—(AP)—The bout thats going to pack the biggest share of about $350,000 worth of customers into the Polo Grounds for the Carnival of Champions tomorrow night appears to be the one between Lightweight Champion Lou Ambers and his dangerous challenger, Pedro Montanez, the gay Puerto Rican.

That, at least, is the fight the fans talked about to-day, and it is the only one of the 3½ championship bouts on the program that is getting an important play from the gamblers. Promoter Mike Jacobs, too, has dropped it in the "top spot of the evening, the third act.

Expectations are it will be a real rough-house for 15 rounds if it lasts that long. Their previous 10-round overweight battle, in which Montanez had the champion on the floor in an early round, whetted the fans appetites. Ambers on that occasion came back to plaster Pedro toward the last, and there are those who think he would have won in 15 rounds.

Fred Apostoli is favored to trim Marcel Thil, European middleweight, in the night's first feature that, incidentally, is the spot usually occupied by the tumblers on any vaudeville program.

Barney Ross is Doyles choice in the second duel over the challenger, Cefering Garcia from the Philippines.

Diamond Again Greets Veterans

Denton Tecumseh (Old Cy) Young, one of the pitching heroes of the misty past, stepped up on the mound to show the modern youngsters how he tamed the boys back in his days, in a game featuring the old timers and the Atlanta Crackers at Atlanta, Ga. Cy Young, a mere kid of 71 years, had his battery mate Bob Higgins, who broke into baseball in 1909, and caught Cy at Cleveland. They played one inning and then retired. Cy Young was the most durable of all pitchers, hurling 22 years of major league baseball and averaging 33 games per year with a winning average of more than 23 games per year. He pitched two no-hit, no-run games while playing for the Boston Americans in 1904 and 1908. Young and Higgins are shown talking things over before taking the field.

It Costs Money To Stone Catfish

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 22 (A.P.). — Throwing rocks at fish her costs $10—if you hit the fish.

James L. Tickle paid that amount at a hearing before Magistrate Edwin S. Watson.

Witnesses testified Tickle struck a 35-pound catfish with a five-pound rock and then waded into the water and brought out the fish.

45 NAMES ADDED

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Sept. 22. — Forty-five new names were added to the voters' list for Hastings Village and eight names were removed at a court held on Tuesday afternoon in the Town Hall for the purpose of revising the voters' list for the pending election. His Honor Judge L. V. O'Connor of Cobourg presided over the court.

APPLES AND BLOSSOMS

NEW GLASGOW, N.S.—(CP). — An oddity of nature was noted in New Glasgow when apples and blossoms were seen growing on the same tree.

SEEKING DESERTERS

MONTREAL, Sept. 22 (CP)—Police searched today for three sailors who took "French leave" from the French warship Ville D'ya here. The men, who escaped from confinement aboard the vessel Monday, eluded guards and used a raft to reach shore.

BEARS ARE TOPS IN INITIAL GAME FOR MINOR BUNTIN

NEWARK, N.J., Sept. 22 (AP)—Joe Beggs of Newark Bears is a Yankee at heart. The world champions are always at their best in the clutch and Joe, who aspires to a position on manse Joe McCarthy's mound staff is pretty handy that way himself.

He turned in a one-hitter to trim Baltimore Orioles 2-0 last night and give the Bears the first game of the final International Baseball League playoffs.

Beggs' effort stopped the thunderous Baltimore bats that eliminated Montreal to enter the finals. It was his second brilliant effort of the playoffs.

Chink Wilburn, the Orioles' shortstop, got the Flocks' only hit and spoiled Beggs' bid for a no-hitter.

Beggs, a 23-year-old righthander who entered the Yankee farm system via their Norfolk establishment, fanned eight. Baltimore's famed batsmen were able to hit only one ball out of the infield, Wilburn's fly to centre in the fourth.

HASTINGS JUNIORS PLAY AT TORONTO

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Sept. 22.—At a meeting held Tuesday night in connection with the local junior lacrosse team, Frank Gilbert was elected manager and Earl Boyle captain of the team. J. C. Wilson will be their secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Gilbert announced negotiations were on the way to have the locals meet the Toronto Marlboros in the Arena Gardens in Toronto next week.

There was a large turnout of fans and players present, showing that much interest has been aroused in local sports circles, since the juniors' splendid showing last Friday night.

It was suggested by Mr. Gilbert after the meeting that there was a slight movement under foot to move the unused rink in Campbellford, known as Myers' rink, to Hastings. No established facts on the matter could be obtained, however.

Cubs Slash Giants' Margin With 7-5 Victory At Home

34,807 Chicago Customers See Their Hopefuls Open Series With Win

CHICAGO, Sept. 22 (C.P.)— The Giants, having been given a dose of Dr. Charley Grimm's pet patent medicine—he hopes to call it "The Pennant Winner"—woke up to-day with a bitter taste in their mouths, a determination to do better, and a National Baseball League lead that was whittled down to a game and a half.

Dr. Grimm's pet patent medicine, the one that has done such wonders for the cocky Cubs on past afternoons, is a well-adjusted mixture of garrulous Gabby Hartnett's war club and smooth-flowing relief pitching by Veteran Charley Root.

The Giants got both yesterday, to the delight of 34,807 Chicago customers and the dismay of Gotham's rooters for a nickel World Series.

7 to 5 Victory.

Garrulous Gabby, he of the wagging tongue and the flailing shilalah, was in his best form. Missing only a homer on his triumphant tour, the big Cub backstop smashed out a triple with the bases loaded, a single that put him in position to score, and a double that drove home the final nail in the Giants' coffin and the final run in the Cubs' 7-5 victory.

The Hartnett heroics were hard to ignore, especially so for the Terrymen. And Marse Root, keeping his record as a relief pitcher intact and running his string of first-aid triumphs to eight, was equally effective.

While Gabby's performance was positive, Charley's was negative. Gabby laid the pay-off runs on the line. Root came in with the tying run across the plate and what might have been the winning run on base to stop the Giants cold.

A clean sweep of the remaining two games—the Cubs already have announced there'll be no city series with the White Sox this year—will bring the Grimm crew half a game out in front and run their winning streak to five straight. But the Giants, a final desperate rally in the ninth killed off by a fast double play yesterday, still are in there.

While the Cubs and Giants battle tooth and nail to settle their pennant issue, the Yanks sit still and ease in that way. When the Tigers split their double-header in Boston yesterday, losing the first 12-7 to a 10-run Red Sox fifth inning, and winning the second 4-1, that made it so much simpler for the Ruppert squad.

Can Eliminate Detroit.

By winning both games from the Browns to-day, they can eliminate Detroit from all consideration.

The Yanks and Browns were kept idle by the American Legion parade that tied up practically everything else in New York. The rest of the big league program saw the Dodgers drop two in St. Louis, by 8-5 and 6-3; the Pirates sting the Bees 9-2; the Phils lose the opener 6-3 and win the nightcap from the Reds 10-1; Wally Moses' 11th-inning homer with a man on, beat the White Sox 5-4 for the Athletics; and Johnny Allen of the Indians win his 13th straight—he hasn't been beaten—with a 6-3 subjection of the Senators.

Vancouver Trio Nominated For Empire Games

At the recent track and field trials at Vancouver, these three athletes were nominated as possible Canadian representatives at the British Empire Games to be held in Australia. Charming Miss Yvonne Dingley (circle) of Korksilah, a little village on Vancouver Island, set a new empire mark of 13.2 second in the 90 yard hurdles. Pat Haley, Left, and his brother Joe of Trail, B.C., were also nominated. Pat whizzed over the 100 yard dash in 9 8-10 seconds which as good time anywhere, while Joe is still Canada's best high jumper. He won the B.C. tryouts with a jump of six feet one inch and wasn't even pressed.

Remember When—

(By the Canadian Press.)

New York Yankees tied the American Baseball League record for games won in a single season by defeating Detroit Tigers 8-7 for their 105th victory nine years ago to-day. They finished the year with 110 wins, six less than the major league mark of 116 set by Chicago and Pittsburgh.

13 Westerners Recommended For Berths On Canadian Team

VANCOUVER, Sept. 22 (C.P.). — Thirteen British Columbia and Alberta athletes were recommended to-day for berths on the Canadian team to compete in the British Empire Games at Sydney, Australia, early next year.

The recommendations, made by the British Empire Games Association of Canada Committee for Zone One, were forwarded to Montreal where selection of the Dominion team will be made.

British Columbia captured all the sprint and short distance event recommendations while a trio of Albertans were named in distance events and the hammer throw. Trials were held here on September 11.

The 13 and the events they were recommended for are:

Pat Haley, Trail, B.C., 100 yards; Jack Harrison, Vancouver, and Martin Naylor, Powell River, B.C., 220 yards; Jack Fraser and Jack Orr, Vancouver, 440 yards; Bill Dale, Victoria, half-mile; Chuck Cunningham, Victoria, mile; Syd Ashmead, Calgary, three-mile; Robert Armitt, Lethbridge, Alta., six-mile; E. EXPECT BEACHES TO GIVE SARNIA BIG OPPOSITION

TORONTO, Sept. 22 (C.P.). — Chief Brave Johnny Ferraro pointed his Montreal Indians to-day towards their exhibition battle on Saturday with those "heap big palefaces" from Toronto—the Balmy Beach team. When the clash is over he'll know if his Braves deserve "wahoos" or just "boohoos."

It's the big test for both teams, for the Beaches are out to take some of the sting from last Saturday's defeat at hands of Ottawa Rough Riders and Indians intend to prove they're not the empty, puffed-up bag that collapsed last year after being "handed" the Big Four championship by most experts at the start of the season.

Opposition For Imperials?

If Beaches lose, it likely means Sarnia Imperials, Dominion titleholders, will retain their Ontario Rugby Football Union title in a breeze for the Beaches are expected to give the Imps their main opposition in the three-team league.

Another Saturday test brings together Toronto's Big Four Argonauts and the Presbyterians from Queen's University. Coach Lew Hayman of Argos put his half-backs through a long passing and running drill last night.

The practice was featured by the accurate forward passing of the Binkley Brothers, Annis and Bill, who divided the quarter-back duties.

At Ottawa Clint Ross, who suffered a hip injury on Saturday and big Dave Sprague, indisposed with a cold, did not turn out for the practice. Coach Ross Trimble has 30-odd men out and split them into two teams.

TO ENLARGE BUILDING

Completed only two years ago, the government telephone building in Belfast, Northern Ireland, has been outgrown and must be enlarged at a cost of $500,000.

TOURISTS TO BRITAIN

Visitors to Britain, excluding week-enders and those from the Dominions, totaled 77,349 in July, an increase of 3,089 over the record figure of July last year.

SPEED MARKS FALL IN UTAH

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Sept. 22—(AP).—Ab Jenkins, his left arm cut and bandaged, hurled his "Mormon Meteor around a 12¼-mile saline course to-day, hot in pursuit in new world speed records.

The huge, cream-colored machine thundered from the starting line Tuesday morning, and will continue until Thursday morning.

Two accidents failed to deter the Utah speed king.

His left arm was cut by bits of metal torn from a rear wheel when a tire gave way. An hour before that accident the car struck a soft spot while travelling 180 miles an hour and went into a careening, half-mile slide.

Lou Meyer, veteran Indianapolis speed driver, relieved Jenkins for three hours after his injury and continued to "spell him at intervals today.

New world land speed records were established each hour, and each 500 miles. Among the major marks achieved thus far:

12-hour run, 160 miles an hour; 3,000 kilometres, 161.4 miles an hour; 2,000 miles, 160.07 miles an hour. Most of the marks he shattered were the ones he himself established here last year.

Other marks set on the present run: 500 kilometres, 172.82; old record, 167.11. 500 miles, 170.77; old record, 168.44. 1,000 kilometres, 171.52; old records, 166.65. 1,000 miles, 168.06; old record, 165.78. 2,000 kilometres, 162.93; old record, 168.46 and six hours, 168.09; old record, 165.72.

CHAPTER 40

CARLA MENTONE.

There is so much to tell about that far-famed name, yet the newspapers have surely acquainted you with all there is to say about her. When the thrice-divorced actress beloved and scandalized on the continent and in New York, recently married the prince who forfeited his royal rights for her, there was almost nothing for her unsaid of her, unless perhaps the things that Mari Barat was to learn from her.

For 10 years, since she had first burst upon Broadway — a homely, hoydenish ingenue — she had been a legend. In one season she had come out of nowhere, married and divorced a cornet player before the newspaper columns knew she was married. Then she had gone to London, played a season in an obscure play and returned to New York with jewels, sables, the smartest clothes seen in New York, and distinction.

That year she married the president of a steel corporation and set up a salon. For her wit she was quoted everywhere. For her charm she was accepted. Her racing colors were seen at the tracks. Her parties were a sensation at Palm Beach.

Then she was named in an unsavory divorce case and her brief social bubble burst. Her husband divorced her. The other man did not marry her, and the next thing New York heard of Carla Mentone she was the talk of London. Kim Charing, playwright, poet, author, and social lion had written a dramatic play for her.

And from then on, for six years, Carla Mentone had reigned as the first lady of the theatre and the choicest tidbit of gossip on either side of the Atlantic.

Her admirers were allegedly without number. There was no credence given to the rumor—which was true—that she had married and divorced an obscure nobleman. But you remember all that. Perhaps you've attended a first night when New York was fortunate enough to have her for a brief season.

Perhaps you even remember that her name was linked with the Duke of G——. The sly notes in the gossip columns about Carla and her "Angie." And the pointed references to the jealousy of Angie's duchess.

What truth there was to the countless legends is uncertain. But this is known: Carla Mentone and her middle-aged duke were at the Casino at Monte Carlo on a night that was to be memorable for all of them, perhaps most memorable for Mari Barat.

Each knew who the other was. Carla and Mari had measured each other, accorded each other the due accorded one artist to another. It had been done in no more than a glance. Perhaps it was at the bar. It was no longer than time for each to say to her escort, "Who is that?"

And for Reggie to murmur, "My dear, that's the glamorous Carla Mentone and," dropping his voice, "the Duke of . . ."

"Really?" Mari replied. "She's quite an improvement over his duchess. I met her when I was in London."

It was an hour or two later at the gaming table—

Mari could never remember what sixth sense it was that made her see and feel at the same moment.

Voices were silent at that table, motions quick and adept, attention riveted on the spinning wheel, the dropping ball.

Mari, placing her chips on a square of black, looked up and saw that Carla Mentone was almost opposite her as she leaned over the table on a right angle side to where she stood. At the actress' shoulder, there was the beaming face of the duke.

Twice the wheel spinned, twice the ball dropped. The croupier reached out with his rake and bets were placed again.

It was then that Mari's sixth sense summoned her attention. It was in the furtive movement of a woman standing motionless directly back of Reggie. Yet she wasn't motionless. It was her slight motion as she opened her handbag and took something small, bulky and ominous from her handbag and made her look with quick alarm to her face.

It was the duchess. And her eyes, narrowed to pinpoints, were fixed on the face of the actress.

And it seemed to Mari that all the room could hear Carla's bell-like voice as she turned and said to her Angie, "Darling, bank notes, please."

Mari was aware of everything at that moment, the nearness of scandal and tragedy, and the woman pressed between her and Reggie.

Later she couldn't remember how her numbed senses co-ordinated to do what she did. But somehow with one swift gesture she had leaned across the table holding a handful of bank notes out to Carla. And with that swift gesture she had fallen against Reggie, knocking aside the rising arm of the woman who pressed between them.

Her too-loud cry, "Here you are, Carla," was plainly heard as the shot rang out and those at the table scattered.

"Get her out," she whispered to Reggie and nodded her head toward the duchess who stared dazedly at the smoking gun in her hand.

Then she reached across the table and took Carla Mentone's wrist.

The very force of her eyes fixed on Carla's ashen face lent force to the other woman. The two of them walked quietly and slowly from the room.

Back of them they heard agitated voices. "Who is she?. . .Why did she do it?. . .Has she been losing money? . . .But people do that you know. . . Such an awkward place to try to commit suicide."

Very calmly Mari got her check and the check for the speechless Carla from her jeweled handbag, slipped the wrap about her shoulders and smiled. She even laughed and the trained actress took her cue and followed her rescuer's footsteps.

Somehow Mari managed to hold her together until her car came around. Then she got her into the tonneau and told her she was taking her to Villa Mimosa.

It was a white and shaking Reggie who joined them a few minutes later.

"That gave me a bad scare." Reggie wiped his forehead with a crested handkerchief. "I thought somebody's husband had caught up with me."

Mari motioned to him to be still, that she had a guest.

"She's dynamite," he whispered.

Carla Mentone leaned back against the cushions, her eyes closed, her breathing faint.

"Did anyone know?" she asked painfully.

"I don't think so." Reggie answered "That sort of thing isn't too infrequent. At least they didn't know where she was aiming. In any event neither the police nor the Casino will take any action."

"Where are we going?" Carla asked after an interval.

"To my place—where you've been my guest since your arrival," Mari answered.

Carla was silent then until they arrived.

"Never be kind to men—only to women." Carla said before she closed her eyes in Mari's bed.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S NATURE CLASS

"Jackie Bow Wow, please spell for me the word CAT," said the Lady Mouse Teacher in the Hollow Tree School one morning.

"Oh, please, I don't want to," barked the little puppy dog boy.

"Why not?" asked Miss Mouse. "Is it that you don't know how to spell an easy word like CAT?" asked Miss Mouse.

"Oh, yes'm, Teacher, I know how," said Jackie.

"Then why don't you spell it."

"Well," answered Jackie sort of turning around one button of his coat as if it were a watch, "I didn't think you'd like me to spell the word CAT."

"Why in the world not?" asked Miss Mouse, opening her eyes wide.

"Well, you see," whined Jackie, "I was thinking—Oh, dear! There it goes!" he barked.

"What?" asked Miss Mouse.

"My button! I twisted it off my coat. It's rolling under Baby Bunty's desk."

Kind Thought.

"Here is your button, Jackie," said the orphan rabbit handing it to Jackie. Then Miss Mouse asked:

"What's all this nonsense about spelling a little word like CAT? I don't believe you can spell it, Jackie."

"Oh, yes'm, I can. C-A-T-cat! There, if you please!"

"But why didn't you spell it at first?" asked Miss Mouse, laughing.

"Well, you see," Jackie explained, putting the button in his pocket, "I thought you, being a Mouse lady, wouldn't like——"

"Oh, I see!" laughed the teacher of the Hollow Tree School, twiddling her tail. "You thought, as I was a Mouse Lady, I might be afraid if you spelled Cat? Is that it?"

"Yes'm," said Jackie.

"Thank you for being so kind," said Miss Mouse, "but I'm not at all afraid of the word cat. Of course I might be afraid of some cats, but not of Jole, Tommie or Kittie Kat who are in this class," and she smiled at the pussy children. "Of course they spell their name with a capital K which makes all the difference," said Miss Mouse. Then she went on with the lessons.

Another Idea.

But, somehow or other, none of the animal boys or girls seemed to care for them. They didn't like their lessons that day. They either gave wrong answers or none at all. And when Baby Bunty went to the blackboard to write a sentence this is what she wrote:

"I Wish We Could Have Fun Like Uncle Wiggily's Entertainment."

"Oh, so that's what's the matter!" laughed Miss Mouse.

"What is the matter?" asked another voice and into the school hopped Uncle Wiggily himself. "Is there any danger?" he asked.

"Oh, no," squeaked Miss Mouse. "But I think the children haven't yet gotten over their vacation. They don't like school."

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. Then he whispered to Miss Mouse.

"Why, of course!" she said with a laugh. "That would be fine!"

Then Uncle Wiggily stood in front of the pupils as he had done when he was teaching school and said:

"Attention now! Please get ready to come with me. I am going to take you for a walk in the woods and it will be a Nature Class."

"Oh, joy!" laughed Baby Bunty.

So out of the school they all hopped. And if the big bass drum doesn't go "Boom! Boom! Boom!" and pretend to be a thunder storm, I'll tell you next about Pnele Wiggily's lessons.

DRESSMAKER DETAILS NEWS IN COATS

Silhouette Variations, Collar Stylings and Yoke Treatments Some New Points Noted.

Left, one-piece frock, black wool jacket, blue fox muff worn by Gail Patrick; right, black wool suit, black felt pillbox hat, double fox scarf, modeled by Terry Walker.

By LISBETH

Dressmaker details make the coats and suits news of the autumn. By dressmaker details is meant differences in silhouette, use of fur, collar stylings, yoke treatments, etc.

Coats and suits both show yoke treatments. Sometimes the yoke is only at the back and is styled with folds of fabric, tucks or intricate seams. Sometimes a row of buttons merely indicates a yoke.

The natural shoulder line is generally used, with various treatments of cuff and sleeve. Elaborate fur trimming, or use of separate fur scarfs, is the rule in the more expensive suits and coats.

Illustrating these points are two costumes worn by Hollywood players. At the left is a stunning Travis Banton costume designed for Gail Patrick. The one-piece frock and loose-backed jacket are of black wool. A row of tiny buttons runs straight up the front of the dress, and the fronts of the coat are trimmed with double rows of blue fox. The accessories are a large muff of blue fox and black hat, shoes and gloves.

Navy or Black Essential

At least one suit of navy or black wool should be included in every fall and winter wardrobe, is the verdict of fashion experts. Terry Walker, screen featured player, wears a black wood suit with a long tunic coat and straight skirt split at the side seams. A pillbox hat of black felt and a double silver fox complete the suit.

If you are interested in buying a fur coat, here are some new models that may give you some suggestions as to what to look for: Deep cuffs of silver fox add a distinctive note to a black caracul which has the princess silhouette and rippled hemline that goes with it.

Another interesting model that will attract the women who like their clothes youthful and original, is a black Persian lamb with bracelet sleeves and a kerchief pocket into which a bright green handkerchief is inserted.

First place in the type of fur coats that they are choosing goes to the straightline swagger. Second to full-length belted coats.

Luxurious Collars Of Sable Found On Many Fall Coats

Squirrel Or Silver Fox Fur Also Used On Many Of Autumn Coats

(By Leonie Fenton.)

Coats and coats and coats—a regular forest of them in Hall's—and sporting all the new materials and styles. Wandering around among them I noticed that they have lots of surface interest with nubby, buckle, pineapple and waffle weaves. And such luxurious collars of sable, or squirrel or silver fox or lastly—and best—Persian lamb. They seem to be in all sizes too, and in both matrons and half sizes. Stopped to think over a frightfully smart coat with every detail up to the minute. In black, with the pinched-in waist and broad shoulders, it had a Persian lamb collar with bands of the fur from the shoulders down the front and forming pockets on either side. And it fastened with six black buttons high up near the throat.

Among a group of smart dresses found a black alpacca, with shirred bodice and patent leather piping at the waist. Four great patent leaves trimmed the front, with a brilliant little frog sitting among them. Saw also one of those dresses that combine two fabrics. The smart thing had a rich satin back and the front made of satin faced crepe.

There was a water proof and wind proof sports jackets, with raglan sleeves, a zipper front, and pleats at the back. It was in the nicest wine shade. Saw the same sort of thing down in the men's department, too.

Plenty of Hats

The hat department was full of exciting news in every shape and form. A French navy velour had the new saucer crown and a jay red and navy bird on the turned back brim in front. A fur felt with a very wide brim and a smoke stack crown, with wide grosgrain ribbon folded over it and brought down under the brim, would be perfect with sports coats. Noticed a large assortment of matron's hats too, and one specially in black velour with an ostrich feather curling around the crown.

Among the linens there were some of the loveliest cloths in double satin damask with new patterns.

Noticed some Austrian kid gloves with a dainty little daisy pattern on the back; some New York handbags of printed satin and fancy moire silks, printed with gold, silver and white; also some large suitcase and satchel shapes in leather bags; some new camel hair socks for men; a whole assortment of new plaid ties; and umbrellas of printed moire with the gayest little patterns.

Bold Herringbone

This handsome fall coat in bold herringbone patterned soft wool in natural beige has a polished collar of beaver and a wide crush belt of brown leather with fringed ends as distinctive features. Broad shoulders and bias slash pockets are good points.

Suede Shoes Now The Style

(By Leonie Fenton.)

In Mahers I found some terribly smart suede shoes. One style in smart suede shoes. One style in several different shades, had high fronts of the rounded collar type, and patent leather backs and heels. They fastened with a buckle, the little strap running right around the back as they do in so many of the shoes, and so holding them firmly. Noticed also a nice matronly looking step-in and yet with all the style highlights. It was in suede and calf, with a Cuban heel. There were also some calf shoes in a purple shade, with two eyelets and ribbon ties.

And, oh yes, I must not forget the suede oxfords for men in midnight blue. They were in brown, grey and black, too.

And last but not least, a marvellous discovery! What do you think! Mahers have got hose with the elastic above the knee, and in all the new fall shades.

Vivid Colors In Sportswear

The "Winter pastels" so much discussed in early fashion reports are being seen in lovely combinations with black or browns, in latest sportswear imports from England and the Continent. Delightful "Hunting pink" with black, or with deep grays is one of the striking combinations, using the bright reddish pink of English hunting coats. Dark green is combined with scarlet, in true Scottish clan fashion, for another smart effect.

Royal blue, a new favorite for Fall, is shown with fuchsia, beet red with gray, peacock green with soft blue, etc. Many variations are offered to the smart young woman to choose in selecting sweaters and skirts, extra jackets, scarfs and sports accessories.

Military Silhouette.

Broadening her shoulders, clinching in her wide belt, and stepping along with a new narrower skirt, the sports clad girl of this season borrows from the military fashions

PROTECT SINK

Place a rubber mat on the surface of the sink which is likely to come into contact with aluminum pans. Such pans may leave dark stains on tables and sinks. These marks may be removed, however, by using a mild cleaner applied on a moist cloth.

QUARANTINE HAS BEEN LENGTHENED TO TWENTY DAYS

No resultant effect of paralysis has developed from the four Peterborough cases of poliomyelitis which were referred to by Dr. O. Murray Fraser, M.O.H., in his report to the Board of Health last night.

"All were children and the disease was mild, with no residual paralysis," Dr. Fraser wrote. "The usual isolation and quarantine restrictions were imposed in all cases. were imposed in all cases."

At the request of the Ontario Department of Health quarantine restrictions for poliomyelitis cases will in future be more rigid. All contacts, including the breadwinner, will be quarantined for a period of twenty-one days unless the patient is moved to hospital, in which case all contacts will be quarantined 10 days. These restrictions may seem severe and may inflict hardship on those concerned, but they are considered necessary at the present time to check the spread of the disease.

Two of the cases reported locally had been in a centre where the disease is epidemic, less than a week before coming to Peterborough. There is sufficient evidence to infer that poliomyelitis is spread by direct contact of a susceptible individual with known or missed case or with a convalescent or healthy carrier. There is no evidence insects, water or food of any kind are responsible for its spread."

Convalescent serum for the treatment of poliomyelitis has been found to prevent the onset of paralysis if given early enough. It is made from the blood of recovered cases and is collected from them by members of the staff of the Ontario Department of Health. About 40 people in Peterborough and vicinity have given blood for this purpose. There is, fortunately, an ample supply available at the present time."

Vital Statistics.

Vital statistics for August were: Births 61, marriages 23, deaths 22. Of the deaths one was suicide, three were diseases of the heart, three were cancer or tumors, and three were diseases of the digestive system.

Twenty-three patients attended here the travelling eye clinic conducted by Dr. Johnston of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Miss Zeta Kearney, public health nurse, reported. They were present from the city and all parts of the district.

Twenty-seven persons in Peterborough who have recovered from infantile paralysis attended a convalescent serum clinic directed by Dr. R. P. Hardman of the Provincial Department of Health.

Miss Kearney made 185 field visits last month; thirty-five tuberculosis families were visited, and 83 were tuberculosis cases and contacts.

ANNUAL DATE SET BETHANY SUPPER

Mrs. Hannah expressed thanks for kind remembrance tendered her during her recent illness.

The special theme discussed was the annual fowl supper, a date set and since found unsuitable, another will be selected. Committees volunteered to purchase fowl. Also a sale table was to be held as formerly.

Next meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Hannah, to be an afternoon session, refreshments to be provided by Mesdames Holden, Page and Strachan. The 9th of October will be the seventh anniversary date of the Guild's inception.

Coronation Pageant Is Presented At St. Paul's

Fred L. Roy Presents For Premiere Showing Films Taken At Coronation Ceremonies

An appreciative audience last night saw the pomp and pageantry associated with the Coronation of Their Majesties King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth, re-created on the silver screen at the premiere showing of Fred L. Roy's motion pictures in color entitled "Coronation Pageant of Empire."

The initial presentation of his newest series of films of an Empire's history in the making was shown in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church under joint auspices of the Men's Association and Fraser Auxiliary.

It was generally conceded that the "movies" of the Coronation procession filmed by Mr. Roy from a privileged point of vantage on Victoria Monument and his pictures of the Royal review of the Grand Fleet at Spithead are a worthy complement to his other series, secured on the occasion of the Silver Jubilee of His Late Majesty King George V. and the Queen Mother, and entitled "Britain on Parade."

Anyone who saw his first series of the Silver Jubilee, and there were thousands of people who did see them during the time they were exhibited up and down the province and beyond its borders, will agree that is praise of highest order.

Working shoulder to shoulder with seasoned newsreel cameramen and press photographers, Mr. Roy made good use of the opportunities that Coronation Day presented to him. Pictures he secured of the magnificent spectacle are adequate proof of it.

Weather Unfavorable.

Despite weather conditions that were anything but favorable to cameraman, especially one working with color film, he brought back a dazzling moving picture record of such pomp and circumstance, as even old London never before witnessed.

Throughout the day notables from every vation of the far-flung Empire paraded before the all-seeing eye of Mr. Roy's movie camera, but needless to state, the huge gilded State coach drawn by eight horses was the focal point of all attention along the entire route of the procession to Westminster Abbey and back again to Buckingham Palace.

Endless variety of color was presented in the uniforms worn by troops taking part in the Coronation procession. Every branch and arm of the Service was represented, including the navy, air force, cavalry, artillery, infantry, etc.

Some Contrasts.

The Dominion's scarlet - clad "Mounties" rode across the screen and native troops from India and elsewhere provided strange contrast with their dusky skins and turbanned heads; the Grenadier Guards snapped by with clockwork-like precision, and the Yeomen of the Guard passed in stately procession in the historic uniforms of another day and age, while mechanised branches of the service lumbered by adding a note of real modernity.

Mr. Roy was fortunate in securing a duplicate film in black and white, of scenes of the actual Coronation ceremony inside Westminster Abbey, made by Movietone News, and these he has included in his series.

He was again at the Naval Review at Spithead, which differed from the review on the occasion of the Silver Jubilee, in so much as foreign powers were represented. Incidentally he got some splendid night "shots" which indicate that the unfortunate radio announcer who featured in news despatches on the occasion was not so wrong after all when he made the announcement that cost him his job, that "the fleet's all lit up."

"The Big White Way."

Although Mr. Roy's pictures centre, of course, around the Coronation, he has other reels included in his 2-hour program by way of diversity. The program opens with a remarkable series of "shots" he secured in and around New York City. They include Broadway and Times Square after dark; the Aquarium, the Statue of Liberty and other places familiar to the sightseer in that metropolis.

Scenes filmed aboard the stately R.M.S. "Queen Mary" during the trans-Atlantic crossing with his son Robert Roy, follow, and then by way of contrast to pictures of New York he went "Here and There in London" filming pre-Coronation scenes and featuring the elaborate decorations that were everywhere in evidence.

So elaborate indeed were some of the decorations on the buildings and so transformed had familiar places become with the erection of spectators' stands along the route of the procession, that anyone at all familiar with London might be excused for not recognizing places that are ordinarily well known. Canada House was one of the buildings, for instance, which Mr. Roy declared he could not get at to film because it was practically hidden behind specially-erected stands for the accommodation of Canadian visitors to London.

A Good Variety.

His other reels included the running of the Derby, the English turf classic, and the carnival scene on Epsom Downs which accompanies it; beauty spots in North Wales and Ireland; and what Mr. Roy terms "a symphony in color" which he filmed in the Kew Botanical Gardens.

He was at Kew at a time when the rhododendrons were in full bloom and he said it was his opinion, that particular reel represented the cream of his collection of color films from the purely artistic standpoint.

For good measure Mr. Roy showed a reel of color film he made recently at "Inglestone," the Y.W.C.A. Camp on Stoney Lake.

Girl 6, Braves Fire To Save Brother

Dauphin, Man., Sept. 22—(CP)

FACING smoke and flames, 6-year-old Frances Nicholson rescued her 4-year-old brother Philip when fire destroyed their home near here last night.

The children were asleep in a downstairs room while their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Nicholson, visited at another house 100 yards away.

The fire started in an undetermined manner and as the father and mother rushed to the burning house they saw Frances bundling her little brother through the flame-ringed doorway. Both children were uninjured.

CAPT. HATFIELD IS FOUND GUILTY

OTTAWA, Sept. 22 (CP)—Capt. Freeman Hatfield, Parrsboro, N.S., skipper of the Gypsum Queen, was found guilty today by a Supreme Court jury of defrauding the reparations commission of $71,276. The jury recommended mercy and he will be sentenced tomorrow by Justice Keiller MacKay.

The case went to the jury after a charge delivered by Justice Keiller MacKay, which occupied nearly two and a half hours.

Hatfield, 76-year-old shipmaster represented that his ship was torpedoed by a German submarine off the Irish coast on the morning of July 31, 1915. The Crown claims the schooner was lost through stress of weather.

Today Justice MacKay set forth to the jury the salient points which it was their responsibility to consider. He explained the law relating to false pretences made with the intent to defraud, detailing the ingredients of the law.

There after His Lordship went exhaustively into the evidence. He told the jury to ignore any suggestion that more than one person was implicated, and to confine their attention to the question of the guilt or innocence of Freeman Hatfield.

POSSIBILITY OF SCURVY.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 22—(CP). — There is "quite a possibility" that scurvy has appeared in Western Canada drought areas due to lack of fresh vegetables, Dr. F. W. Jackson, Manitoba Deputy Minister of Health, said to-day.

In Manitoba the disease is not prevalent although several cases are found each year among undernourished children, Dr. Jackson said.

He was commenting on an Ottawa report the Federal Government would take precautions against signs of scurvy in Western Canada.

Jimmy Conway Or Ab Juby Will Give George Street Citizens A Real Treat

Jimmy Conway isn't quite sure whether he would rather have Ab Juby haul him along main street during the noon hour on October 7, or take five dollars and call their election bet square. Whatever his choice may be, Jimmy has to get the Hepburn government elected first, and if he doesn't make good on that job he has to hitch himself between the shafts of a prehistoric buggy down at the Hood and Cumming garage and take Ab for a ride.

This is one of the first election bets reported, and Mr. Conway intends to connive in every way he can to get Ab Juby doing the jinrikisha stunt on the day after someone is elected.

"I think a lot of people would turn out to see Albert hitched up, and it being noon hour he'd get a big hand. Probably thousands would line the streets to get a look at Ab cantering even if he is a bit wind broken and spavined. Somehow I think he'll back down. On the other hand, what would I get out of the ride? But five dollars is the kind of stuff you buy things with, boots for the baby, or start a party.

Ross Hood heard the bet made so there can't be any backing out of it. She stands. If Ab wins and I certainly hope he doesn't, he gets his ride, up Water street to the post office and down George. And if he loses, all the folks from Indian River will be in to take a gander at him yanking on the shafts and me sittin' in the driver's seat."

Mr. Conway forgot to mention that folks from the country would come from a far wider area than the Indian River countryside if Mr. Juby has to switch from Ford cars to an antediluvian buggy, but as the bet is to be paid on the day after the election there will be no possibility of properly publicizing it as a main street event.

TRAINING PROJECT IS NOW AVAILABLE FOR LOCAL YOUTHS

With the object of being of some help to young people who wish to take advantage of the Dominion-Provincial Youth Training Project, J. J. Duffus, M.P., has been recently making enquiries as to the workings of the plan from Federal and Provincial authorities.

In a letter he has received from the Minister of Labor at Ottawa, it is announced that all young persons desiring to enroll should make application either through the local office of the Employment Service of Canada or to J. F. Marsh, Deputy Minister of Labor, Toronto.

Under the terms of the agreement between the Dominion and Provincial governments such applications are restricted to young unemployed people in necessitous circumstances (although not necessarily on relief), who are between the ages of 18 and 30 years.

Initiatory steps inaugurating the plan of youth training were launched by the Dominion government though administrative control of the plan rests with the Provincial government of each of the provinces in the Dominion, who will select the young people to participate in the various projects.

The Dominion government, after full consideration of conditions and study of methods in use in Europe and elsewhere, in reducing in some measure the total unemployment of the country, appointed a committee to build a system best fitted to Canadian conditions.

The result has been the Dominion-Provincial Youth Training Program in which the Federal and Provincial governments share half the cost of the project, with the provinces also paying the cost of administration.

Forest Conservation

Arrangements have been made by the Department of Forestry to train 350 young men in forest conservation, it is announced. They will be located in camps of 10 to 30 boys, under a competent instructor. Paid pocket money and board, and a course of lectures, as well as practical instruction, will be taken.

Fifty young men will be given a six months' course in mining, located in convenient centres. They will be provided with a living allowance and transportation from their homes to the training centre and return.

Each county in Ontario will have ten boys placed with ten outstanding farmers, noted in the district for the up-to-date farms and methods employed. These lads will be apprenticed to the farmer for six months and during the winter course will be held under the leadership of agricultural representatives. By the first of March it is expected the lads will be readily able to get work as experienced farmers.

A similar plan will be adopted to apprentice lads in industry, as it is recognized by the authorities that there is a need for industrial workers with specific training. Special representatives, under the Ontario Director of Apprenticeship F. Hawes, commenced on the first of September to interview all types of industry, to gain openings for a specific number of apprentices.

Chance For Women

Young women will be given opportunities in Home Training Centres, which will be patterned closely on the proved plan that is operating in England. The special people to be reached by this plan will be the unemployed girl in the urban centres, especially those living away from home and without any special skill in industry, or those who have been displaced by changes in industry. Provincial administration of the plan is under the care of Miss D. M. Jackson, supervisor Department of Public Welfare, Queen's Park, Toronto, and Miss Ruth Love, Department of Labor, Ottawa, who will serve as Dominion adviser.

A province-wide "Youth Day" will be held during the winter vacation or at some other convenient time, about New Year, when special meetings by all youth groups will be held on the basis of comradeship.

Self-support through skill will be stressed, and importance of health and training for successful living, even under difficult circumstances.

AMERICAN VISITOR LIKES FAIR, CITY

The following letter received by President Tom Brown of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition from E. E. Fairchield, Sr., head of the E. E. Fairchield Corporation of Rochester, N.Y., contains a nice tribute to the local exhibition and the city generally. Writes Mr. Fairchield: "It has been some time since I visited your Exhibition but I want you to know that I had a very delightful day and evening. I think you and your associates are doing an outstanding job which I do not believe has been duplicated anywhere in either the United States or Canada. Mr. Denne told me the spirit of cooperation exhibited in your community is very unusual. This I think is demonstrated in your city affairs, as no city of your size here in the United States has been as well run from a financial standpoint. You should be very proud of your exhibition, city and community."

SWAGGERS IN FUR THE RAGE FOR FALL

Colorful Furs On Woollens Are New Fall Feature

New Straight "Boxy" Coat Is Popular Often Trimmed With Flat Fur

Pockets, pinstrcns, wide front tuxedo effects, and often entire sleeves are among the lavish fur trimmings on new Fall coats. Color contrasts and harmony is achieved through special shading on the furs. Flat furs are used in bandings and border effects, as well as to outline pockets and coat details. Soft long-haired furs give flattering effects on other coats, in softly rippled collars or tuxedos that reach down the entire front of the coat. Boeders of fur are seen on more expensive coats.

White Fox Dyed.

Furs dyed to blend with or match Fall coatings is another luxury development of the new mode. White fox is frequently dyed in softly shaded colors that give the most flattering effect when blended with the color of the coat. Many sportsy furs are dyed black, or brown, to give dramatic contrast to the more sportsy woollens. Gray furs and blendings of cross fox and red fox are also used in lovely colorful trimmings on Fall coats.

Straight Boxy Coats.

More slenderizing than the coats of past seasons, the new straight "boxy" coat is popular with many smart women. It is often seen trimmed with flat furs, with youthful small collars and cuffs, amusing high pockets and bandings. In other models, the straight boxy front lines are contrasted sharply with the full circular backs of the coat. Swaggers are either boxy or combine these straight fronts with the full sweeping back lines that are so youthful.

Velvet Pumps Are Charming

(By Leonie Fenton)

Have you by any chance been hankering for a pair of velvet pumps to go with that new dress! Well, Agnew-Surpass have them, and they are the loveliest things, in green or burgundy velvet with high self-covered heels, and trimmed with patent leather bows, not too big and not too small. They really are charming.

Saw some other tremendously smart shoes there. Some black suede step-ins, with high fronts of course, were trimmed with a very narrow leather seam down the centre of the vamp, with oblong cut-outs and grey stitching on either side. And another high cut step-in had one side of the vamp suede and the other side leather, with the back the same, only vice versa, if you understand. There were some smart suedes with snake trim, too.

And "jaunty" is the name of a new shade in hose, perfect for evening wear, and in the line exclusive to Agnew-Surpass.

Freckles Can Be Bleached Away

By GLADYS GLAD

The new fall dress styles are feeling the influence of the Renaissance period. This means that fair, creamy skin tones will return to popularity, and the poor lass who has become as freckled as a tiger lily during the past summer months is going to have her troubles. Of course, there are a few girls who look well with freckles. These tiny bits of pigmentation add an appealing piquancy to their countenances. But there are also a good many girls to whom freckles aren't becoming.

These damsels, at the approach of the fall season, usually feel pretty wretched because of their crops of freckles, and they've every reason to.

However, there's no reason for any one to become too discouraged about her freckles, for these usual summer freckles can generally be bleached away. There are any number of effective bleaches now on the market for lightening skin. These bleaches are usually mild, and can be used daily. And in addition, it is wise to give the skin a weekly bleach pack. Just the other day I learned of a new bleach for lightening freckles, and it consists solely of cornmeal and buttermilk.

Skin Must Be Clean

Before the mask is applied, the skin should be thoroughly cleansed with a bland soap and tepid water, and then with a good cold cream. The cream should then be wiped away, and a thin film of it smoothed.

Next, to prepare the mask itself, enough buttermilk should be added to a cupful of cornmeal to form a thick, smooth paste. And the buttermilk used should be the real buttermilk from which practically all butter fat has been removed.

When the paste is of a consistency that will spread easily, it should be smoothed generously over the entire face and neck, and permitted to dry somewhat. Then it should be remoistened with more of the buttermilk, which may be gently patted on over the mask with a square of absorbent cotton.

This drying and remoistening process should be repeated several times, and then finally the mask should be allowed to dry thoroughly. It is a good plan to lie down and relax completely while the drying process is going on.

When the mask is entirely dry, and no least bit of dampness remains, it should be removed with tepid water and a soft cloth. And then a bit of cold cream or nourishing cream should be applied to the skin in order to counteract any drying effects of the process.

Use a good marketed bleach daily, and give your skin one of these bleach packs weekly. This procedure will aid greatly in lightening summer freckles and tans, and will at the same time help to clear the skin and make it smooth and fine textured.

Slender or Swagger

Two coats instead of one, says the woman of fashion this year: A swagger knock-about for travel, sports, or general wear and the new dressmaker coat with slim lovely lines to give distinction for afternoon or evening. Gaily highlighted tweeds are the choice for swaggers, and smooth suede-like woollens are smart for dress.

FACTS AND FANCIES

Pertinent Hints

Chicken salad is better when you put some fruit in it. Sliced bananas make one good variation, and another one is made with orange segments—fresh or canned.

Clever for garnish are "appleties," made with a melon scoop by hollowing out round balls of peeled apples. Always use your native home grown apples, and for this use McIntosh if at all possible.

Aqua-Colored Suit Is Paired With Burgundy Accessories

(By Central Press)

While you are assembling your autumn and winter wardrobe, it would be well to add a bit of color with your black and other dark suits.

Aqua has been good all summer, and there is no reason why it cannot be used to brighten up dull, dark days this winter.

Lucille Ball, young screen player, is wearing an aqua blue cashmere suit, with which she has assembled burgundy accessories—an unusual and delectable combination of colors.

The single-breasted jacket of this suit has a short notched collar and high closing. Her felt hat is in the aqua banded in burgundy, while her shoes and gloves are in the red.

This is a type of suit which may be worn without topcoat while the weather remains mild, and later be stopped with a warm coat.

Jacket Costume New

Jacket costumes are one of the highlights of the season. Contrast is expressed in these suits, which feature a one-piece dress with jacket which often is of different material and pattern. A gray woolen dress, for instance, may have a plaid jacket, or again, jacket and dress may be in the same material and color and contrast be introduced in one of the new wide corselet girdles which are trimming so many of the new frocks.

Black is the favorite in these jacket costumes, and gray is also well liked. Frocks are simple and slender, the jackets that accompany them are in a variety of lengths, from tiny boleros to straight boxy, hipleugth styles.

Small Brushes Handy

Small brushes, such as discarded tooth brushes, if not too worn, are handy for polishing and cleaning shoes and for applying silver polish or cleaning powders to brass and other metal ornaments. The bristles on a small brush will penetrate grooves and corners which are nearly impossible to reach in any other way. Small brushes are inexpensive to buy.

"Little" Swaggers Being Worn For Sports, Day Time, Evening

Black Crepe Coat Catches The Eye

(By Leonie Fenton)

Have been looking over some of those smart and different looking coats in Levine's, and feel I must rave about a black crepe cloth—the most interesting looking weave. The coat has one of those new small stand-up collars, of Persian lamb and the smartest strip of the fur down the front—and tapering in at the waist with the lines of the coat. There was brown in a lovely nubby weave, and sporting a luxurious fitch collar.

And the smartest two-piece wool suit in black, with button, hankie, and belt trimming of white dotted black patent. A bright green suede-like clovelle frock has a narrow gold belt and is all piped with gold around the tucked neckline. And have you seen the rose taffeta evening gown, with brilliant clips at the neck and on the butterfly sleeves, and a gorgeous sweeping skirt with the corded hem slashed in the centre front?

Woman President Seen For Future

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 22 —(AP)—Alice Stone Blackwell, pioneer crusader for women's rights, yesterday saw the possibility of a woman president in the United States "in the far future."

Confined to her home by illness on her 80th birthday, Miss Blackwell retained her interest in world affairs.

Mention of a woman president aroused enthusiasm of the daughter of the famous Lucy Stone, original crusader for women's rights.

"Yes, I think a woman president is possible in the far future, but it's not a prospect for a long time to come."

"The right to vote, however, has widened woman's outlook and has made women more interested in public affairs."

Short Boxy Coats Look As Snug And Cozy As a Teddy Bear

SWINGING into the Fall season with the jaunty air of youth at its best, the fur swagger is seen everywhere. Sporty furs, such as leopard, lapin or kidskin are worn for daytime and more elegant furs in seal, Persian lamb or mink, are chosen for more formal occasions in the daytime or evening. Many new furs make their appearance, such as mink-paw, Australian opossum revived once more, squirrel, and dyed versions of many standard furs.

With a color mode in furs this season, grey krimmer, Persian lamb, kidskin and squirrel are important. Soft brown and beige are also important, while the more colorful red fox and cross fox give striking contrast to other coats. Black is, of course, the dominant choice, but with fur swaggers so inexpensive it is expected that many a smart wardrobe will include more than one fur coat this season.

Boxy Fur Coats New

Swagger lines in fur coats are varied with the new straight front lines in many models. Boxy and slim, these coats may flare in true swagger lines at the back. Other models retain the slenderizing boxy look in both front and back. In these the accented shoulder lines, interesting working of the furs, and novel collars or pockets give the necessary interest to the silhouette.

"Teddy Bear" Swaggers New

Fluffy haired furs in short boxy coats that look as snug and cozy as a Teddy Bear is the season's discovery in short fur coats and jackets. Skunk, Australian opossum, raccoon, and other hardy furs make these for sports or daytime wear. Beaver and sealskin are also popular in this styling. Glamorous fox or other long-haired furs are used for evening. There is a youthful dash about these coats that indicates they are little coats with a big future.

QUINTS MAY ACT IN MOTHER PLAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 —(C P)— "Mother Knows Best" may be the title of the Dionne quintuplets' next picture, to be released "sometime in 1938."

Officials of the Twentieth Century-Fox Films here said their coast office holds the story to which the antics of the five little girls may be harnessed in their third screen appearance. But the choice is not definite, they added, and neither producer nor cast has been assigned.

Apparently it will be next year before the cameras begin turning over in the playroom of the Dafoe nursery near Callander, Ont., to produce a successor to "The Country Doctor" and "Reunion."

No work is planned for the quints during the balance of this year, according to the company's production schedule. The quints' contract, signed at the end of 1935, calls for three pictures over a period of three years.

"The Country Doctor," in which the five little girls crawled their way into the hearts of film fans, was released in March, 1936, with Jean Hersholt, Dorothy Peterson and "Slim Summerville in the leading roles. "Reunion" followed six months later. Both were shown in 48 countries and translated into some 23 languages.

No figures on the box-office records of the two pictures were obtainable from the film company, but indications are that while "The Country Doctor" was a money-maker, "Reunion" was not a great success. In movie circles it is suggested this is the reason why no picture is being made this year. Next summer the quints will be four years old and, presumably, better drawing cards.

Tuxedo Collar

A VERY SMART suit of the business woman ,the young matron or the college girl is pictured, trimmed with lynx, a soft and fluffy but good wearing fur. Thelma Leed, young moving picture player, is the model.

The suit is made of green tweed, with three-quarters length coat with tuxedo collar of lynx—which gives it a luxurious touch. Boxy lines and broad shoulders are other style points to be noted.

Plaid Skirts, Plain Jackets With Matching Ties All The Go

Popularity Of Plaids Caused By Our Scotch Queen Elizabeth

(By Leonie Fenton.)

What a fascinating place is the Canadian Department Store. Invaded the dress department first thing of course and didn't want to leave. There are the smartest things! Wanted a frock made of the new "tricotina" with smart draped neckline, finished with brilliant clips and buttons all down the skirt. Another had silk braid all over the bodice and another was trimmed with cut velvet work. There were of course no end with patent and zipper trims. Noticed some three-piece knitted suits all in one color.

And we must not miss those important plaid skirts with I don't know how many clans represented! There are smart plain jackets with matching plaid cravats to go with them, too. The tremendous popularity of plaids is, of course, caused by our new Scottish Queen.

Saw some smart fur coats and some in the new "kurlifur." And cloth coats in the new nubby weaves with luxurious fur collars of silver fox, Bombay lamb and other furs.

Feather Tips Are Perched On Top

(By Leonie Fenton.)

Imagine a cluster of blue, rose, green and rust feather tips perched on the very top of a squarish skull cap of navy blue velvet! Talk about distinctive chic! I saw it in Miss Haskill's shop where I went to look for smart hats just a little different, and found them. And there was the smartest hand-made black French velours turban, with two great morning glories—the separate petals all made of the velour—projecting out over the forehead, with the stems twisting around the crown to the back. There were dozens of others, but will pick out just one more. It was a French turban of green velour, trimmed with wide shirred grosgrain ribbon standing up in front.

There was a travel tweed in wine and red shades, with natural wolf collar and wine buttons. Saw the smartest beaver-trimmed little coats for school girls with hats and muffs to match. The hats were up to all the new tricks. Off-the-face and turbans in every kind and shape, and some of those big floppy tams.

Loved a Scotch beret with tartan ribbons, and also a dressy brown velvet tam with stitching standing up in fan effect at the front and a bright yellow quill.

Forgot about time looking at some exquisite lingerie and some special figure moulding foundation garments, with new clips instead of the old type of suspender.

Evening Gowns

And now the evening gowns! Dreams in velvets, satins and brocades! Can you visualize a golden rust martinized velvet (which you can't mark no matter how you try), made with the new shirred and draped bodice, and full draped skirt, and with the puffed sleeves shirred in the most intriguing way onto a cord running up to the shoulder! There are gowns with the new metallic jackets, brocaded satins and heavy satins in the most gorgeous colors.

Saw all sorts of cute baby things, but they were guarded by gnomes and a dreadfully sleepy-looking moon. A new rattler toy was specially enormous, and there seemed to be all sorts of soft cuddly things, to delight the little folks.

In the men's department there was a most complete assortment of smart suits, with double-breasted coats of course. And the most astonishing values for made-to-measure suits, and in those new materials, some with large subdued block check designs, and the new chalk stripes. Some swagger top coats in the most popular grey shade, and heard about a double-breasted tuxedo for practical evening wear, besides of course tails for formal.

The shoe department seemed to be overflowing with ideas. Suedes with patent and calf trims, with high fronts and side gores and wrap-around straps, with some sensible ideas for growing girls.

Have decided to buy a new raincoat. One of those transparent ones, absolutely waterproof, that can be folded into no space at all. And they come in all colors.

Costume Jewellery

Saw a fascinating counter of costume jewellery—all sorts of "antiques," pearls, brilliants and the new bone clips. Among the dress flowers some flower maker's dream carried out in curled leather strips, in harmonizing autumn shades! Found a tailored blouse of new herringbone satin! And gloves with zipper backs! And New York handbags all shirred! And a bright oiled silk umbrella, with a tiny black and white floral pattern! And hose in the new "burnt sugar" shade to go with any color! And Plaids again—gorgeous Scotch tartan materials in pure wool.

New Idea Found Dusting Powder

The most fascinating frocks in the most intriguing shades are to be found in Lyda Telford's Shop. There was one with a crushed and draped waistline in a "claret" shade. It had of course the narrow V-neck, shirred shoulders, and was finished with a jewelled brilliant clip. Another very striking dress was shirred at the shoulders and above and below the waist. It had a "stomacher" belt trimmed with three gold kid buckles and strips of gold leather, with one at the throat. And it was in "Zinnia" shade. Among the College clothes there was the smartest two-piece, the fitted jacket of black, red and grey Shetland tweed, with a black and white silk scarf, and worn with a plain black skirt. There was a formal evening gown in "Hellenic" shade (a rich fuschia) of the most gorgeous brocaded material, with a full skirt fall into a slight train at the back, and swished up in front to ankle length, with the hem slashed in the centre.

A tremendously smart coat of velvenna cloth had a silver fox collar, and there was a bright green travel tweed.

Brilliant Plumage!

Plumes and feathers describe a mode of beauty and pre-war luxury in new Fall hats. Sweeping high on one side, tilted far back off the new high-placed curls, or pulled rakishly forward, this season's hats are lovelier than ever. Rich velvets, gleaming satins and velours further the mode of elegance, while sweeping feathers and piled fluffs of ostrich enhance its flattery.

New Fall Frocks Are Fascinating

(By Leonie Fenton.)

Paused awhile in Payne's Drug Store to gaze at some beauty preparations. They looked so beautifully fresh and fragrant in their skyscraper bottles, all green, white and black!

There seemed to be everything. All sorts of preparations for dry or oily skins; creams to drive away lines, blackheads and double chins, and the nicest lotions for your hands. A new idea is a dusting powder in smoked glass bottles with sifter tops. It is a deodorant and has a delicious sweet-briar perfume. A neat idea is a non-spill powder box, that looks rather like ivory with a bright green base. When travelling you just screw the lid on and worry no more about leaking powder. You can get refills of powder to fit inside.

Noticed that Payne's have got some of those new preparations that have been on the market about three months only and seem to be making quite a hit from what one hears.

Introductory Set Has Three Creams

Those red and cream containers holding beauty aids looked quite fascinating in Borland's Drug Store. There seem to be no end of things for helping on the good cause, and they are so moderately priced! Noticed the neatest little introductory set composed of three creams, lotion and powder in a gay red box. There is a fascinating new powder called rose India. It is a transparent powder made especially to suit all complexions from blondes to brunettes. There is a new cleansing cream, too made for dry skins.

And a fragrant Florida water that grandmother used, is back on the market in full force, and in the same kind of bottles too.

There seemed to be quite an assortment of the misty nail polishes in new larger bottles, and in the most intriguing assortment of shades.

You'll like the new sports gloves in black suede with square fingers and a one-button closing. They are especially suitable for driving or shopping.

STYLE WHIMSIES

One of the new fall handbags is of fine morocco with a square opening in the flap which contains a watch. The watch is removable to wear as a fob in the lapel.

Black gloves are always smart, of course. But this season color is being emphasized to a great extent, particularly for evening wear. Doeskin gloves in pale blue, amber, rose, and amethyst blue strikingly set off the all-black formal ensemble.

Rendezvous Frocks Are Hit Of Present Fall Season

Patent Leather And Bead Trimmings With Zippers And Many New Fall Colors

(By Leonie Fenton)

Went into Zellers to have a look at their famous "rendezvous" frocks, and was thrilled with them. The styles come straight from New York and they look like it!. Zippers here, there and everywhere, patent leather and bead trimmings; and the materials in the new fall colors, with black of course predominating, but a good selection of the new wines and greens, with some browns and navys too. Noticed one duck of a dress, a two-piece in black crepe with shirred shoulders, had a little collar, pockets and pom-pom things of that new woolly stuff that looks like Persian lamb; and another with the narrow V-neck and draped bodice (New York's latest) had some very effective blue and silver bead trimming. Among the slightly cheaper frocks, and, goodness knows, the rendezvous's are reasonable enough, there was the smartest little dress of wine satin, with a knife-pleated windblown skirt, and a gold zipper imbedded in shirring down the front of the built-up waist—another new fad.

They have got the new "furitfir" coats in Zellers. They look as if they should be frightfully expensive, and of course are not. They have important Winter 1937-38 features with buttons fastening up at the top, and built up collars—two straps of the fur and a button holding the collar at the back so that it can't slip down over your shoulders when your coat is open. They are lined and interlined, and have leather belts that can be worn or not, just as you like. Noticed some nice looking tweeds too which are smart for this fall.

And now I've hardly been able to wait to tell you about my next discovery—the jolliest sports jackets of all-wool blanket cloth lined throughout with chamois and trimmed with white leaves appliqued on each shoulder, and white pom-poms at the necks and at the ends of the narrow tie belts. They were in several colors. One of those natty little suede calots from the millinery department would be just the thing to wear with them, and also with one of those two-piece wool suits I noticed while digressing into the millinery. These suits have plaid skirts and plain fitted jackets, with some colors in all plain materials. There was a great selection of hats to choose from, with some lovely little velvet halos, and some of the smart wider off-the-face velvets. Noticed the "Spa" hats too which you can wear in several different ways.

The shoe department had all the new ideas. Shoes, high throated with gores and novelty straps, were mostly in suede with tricky leather trims. Thought some velvet bedroom slippers with white rabbit trimming rather nice.

There are some of the coolest little three-piece blanket cloth suits for kiddies; one pet was i nthe prettiest coral shade with white rabbit edging the collar, and a poke bonnet to match. And there are the darlingest little corded silk frocks for one, two and three-year-olds, and exciting plaids for older little sisters.

Saw all sorts of other interesting things. A vast array of "toppers" in rayon satin, to save your blouses; some suedine gloves copying the shoes, with leather trim—the whole of the little finger and a strip from it to the cuff of leather; among the flowers a "spaghetti cigarette" (that's its name) flower with patent leather buds; and some two-thread chiffon hose in the new "noonday" which is perfect with the wine shades.

Plaid Bags In Silk, Wool

(By Leonie Fenton)

Scotch plaid bags in silk and wool, I found in Fair's. Some were very bright and others more subdued, and had zippers or frames. They would be lovely with a black outfit. Noticed plaid wool scarfs too. And there was the greatest assortment of gloves. Some nice ones had a double row of French knots down the backs and there were a lot with outside stitching. If you own a red raincoat, Fairs have just the umbrella to go with it. It is of white oiled silk with a red and white handle, red tips and a red cord. Most effective!

Went upstairs to look at Fair's well-known tailored hats and was very glad I had. There is the greatest collection. A felt with a rolled up brim has a wide band of black satin over the crown, and forming a "fisherman" back, and an off-the-face is trimmed with dozens of little cut out leaves, and a saucy black bow at the side. A tremendously smart matron's hat had a wing trimming and satin binding. There were just dozens and dozens of them.

Passed some lovely looking lingerie making for the dress department where I found the smartest little navy crepe. It had a zipper on one shoulder and closing a pocket on the opposite side of the skirt, with two little fur tails attached to each zipper. There was the cutest little bit of shirring on the cuffs, too. Then there was a black sheer with a satin stripe, and a narrow gold belt with a gold zipper embedded in shirring.

And such a lovely crush resisting black velvet, slimly made, and with a great diamond shaped brilliant with ruby stones. And to go with it the darlingest little bolero made entirely of black velvet loops.

Noticed that Fairs have a great variety of coatings too, in all the latest materials.

Symmetry Is Won By Daily Exercise

By GLADYS GLAD

Over in a certain African tribe, I am told, broad hips and big tummies are considered distinct beauty highlights. But broad hips certainly are out in what we like to think of as more civilized countries. Symmetry is an important feature of the perfect figure of 1937, and there is nothing like exercise for keeping the body lithe and slender.

Oddly enough, most women seem to have the idea that exercise isn't at all essential for weight reduction or figue symmetry. They usually have stamina to follow the toughest of diets, but when some one mentions exercise, they just aren't listening. They seem to have the idea that exercise is a passe method of reduction and is ineffective.

Of course, a well-planned dieting routine is excellent for reducing weight, but exercise is just as essential.

The benefits that can be derived from proper exercising during the following of a well-balanced reducing diet are many. In the first place, the reason why your body stores up unhealthy fat is because you eat more food every day than your body uses. But if you make your body use up more energy, there will not be so much left over for storage. Exercise helps you to use up more food, and when practiced at the same time that you are following a reducing diet, exercise helps to break down the excess fat already in storage.

Another Reason

There's another reason why exercise is important in a reducing routine. If you simply diet, you will lose weight all right, but you may lose the fat from the wrong parts of your anatomy. You may find yourself becoming thin around the upper part of your body, while your hips retain their depressing rotundity. Or you may find your hips becoming slim, while the upper part of your body retains its over-plump lines. Exercise helps mold the body along symmetrical and harmonious lines.

Women who are attempting to reduce often ask what I consider the best time for them to practice exercises. The really best time for exercising is both in the morning and in the evening. Exercise taken in the morning wakens the circulation and raises the tone of the body in readiness for the day's tasks. And exercise taken in the evening, when done slowly and rhythmically, releases the tension of weary nerves and puts the circulatory system in tune for sound sleep.

However, if exercise taken in the morning irks you, it will not benefit you greatly. Exercise should be pleasurable, not a dull task to be gotten over with as soon as possible. It should set you up, make you feel gorgeously fit, full of a sense of well-being. But if you are highly strung, run down or nervous, exercise taken in the morning may take too much out of you. It may tire you before your day has really started. In this case, slow, rhythmic exercises taken at night are best.

Furred Flattery

Slim and lovely, the new Fall suits combine beautiful wool colorings with flattering fur contrasts. Pencil lines distinguish many of these, while others have the youthful swagger popular in tweed travel costumes. Dyed furs are newest, but the striking color effects of softly toned blue fox, cross fox, silver fox, lynx and other rich furs give flattery to all of them.

MILKMAN ATTACKED

TORONTO, Sept. 22 — (C.P.) — Levine Fensom, 30, milk wagon driver, reported to police he was attacked by five men to-day while delivering milk in East York. His truck was taken from him and later found in a field. Fensom is employed by a Toronto dairy, where milk drivers have called a strike.

The loveliest of afternoon bags are the silky antelopes with gold and silver trim.

Jewellery Is Most Massive

(By Leonie Fenton)

Have you acquired any of the new costume jewellery? Three words describe it—massive, antique and exquisite! In Warne's I saw the loveliest set, a bracelet of large Bohemian garnets set in fine gold filigree, with a huge oval brooch to match. It would be perfect with black velvet. There was a large selection of barcelets, clips, brooches and lockets, all big and "antique"—and exquisite.

With the returning fashion for wearing crosses on narrow chains, they are being made in brilliants and metals, and with settings in different colors.

Among the costume jewellery in Warne's I noticed a great broad band of Roman gold, with a solid raised design of poppies. And did you know that pearls are one of the smartest things to wear at present? sent!

Velvet dresses with lace tops are destined for great popularity for luncheon frocks, or for the afternoon bridge.

Directoire Greens, Reds Add Glamour To Fall Wools

Sleek Suede Woollens In Dark Colors Give Radiant Beauty To New Costumes

SLEEK suede woollens in the dark colors of the Directoire Period give radiant beauty to many of the new wool costumes for Fall. Coats and suits, as well as dresses are shown in these flattering shades, such as plum red, wine tones, olive green and and a suave brownish green that is extremely flattering.

Combining well with the gray and reddish brown furs so popular for trimmings, these new coats and suits ensemble well with accessories. Blue fox grays are especially lovely when used with these Directoire reds or greens.

Grandma's Suit New Again.

The smoother woolens seen in dressier fitted suits and coats this season revive the elegant mode of the 1900's. Broadcloth and suede finish woolens, velvety types that have an elegance of their own, and smoother nubby woolens are all seen in these fitted suits, and the new straighter pencil-line suit.

Again reviving the modes of the past, Scotch woolens are seen in suits too. Large checks and plaids, thick and warm woolens with heavy nubby surfaces and hounds' tooth checks are among the fabrics used in jackets. These may be combined with plain skirt and topcoat, or may be worn in entire suit costumes. Shepherd checks is another of Grandma's favorites that is back in fashion. It is especially favored for youthful suits for the college or teen-age girls.

Soft as down, these new tweeds are seen in suits. For they have downy soft feathers interwoven in the wool. The effect is one of unusual beauty, too, for the hairy or feathery touch softens the color and gives a lovely mottled tone that is most flattering.

Many of the new woolen colors are inspired by these hairy or feathery surface fabrics, such as grape juice reds, slate blues, oak leaf rust, etc. In black or dark browns they are lovely, too, softening the sharp outlines and giving a rich texture to the suit or coat.

Dress Is Trimmed With Powder Blue

POWDER BLUE is used very effectively to trim this smart little day-time dress for which pretty Jane Wyman, movie actress, poses. The dress material is navy blue tengaline, with tailored bow at the neck in the powder blue and powder blue gauntlet gloves. Good choice for the college girl.

Hardy Furs on Handsome Tweeds

Rich, sturdy tweeds with a wealth of flattery in huge fur collars.... new slim figure lines! Fitted and swagger styles. All are interlined.

Swaggers Are Important In All Fur Coats

(By Leonie Fenton)

Was in Lech's looking in amazement at their huge collection of smart fur coats, and decided one of the smartest was a swagger—don't forget how important swaggers are—in Rice Lake Hudson seal. The pick of the skins come from Rice Lake, and this coat, with its fitted front and swagger back swinging out rhythmically, two slash pockets, and the nicest "peak" collar flaring out to flatter the face, was certainly a beauty. It's black satin lined was lightened with a neat little and white pattern in squares.

And there was the loveliest coat of American broadtail with the most luxurious silver fox collar. It is made on full princess lines, cut to bring out the gleaming lights of the fur, and can be worn with or without its belt. Noticed that it had a most spiffy lining of satin and crepe, striped.

Another important coat was one made specially for the smaller girl. It has a princess silhouette, moderate square shoulders, and a youthful notch collar, fitting up snugly.

Truly Hollywood Frock

It was in "chartreuse" French haired cloth, with an 8-gore swing skirt, wide sleeves, a comfortable neckline, and a zipper, six or seven inches long, in the very middle of the back under the belt; and the belt was an French wool embroidery in a red, green and blue design; and it was the smartest thing, and in Barrie's. Gazed covetously at a black French faille, with two large patent leather cuffs on each sleeve at the cuff, and one at the neck, and a black zipper down the front to the waist with shirring on either side. There was an evening gown in martinized black velvet too, with a heart shaped neckline and half of the puffed sleeves made to [illegible]. Here is a truly Hollywood frock with a swishing sweeping skirt of black paper taffeta, going right up above the waist to a little blouse of white marquisette trimmed with narrow rows of Val lace, and to top it, a tiny bolero of black velvet with a brilliant little "love bird" lighted on one shoulder.

And what else do you think I found in Barrie's? A little cape—New Yorks very late—[illegible] of "shaggy skins." And Oh! such a lot of gorgeous fur coats! A Persian lamb swagger had a Peter Pan collar (with the dinkiest bow-shaped buckle) and very full sleeves. And a Rock seal with the lovely moire markings had a fox collar. And the loveliest three-quarter with white lapin for evening, had narrow little collar and square shoulders.

Bombay Lamb Coat

Fell in love with a Bombay lamb coat in Hamilton's. It is cut on princess lines, with squared shoulders, and a smallish collar, that stands up with very flattering effect. But best of all, the curly fur in this coat is in long narrow stripe effect. There was a tremendously smart grey squirrel swagger too in three-quarter length style. Saw some of those popular new sports fur coats in grey kid, and a whole bevy of smart looking reasonably priced electric and Russian seals. Wanted a dark brown cloth with a strip of fur straight down the front, and the loveliest lining! There was a travel tweed too in rough diamond cut wool.

And have you seen Hamilton's "muff beds"? One of the newest has a curved white bone and nickle handle. The purse part has three compartments, with a very good looking moire lining.

And the dresses were most exciting. A "different" one was of green crepe, with a square yoke and cuffs of Nottingham lace, and fine tucks down the front. A black was most effective with a white zipper, and a moire taffeta in the loveliest soft shade of blue, had the new fitted front.

Grand Collection Of Fall Headwear

Miss Horsfield's smart, handmade hats are well known, and she has the grandest collection of them this season, amazingly different, yet all so smart. A huge soft tam with a fishtail back looked interesting and turned out to be more so. Made of duvetyn and felt in irregular sections, it can be worn pushed up and back, the fan stitching then showing and helping out a general fan effect; or it can be pulled down to look terribly smart and casual.

Thought how distinctive was a brown velour with a wide brim worn off the face, and with cut-outs and ribbon inserts on one side of the crown, and a feather trim in red, blue and black on the brim.

And a row of gay little flat stitched bows in red, blue and black satin march over the crown of a turban, which has the most intriguing little upward and outward movement at the front.

Reported Dead

MRS. ALICE McDONNELL PARSONS (ABOVE), who disappeared from her Long Island home in June, is believed to have died July 9, of pneumonia. U. S. department of justice agents are reported today to have admitted intercepting letters which said she had died, and that "her body has been disposed of" by her abductors.

Frocks Sparkle This Season

Sparkle in daytime and evening silks trimmed with sequins, beads, silk braid and metal embroidery is quite a passion with our couturiers. The outstanding black silk crepe model, shown above, presents again the slim, sculptured silhouette. Jet bugle embroidery sprays the bodice and forms a panel down the front of the skirt. This dress, too, has a high neckline that is slit to the base of the throat. Shoulders are squared, and the sleeves are the new bracelet length.

Suede Shoes Of Buckle Type

(By Leonie Fenton)

The shoes are really terribly fascinating this year. The styles seem to have done such definite things. In Neill's spacious store I almost got lost among hundreds of lovely shoes—with suedes, plain and combined with patent, predominating of course. Practically all high fronts, with D'Orsay cut, and with a definite swing back to gores. The gores are cleverly concealed in some shoes and quite openly a part of the trimming in others. And in tie shoes this year two eyelets are ever so much smarter than the one eyelet of last year's.

Noticed in Neill's that the most reasonable shoes had all the fashion highlights of the most expensive, and there were such stunning suedes combined with patent or kid trimming, or both. And there were the smartest wrap-arounds and some with tricky off-side tongues.

Noticed a brown tie in suede, tipped and foxed with genuine reptile, and a perfect shoe for sporty occasions, if you are not the sweater and skirt type of girl. There was the smartest thing made of genuine buffalo skin, and then I found a corrective shoe you would never in the world know was a corrective shoe. It was in suede with all the important details for Winter '37—'38. Which reminds me that they certainly seem to take this fitting business seriously in Neill's with even an X-Ray machine.

Saw some splendid shoes for growing girls—some patents with new high fronts and wrap-around straps, had sensible cuban heels, that Mother could not possibly object to, and yet daughter will feel frightfully smart.

And such a lot of brown oxfords for men. Apparently there is a far greater demand from the men for brown shoes this year than for black.

Color Combination

A new color combination is black with English mustard, generally in suede with gloves to match.

Besides being used extensively for sports dresses and other frocks, challis is being employed for handbags, shoes, scarfs and millinery for the resort season.

Wool, Leather Combination Shown In New Fall "Sweater-Jackets"

After several years of comparative inactivity, sweater manufacturers awoke with a vengeance. Last season and the season before saw an avalanche of sport black sweaters descend. However, there really isn't any need for a sport back on a sweater. The wool gives all the freedom you could possibly want.

So these same manufacturers turned to the jacket field for inspiration and they got it.....plenty. They borrowed the most practical features of suede and leather jackets, combined them with the best features of the sweater and the result is the sweater-jacket, a highly satisfactory garment.

Suede, leather, pigskin and even fur fronts are seen with sweater backs; leather sleeves and shoulders combine with wool; corduroy and wool, flannel and wool, cloth and wool all combine to make this year's crop of sweaters the most outstanding ever shown.

Science Invents New Fabric Furs

Catering to the whim of Fashion, science has turned its attention, very successfully, to the creating of fur fabrics which look so real that they can scarcely be told from the fur itself. The demand for fur trimmings handled in soft collars and bandings, it is said, have encouraged the use of scientifically created fur fabrics, as they are more pliable than many inexpensive furs and better suited to this banding.

Persian lamb, krimmer and other flat furs appear successfully in the role of fur fabric trimmings on even very expensive costumes. No attempt is made to disguise the fact that these are fur fabrics, as Fashionists point out that they belong to the mode for more elaboration in trimmings rather than to an attempt to substitute furs.

Satin continues to maintain its popularity for the molded evening gown and for the dinner suit.

SCHOOL GIRL

New Afternoon Dress Is Pet Of Fashion World

Smart Women Are Adopting The "Schoolgirl" Frock For All-Day Wear

SCINTILLATING with metal threads that remind one of the gay colors of a pageant at night, the new Fall afternoon dress is the pet of the Fashion World. Dramatizing a mode in which elegance has returned, the dress for more formal daytime occasions shines in metal-shot crepes, rich moires and velvets in which a metal thread glimmers through the soft surface.

Neat and prim for morning in tailored silk or wool, the smart woman is sumptuously attired for afternoon and evening occasions. And today the dress wardrobe must include smartly styled models appropriate for every occasion. Sportswear and morning frocks are popular in shirtwaist styles or simple coat styles, in sheer wools and silks that have a wool-like texture that is soft and beautifully tailored.

Dress Wardrobe Essential

Following the lead of Youth, smart women are adopting the "schoolgirl" frock in soft tailored woollens or silks for all-day wear in town or for business. But when the clock strikes twelve, the luncheon or midday frock appears, suavely draped and flattering in its slender new silhouette. Of silk jersey, sheer wool or satin, the new daytime frock may be fairly dressy with the new draped sleeves, or quite simple with high collar and long sleeves.

Late afternoon sees a still more dramatic dress in the fashion scene. Glittering with metal trims, or accented by jeweled clips, it may be of flattering velvet. Other models are noted in simply styled black taffetas or bengaline, in which a dramatic touch of color is splashed at neckline and hem. Youthful styles have wider "swing" skirts that may be fully gored or pleated.

Sophisticated gowns for evening are new in the long slim lines and corset waists. High draped bodices often accompany slightly draped skirts with slim fullness.

Police Refuse Lift So He Taxis To Jail

Akron, Ohio, Sept. 22—(AP)—"I'M cornered and I wanna go to jail."

"Sorry," replied Radio Dispatcher E. L. Engelhart when he heard that plea on the telephone at police headquarters today, "we're only looking for bandits."

"Listen here," the voice said. "I'm a taxpayer an' if I wanna go to jail I'm entitled to go to jail. Send me a cruiser."

"If you want to come to jail," said Engelhart, "you'll have to take a taxi."

A few more minutes passed. A taxicab rolled up to the station and the righteous taxpayer lurched in to be booked.

There's No End To Beauty Aids

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. (CP)—The United States patent office does a rushing business in beauty aids. Every day, some inventor somewhere thinks up a new glamor gadget and applies for a legal corner on it.

Patent officials said it's been like that ever since they can remember. In 1932 the gadgets ran to cheek plumpers to give the girls that well-fed look. Now they lean toward pinchers, rollers, kneaders and slappers designed to take it away.

The case for the dimple is fairly constant. A man patented a dimple-producer in 1896. Just last month, a New York woman obtained rights on a simultaneous cheek and chin dimpler.

Other applicants patended devices to shape the lips in a cupid's bow. Latest grants are for lipstick pencils which permit shaping the lips differently for every occasion.

Other patents profess to take the lope out of ears, straighten or curl eyelashes, lift eyelids, re-form noses, put half-moons on finger nails, scratch backs, mold facial muscles, apply sun-tan, flush cheeks and lift chins.

Nubby Wool Ensemble Smart

The suit above, is a nubbly beige wool flecked with white. It is one of the new unfurred ensembles that look almost newer and smarter than their furred sisters. The topcoat is cut full, with buttoned-back lapels which may be worn over wool frocks in matching or contrasting color for fall days. The accompanying front-buttoned jacket, with ascot scarf and slim, straight skirt with inverted front pleat, may be worn under the heavy winter coat later on, just as smartly as it is worn under the matching topcoat. This is a suit that may be assembled with blouse and accessories of almost any color—brown, blue, red, violet, green, white, black.

FROCKS FOR ALL-DAY WEAR

Is Real Sensation In Beauty World

(By Leonie Fenton)

In Bond's Drug Store I got as far as the beauty preparations and no farther! Stayed there far too long, too, but who wouldn't have, with all those intriguing black, silver and white containers holding you know the most gorgeous creams and lotions to help along the cause of Beauty. The main thing of course is the marvellous all-purpose vitamin cream, but there is also the intriguing grapefruit cream for dry skin; and a blackhead treatment in which you mix and apply a paste of a powder and a liquid. There are the most wonderful skin fresheners too.

And have you seen the new cleansing pearls which are composed of cleansing cream, tissue cream, skin tonic and foundation cream!

And Bond's have another sensation in the beauty world! That gorgeous new liquid you pour a little of in your bath and then luxuriate in foamy, fragrant bubbles.

And I noticed all sorts of other exciting beauty preparations!

Interesting Shoes Two-Eyelet Ties

(By Leonie Fenton)

Andy Buck has got one of the most charming examples of the new shoes you can possible imagine. It is up to the minute in every detail, being of suede with two-eyelet ties and trimmed with narrow bands of patent leather, in a smartly simple way.

Saw all sorts of interesting shoes in there. There were some oxfords in brown sealskin with military heels, and some others of the same type were of tan calf with perfectly plain toes. There was a velvet tie shoe with high fronts and brass eyelets, in burgundy, green and blue, and a suede and calf with wrap-around strap and high front was in the loveliest "red dust" color.

Which reminds me, I looked for new hose shades, and found "Andes" and "moon dusk". Both look well with black or navy.

HOTELMAN MAYOR

GERALDTON, Ont., Sept. 22 (CP)—Foster Draper, hotel manager and pioneer resident of this northwestern Ontario mining settlement, is the newly-incorporated town's first mayor. Draper received 428 votes in yesterday's polling compared with 245 for his contractor opponent, Major Bruce MacConnel.

Furs Give Striking Beauty In New Dress Coat Theme

Two Weights Of Woollens Are Used In Many Of These New Styles

TO-DAY'S smart women chooses her dress to ensemble with her coat or suit, or prefers the new "costume ensemble" in which clever designers have harmonized these important basic garments. Two weights of woollens are used in many of these, the sheer soft woollens, or silks, for the dress, combined with a harmonized wool coating. Often the fur is the harmonizing factor in bringing about this important relationship.

Striking for handbags, and wide soft tuxedo collars of fur extend down the fronts of many of these coats. Small fur collars and pocket handings on the frock may carry out the ensemble theme still further, but usually the dress or suit is unfurred. Capes with fur or plain collar lines ensemble with other smart frocks.

Dramatic Fur Contrasts.

Blue fox set off by olive green is one of the many smart new contrasts shown on ensembles. Red fox on dull black suede cloth creates a striking contrast on others. Lynx, wolf or other light furs give stunning effects when used stylishly on dark brown or black suits. The use of rich mink and mink browns on black is also rich looking.

Silver fox is starred in the costume ensemble mode, with its elegant and luxurious use in collars, front borders and even tunic borders around coats. All black costumes are given lovely contrasts by the use of shining black furs on soft dull suede woollens, or soft flattering black furs on shining hairy woollens.

Afternoon Suit New Vogue.

Beautifully feminine are the new afternoon suits in velvets or velvety woollens combined with luxurious furs. Coat styles range from swagger types to short fitted dressmaker jackets worn over dresses. Many of these ensembles combine a skirt and jacket with an elaborate satin of metal blouse in the same color as the woollen, giving harmony that is both becoming and distinctly new.

Dinner Suits Tailored.

Paris launched the dinner suit in almost mannish styling some time ago, but its sophistication barred it from many wardrobes. Now, however, it comes out for Fall in the soft dressmaker styling distinctive of many suit costumes. Lovely metal or satin blouses give the "above the table" glamour wanted for restaurant dining. Net yokes and lacy effects give a low decolletage effect in many others.

The combining of very lavish fabrics or furs in dinner suits having tailored lines is another new development. In general, however, the dressy costume is preferred, jackets or bolero cover the sparkling blouses. In most of these, and make the costume look more like an afternoon frock when worn for street. Jet beadings and sequins give sparkle to many black costumes of this type.

Corduroys for Fall

Corduroys which are especially treated to resist water spots are emphasized for fall country clothes. This fabric is being shown in forest green, wood brown, rust and black. The skirts button down the front, and the jerkins which complete the ensemble have buttons down one side, as well as on each shoulder.

BARRIE BUILDING

Look to your foundations this autumn, girls, for the corseted look has returned. It is not quite the wasp waist of the Civil War, "Gone With the Wind" period, but it is a definitely curved-in line, nevertheless.

Colors, too, are luscious. Black is, of course, all important for both day and evening, but this year it is combined with a strong color contrast such as pink, grass green, rust or royal blue. Greens are also spotlighted in the autumn picture, especially in the dark bluish or greyish casts.

Molded Dinner Gow.

The dress shown here has the sculptured look that is so decidedly 1937-8. It is made of a new evening fabric, green twilled silk duvetyn. The gown is worn with black suede gloves which have gold sequin cuffs, adding the sparkle that seems necessary this season. It was shown recently in a preview of the silk parade of fall fashions in New York.

Other colors that are being much used are blues — no longer spring colors, but shown for autumn and winter wear in the dark, bright and medium shades. Dark purple and dahlia shades are the important novelty colors this season. The red range, from wine through the bright shades to the vivid pinks, are increasingly smart. Browns are lighter and redder than usual, with emphasis on the ginger and rust tones.

It is smart to wear clothes with "dressmaker" touches this year. They may come from a Paris salon, your pet shop, or you can make them yourself. That individual look—the "custom look" is all important.

CORSET WAISTS NEW SILHOUETTE

Smart Coats Close Fitting

(By Leonie Fenton)

"The most amazing choice" was my thought in Pattenick's while looking over their smart coats. Stopped at one of Eskimo lamb with fitted lines and slightly squared shoulders. It had the smugest collar, and a silk braid belt to be wore or not as you please.

But smartest of all was a black fitted coat of English nubbings, looking frightfully expensive and of course marvelously reasonable. It had one of those built-up collars of Persian lamb and eight self-covered buttons fastening away up near the throat. And it was lined and chamois interlined.

There were dresses in styles straight from New York. A black crepe with gold beads in pyramids right around the hem, had the built up waist and narrow V-neck. And a green crepe had a gold zipper down the front with a line of gold embroidery beside it. There seemed to be frocks in every size and half-size.

The shoe department seemed quite complete. Picked up the smartest black suede with gores at both sides, high front and "theatrical" toe.

Discovered some eight-gored skirts in size twelve for little women—the neatest little things, and near them a whole rack of satin blouses with zippers, and in all colors.

Took a peek at some good looking and colorful blankets but was in a hurry to get back to the woollen things at the front. The very nicest brushed wool jackets that had zipper fastenings and for ten-year olds the jolliest twin sweater sets, in all sorts of colors. Then discovered a sheer chiffon hose in reverse knit, and with the same strength, they say, as semi-service.

And I've kept something till the last that I discovered! Satin and crepe lingerie, pyjamas, and night-gowns—the loveliest things many of them hand-embroidered—and you would never see them unless you looked carefully. There was a pair of maroon colored satin sleeping pyjamas, with white coin dot pattern—and satin kimonas and lounging pyjamas in all sorts of exotic combinations.

More Child Life Is British Need

BRIGHTON, England, Sept. 22 (C.P.). — A sorry picture of a childless world of the future is painted by Sir Leonard Hill, specialist in physical medicine.

Commenting on the decline of Great Britain's birth-rate, which he predicts might lead to a population of a mere 5,000,000 in ten years, he declares: "What a dull world, when the play and laughter of children and the beauty of youth has largely been replaced by the infirmities of age."

It was right to control the number of children, but a family of at least three was required for maintenance of the race. The finest traits of character, affection, sympathy, self-sacrifice, patience, and forgiveness were brought out by family life and children.

He foresaw the day when there would be no "too old at 40," and added "perhaps midshipmen will be entering the Navy at that age." In three years Britain's population would reach its maximum and then fall at an ever-accelerating ate. With the present trend as criterion in 30 years' time it would fall from 47,000,000 to 30,000,000, and in about 60 years to 18,000,000, and in 10 years to 5,000,000.

"Real Millinery" Brings Back Glamourous Headgear

"Peasant Bonnets" Inspire Hats—They Are High With Pointing Feathers

Dramatic silhouettes in Fall hats will frame every lovely feminine contour this season! Bringing back a mode of elegance and great beauty, Paris designers have borrowed from the rich headdresses of many nations. Special inspiration has been found in the "costume hats" and ornamental headdresses of such periods as the gay "90s, the 1909 to 1919 era and the Directoire Period.

Oriental turbans, English and Persian military plumage, captivating bonnets from Holland and Piedmont—these and many other lavishly ornamental headgear inspired the new Fall millinery. And for the first time in many decades, it may be said that "real millinery"—in the sense of beautiful and elaborate use of fine fabrics and feathers—has come back into fashion!

"Peasant Bonnets" Inspire

Lace bonnets of gold, rich caps of velvet, and wide flaring "winged" bonnets such as are worn for epicial occasions by the peasants of France, have inspired new "profile" hats that frame the faces and heads of smart women this season.

From Alsace to Venice and Sicily, these gay caps and bonnets are worn in rural districts. Colorful, exquisitely trimmed with rich embroideries and ribbon streamers, they launch a Fall millinery season that promises to give life to every costume of the day and evening.

Pointing Feathers!

"High Hat!" Such is the phrase one hears everywhere this month, for Fashion has posed her newest hats high off the face to show the row of curls across the forehead. The off-face movement of hats is further shown in the high sweeping feathers, or the up-sweeping brims that lift the lines on one side. The "ups and downs" of this year's hats will worry many a smart young person when Autumn breezes blow!

Even veiled hats are worn very high, almost in the manner of halos or crowns. And veils flutter far and wide, hanging at the back or floating gracefully away from the hat at the sides. When hats are veiled at the front, the veil is usually long in front, with no veil in back at all.

Colors Crown Smart Heads

With bright plumes and feathers Fashion has also brought back rich drapings for hats, combining many colors. Inspired by the turbans of Indian notables attending the Coronation, Paris has found new and flattering effects in toques and turbans for Fall. High and often with feathers that sweep forward, these new toques will be the one bright spot in the Fall ensemble, for never before has the all-black costume been so important.

Gay Plaids Go Back To School

BACK-TO-SCHOOL means back to gay colorful fashions this year! Plaids steal the campus show in many a first registration, and are rivaled by the bright "Winter pastels" so popular in tailored wool frocks and matching sweaters and skirts. Jigger coats in colorful plaids or nubby tweeds and the Fall version of the beer jacket find their way across the smart campus too.

Mixing up one's campus wardrobe has become a hobby with most co-eds this year. And the Fall season is no exception, for the craze for "extra" jackets and skirts to team up with "extra" sweater sets and leather jackets has carried over. But the difference seems to be in the more subtly blended colors rather than the sharp contrasts of other years. This season the sweater and skirt often matches, while jackets contrast or blend. Many other combinations are worked out, but always with a thoughtful eye to color harmony.

Suits Campus Classics

The campus uniform again, the three-piece suit has its topcoat that may be worn over extra frocks or sports costumes. Furred collars in wolf or raccoon, and sturdy tweeds in "rag-rug" and other gay combinations of color are first favorites. Strictly tailored suits with mannish topcoats are seen in many another smart campus wardrobe.

Little dressmaker suits are popular for "little dates". Velveteen combines in these with furs or woollens, to achieve the desired informal schoolgirl air. Stitchings and pleats and amusing button trims, as well as dress details, make these suits almost like dresses.

The "don't dress for dinner" dress, launched by Paris, has been acclaimed for campus wear because of its smart formality in a street-length frock. Wide-skirted in taffeta or velvet, it may be just as sleek and slim in jersey or satin. Jeweled clips or necklaces are its only trimming note.

"Monk" Shoe Has Military Heel

(By Leonie Fenton.)

Lillow-Walkwel have a pump in the nicest combination of patent and suede. It is high cut with patent leather toe, the rest being all suede with two-buttons on the vamp hiding a tiny elastic gore. And they have it in four colors, navy, green, brown and black. Saw a 'monk' shoe too, made of calf, with a military heel and a sensible toe, with a gypsy seam down the vamp and a shawl tongue without the fringe. It has a dressy look too, and is splendid for growing girls or their elder sisters—or their mothers! They were in suede too.

Noticed hosiery in some fascinating new shades. "Incatar" lovely with wine—and "cafe clair."

There were some delightful velvet boudoir slippers with high fronts and gold piping, and there were others in colors with a band of black satin embroidered with colored silks.

Divinely Slim

Slender girdles mould dresses in new figure line this season. "Divinely Slim" is fashion's slogan for 1937 fall wear as the above models reveal.

Edwardian Colors In Accessories

Following the more elegant mode of this season, accessories are noted in deep rich colors worn during the 1900's, when elaborate social life brought luxury fashions to the fore. Deep green, plum tones, acajou tones, are among the colors seen in handbags, gloves and other costume accessories.

Brighter hues will mark the sports or collegiate fashions this Fall, however, and Fashion forecasts bright matching accessories. Gloves to match sports suede hats or gay knit scarfs and sports socks, are among the new team-mates of the color vogue.

Handbags Built to Suit.

Travel handbags, sports handbags, daytime or afternoon pouches for Fall are equipped to meet the discriminating woman's needs no matter where she goes. A complete Fall wardrobe of handbags is now a fashion essential, with styles ranging from strictly tailored and very large bags for travelling, to dressmaker bags of softly shirred leathers for dress.

Novelty shapes abound, with dressmaker handling of the leathers in gathers and folds, so that a newer softer look is achieved. Top-handles continue most important, but new versions include many novelty treatments with bars, chain effects and loops.

A mode of rich dark colors and much black for this season, gives splendid opportunity for contrast of color in Fall handbags. Accenting the note of color on frock or scarf of the suit, the new handbags become an important trimming to the costume itself. Fabric bags and embroidered designs give further accent to the mode of color in handbags, while in many of these there is a note of color piping or inset of color on the black or brown bag.

Stripes Dominate In Shirts Dressier Styles Comeback

No Limit To Number Of Patterns Which Can Be Turned Out In Stripes

Two things stand out in the new displays of Fall shirts. The first is the preponderance of striped patterns and the second is the revival of the more dressy shirt.

There is apparently no limit to the number of striped patterns that can be turned out without duplication. In addition to the novel stripes of the past season are dozens and dozens of new ones. For example there are the widely set striped group. Outstanding here are the cardinal and burgundy stripes on dusty-tone-ground broadcloth; white cord stripes on gray backgrounds and combinations of gray, white and pink.

Wide panel effects have also been achieved with stripes. Red stripes on straw colored ground, red and green on gray, tan and brown on white are outstanding in this group. In addition to these, cross-stripes, often featured on demi-broom shirts, are shown on soft collar models. The effect is exceptionally smart and should be in great demand.

Dressier Shirt Styles

Most men have always had a soft place in their hearts for the starched collar shirt. True, it isn't as comfortable or as casual as the attached collar and probably will not, at least in our lifetime, replace it, but it does have an uplifting spiritual effect when worn on dressy occasions. And starched shirts, dressy shirts, are coming back . . . make no mistake about that!

Improved business conditions have undoubtedly a great deal to do with the revival of demi-bosoms, French cuffs and all that goes with it. After all it does run up the laundry bill and during slim days the laundry bill was something to be reckoned with.

Neckband shirts with double soft cuffs or single cuffs are being featured. One, an end-and-end madras has a broad pleat on each side of the center pleat. Then there's the pleated bosom shirt that is offered in three widths in pleats, narrow, medium and wide. Occasionally shirts with attached white collars and white cuffs on dark grounds go over, as was the case last Fall. This novelty idea will probably continue to be worn by quite a few men. It combines many of the advantages of the soft collar with the smartness of the starched collar.

New demi-bosom shirts appear in profusion. A new spade shape shows deep cross stripes on a white background. French corded stripes and black and gray stripes running horizontally are numerous. Light tone pleated bosom and cuffs on a contrasting solid colored body furnish a smart note. A demi-bosom that has a vertical stripe has made its appearance and the chances are that many men will like it as a change from the usual cross stripe.

Conservative Colors Appear

Pastels are the keynote to the color scheme in shirts for business wear. Almost entirely gone are the brilliant plaids, checks and patterns. These have been relegated to the ranks of the sport shirts. Bright colors when used in striped patterns are toned down by being used on white and light grounds. Smaller effects, a logical result of toning down plaids and checks are also shown on lighter grounds.

Longer point collars, collars with rounded points, the modified wide-spread and the tables-tab collar are the styles featured in the leading shirt lines. The button-down, almost universally accepted during the past seasons has lost its place in the style ranks.

Colored Shirts With White Cuffs

(By Leonie Fenton.)

Asked about shirts in Al Sharp's, and heard lots of news about them. For instance, separate white collars and colored shirts with white cuffs are awfully smart. Other new shirts have stiff "spade" fronts, and separate collars like the Duke of Kent wears.

Saw a lot of smart looking suits in the two tone wide apart stripe effects, and made in the new "drape" style. There were some of those smart new heavy brushed wool sweaters too with zipper fastenings.

BANQUET IS HELD BY LIBERAL CLUB

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, Sept. 22.—The Bobcaygeon Twentieth Century Liberal Club held a banquet at Locust Lodge in the village last night, and the event was a most happy one. The spacious dining room was filled to overflowing and the guests listened to splendid addresses delivered by Wm. Newman, M.L.A., Victoria and Haliburton; Hugh Plaxton, M.P., of Toronto; J. A. McLaughlin, of Lindsay, and Reeve Thomas Martin, of Verulam.

Medal for Frost

L. M. Frost, K.C., Liberal-Conservative candidate for Victoria and Haliburton, and who served with the 20th Battalion in France, has received a coronation medal in recognition of his work for veterans as Zone Representative of the Canadian Legion. He served in that capacity from 1935 to 1937.

School Threatened

Kinmount school narrowly escaped destruction by fire on Tuesday. The blaze broke out in the attic near the chimney and was making serious headway when discovered. The firefighters finally subdued the flames after much difficulty, but considerable damage was done the building, which was only recently decorated.

Contract Is Let

The Warren Paving Company has received the contract for surfacing the highway from Fenelon Falls to Rosedale. They expect to complete the work before the snow flies.

Good Attendance At Hostess Tea

STEWART HALL, Sept. 22. — The Women's Missionary Society held a hostess tea on Thursday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock. A very good attendance of ladies from Peterborough, Bensfort, and other points enjoyed the tea, served from small tables attractively arranged for the occasion. The social hour was followed by a program in charge of Mrs. George Hanbidge. After the opening prayer, several solos were contributed by Miss Orma Lacheur of Peterborough and were much enjoyed by all. Miss Bannister then gave an address to the ladies, and an interesting report of the W.M.S. convention at Arnprior last April. The meeting was close with the Mizpah benediction.

The W.M.S. of Stewart Hall is having its thankoffering service on Sunday evening, October 10 at 7.30. The Rev. C. D. Daniel of Palmerston, a former pastor, will be the guest speaker for the evening.

The Sunday School is holding Rally Day service next Sunday afternoon, September 26, at 3 o'clock.

The Y.P.S. held their opening meeting on Thursday evening with a good number present. The program was in charge of Miss Mina Stewart.

Miss Vera Trimble spent the week-end at her home in Bowmanville.

Miss Helen Savigny spent the week-end with her parents.

Drapes and Raglans

"Drape model suits," says the style-wise man, "are the style for fall!" And he says it not with words, but with an overwhelming demand for this model. Illustrated above is the correct drape, tailored with fullness in the chest and shoulders, lower waistline, broader lapels and lower collar lines. The single breasted raglan topcoat, a favorite version is shown above, is a style that can be worn anywhere. Many new models are tailored along more extreme British lines. Quite a few men are making a decided division in casual and dressier clothes and are wearing the new double breasted draped topcoat in town and saving their raglan for motoring and more informal occasions.

MOORE OF LINDSAY HEADS KIWANIANS

HAMILTON, Sept. 22.— Colonel Ivan Moore, K.C., Lindsay, was elected Governor of Ontario-Quebec-Maritime District of Kiwanis International at the concluding business session of the nineteenth convention held this afternoon in the Royal Connaught Hotel. He defeated Reginald Harris, K.C., Halifax, N.S. Delegates decided to hold the 1938 convention in Kingston.

J. Smyth Carter, Toronto, was named International Representative, with P. P. Dawson, Sarnia, as alternate.

The following were chosen Lieutenant-Governors for the six divisions comprising the district: W. G. Atkin, Sault Ste. Marie; W. B. Cunning, Niagara Falls; Earl Johnston, Ingersoll; P. C. McLannin, Belleville; Murray D. William, Pembroke, and J. H. Mobray Jones, Liverpool, N.S.

Extension of Kiwanis activities, now international in scope, to the British Empire and American Colonies, was approved by resolution.

Great Variety Men's Clothes

In Grafton's I felt a bit at a loss among all the things for men, but could not help being impressed with the tremendous stock and variety.

There were the new suits with their smart wide-apart chalk-line stripes—a few with "window-pane" checks—and in the semi-draped style, which is coming in so strong, they say. Blues and browns seem to be first choice for colors.

Both overcoats and topcoats have raglan sleeves, the topcoats mostly in browns and greys, and greys predominating in the overcoats. The youths' wear copied the men's except that some of the overcoats are full "belters."

Saw some of the cutest kiddies' snow suits, with plaid coats and toques, and plain leggings.

And such an array of shirts, ties, and hose, some of the latter most colorful, and another important bit of new—brushed wool sweaters with zipper fronts. They were in the nicest shades—wines, greens, blues, and the most popular browns.

WORK HAS STARTED ON NEW HIGHWAY

HASTINGS, Sept. 22.—The first work was commenced Monday morning on the Norwood to Cobourg road, which was taken over by the province and is now a provincial highway, according to information released by Reeve Fairman of this village. He is in receipt of a letter from the Deputy Minister of Highways stating that work would commence immediately. Machinery will be shipped in shortly to aid in improving the gravel road bed, which the gangs are now working on between Roseneath and Hastings.

James Gibson of Hastings has been appointed road overseer for this end of the highway.

The Reeve, when questioned by The Examiner, said he was about to realize an objective attained. He was responsible for two deputations who went to Toronto last winter and appealed to the Deputy Minister for a highway from Hastings to Cobourg on the grounds that Hastings was practically isolated as far as good roads were concerned.

It is not expected any major changes will be undertaken until the counties council meet in Cobourg in December.

PONTYPOOL

On Tuesday evening the Women's Association of the four appointments meet in the parsonage at Pontypool for a social evening as well as to make plans for redecorating the parsonage. A short program had been prepared which was much enjoyed, after which games and contests were played. The ladies had provided lunch which was then served with a cup of tea, and a social time enjoyed. A charge of ten cents was made. This was going to repairs for the parsonage. Home-made candy was also sold.

Mr. Lorne Bowins has taken over the butcher shop formerly operated by Mr. Ernest Bowins.

Miss Patsy Andrews is spending a few days with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hooper.

How Hepburn Government Aids Farmers Related By Speakers

Liberal Candidate Holds Rallies At Young's Point And Selwyn

Alex L. Elliott extended his campaign into Smith township Tuesday night, addressing two meetings at Selwyn and Young's Point.

At Young's Point, where Victor Young was chairman, Mr. Elliott recalled the municipal elections in Peterborough county in 1932 when the taxpayers voted into office almost an entirely new slate of county councillors. Farmers had become discouraged by increasing taxes and by the depreciation of farm values. Apparently they thought that a new council might be able to effect a change in their financial condition. The council of that year adopted as many economies as they could devise, but in spite of their efforts the county tax rate was increased. In one year the council received a bill for $80,000 for provincial highways. They had no say in the matter, but simply had to pay the bill, passing it on to the townships and finally to the property owners of the county.

When he came into power as Premier of Ontario, one of the first helpful things Hon. M. F. Hepburn did for the farmers was to relieve them of the entire cost of provincial highways, and since then had established a record of tax reduction in which every citizen had shared. Mr. Elliott contrasted the feeling of defeat that rested upon so many farmers during the years of the Henry administration with the general satisfaction which he said he had met with everywhere in his campaign throughout the rural section of the riding.

In Peterborough county, according to Warden Roy Brown and Reeve James Gifford, the benefits to the farmers directly resulting from the Hepburn government's policy of reducing taxes amounted to six mills on the dollar, or six dollars less taxes to pay on every $1,000 of assessment of farm properties.

More Tax Figures

Speaking in behalf of Mr. Elliott at the Young's Point meeting, J. J. Duffus, M.P., enumerated some of the taxes which he said the Hepburn government had wiped out. The sums he quoted were: entire cost of mothers' allowances $2,100,000; old age pensions $1,000,000; cancellation of amusement tax $3,000,000; abolition of students' examination fees $170,000; assumption of provincial highway costs $2,700,000, with another $2,000,000 for the year 1937-38; one mill subsidy to the municipalities $2,933,000; also township road subsidy increase of $400,000; $5 reduction in automobile licenses $2,500,000; reduction in hydro power rates $4,800,000; assumption of entire cost of pensions for the blind $300,000.

These items alone, Mr. Duffus said, amounted to $21,903,000, representing a huge sum of money which the Hepburn government was leaving in the pockets of the people. In addition to that Mr. Hepburn had balanced Ontario's budget last year, paid off $33,000,000 of the provincial debt and had a surplus of $9,000,000.

"Where were these funds going under the old administration?" Mr. Duffus asked. "They were being dissipated in one kind of extravagance and another, and the fact that the government was able to relieve the people of so much taxes was due very largely to the economies which Mr. Hepburn promised the people in 1934 and which he has since then carried out. By voting for Mr. Elliott, the Liberal candidate in the by-election, and by getting out and working for him, you will be sending a member from Peterborough to help Mr. Hepburn continue the economies and the relief from taxation which he has already given.

"You recall that Mr. Hepburn started out by reducing his own salary and those of his cabinet ministers. He got rid of the expensive fleet of 96 automobiles the Henry government had accumulated. He got rid of hundreds of employees that were entirely unnecessary for economic administration of the people's affairs in this province. Hon. Geo. Henry had paid brokers $40,000 to tell him he should invest provincial bonds at 5 to 6 per cent. Mr. Hepburn himself told the bankers what he would pay, and in one year he floated a loan at less than 3 per cent that saved Ontario $1,350,000. The Department of Lands and Forests was losing $290,000 annually. Today we have a surplus of $870,000 in that department. Bonds that were payable in the United States cost us $8,000,000 in five years. Mr. Hepburn decided that our bonds should be payable in Canadian money. And in two years he has collected $26,000,000 from estates."

Mr. Duffus said that these were some of the means by which Mr. Hepburn had changed the financial condition of the people of Ontario in three years.

Quoted Col. Drew

"Surely it is only fair and just that people who have acquired wealth by living and doing business in Ontario should be willing to share some of their fortune with the rest of the people who helped to build it up," Mr. Duffus said. "That is the principle that justifies the application of a tax on the estates of wealthy men when they die.

I would like to remind you of what Col. George A. Drew said about one phase of the Hepburn government's financial policy. In an address to the Rotary Club in the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, Col. Drew said:—"Premier Hepburn in his method of collecting provincial income tax by utilizing machinery already in existence at Ottawa has worked out a very excellent system by which he has saved the province of Ontario many, many thousands of dollars."

Wrist Fractured As Car Hits Him

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Sept. 22 — The many friends of Mr. F. W. Pendrie will regret to learn that, through an unfortunate accident by which he was knocked down by a car driven by Geoffrey Powell, he sustained fractured wrist, and was badly cut about the head. The accident occurred on Saturday evening, and was apparently the result of Mr. Pendrie's failing to either see or hear the approaching car.

Fortunately Mr. Powell was driving slowly or much more serious injuries would have been the outcome of the accident.

Germany Strengthens Aerial Defence To Protect Coast

Once entirely reliant upon her navy to protect her coastline, Germany of today has been one of the first nations to recognize the fact that floating craft forms no barrier to potential invading aircraft. Hence the new program of intensified training that now is being given to the German coast guard aerial arm. The imposing line of amphibian aeroplanes shown ABOVE forms a small part of the coast guard. The aeroplanes were ready to take off when the photograph was made at Puetnitz on the Baltic Sea. At the LEFT is shown a typical member of Germany's military might as he was preparing for a training flight. Note the novel "lifebuoy vest" equipped with pump for rapid inflation.

WHAT IS NEW IN MEN'S FALL ACCESSORIES

New Ideas

Illustrated above are a few of the important style trends for the Fall season. The turned-up brim hat at the top is discussed on this page in detail. Satin neckwear is coming back strong and stripes and small figures are being shown. The trend in shirts is toward more formality with starched collars and cuffs returning to favor. New plaids will be seen in both silk and wool hose. Novel two-color small figured patterns and multiple stripes are other new patterns developed.

Double Breasted Suits Raglan And Drape Topcoats

Function Of Properly Tailored Clothes Is To Bring Out Good Points

The function of properly tailored good clothes is to bring out your worthwhile points and conceal your bad ones. . . to please the eye of the beholder with smooth, graceful lines and skilfully blended colors. . . . to instil in you a feeling of confidence and well-being, of pleasure and satisfaction.

That may seem like asking a lot of a suit of clothes or a topcoat, but the clothes this season come closer to approaching this ideal than ever before. First and foremost they're designed for wearability. That is, they discard all false impressions, they're natural. That may seem like a paradoxical statement in view of our very first sentence. However, clothes can be natural and at the same time can conceal defects while playing up good points.

THE Wearable Drape Suit

You may have worn a drape suit three, four, even five or six years ago. Fundamentally, there's nothing new about the model. The newness comes in the way it has been designed to overcome its early shortcomings. Only because the drape is a basically sound style has it refused to disappear from the style scene.

To-day, every tailoring house in the country is featuring drape suits, and what's more, the drape trend has been carried over into the topcoat field. But, first for the suits. You may not be sure just what is meant by a drape suit. You can always identify this style by the ripples of casual fullness in the chest and at the sleeve head. Then, if you look closely you'll see other differences appear.

You'll see broad, but not exaggerated shoulders, a lowered collar line that provides perfection of fit at shoulders and back, gracefully tapered sleeves, slightly lowered opening at the front of the vest, wider lapels, lower waistline, lower pockets, high rise pleated trousers. This suit gives a decidedly masculine impression, yet it is tailored with slender, graceful lines. Although we have just described the double-breasted drape rather thoroughly, the single breasted version of this model is proving equally successful.

New Fall Suit Models

So much attention has been focused on the drape model and on new fabric developments it is not surprising to find few radical changes in other suit models. Quite a few men, men who have worn the drape, or who intend to have other suits in addition to it, have turned their attention to the peak-lapel single-breasted models for Fall.

It's a suit that is typically English, a suit that you'll see on nine out of every ten Englishmen. At one time the two-button single breasted peak-lapel model enjoyed some popularity in this country. That popularity is returning. There are many reason why this suit should be worn. In the first place the peak lapels give it a semblance of dignity that is lacking in the casual notch lapel model. Then, it is a welcome change between single and double breasteds. It is also being shown in a three-button version that is quite smart looking.

Two and three button single breasted suits with notch lapels have always been present to a lesser degree.

Socks To Be Had In Every Color

(By Leonie Fenton)

Was looking at some jolly nice looking slip-on gloves for men in Fashion Craft. They were in deer-skin, pigskin, cape, goatskin and suede.

There seemed to be socks and socks and socks, in every variety of color and pattern! Noticed a lot were in solid shades with the neatest clox. There were overchecks, cross bar stripes, and neat fine ribbed patterns, too. About the smartest looking man's coat I've seen, was on view. In Oxford grey, it is made of Scotch fleece and in raglan style of course. And there were dozens of others.

This Fall the number of men wearing increase noticeably. These suits have been restyled to conform with the natural trend of the drape model and they have taken to the trend exceptionally well. Especially has the three-button jacket been styled to the point where it bears not the slightest resemblance to the college jacket you once may have known.

Topcoats Are Also Draped

It is trite to say that changes in men's clothing styles come slowly compared to changes in women's wear. Yet, it is true. And that is the reason why the raglan topcoat remains the leading seller in the topcoat field although the double-breasted drape topcoat is the newest style development for Fall. Started by the drape trend in Fall suits, the drape in topcoats is even more pronounced. In both single and double breasteds its effect is seen.

As in the suit, ripples of fullness are shown in the chest and sleeve head, it is fitted in the waist, the buttons are placed lower to conform with the somewhat lower waistline. In the single-breasted a fly-front is featured and lapels are of the peak style. Pockets on many models are placed at a slight angle and carry flaps.

Roomier Raglans Rule

We have no quarrel with the raglan . . . it is without the slightest doubt, one of the most comfortable coats a man can wear. This Fall it is especially easy-to-wear. Following traditional British lines it is roomier, hangs straight in front and shows two deep folds in the back hanging straight from the shoulder blades. That is the raglan in the truest sense of the word.

Naturally, other raglans not quite so extremely styled are being featured. After all any topcoat that has raglan shoulders is a raglan. Quite a few models follow that military lead and have convertible collars in the balmacaan style. Some have slash-through pockets set at a slant. Fly-fronts conceal the buttons on other models. Altogether, the raglan picture for Fall is crowded with model after model all well-designed, all ready to defend their title of topcoat favorite.

A Popular University Coat

Among college men the reversible topcoat continues to gain in wearers. Perhaps because it serves a double purpose, an important reason when the budget is limited, or perhaps because of its unusual smartness. The coat most seen is a combination of gabardine and tweed, although later in the season combinations of gabardine and camel's hair will appear.

When buying this coat make sure that it is tailored so that the material hangs evenly at the bottom when worn on either side. This is a very important point to remember. The reversible is tailored in a raglan style generally with a bal-mac collar. It is shown with an all-around belt or plain.

What The Smart Couple Is Wearing

Left, natural beige camel's hair coat collared in brown tweed, double-breasted. British lounge suit of gray-green cheviot with fine green and burnt orange stripes.

Satins Popular Fall Neckwear

(By Leonie Fenton)

As the trend to satin ties makes itself evident the styles become more varied. At the International Polo matches at Meadow Brook last Autumn it was noted that quite a few well-dressed men wore satin ties. Their influence has apparently caused a revival of an old style favorite.

So great is the pattern and color range that we shall have to content ourselves with pointing out a few of the designs that seem to set the pace. Squared patterns are first on the list. Large blocks are marked off by fine white lines and alternate squares are broken up into nine squares. Stripes are also very much in the picture. Simple bar effects are usually combined with dull or rough-surfaced silk stripes in the same shade. The large designs so popular this past summer cast some influence on some of the large patterned satins. However, when used, the big-pattern idea is carried by variations of weave rather than of colors.

Woven and printed effects are prominent in woven satins. Ovals, circles, squares and scroll ideas stand out in contrasting colors against the darker tones of the background. Solid colors is what most men think when satin ties are mentioned. And this Fall sees the plain shades represented again.

Other Important Fabrics.

Rough silks with tweedy effects will offer men the opportunity of getting variety around their necks. Stripes, plaids and sombre stripes are best in this type of fabric and for that reason will outnumber all others.

Macclesfield ties, the heavy, crunchy kind will be much sought after. Higher colors are being shown and they're generally woven in geometric designs.

Have Largest Hat Smallest In Town

(By Leonie Fenton)

Do not know anything about men's hats except that McWilliams have the largest assortment of them in town. They also have the biggest hat and the smallest hat! There were rows and rows and rows of hats of the season's smartest, in all the colors men's hats are made in. There were dozens of the new Homberg, in midnight blue (a very smart shade I believe) and grey and dark greens. There were rows of velours, which are coming strongly into favor again, they say. And there were some of the lower crowns and wider brims.

And what do you think! McWilliams have got a Derby hat that refuses to crack, and no matter how many dints or bangs it gets,—or sat on by mistake—it shows no ill effects.

COLLEGIATE TO REOPEN

STRATFORD.—Dr. H. B. Kenner, Medical Officer of Health, to-day issued authority to reopen the Stratford Collegiate Vocational Institute Thursday. The doctor also said that if the infantile paralysis epidemic gets no worse the public schools of the city may reopen monday. There are only six cases of paralysis in the city at present.

Brims Are Up-Turned Hat Models

Although snap brim hats retain their lead a new style trend has come along that is definitely setting a new fashion in men's hats. It's the off-the-face, or turned-up brim style.

This trend was to be expected after so many years of snap brim supremacy. Men wanted something different, whether they knew it or not and they're getting it with hat brims that go up in proud and haughty lines. These hats are generally worn with only a center crease in the crown, the usual side dents have been discarded. New brim treatments, such as welt edges, reversed welts and stitches welts complete the major style trend.

Outstanding Models

Two hats that will be worn frequently are the raw edge and the welt edge turned up brim styles. The raw edge style has a brim with a decided cup effect. The other has a gracefully curved brim and a wide welt edge that emphasizes the becoming lines. On both these hats the crowns measure 5⅞ inches and the brims 2⅜ inches showing that the trend to lower crowns and wider brims continues.

As was to be expected the homburg hat is enjoying greater popularity due to the interest in turned-up brims. Three models that are exceptionally smart are being shown in most hat selections. The first is the conventional shape with the tapered crown and dipped curled brim. The second is styled along more continental lines. It has a broader brim with less curl to it and a lower crown. The third homburg has a reverse welt edge showing a single row of stitching. All three will be worn by men who are dressing a bit more formally this Fall season.

New Snap Brim Hats

Wider and lower . . . . again snap brim hats are carrying crowns that average 5¾ inches and brims 2⅜ inches. That's the basic block of the snap brim. However, variety enters in the shape of new brim treatments. The welt edge style that shows four rows of stitching is important. On other models the welt is reversed, or turned down and under instead of up and over. The beaded edge is another new note. On this hat the brim is thicker right at the raw edge than in the rest of the brim.

The Tyrolean influence that caused such a sensation a few seasons back persists, only in sports hats where it rightfully belongs. Colorful feather mounts, badger brushes and corded bands are numerous. The crown is decidedly tapered although the brim, in reference to most men, is not quite as narrow as heretofore.

Rough finishes predominate the Tyrolean group. Some are fuzzy, others have only slightly napped surfaces while still others have more of a silky finish to them.

Green-Grays New Hat Colors

Gray, of course, is the leading color. But, newer colors are appealing to men looking for variety. Greenish-grays are slated for top style honors. Because it is a color that looks well on most men and because it is a color that blends nicely with other colors we predict more followers will adopt it.

TOLD TO VOTE DRY

RIMOUSKI, Que., Sept. 22—(C. P.) — A pastoral letter from Mgr. Georges Courchesne, Bishop of Rimouski, advises the town's 1,400 odd ratepayers to vote dry in their plebiscite tomorrow on the temperance question, declaring legalized sale of liquor sometimes "shrouds" illegal distribution.

Boldly Patterned Wool Hose Stand Out In Brilliant Hues

Wool hose and bold patterns . . . wool hose and brilliant colors . . . the two generally go together in the minds of most men. And this Fall they get together in an unlimited number of ways.

Exceptionally clever is the way many of them have been patterned with the outstanding suit patterns in mind. The abundance of herringbone patterns in suits finds a counterpart in the number of herringbone patterns in wool socks. The effect is novel and the idea of matching hose patterns with clothing patterns is a smart one that no well-dressed man will overlook.

The usual diamond patterns in even bolder colors than heretofore, if such a thing can be imagined, are present. So are the tartan plaids that have made such a hit with the university man. Another entirely new note is the weaving of animal figures in wool. These are shown in quite large sizes and the color is carried in the rest of the sock by geometric patterns. Most of these wool hose are made with interlined feet to prevent shrinking and for that reason will appeal to many men who did not wear wools previously because they feared shrinking.

Unusual in its effect is the hale hose featured by one prominent shop. Vertical pin stripes are shown over the entire sock with the exception of a small panel at the side where a smart, two-colored embroidered clock appears. All over two-color dot patterns, two-color plaids in a neat design, three-colored plaids and many other novel ideas make it a pleasure to pick out the hose you want for Fall.

Color Needed Men's Clothes

It seems extremely difficult to persuade men that they would look better and feel better if they wore colorful clothes. Attempts have been made to convince the stubborn male that he would be a gayer bird if he wore prettier plumage, with the following account of one, given us by Louis Green: "A men's Dress Reform Party was recently established in London and a contest for new ideas was held. But the ideas seemed to have gone floosy. No first prize was awarded. Second prize went to something for evening wear with jacket and trousers of dark blue chiffon velvet, a light blue silk shirt and a dark blue sash or cummerbund. Another evening outfit took third prize, a black waistcoat lined with white silk, worn with shoulder length cape and a red cummerbund this time. The Associated Press says the contestants marched by in clothing resembling everything from tennis shorts to a half dressed footman or a Spanish bull-fighter in an off moment."

Among other smart things in Green's we noticed that men's sweaters and woolen vests with zippers are coming into their own again.

ployees, he said. The company blamed inability to pay higher wages and still connele with manufacturers paying low wages.

The Labor and Industry Board investigated the situation and decided on a fair wage for the industry. This was applied to the whole industry under the Industrial Standards Act. Thus the employer paying fair wages was freed of the competition of the sweatshop manufacturer.

Under the legislation enacted since the Liberals took office it was possible to obtain a larger share of industrial profits for the workers without sacrificing industrial stability and peace, he contended.

He reiterated his charge the chief Conservative party backer was General L. M. Hogarth, former Port Arthur member of the Legislature. He claimed the General made millions from timber concessions from Conservative Governments.

"I challenge Mr. Rowe to deny that Hogarth has put up $200,000 to help the Conservative party in this election," he said.

"This man Hogarth made millions in the north through government favor and then thought so little of Ontario he took his money down to Nassau and incorporated a company to escape our taxation."

ped with the new color markers, and made a personal distance test. The figures could not be discerned at more than 10 yards, he said, on a brightly-lit main artery.

An alternative solution was forwarded by the Deputy. He suggested the markers already issued be recalled and the numbers and letters be repainted white. Plates still in the Highway Department's possession could be shipped back to Guelph with a minimum of expense.

"The plates will positively not be recalled. If a policeman finds difficulty in reading the markers, he can always stop the offending motorist to verify and check, and in that way the motorist will have the advantage of knowing in advance what he is being charged with," stated Hon. Harry Nixon, Provincial Secretary, yesterday.

Settling Down To Business At Nyon Conference

OSGOOD PERKINS NOTED ACTOR DIES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP). — Osgood Perkins, 45, the actor, died early to-day a few hours after the opening performance of "Susan and God," in which he was featured with Gertrude Lawrence.

The play, a new comedy drama by Rachel Crothers, was starting a week's run here before being taken to Broadway.

Perkins was found dead in the bathroom of his hotel suite by his wife Janet. Physicians said he apparently died of heart disease.

After the performance at the National Theatre, in which the Washington Post critic said Perkins' acclaim "was no less than that given Miss Lawrence," the actor complained of heartburn.

He and his wife, the former Janet Rane of Boston, went to their hotel at once. Their home is in New York where their five-year-old son Tony is at present.

Perkins had appeared in several Broadway successes, one of the most recent of which was "Ceiling Zero." He was best known for his rolls portraying a suave man-of-the-world.

Performance Lauded.

In "Susan and God," he played the part of Miss Lawrence's husband. The Post said he gave a "finely restrained performance."

Perkins, who won recognition on the screen as well as the stage, was born in West Newton, Mass., on May 16, 1892. He was a Harvard graduate.

During the war he served with the U.S. Army in France and subsequently engaged in motion picture production with the Film Guild.

Beginning his career as a screen actor in 1920, he appeared in a dozen or more pictures, including "Tarnished Lady" and "Scarface." He made his stage debut in New York on February 12, 1924, as Homer Cady in "Beggar on Horseback" and later appeared in 17 other Broadway plays. He acted in both the stage and screen versions of "The Front Page."

8 JAP BOMBERS DOWNED IN RAID

SHANGHAI, Sept. 22—(A.P.). — Chinese said to-day eight of a fleet of 21 Japanese planes raiding the southern metropolis of Canton were destroyed.

Independent observers at the Portuguese colony of Macao, at the mouth of the Canton River, bore out the Chinese claims. They said 21 Japanese planes passed over Macao in the direction of Canton, but only 13 returned.

Many civilians were killed by the bombs, but malerial damage to the great southern river port city was said to have been slight. Chinese pursuit ships took off to meet the invaders and numerous dogfights ensued.

The Japanese planes were said to be attached to the aircraft tender Motoro, believed to be cruising just outside the mouth of the Canton River.

Japanese planes were reported by Japanese army authorities to have bombed Suchowfu, junction of the great trunk railways traversing China from east to west and north to south.

policy, he continued. "Over 40 per cent of the places now licensed as beverage rooms were not licensed as standard hotels in 1934 when the act was amended," he maintained.

"After October 6 we shall investigate this whole maladministration. I shall lay before a committee of investigation the affidavits now in my possession, sworn under the Canada Evidence Act, of toll gates demanded, levied and paid. I shall lay before that committee the photostat copies of cheques received and cashed as toll gate fees."

Mr. Rowe who also spoke at Collingwood reiterated his charge a power shortage faced the government which, he claimed, earmarked commitments "totalling some $40,000,000" to provide for small power plants in an effort to offset "an imminent power shortage."

Saving On Power

"As further evidence of an impending power shortage the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario has ordered all municipalities to cut domestic water heaters off at peak load period every day," charged the Conservative leader.

In reference to the government's Northern Ontario activities, Mr. Rowe declared a 1936 act made the minister of lands and forests dictator over the north. Without tenders, 23,000 square miles of Ontario timber went to United States interests, he claimed. "In keeping with this policy of selling out our birthright to American timber barons we find the spectacle of a member of the cabinet exporting through his company 18,000 cords of ray pulpwood off crown lands during a 12-month period," he said.

MEMORIAL PARK ON ARMOUR HILL IS GIVEN TO CITY

37 Acres of Land Given By League

Memorial Park on Armour Hill was accepted by the parks committee of the council Wednesday afternoon as a gift to the people of Peterborough from the Women's Patriotic League of Ashburnham.

Representatives of the League who attended the meeting at the city hall were Mrs. R. H. Parsons, president; Mrs. T. H. Glover, treasurer; and Miss Elizabeth Scott, and also E. A. Peck, K.C., Alderman Stocker presided with Mayor Macdonald and Alderman Wilson present.

The only conditions attached to this public gift require that the name Memorial Park be retained, and that a suitable memorial tablet be placed on the property setting forth its purpose and bearing the name of the League. A resolution complying with these terms and recommending the acceptance of the Park was adopted on Mayor Macdonald's motion, seconded by Alderman Wilson.

Planted 20,000 Trees

The property comprising 37 acres was purchased by the League from the Armour estate in 1923 for $3,000. More than 20,000 trees were planted, and although many of them have died or have been destroyed, as for instance the 700 burned by a grass fire a year ago, the park is well wooded with trees that are now from six to eight years old. They were obtained from the government and their selection was advised by Harry Moore of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, after a careful survey of the soil and other affecting conditions.

The League has spent around $9,000 principally in labor during the years on the improvement of the Memorial Park, engaging a caretaker for the summer months, and

After a series of meetings, the workers yesterday presented the management with demands for salary increases ranging five to 20 per cent. The company answered that export commitments without profit made it impossible to accede to the request. Last February, the company said, a general wage increase of 7½ per cent. went into effect and in addition, adjustments were made which increased the percentage of advance in such cases. In addition, a holiday bonus plan was instituted.

Duce's Patrol Move Seen As Pressure Force Hitler's Aid

Wants More German Action, Spanish War; Tension Grows Between France, Insurgents

LONDON, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini's agreement to confer with Great Britain and France to safeguard the Mediterranean was interpreted unofficially today as possibly a subtle Italian move to put pressure on Chancellor Hitler for further German intervention in Spain.

Mussolini may even be prepared to threaten weakening of the Rome-Berlin, axis by transferring Italian suport into the Anglo-French camp, these quarters believed.

The next moves in the complex diplomatic situation will be the Italian premier's visit to the German chancellor this weekend and a conference Monday in Paris by Italian, French and British naval experts on Italy's demand for parity in the Nyon anti-piracy patrol of the Mediterranean.

While Italy thus seemed to be drawing closer to the Anglo-French front, tension between France and the Spanish insurgents was on the increase. French authorities took special precautions along the Pyrenees frontier as the result of reports an attempt might be made to rescue one of General Franco's military governors charged with a plot to steal a Spanish government submarine from the French harbor of Brest.

French Anger Rises.

French anger at the insurgents over the detention of the French consul at Malaga was heightened by a report reaching the frontier that seven French citizens now residents of San Sebastian and Irun would be expelled from Spain today.

This action was interpreted as another form of reprisal for the arrest of Major Julian Troncoso, accused as the would-be submarine thief.

On the Anglo-Italian diplomatic front, an announcement that the Duke and Duchess of Kent would lunch to-morrow with Count Dino Grandi at the Italian embassay was taken as a pleasing—if unofficial—indication of improved relations with Rome.

Meanwhile, at Geneva, France's Foreign Minister, Yvo Delbos, prepared to re-open talks with Renato Bova-Scopa, Italy's representative there, in which the troubled Mediterranean situation was being reviewed.

According to Italian sources, Bova-Scopa was prepared to give assurances that Italy has no territorial ambitions in Spain or the Spanish Balearic Islands, in the Western Mediterranean, and will withdraw her "volunteer" troops when the civil war ends. Italy's one determination, it was said, he told Delbos, was to put an end to "Red" rule in Spain.

No More Volunteers.

The point which may snag the talks, however, was expected to be French insistence that no further "volunteers" be sent to the aid of the insurgents.

The same question seemed to be on the books for Mussolini's conversations with Hitler. The preponderance of foreign soldiers under Franco's banners were said to have come from Italy, but both the Berlin and Rome governments have openly sided with Franco.

Mussolini was believed hopeful of persuading Hitler to send more German troops to Franco.

CAPT. HATFIELD GIVEN 18 MONTHS IN REFORMATORY

OTTAWA, Sept. 23 (CP).—Capt. Freeman Hatfield, of Parrsboro, N.S., today was sentenced to 18 months in the Ontario Reformatory on a charge of defrauding the Reparations Commission of $71,276.

Justice Keller MacKay, of the Ontario Supreme Court, passed sentence after Hatfield was found guilty yesterday by a jury which recommended mercy.

The sentence was pronounced after opposing counsel had engaged in a slight brush which followed the comment of Warwick Beament, who appeared for Hatfield, that "all the story be made in open court." He had urged the 76-year-old mariner be given a suspended sentence.

Up to the Crown.

The judge said that was a responsibility that must be assumed by the bench, and he could award suspended sentence only on the authority of the Crown. This brought defence counsel to his feet, to ask if Crown Prosecutor H. J. McNulty, who, he said, had concurred in his remarks of yesterday, now opposed suspended sentence.

Mr. McNulty said he had agreed with the sentiments of Mr. Beament in their relation to the age of the accused and the fact of Hatfield having no criminal record. However, it must not be forgotten that the people of Canada had been defrauded of a large sum of money.

"My friend's crocodile tears about the good people of Canada would come more properly from him were his master's prosecuting the other man," said defence counsel. His reference was to Senator Hance J. Logan. Previously in his address to the jury Beament had characterized Hatfield as the "scapegoat for Logan, the political henchman."

ENDEAVOUR FOUND OFF AZORES ISLES

LONDON, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Three independent sources to-day reported that Frederick Sigrist's Endeavour I., America's Cup challenger three years ago, had been located several hundred miles south-west of the Azores.

Lloyd's agent at Horta cabled London headquarters that the sloop, missing since midnight September 13, had been located in latitude 32 north, longitude 39 west. Confirmation came from the Evening News correspondent at Horta and from Douglas Williams of the London Daily Telgraph.

Skipper Dies at Sea.

HAMBLE, England, Sept. 23.—(AP).—Capt. George Williams, skipper of Endeavour II. unsuccessful challenger for the America's Cup, died yesterday at sea while the yacht was being towed from the United States to England.

His death was revealed in a radiogram received to-day by his wife at their home here. The message, sent by Phil Williams, step-brother of the captain and member of the crew, stated the "Captain passed peacefully away."

A letter from Capt. Williams arrived at the same time as the radiogram, saying the skipper was in good health and was looking forward to a home-coming celebration. Relatives and friends abandoned the festival which also had been planned in honor of the captain's 68th birthday Monday.

T. O. M. Sopwith, owner of the Endeavour II, was in London when he learned Williams was ill. A doctor was transferred from the Philante, towing the Endeavour II, and arrangements were made to intercept the liner Britannic and take on another doctor.

However, Williams died before arrangements could be completed. His death was attributed to a gastric hemorrhage.

School Children To See The Cambria

CHILDREN of the city's public and separate schools are to have a brief intermission on Friday afternoon when Imperial Airways giant flying boat "Cambria" zooms over the city on its way to Montreal. Arrangements for the intermission were made on the suggestion of Mayor George A. Macdonald by Public School Inspector K. S. Wightman and J. E. Sullivan, secretary of the Separate School Board.

TEXTILE PROBE COMING TO CITY ON OCTOBER 1

Inquiry To Be Held At The Court House

Peterborough textile workers today looked forward to fulfillment of Premier Hepburn's promise which sent them back to work after their eight-week strike this summer as the Industry and Labor Board announced a textile inquiry sitting will be held here on October 1 and 2.

The Board's announcement, advertised in this issue, reads: "Pursuant to the Minimum Wage Act, 1937, the Industry and Labor Board of the Province of Ontario will hold sittings in the Court House, Peterborough, at 10.00 o'clock a.m. on Friday, October 1st, and Saturday, October 2nd, for the purpose of obtaining information as to wages, hours of labor and conditions of employment in the mills of Dominion Woollen Mills, Limited, at Peterborough."

The sitting will be the Board's second in connection with the textile matter. A preliminary organization meeting was held in Toronto early this month. At that sitting, the subject and scope of the inquiry was delineated.

The procedure which will be followed here on October 1 and 2 was not announced. It is understood the matter of opening the sitting to the public is still under debate.

At the time Premier Hepburn promised the textile inquiry, strike leaders who had been in the conference at which that course was decided upon said they understood from the Premier's undertaking that the inquiry body would subpoena workers, company officials and others concerned and take formal evidence in order to obtain a clear and accurate picture of textile conditions locally. The local United Textile Workers' Union expects to be represented at the hearing by J. L. Cohen, legal adviser, who acted for strikers here and in Cornwall during the summer strikes.

WOMAN AGED 38 FATALLY BURNED

Mrs. Ethel Brassell, 38-year-old Russian-born mother of four young children, died at St. Joseph's Hospital around ten o'clock this morning, five hours after her gasoline-saturated clothing enveloped her in flames.

Her husband, Albert Brassell, hearing her screams early this morning, found her at the foot of the cellar steps at the family home, 403½ London Street. With the help of Patrick Gorman, a neighbor, he carried her upstairs, from where she was rushed by ambulance to hospital on the order of Dr. C. M. Scott, who attended.

Mrs. Brassell, in a brief statement to police, complained of being unwell. Her husband had done everything possible for her she added. Besides her husband, she leaves three boys, the eldest of whom is seven years, and an infant daughter, five months old.

Funeral arrangements had not been made at the time of going to press.

3 Youths Vanish After Shooting

TIMMINS, Ont., Sept. 23 (CP).—Efforts of police to trace three youths blamed in the shooting of a 10-year-old boy yesterday, were fruitless today. The victim, Armand Bigras, suffered minor injuries.

The boy was playing in his yard here when a rifle bullet — almost spent—struck him in the abdomen and broke the skin. It failed to penetrate the flesh, said Dr. C. M. Boutin, who treated the boy.

Careless hunters have drawn protests from Timmins and district residents. Acting Chief Leo Gagnon said good descriptions were furnished of the three whose bullet is believed to have struck Bigras.

After the shooting the three boys scurried into the bush near Miller Lake. Police followed them closely but were unable to locate them.

Tot, 7, Crosses U.S. on $1 But Slips at Border

San Diego Lass Forgets Aunt's Address In Oshawa—Immigration Men Stop Her

DETROIT, Sept. 23 (AP).—Margaret Dorothy Frederick, aged seven, who managed to spend only one dollar during five days on a transcontinental motorbus, forgot a street address today and became an international problem.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Frederick of San Diego, Calif., put her aboard a bus last Saturday to visit an aunt living in Oshawa, Ont.

Canadian immigration authorities turned her back at the border last night when she couldn't recall her aunt's address. She was lodged at a Volunteers of America home.

Margaret Dorothy, still clutching two of the three dollars her parents gave her for the trip (she explained other bus passengers bought her food), quickly showed the commonsense which made her trip possible.

"How much is this going to cost?" she asked the home manager.

"It's free," she was told.

"My, you must be rich," she replied.

The Travelers' Aid Society telegraphed her parents to straighten out the Canadian border difficulty.

BULLETIN

OTTAWA, Sept. 23.—A warrant was issued here today for the arrest of Senator Hance J. Logan of Parrsboro, N.S. It was based on information by George Edwin Beament, associate counsel for Capt. Freeman Hatfield, skipper of the schooner Gypsum Queen who today was sentenced to 18 months in jail on a charge of defrauding the reparations commission of $71,276.

THINK BUSH FIRES HOLDING WILKINS NORTH MANITOBA

LAC DU BONNET, Man., Sept. 23 (C.P.). — Possibility that Sir Hubert Wilkins' flying boat bound for New York on a flight from the Arctic has been delayed by dense smoke from forest fires in North-west Manitoba and North-east Saskatchewan was advanced by aviators here to-day.

Royal Canadian Corps of Signals at Edmonton reported last night Sir Hubert arrived at Fort Smith, N. W.T., from Aklavik, N.W.T., and after refuelling left for Lac Du Bonnet en route to New York.

The airiel party that has been searching for the missing Russian Polar fliers was expected to land at this air base, 60 miles north-east of Winnipeg, this morning, but radio stations here have been unable to contact the plane. Airmen speculated that Wilkins had landed on some wilderness lake.

Two attempts by local airlines to fly north through the pall of forest fire smoke, whipped by 30-mile-an-hour winds, were unsuccessful.

Marmora Man Dies After U.S. Blast

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Sept. 23 (A.P.). — Demin Barron, one of five men injured in an explosion at the Mather Collieries Company mine, died to-day.

Barron, 36-year-old drilling superintendent of Marmora, Ont., 25 miles north of Belleville, was crushed by the explosion yesterday in an airshaft that was being drilled within 100 feet of the main mine workings. Both legs and arms wer fractured.

2,000 Refugees Slain Canton Streets In 2-Day Assault

Britain Plans To Invoke Washington Pact; Would Bring U.S. Into Full Co-operation

NANKING, Sept. 23.—(CP-Havas)—A squadron of more than 50 Japanese bombers resumed the aerial attack on Nanking tonight. The Kiangyin forts seemed to be the principal objective of the raid.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Two thousand Chinese, most of them refugees, are estimated to have been killed or injured in two days' Japanese aerial bombardment of Canton, South China city.

The raids, today and yesterday, left weeping women and wailing children searching the ruins of densely-packed dwelling areas of the poorer classes.

The Washington Pact.

GENEVA, Sept. 23.—(AP.)—Great Britain was understood to-day to be planning to invoke the Washintgon pact guaranteeing China's territorial integrity as a last resort to bring Japan to an International Conference to stop the Sino-Japanese hostilities.

Such a move would have the additional advantage of bringing the United States into full co-operation on measures to halt the Far Eastern conflict—a step considered essential if the peace efforts are to meet with success.

Protests Exchanged.

PARIS, Sept. 23.—(AP).—France and insurgent Spain exchanged protests to-day over incidents developing from an unsuccessful attempt to seize a Spanish Government submarine at Brest.

The insurgents objected to the arrest of one of their officers, Major Julian Tronosco, on charges of plotting to steal the submarine, which was docked at the French port and had just completed repairs.

If Tronosco is not released, the insurgent protest said, the French consul at Malaga, Pierre Desmarti, will be expelled from Spain.

U.A.W.A. LOCAL IS TO BE ORGANIZED IN PETERBOROUGH

A charter for a Peterborough local of C.I.O.'s United Automobile Workers of America will be sought in the near future, Nora Adams, Oshawa U.A.W.A. organizer who played a prominent part in leadership of the Dominion Woollens strike, announced here to-day.

To be the sixth U.A.W.A. local in Ontario, employees of the De Laval, Peterborough Canoe, Peterborough Lock, Canadian Raybestos, Johnson Motors and Western Clock companies will be eligible for membership in it, she said. The other Ontario locals at present are at Oshawa, Brantford, St. Catharines and at Windsor, where two are chartered.

The organizer claimed organization has been under way in the six Peterborough plants whose employees are eligible for the past several months, and that many members had been gained. She declined to state the number of members, but termed the recruiting success "satisfactory."

Detroit Headquarters

Miss Adams said the application will be made to U.A.W.A. headquarters in Detroit. When the charter is returned, the names of 18 local members will be appended.

Affairs of the Peterborough local will be governed from a Peterborough office and the local will be entirely self-governing, she said. Officers to be elected will be a president, a financial secretary, a treasurer, and trustees. She stated a large public meeting in the interests of the new local will be held there upon the arrival of Charles Millard, president of Oshawa Local 222, in the city, expected next week.

Miss Adams said: "The U.A.W.A. is not promoting strikes. Its aim is to build strong local unions that will be able to govern their own affairs. The watchword of the Labor movement is 'Let the strong help the weak that all working people may enjoy a free, happy, healthy life'."

Banned from entry into Canada by Premier Hepburn, according to Miss Adams, The Auto Worker, weekly U.A.W.A. paper published in Detroit, will be printed in Canada and distributed to Peterborough members. Cost of the paper will not be charged to local members, she said.

The local will promote sports and will institute educational classes, she said. Teachers for the classes will be supplied through a new Canadian head office, to be established shortly in Toronto.

She said the U.A.W.A. now has a membership of 400,000 in the United States and Canada. Membership in Peterborough will entitle members to avail themselves of the medical research institute for occupational diseases operated by the union in Detroit, she stated.

CROW DIES FROM WORRY

GUELPH, Ont., Sept. 23 (C.P.).—Sammy, Elmira's pet crow which knew everybody in the village, is dead. Sammy, so the village folk say, died from worry because he was confined indoors after being hit by a motor car. The collision broke one of Sammy's wings.

CROSLEY GUILTY, WILL HANG DEC. 6

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 23—(CP)—Chester Crosley, Negro convict at Kingston penitentiary, was convicted today of murder of Guard John McCormick at the institution. He was sentenced by Mr. Justice Nicol Jeffrey to hang December 6. McCormick was stabbed fatally July 11, 1936.

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 23 (CP) — A Supreme Court jury retired shortly before noon today to consider the case of Chester Crosley, charged with the murder of Guard John McCormick in Kingston Penitentiary more than a year ago.

The second trial of the negro lifeterm convict neared an end after a two-hour address by Mr. Justice Nicol Jeffrey, in which, he told the jurors they must accept his interpretation of the law.

"You may think it harsh or correct, but with that you have nothing to do," Mr. Justice Jeffrey said.

Crosley's long record of anti-social acts, he said, must not in any way prejudice the jurors in coming to a decision. Mr. Justice Jeffrey elaborated on the interpretation of the defence set up by Crosley.

"To a certain extent the sides of the defence in this case overlap. Assuming that Crosley did use drugs, you have to satisfy yourself that this use of drugs up to the morning of July 11, when Crosley attacked McCormick and Toomey (hospital overseer R. Toomey), confused his mind.

"Did he appreciate he had a knife? Did he appreciate what he was doing? If he did, the accused man is guilty of murder. But if his mind was infeebled through disease of mind or the use of drugs to the extent that he didn't know what he was doing on the morning of July 11, then he is insane and should be acquitted."

The jury was directed to weigh carefully the evidence as presented by medical witnesses, and Mr. Justice Jeffrey regarded as significant that no one up to the time of the stabbing had found or certified Crosley as insane.

He regarded as significant, too, that the night before the stabbing Crosley created a disturbance in his cell that Dr. Garfield Platt, prison physician, remarked that it seemed Crosley was a case for the deputy warden, not the doctor.

"You are not obliged to accept any opinion you may think I have given. I have given you the law and you must accept it as such."

Charges System Of Espionage Working In Alberta

Ousted Attorney - General Claims Dictatorship Worse Than Hitler's Or Mussolini's Near

CALGARY, Sept. 23.— (CP). — John W. Hugill, K.S., Social Credit member of the Alberta Legislature for Edmonton, who resigned as Attorney-General last month at Premier Aberhart's request, charges the Aberhart government is pointing toward a dictatorship that "will surpass even the dictatorships of Hitler and Mussolini."

"This is no time for party dictatorships," Mr. Hugill told Canadian Club members yesterday. "I promist to take off my coat and, with other citizens, fight against the dictatorship which is fast developing within the borders of Alberta."

The former Attorney-General charged Alberta affairs are dictated from London by the Scottish economist, Major C. H. Douglas, and Mr. Aberhart is a "de facto premier."

The government is developing a system of espionage, he claimed. "Spies, carrying little notebooks, report the doings and sayings of government officials to the premier."

Bird Sets Nest In Tree On Fire

Fremont, Neb., Sept. 23.

A BIRD with a taste for tobacco caused the fire department several busy moments.

Firemen hurried to Earl Grant's home, ready to battle a blaze. Instead they found a burning bird's nest 35 feet up in a tree.

Fireman Willis Lind climbed the tree and doused the flaming nest.

He reported the bird apparently carried a lighted cigarette butt to its nest.

Would-Be Suicide's 107th Novel Effort Gets Him Usual Hospital Bed

Warsaw Sept. 23 (CP-Havas)

AFTER his 107th attempt at suicide, each time employing a new method, Leon Kasprzykowski was doing better than could be expected today in the Warsaw Municipal Hospital.

The unvarying aspect of his attempts are that they always occur before the doors of this institution, in which he then receives weeks of treatment amid comfortable surroundings.

This time he drank a quart of gasoline. Conscious as he was carried to his usual ward, Kasprzykowski learned from old acquaintances on the hospital staff that his growing record still stands for the country, perhaps the world.

Writer Puts Blame On Science For Earhart's "Murder"

Charges True Nature And Dimensions Of The Earth Are Not Known

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 23—(AP).—Amelia Earhart and Fred Noonan were "murdered by Dogmatic Science", Tiffany Thayer charged in the fgirst issue of The Fortean Society Magazine to-day.

"Unless by some miracle they found land and food and fresh water . . . they were sent to their death by the smug complacency of Authority, of the schoolmen and the physicists and the astronomers," wrote Thayer, secretary of the society, a national group of scientific agnostics, including several prominent writers.

Thayer contended science is ignorant of the true nature and dimensions of the earth and therefore is to blame for the tragic failure of the Earhart-Noonan 'round-the-world flight.

The Forteen Society was organized in 1931 by J. David Stern, newspaper publisher; Thayer, Ben Hecht, Booth Tarkington, Burton Rascoe, Alexander Woollcott, writers; Aaron Sussman and others, to perpetuate the ideas of Charles Fort, a scientific iconoclast who suggested, among other things, the stars might not be so far away and the earth might be "nearly" stationary if all evidence was considered.

ISSUE CHALLENGE

OLDCASTLE, Ont., Sept. 23 (C. P.). — A challenge to debate Ontario election issues was tossed by Dr. Paul Poisson, Conservative candidate in North Essex, last night to his Liberal opponent, Dr. A. H. C. Trottier, sitting member. Oldcastle is nine miles southe-ast of Windsor. Dr. Poisson said he hoped to meet Dr. Trottier on the platform at the official nomination meeting on September 27.

Scots To Sacrifice Castle Douglas As Miners Follow Coal Seam

Edinburgh, Sept. 23. (CU)

RICH coal seams have laid unsentful siege to romantic Douglas Castle, ancestral home of the Douglas family.

When the Earl and Countess of Home move, demolition will begin so the coal seams can be worked without hindrance. Old seams in the district have been worked out.

And so the stormy history of Sir Walter Scott's "Castle Dangerous," which repeatedly changed hands during the struggle between Edward I and the Scots, comes to an end.

So—perhaps—does the ancient legend which runs: "As often as castle Douglas is destroyed it shall rise again in even greater size."

The castle was burned down in 1759 and the present structure built. Near it is the chancel of the Church of St. Bride, containing the heart of Robert the Bruce.

Believed Impressed By Seriousness Of World Protests

May Only Be Waiting For Better Weather; Raiders Dump Death on Canton, All Escape

SHANGHAI, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Japanese warplanes and warships today bombed and shelled the two Chinese port cities of Canton and Haichow, causing widespread damage.

Nanking, earmarked by the Japanese for destruction as the seat of Chinese resistance, was not raided this morning, however, as the Japanese were apparently impressed by the seriousness of British, French, United States and German protests against unrestricted bombardment of the civilian population.

Some observers, on the other hand, believed that Nanking's momentary safety from attack was due to the prevailing bad weather and poor visibility and both government and people prepared for an eventual onslaught which would make the 15th successive air raid on the capital since hostilities began.

Warplanes which yesterday bombed Canton, China's metropolis, 500 miles southwest of here, five times, killing an estimated 300 civilians, returned to the attack in the early morning.

Raiders All Escape.

The heavy drone of warplanes signalled a short bombing later. Nine bombers carried out the most spectacular raid yet made on Canton. In flights of three, the squadron dropped over the city and in the face of a searing fire from anti-aircraft batteries loosed their projectiles and flew away unscathed.

Chinese defence planes rose to give battle and thousands gaped in the streets at the thrilling dog fights overhead. There were no reports of casualties on either side.

Shells from the Japanese fleet off Haichow, the Kiangsu province port 200 miles north of here, struck the terminal of the Lunghai railway, the trunk road that runs from Haichow across Central China.

The work yards of the newly modernized port were badly damaged. The Shanghai office of the Netherlands Harbor Works, reported cranes and a warehouse had been demolished.

Activities ceased on all fronts today as far as the Japanese were concerned—but it was only for 10 minutes. At dawn 250,000 Japanese soldiers on the North China and Shanghai fronts paused to pay homage to the Emperor as the descendant of the Sun Goddess.

It was the Japanese annual festival in honor of the Emperor's Imperial ancestors, one of the most sacred of Japanese rituals.

HEPBURN PLEDGES LABOR MINISTER FULL TIME BASIS

CORNWALL, Ont., Sept. 23 (CP)—After the election Ontario will have a full time minister of labor whose duties will consist of the enactment and application of legislation to provide the workers of Ontario with a greater measure of economic security and a greater share of the profits of industry.

Premier Mitchell Hepburn made this announcement here last night and elaborated on his labor policy in answer to a series of questions prompted by the recent strike at the Cornwall plant of Canadian Cottons Limited.

In this industrial town, the most easterly point Mr. Hepburn will touch in his election tour, he found the biggest audience of the campaign so far. The questions were handed to him in writing before the meeting.

The premier's declarations in answers to questions and otherwise included the following:

He does not believe in the licensing of trade unions. He will encourage trade unions.

He would not coerce any minority and so could not promise legislation to compel employers to bargain with a union comprising a majority of their workers.

All measures possible have been and will be taken by the Liberal government to improve conditions of the workers. Measures already taken are cancellation of Quebec power contracts, reclamation of timber limits from speculators, provincial income tax, collection of succession duties, industrial standards act, labor and industry board. Measure for the immediate future is unemployment insurance.

Any complaints regarding workmen's compensation will receive consideration and changes necessary will be made.

Speed Up Decision.

Decision on wages and working conditions in the textile industry by the Labor and Industry Board will be expedited, but cannot be promised before the election.

Textile workers have the Government's sympathetic support and are to be commended for their conduct in the recent strike. The Government warned the company if it did not negotiate on a fair basis relief would be provided the strikers—the first time such a step was contemplated.

Industrial peace is essential to both workers and industry. Workers should never place industry in a position where it could not compete on export markets.

Mr. Hepburn told the meeting on taking office in 1934 the Liberal Government realized the depression was going to end and that the workers were entitled to a larger return for their labor. At that time it decided on unemployment insurnace and the Industrial Standards Act. But the Bennett Government at Ottawa, for political reasons enacted unemployment insurance and minimum wage laws—which were ultimately held by the Privy Council to be within provincial jurisdiction.

Bennett To Blame

CAULKING GOOD FOR 50 YEARS

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Sept. 23 (CP).—After 50 years bunting icefloes in the perilous waters of Northern Newfoundland and Labrador, the sealing ship Terra Nova, property of a St. John's sealing firm, is having a new stem plate installed to replace the 18-inch oak butt which has done valiant service for a half-century.

Scottish shipbuilders in Dundee, Scotland, hammered the old plate home and caulked it with rope instead of oakum, as modern builders do. When the old caulking was removed, it was found as good as when it was rammed home.

The replacing balk will be four inches smaller than the original piece, thus increasing the ship's speed and reducing the strain on the ship.

$43,000 FOR RED CROSS.

TORONTO. — Toronto branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society last night announced approximately $43,000 was donated to date in the annual campaign started this week.

ONTARIO HAD C. I. O. LONG BEFORE OSHAWA

Mayor Alex Hall At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 23. — "Hepburn knew that the C.I.O. was in Ontario long before the Oshawa strike, when the workers demanded an agreement with General Motors proportional to the agreement already made by their employees in the United States," Mayor Alec Hall of Oshawa, who was the main speaker at a meeting held in the Arena in Campbellford on Wednesday evening, declared in the interests of Roy Wilmott, Conservative candidate for Northumberland.

Charging the C.I.O. was not and never was an issue in the present campaign, Mr. Hall asserted that it was "merely a red herring being drawn across the trail to cover up the Assessment Act."

Referring to the Liberal leader's statement, that he would keep labor agitators out of Ontario, Oshawa's fiery Mayor explained that Mr. Hepburn now admitted he had no power to keep these men from entering the Province, but says "they're going to keep law and order when they get here," which is precisely what the policy of Earl Rowe has been from the beginning.

Of the succession duties which are claimed to be one of the three main issues of the election, Mayor Hall declared that there was not a case of unpaid duties which could not be collected by the courts of Ontario within two years without Hepburn being given a further mandate.

The School Question

The Finality Act of 1863 was designed to keep forever the school issue out of politics declared the speaker in referring to the school question and with the repeal of the Assessment Act he (Hepburn) gave no assurance that a similar act would not be put into effect if he were re-elected. "Neither Protestant nor Catholic can trust Hepburn to give the equality he promises." "What can be said for members of parliament who are not permitted to express their views—the views of the people in their riding. They can't explain why they voted for the bill, nor can they explain why they voted against it."

Charging the commission which was to investigate the liquor tollgate which Hepburn claimed existed during the 1934 campaign he stated that Arthur Slaght, who was to conduct the investigation for nothing received $12,700 while his assistant received $2700. The liquor control act has been destroyed by the 25 cent permit system which renders it impossible to check on the purchases of any individual.

The Hydro Inquiry

That the Royal Commission to investigate Hydro, which had been established by the Conservatives under Sir Adam Beck, had found nothing wrong and that Hepburn's policy of repudiation was not only wrong in principal but wrong in fact since Ontario was already facing a power shortage in the Toronto Leaside district according to a trade journal were other charges levelled by the speaker against the Government.

Joseph Sedgwick, KC., of Toronto, also spoke on behalf of the candidate, saying that Hepburn had declared he was so strongly opposed to the C.I.O. that he would throw all the resources of the Government behind it. "Yet when a labor delegation waited on him in Queen's Park he told them to go home and return when they could bring a body of men large enough to enforce their views. Before he took office he persistently applauded every labor movement that embarrassed the Government of the day.

"Hepburn repudiated the Hydro contracts and is now renewing them exactly as they were except that they are for ten years instead of the original 40 years, leaving the possibility that we will have to pay twice as much for power when the contracts are again renewed."

The Candidate's View.

SCHOOLS TO OPEN AT CAMPBELLFORD

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 23. — Schools in Campbellford will reopen on September 27th it was decided at a meeting of the Board of Health held in the town clerk's office at 11 a.m. yesterday morning. In view of the fact that no further cases of poliomyelitis have been reported in either the town or township it was felt by the Board that the precautions might safely be discontinued, and the school which has now been closed for nearly three weeks will re-open on Monday morning. It was thought by the Board that the incubation period of the disease had now passed and with no evidence of more than the one case in town the danger of any further spread of the disease had now passed.

Dr. F. de F. Free issued the following statement to the school board. "I believe the opening of our school on September 27 to be advisable, providing that there are no other cases of poliomyelitis occurring here before that date." This morning's meeting was attended by the chairman, Mr. John Gay, Mayor F. F. Long and Dr. F. de F. Free.

Britain and France have an argument as to which has the best tea-makers.

LAKEFIELD FAIR HAD BIG ENTRY FINE WEATHER

Otonabee Boys Win In Foal Competition

Autumn smiled on the Lakefield Fair Wednesday afternoon, gracing the agricultural exhibition with bland and sunny weather, more entries than last year, and a crowd that probably contributed another surplus in the directors' financial account.

Scores of Peterborough people were present, including President Tom Brown of the Peterborough Exhibition, and at least three of his assistants, Rollie Denne, R. M. Glover and D. B. Faulkner. And also among those present were the riding's two political adversaries of the current campaign, T. P. Lancaster of Havelock and Alex L. Elliott of the city.

Mr. Elliott was accompanied by Colonel John A. Dewart, and Mr. Lancaster by G. K. Fraser of Burleigh Falls. Probably J. J. Duffus, M.P., was not entirely interested in the products of Peterborough agriculture, and it is altogether likely that J. K. Hughes didn't confine his conversation to Chevrolet cars. In other words there was considerable quiet campaigning going on while the races were being run, and the other features of the fair were moving along in their usual course.

Won Bedroom Suite

Bruce Clarke of the fourth line of Smith won the bedroom suite given as an attendance prize by the fair board. The lucky number was 6422. It was the fourth drawn from a churn by Henry Coons, president of the Fair. The three others in the order of their announcement were 7311, 3298 and 6136.

Two Otonabee boys won the first prizes in the foal club competition conducted by A. D. Runions, representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. This club was composed of seventeen boys of the district who have been developing Clydesdale and Percheron colts. The winners in these two classes were Allan Davis of Otonabee and Allan Drummond from the same township.

The placing of the seventeen colts was made by Sam S. Staples of Ida. In the Clydesdale class his awards were as follows:—

1, Allan Davis; 2, Jim Starke, Otonabee; 3, Gordon Carveth, Smith; 4, Joe Moloney, Douro; 5, Tom Hawthorne, Smith; 6, Keith Pimmett, Otonabee; 7, Braden

Tips Upon Canada Are Cut Short

Montreal, Sept. 23—(CP)

IF the operator hadn't told her that her three minutes was up, Mrs. Trotman might have got a little more geography from Lieut. Arthur Morin of Montreal police.

Mrs. Trotman telephoned from New York to say her husband drove to Canada a week ago, and she hadn't heard from him since. No, she didn't know what part of Canada he intended visiting.

The Lieutenant started to tell her Canada was a good-sized country.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP ENEMIES ADVISING HYDRO SAYS ROWE

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Sept. 23 (CP).—Men linked with opponents of public ownership were hired to advise the Ontario Government in handling the Province's great Hydro-Electric power system, charged Hon. Earl Rowe in an address here last night. The Conservative leader, who spoke at Petrolia before coming here, addresses Woodstock and Galt meetings today.

In his St. Thomas address he challenged Premier Mitchell Hepburn to deny the Boston engineering firm of Stone and Webster was not on the government payroll to tender advice in Hydro matters. He also reiterated his challenge to the Premier to deny a power shortage was imminent.

The Conservative leader's address was made in the Premier's home town and in support of Norman Martin, Conservative candidate opposing the Premier in Elgin riding for the October 6 Ontario elections. Mr. Rowe reviewed Hydro problems and read statements which he claimed bore out his belief a power shortage threatened.

He described Stone and Webster engineering firm as the "off-shoot—the next generation—of the same men who had their hands on the great Hydro-Electric enterprise in 1904." Sir Adam Beck, father of Hydro, and Sir James Whitney, early Conservative Premier, would turn in their graves if they could know of such a situation, Mr. Rowe declared.

Some Corrections

"Three of the directors of the Stone and Webster engineering firm are the directors of the largest power interests in the United States—the Edison Electric Institute" said the Conservative leader. This in-

FROZEN FISH FOR CHICAGO

HALIFAX, Sept. 23 (C.P.). — Something new in the export of frozen fish will be experimented with here during the next few days, according to E. H. Young, Federal Government official who arrived in Halifax last night. Eight freight cars will leave the Halifax terminals loaded with the frozen food, for Chicag, he said.

The cars will be equipped with ice hatches in the roof, through which the cooling of the frozen cargo will be conducted. Electric restorative thermometrs will be used to record the temperature of the product and air.

TWO ARE INJURED WHEN CAR UPSETS IN LOOSE GRAVEL

LINDSAY, Sept. 23.—Two orderlies from Toronto Western Hospital are in the Ross Hospital here, suffering from injuries sustained in an auto accident on Tuesday night on the highway between Lindsay and Beaverton. The injured men with two other orderlies were on their way north for a hunt. The driver of the car turned out to pass an approaching car, and struck some loose gravel. The car took to the ditch, turning over a number of times. When the occupants were extricated from the wrecked car it was found that one of the injured had sustained a fractured skull, while another sustained chest injuries. One of the injured men is said to be in a critical condition.

One Case Reported.

Dr. G. C. Hall, of Little Britain, has reported a case of infantile paralysis in Mariposa. The victim, who is 25 years of age, has been stricken with a serious form of the malady.

Lindsay Hydro users, in view of the decreased cost of power to the local Hydro Commission, will share in lower rates on their next billing, it was announced Wednesday.

The sudden death is announced in Toronto of Henry Chambers, aged 76 years, a former resident of Lindsay. The deceased was employed as a butcher by Adam Brothers for a number of years. He is survived by two daughters and four sons. Interment will take place at Riverside Cemetery, Lindsay.

Dies in Toronto.

A pioneer resident of Mariposa, in the person of the late William Suggitt, passed away suddenly in Toronto Wednesday. The deceased, who was in his eighty-second year, was born in Mariposa when that township was sparsely settled. During his residence in this section he was prominent in church circles and took a deep interest in every community effort. He will be laid to rest at Valentia on Friday.

The evening was spent playing euchre at the close of which a lunch was served with a beautiful wedding cake which was cut by the bride of twenty-five years ago being the feature of the occasion. The occasion also marked the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. George Lacy and Mr. and Mrs. Robert MacDonald who were also presented with gifts, the former receiving a silver sandwich tray and the latter a silver salt and pepper set. The Lucy's celebrated their twentieth anniversary while the Macdonald's had their thirtieth. A suitable address was read by Mrs. Alex Abar who made the presentation on behalf of the guests to Mr. and Mrs. Lowe. Among those who assisted with the refreshments were Mrs. J. W. Oakley mother of Mrs. Lowe and Mrs. Charles Bedford, a sister, both of whom poured tea.

NEW TYPE PLOW DAMS MOISTURE

REGINA, Sept. 23 (C.P.).—First machine of its kind to be introduced to Canada, a plow that digs furrows intersected by a series of dams, was demonstrated here recently.

Seen as a means of conserving rainfall, controlling surface run-off, and assisting to reduce soil blowing, the machine was first introduced in the northern States two years ago.

The equipment pulled by a tractor is known as a damming lister — a lister being a type of plow—and consists of discs for turning furrows, shovels for plowing and diggers which pile up and pack earthen dams across the furrows at intervals of six to eight feet. The depth of the furrow and the height of the dam can be regulated.

After a field has been worked, it is patterned by a uniform cross-hatching of dams.

In winter snow collects in the trough formed by the furrow and the dams and is held there until spring, when a greater percentage is absorbed by the soil instead of running off to low-lying points and forming sloughs.

CADI REMEMBERS DAY WHEN HE TOO WAS MELON THIEF

COBOURG, Sept. 23.—The moon was low, the air tangy with the approach of fall and six Haldimand youths with prospects of big, juicy watermelons filed into a field and silently went to work.

The melons were so good that they decided to take some away with them. The fact that they were owned by a girl who was growing them on her father's farm to earn some extra money, perhaps for fall clothes, didn't deter the lads and they lugged off about ten.

However, others were afoot that night and the identity of the youths was learned. Yesterday, Arthur Riley, Robert Gibson, Jack Creighton, Charles Archer, Daniel Archer and Gerald Black appeared before Magistrate W. A. F. Campbell charged with theft of watermelons from Miss Helen Carruthers. The charges were laid following an investigation made by Provincial Constable L. Mennie.

"I used to steal watermelons myself," observed the magistrate, allowing suspended sentence, with costs and a lecture.

As indicated in the Budget Address delivered on March 9th of this year, the Government is able to announce a downward revision in the fees for the registration of Motor Vehicles.

Not Strong Enough

The designer of the 1938 license plates for Ontario cars may be a right smart fellow in fixing up trimmings for kitchen furniture but his color scheme of orange and blue is not one which ranks high in visibility. Nor are the figures and letters of the plain and vigorous type which make for easy reading.

The purpose of a marker is official and therefore it should be so planned that it is easy to read. If a printer were going to turn out a poster and desired to get colors which would be easily read he would probably use black ink on yellow paper. The 1937 license was a good combination also on the start, but many of them faded. The letter and figures though, were round and blocky things and easy to see.

All our road signs are in black and white, and all the checkerboard signs are the same, and all these are very easily picked up by headlights at night. It is the strong contrast which makes that possible. The '38 plates which are starting to make their appearance have apparently been produced with an eye to some decorative scheme but plainness and visibility have been sacrificed.

After 25 Years

David Hardie of Peterborough is 88 years of age, but he is making a start on a trip to Australia, and one can well understand and appreciate his desire to be off on that long journey. At the termination of his trip he will visit with two sons and two daughters whom he has not seen in 25 years. Then there are six grandchildren with whom Mr. Hardie will have to become acquainted, and it is said two of them are six feet or better.

It seems to be the lot of some families to be scattered in well-removed parts of the world. It is not correct to say the family ties have been broken because distance and separation have their own way of increasing endearment and cherishing anticipation of the day when there will be some form of reunion.

We dare say there will be much to talk over when Mr. Hardie meets up with daughters and sons and grandchildren in Australia, for much will have happened in 25 years which will call for a thorough going-over.

Wasting a Good Pie

Strange things take place at fall fairs. Now there was that contest at Sault Ste. Marie where a prize was given to the contestant who could devour a pie in the least possible time, and we learn a standard pie was devoured in the remarkable time of one minute and two seconds.

There was no time wasted there, but one entire pie was wasted. We presume it was a blueberry pie because much is said of the blueberries which grow in Algoma. We are willing to grant too it was a well-made blueberry pie.

It might make quite a spectacular exhibition to see one of the wild men of Algoma biting off great sections of pie and then causing it to be transferred to his fire box in great gulps. It would be a case of chew to the line and let the juice fall where it might. But it would remain a miserable way to treat a well-made blueberry pie. There would be no time between bites to make mention of the fine qualities of the crust, and the consumer would be too exhausted at the end to pay tribute to the taste of the thing. The lady who prepared the pie would be denied the pleasure which is hers when some one after eating one piece suggests it would be splendid to have the second helping. Eating a pie in one minute and two seconds is to much like feeding swine at a trough. They taste not neither do they praise.

The Election Campaign

It was stated at a Liberal meeting in Cobourg that a new mental hospital would be erected in that place if the Hepburn government were returned to power on October 6, and we find little about which to grow enthusiastic in that form of campaigning. If there is need for such an institution being erected then the needs of the people who will be housed and treated in it should be the only consideration. If Cobourg has the best site available and if the building can be placed there and operated to advantage then it should go there regardless of the election or the way in which it may turn. The expense will be shared by all the people of the province through their contributions to the provincial treasury, and what may or may not be done about giving it a location in this or that locality should never be an issue in an election.

\+ \+ \+

There was another matter referred to by Hon. Earl Rowe at Owen Sound when he was discussing the liquor problem. He said he favored the "establishment of local non-political boards" to work in conjunction with "a strong non-political centralized Liquor Board," and the duties of these local boards would be to make recommendations regarding (1)the character of the licensee; (2) location of the premises; (3) the standard of the premises; and (4) the hours of sale.

This paper believes that management of the beer and liquor business should be centralized; it should be strong and fearless; it ought to be more concerned about control than revenue. The personnel of those who manage the liquor stores or work in them should not be a field for political patronage, and we belive the hours of sale should be regulated by the central body rather than bringing into existence advisory boards in all communities throughout the province.

Not Fair to the Jurors

Chester Crosley, a Negro of 35 years, and a convict at Portsmouth Penitentiary, has been on trial for murder, following the death of a guard in the institution. The question of the accused man's sanity has been brought prominently into the case, and two psychiatrists gave evidence that they considered him incapable of understanding the nature of his crime, and also that he was under the influence of drugs when the attack was made. Another expert opinion has been produced and it is quite at variance with that of the first two men. The most recent opinion is that Crosley is sane and knew well enough the quality and nature of his act.

We hope this conflict of expert opinion does not mean that the juries in this country are once more to be placed in the position of having to decide between the opinions of experts in mental disorders. It is a field where the average individual doing jury service must depend upon the opinion of those versed in matters of sanity or insanity because the average person has no way of determining such matters and must therefore depend on the testimony of others. If the experts who are called in such cases cannot agree among themselves as to the mental condition of an accused person then there is not much chance for an uninformed person being able to pick up where the experts fall out and arrive at a fair and safe conclusion. In justice to members of a jury and also to the person who is on trial the delicate and involved question of sanity or insanity should be clearly settled in advance and should not be made a question to argue before a jury.

The Village Then and Now

With a good many years of personal contact and observation to substantiate his views, a gentleman discussed the other day the village he had known as a boy, as a young man and also as an adult of mature years. He recalled it was once a place where many people were working but where few work now. He believed the gradual breaking up of village life had resulted from the centralization of industry in the larger centres through new methods and advanced processes of manufacturing, but he was not at all convinced that the change had been for the better. Recounting the activity of this village he said:

"There were two flour mills and an oatmeal mill, a shop where they made wagons and buggies. There was a place where they made harrows and plows and the plow shares and points were all made by hand; two harness shops and a barrel factory; also a tin shop where pails and all such things were made by hand. The village had three shoe makers and people went there to be measured and all the work was by hand. Another place gathered wood ashes for making lye, then there was the woollen mill, also a carding plant and a place where they made sorghum out of sugar cane. The village had three tailors and one of them employed seven women; there was a pump factory, brick yard and a distillery. A house in the village had a loom in the front room where a woman made carpets.

"In the country around the people attended to their own butter and bread making; made their own supply of rennet for cheese, made their own axe-handles, land rollers, tallow candles, yeast; the women did their own knitting and nearly all the clothing for the children was made at home. The forms of amusement were simple and inexpensive. There was the singing school and the ceilidh, and that is a Gaelic word meaning gathering together in a social way; there was also the debating society and the spelling match.

"There were at least four hundred more people in the village then than there are today. Then there was work to do, but now there is none. The operations which used to be performed by hand are now done by machinery, but the machines are all located in some other and distant place. The people in that village used to be both producers and consumers, but today they are consumers only, and one cannot remain a consumer indefinitely unless he is also a producer. There were no periods of depression in the village of older days. The change probably had to come but I am not at all certain it has been of actual benefit to us."

Undoubtedly there are a good many places where the same change has taken place. The work which used to be done by hand to supply the needs of people in the community and district is being done by machinery, but the machinery is housed in buildings far away from the villages. The places where all those people used to work by hand are closed and in many instances the building no longer exists. The price which one could secure for property today has little bearing on its cost or worth. The coming of machinery and the desire for centralizing many of the little factories in one large place has dealt to the villages of the province a hard blow from which they have not recovered. The gentleman who was recounting the experience of this one village recalled at least 23 places where people were working, not including stores, and today not one of them is in operation. And when he says he doubts whether the change has been of much benefit to the country at large we are inclined to share his view.

NOTE AND COMMENT

It looks as if it may be necessary to change the meaning of the word "enumerator" to signify a man who leave's folk's names off the election lists.

Premier Hepburn has paid a tribute to the fairness of the press of Ontario and editors all over the province today are having difficulty in hiding their blushes.

The slogan in this election is likely to be: Vote as you like— but vote. That is if the enumerator happened to get your name on the list.

A noiseless street car has been perfected, the only thing to break the silence being the conductor's "Lots more room up front, folks."

Furniture workers walked out in Grand Rapids the other day. Now there is a class of workers we would have thought would have preferred the sit-down type of strike.

There is more money to the credit of Peterborough school children in the Penny Bank than there was a year ago and that is a decidedly sound proof that times generally are better.

Northern Ontario has had the first snow of the season, and we seem to be able to see the faint glimmer of a smile on the face of the coal man as he hears the news.

According to one speaker the C. C. F. will make the wealth of Canada available to the people of Canada. That would make it nice for the Christmas shopping.

Dr Jacob Neelands, the first dentist to practice in Lindsay is dead at the age of 99. The profession has made vast strides since he first hung out his shingle.

Mayor Alex Hall of Oshawa keeps hurling challenges at Premier Hepburn and it seems to us that the Ontario Athletic Commission ought to be able to jump and do something about it.

A British scientist says that 100 years from now Britain will have only five million population. A lot of folk would probably like to stick around that long just to see if he is right.

A man begins to think there is no justice in the world when he turns his dial away from a political speech and runs into one of those radio comedians who laughs at his own gags.

Many strange things come out of election campaigns. For instance there is the statement made several times in the present political battle that Section 98 deprived labor of its right to free assembly.

Peterborough is not being neglected by the political leaders Premier Hepburn and Hon. Earl Rowe have already been heard here and J. S. Woodsworth, The Dominion C. C. F. leader is coming before election day.

Nineteen Montreal aldermen drew $100 each for expenses and left for New York to try to secure next year's American legion convention. The trip may not succeed but at all events the boys should have a nice outing.

RESIGNED

(By A. R. K.)

¶ My Cousin Jake is bald indeed, of hair his dome's entirely freed, the thing's been on for years; and all that Jake can show today, is just a little ridge of gray, that rests above his ears.

¶ In other years it was not so, and Jake had spinach fit to show, his hair grew two by four; he was delighted with the stuff, he had more than you'd call enough, and brushed it pompadour.

¶ But when his hair began to thin, Jake started handing out his tin, he waged a battle then; and he bought lotions here and there, all guaranteed to sprout his hair, of bottles he had ten.

¶ Jake rubbed his scalp when he got home, he'd work the stuff down to the bone, he'd work till he got sore; before he went to bed at night, he'd start again his gallant fight, and he would rub some more.

¶ Before the looking glass was bare, from Jake's big feet just standing there, he reckoned not the cost; he used to heave a sigh each day, another hair had gone its way, he knew each one he lost.

¶ But Jake he struggles now no more, the hay crop that he had before, will never deck his brow; he views the change both bold and brave, and figures on the time he'll save—he does not brush it now.

The Hay Fever Versus Ragweed Bout

A Warm Controversy Is Being Waged As To Part Played By Plant in Scourge

(From the Woodstock Sentinel-Review.)

A WARM controversy is being carried on in the press and elsewhere concerning the part that ragweed plays in the epidemic of hay fever that prevails annually at this season. The assertion is made that hay fever is caused unquestionably by the pollen of ragweed and that the plant ought to be eliminated as a measure to protect the public health. On the other hand there are statements by persons claiming to have made complete investigation that the ragweed is not responsible for hay fever and therefore should not be condemned any more than other pollen-bearing plants.

There appears to be a great deal of uncertainty and confusion concerning hay fever, which does not help to ameliorate the plight of those unfortunate people who suffer from this malady which becomes especially troublesome in late summer and continues until the advent of frost. There are some cases that do not show much improvement even when cold weather arrives.

The discouraging circumstance in the realm of hay fever is that cause and cure are similarly surrounded by indefiniteness. One sufferer from hay fever may find an effective remedy in the serums that are now used but the road to such a cure may be most tedious, for the patients must be tested for reactions to scores of agents, any one or all of which might be responsible for the malady.

Then there are some types of hay fever that respond to dieting and there are many other remedies, but on the whole the tale of the hay fever victim's sufferings is harrowing. One strange feature is that those who have never had hay fever are amazingly ignorant concerning its scope and are inclined to ridicule such sufferers, not realizing that this disturbance affecting the delicate membrane of the nose and eyes can render a human being so miserable that he might be inclined to seek relief in death.

This year in Ontario, hay fever has been exceptionally troublesome, due probably in some measure to the recurring heat waves and the extra humidity. The problem is of sufficient importance to justify an earnest effort to discover the cause and find an effective remedy. If ragweed is a malignant factor, it ought to be eradicated. The misery caused by hay fever is rendering many people incapable of performing their normal duties and they are called upon to pay a penalty in suffering that ought to stimulate scientific effort to find a cure.

Fake Eye Specialists Are Routed

United States' Postmaster General Has Great Job He Meets So Many Interesting People

(By Robert J. Casey in the Chicago Daily News.)

JUST ABOUT the best reading matter that was ever put onto a mimeograph sheet comes to us these days from the office of Postmaster General James A. Farley. First, we had the story of the "Becker estate" swindle, in which a lot of people were sold the grave of Benjamin Franklin and the Philadelphia Mint. Now we have a sort of resume of the successful war on fake eye doctors and an account of the evils that befell them because of their wicked ways.

Mr. Farley announced some months ago that the racket had been broken up. His present message is by way of amplification. What became of the racketeers— and such. Well, says Mr. Farley: "One of the most active of the fake eye specialists attempted to commit suicide in the jail by leaping from the stair landing. He was severely injured, it having been necessary to amputate his leg. . . . ." "There have been forty arrests and thirty-five convictions. Sentences imposed totaled 177 years, nine months. Fines $9,975."

The eye racket, even as seen in the grief recapitulation, seems to have been one of the cruelest ever practiced in the United States.

Teams of confidence men traveled the rural districts, arousing the faith and hope of elderly people who feared blindness. They decked out suing eyes with lenses of window glass. They went through the motions of operations. They gave treatments with eyewash labeled "Radium." They took away as much as $10,000 from a single farmhouse and in departing made careful note of names and addresses for the benefit of other "specialists" who would follow them.

Mr. Farley takes excusable satisfaction in recounting what has happened to them since their downfall.

"Once," he says, "they lived luxuriously—patronizing the best hotels. A number of them had their families at a popular resort on the Atlantic Coast the Summer of 1935. It was a sort of convention. One, with his wife and three children, drove to the resort in a new, high-priced automobile and occupied an expensive apartment. His wife afterward told another woman in the racket that her elder son said they were doubtlessly the richest family in the resort, as they were making the biggest show.

"But today the picture of the fake eye spectalists and their families is far different from what it was a year or two ago. Their racket has been practically wiped out and many of them are in jails or penitentiaries. They were not prepared. What little money they had put away was spent in unsuccessful efforts to ward off the punishment which they so thoroughly deserved, and their wives and children who formerly had everything they desired, are in want.

"What are these men going to do when released from prison? Doubtlessly some of them will go back into the eye-specialist or some other racket. But they can rest assured that the path of the fake eye specialists which existed a short time back now leads but to jail."

On which high note Mr. Farley leaves them and drives on to the next bulletin. His must be an interesting work. He meets so many interesting people.

"THE TWINS."

There's a party today,
Just over the way,
'Tis the birthday of two little girls.
Their faces are bright,
Just filled with delight,
To me they're like two little pearls.

Tho' I see them each day,
(They come here to play),
I still cannot tell them apart.
They're exactly the same,
Except for their name,
And they've found a warm spot in my heart.

Now today I am told
They are seven years old.
Alas—they will grow up too soon,
But 'tis better that way
We would not have them stay
Always tiny—this Jeanie and June.

I hope that their mother,
Knows one from the other,
Why they're not alike 'tis easily seen,
For if wee June was bad
It would be very sad
If I gave the big spanking to Jean.

Or if Dr. Wright
Was called in the night
Because little Jean had been ill,
It would sure make me weep
If he found them asleep
And made little June take the pill.

So I'm wishing them health
And plenty of wealth,
On birthdays we know not their size
And now I must go
But I wish you could know
Them dear little Delaware twins.

To the Editor

WHY AN ELECTION?

Editor Examiner:

Sir: Would you be so kind as to permit a small space in you paper.

I happened to be at Premier Hepburn's meeting last week and I am like a good many more people. I am wondering why there is an election called.

Premier Hepburn professes to believe that if the Tories get into power they will stop collecting succession duties, also that they will revive the Quebec hydro power contracts, and give the C. I. O. a free hand in Ontario with disastrous consequences.

Mr. Hepburn, by staying in office another two years, which he was entitled to do, could have absolutely prevented these things happening.

Instead he has called an election and gave the Tories a great big chance to do what he is so much afraid they may do. It doesn't make sense and a lot of people are sure there must be some other reason for calling the election.

What is the real reason?

Does the Premier want to get a mandate now so he can put over a fast one that the people will be stuck with for five years like he did after the last election?

If Mr. Hepburn is doing so much for the people of Ontario as he says he is doing his chances for being elected to power ought to be a lot better next year than they are at present. Then why an election now?

Mrs. C. S. LAMBERT.

OUR NEW COINS.

(Montreal Star)

WHOEVER is responsible for the new Canadian silver coinage deserves well of his country and ought to get a medal. We must confess that when we begged in these columns some time ago for more artistic coinage with the accession of a new King we did so with little hope of so quick and pleasant a response. We had, it seemed, become irrevocably wedded to a coin with a stiff crowned effigy resembling nobody in particular on the obverse and a wreath of sublimated cabbage leaves (presumably maple) on the reverse. Thank Heaven we have broken with that grim tradition, and the new coins are distinctive and artistic. Having gone so far, is it too much to hope that the same authorities will make a job of it and abolish that numismatical atrocity, the Canadian nickel, perhaps the ugliest coin ever yet minted anywhere? It was some years ago that Canadian postage stamps began to emerge from the dead level of monotony and today some of them are as fine specimens of the art of stamp-making as can be found anywhere. It is good to note that our coinage is following suit.

Mrs. S. Pulkinghorn Writes Of Conditions In Tientsin

The following extracts from a letter written by Mrs. S. Pulkinghorn in Tientsin, China, to her sister, Mrs. W. R. Field of 215 Princess street, will be of great interest to many Peterborough friends. Mrs. Pulkinghorn's husband is employed with the Tientsin Pilot Association, and another sister, Miss L. Dench, also resides in China. It is interesting to note that this letter bore a Japanese stamp.

Pilot Town,
Taku House,
Taku Tientsin.

"My Dear Sister:—

I must tell you how we are. We have to be ready to get out at a moment's notice; the Japs have taken North China, and we have been in a state of nerves for the last three weeks. If we go we will lose all we have, which is a poor state of affairs after a life in this country. The Japs will not give up Tientsin and Peking. I hope it doesn't mean evacuation but we are told to be ready. The Japs have taken the telegraph office next door to us. We are not afraid of the Japs; they will let us alone. It is the Chinese mob we need to fear. A few days ago when the firing was going on, I told the servants to bring their families. You should have seen what they consisted of—three hundred souls in my downstairs quarters. You can guess my plight when I saw them coming in on the village square, ten thousand or more, all squatted with their bundles, and it just rained in torrents. The heat was awful, and we have no sanitary places. The smell was awful, and they threw their melon skins all over the place. The poor little children are the ones I feel sorry for; the little boys carried old grandmothers on their backs, who couldn't walk for their tiny feet and were also feeble.

We get no letters or papers as the Japs have taken the central post office in Tientsin. We are all just in a quandary what will happen next. I went to Tientsin on the Custom's launch, and was made quite sick seeing all the dead bodies floating in the river. Jack (Mrs. Pulkinghorn's son) is on volunteer duty all the time helping to look after the Concession. The natives are still flocking in, in millions for shelter, though they have no place to go but hope to be taken in somewhere. I can't write any more, but perhaps you are getting some of the news. I hope I'll have better news for you next time I write...."

Stevens, literature secretary for Peterborough Presbyterial, gave a short talk on the new books and leaflets available in her department for use in the year's study. A report of the school for leaders held in the Ontario Ladies' College in August was given by Miss Helen Bannister, dealing principally with the worship and Bible study groups conducted by Mrs. W. L. Smyth, dean of the school, on the subject, "The Church and the Kingdom." Mrs. C. R. Pogue played a delightful piano solo. At the close of the program a business meeting was held, when Mrs. Upper announced the cooking school dates were set for the last week in October. The evening was brought to a conclusion with a social hour with members of the executive as hostesses.

England's 'Grand Old Lady' Has Friends in Peterborough.

In last Friday's edition of The Examiner mention was made of the 107th birthday of Mrs. Raonel Swain of Flitwick, Bedfordshire, England. Two Peterborough residents, Mrs. P. Malach of Edison Avenue and Mrs. A. Church of McDonnel Street, personally know the "grand old lady." Mrs. Malach having seen her seven years ago in England, when she had attained a century of life. In a Luton, Bedfordshire, paper of last year, when Mrs. Swain was celebrating her 106th birthday, she is described thus:

"She is one of the oldest inhabitants in the land, but harbors no sentiment or pride about that fact, nor does she attempt to find any reason for her longevity...In her black dress and mauve crocheted shawl, with a cap of crisp, coffee-colored lace, threaded with a bluish mauve velvet ribbon set on her neat white hair, there was nothing very senile about her. She had the dignity and reserve of age.

"Eyes dim, yes, but not so dim that they cannot take in all that is going on about her; deaf, but not so deaf that she cannot hear you easily if you 'speak up'; frail naturally, but not so frail that she cannot still walk with the help of her daughter, down the garden she herself tended until a year or so ago, and pick plums off the trees and eat them...The old lady seemed a little disdainful of the fuss that was being made by members of her family and friends from the village who called in to congratulate her. Not even the arrival of a telegram from Buckingham Palace excited her. It lay on the table, between a pink-iced cake and a vase of roses. 'The King sends you warm congratulations and good wishes: Private Secretary.'"

When the reporter from the Luton paper left, Mrs. Swain (who has lived for the last three years with her daughter, Mrs. Ashton, aged 84) was about to enjoy a dinner of meat, vegetables and pudding.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. Welsh who also said the nuptial mass. The Wedding March was played by Miss Margaret Sullivan. The bride wore a gown of navy georgette over taffeta, with navy felt hat and navy accessories. She wore a corsage bouquet of talisman roses. Upon returning from a short motor honeymoon to points north, the couple left for a short motor honeymoon to points north. For travelling the bride wore a gown of wine sheer with black accessories and navy coat. They will reside in Douro.

Wife Preservers

Serious accidents often occur at the bottom of a flight of stairs when the floor is highly polished. A rug placed there is a good idea, and it may be anchored by tacking or by use of a cork mat.

CORONATION INSPIRED

NEW YORK—(CP). — Gleaming turbans worn by Indian officers at the Coronation in London have inspired a thinness in wrinkled gold silk material.

Mrs. Richard Sullivan, sister of the groom was bridesmaid. She wore a gown of rust tricotine with black hat and shoes and corsage of yellow roses. The groom was supported by his brother-in-law, Richard Sullivan of Peterborough.

Linen Shower For Recent Bride.

Mrs. W. H. Wheeler of 29 Brown Street and Mrs. Alex. McKinlay entertained at a linen shower at the former's home in honor of Mrs. William Horne, Jr. (formerly Miss Elizabeth McKinlay) before her recent marriage.

A delightful evening was enjoyed with much amusement caused by a mock wedding when Mrs. R. Bugg was the "officiating minister," Jack Hope played the part of the "bride," and Alex. McKinlay was the "groom." Mrs. Lorne Bebee played the Wedding March.

Mrs. R. Bugg presented the many lovely gifts in linen to the guest of honor. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening from a table most attractively arranged with a hand-crocheted lace cloth, pastel green and pink candles, and varicolored phlox in a pale orange bowl, placed on a reflector. The rooms were also charmingly decorated with rainbow colors. Mrs. Lorne Bebee and Miss Esther Lashbrook assisted the hostesses in serving refreshments.

Townsend-Harvie.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, 309 Burnham Street at half-past two on Wednesday afternoon, when Merle Harvie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harvie, became the bride of Archibald Townsend, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Townsend. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. M. C. Parr of George Street United Church, the young couple standing beneath a decorated arch, with ferns, foliage, roses and other flowers making a beautiful floral setting. The wedding march was played by Miss Lenore Fauscett.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a beautiful gown of pink taffeta, trimmed at the neck and waistline with blue flowers. Her long veil of pale pink embroidered net was held in place with a coronet of tiny rosebuds, and she wore matching lace gloves and moire slippers, and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Miss Isabell Harvie, who attended her sister as bridesmaid, was gowned in white sheer over satin, the front of the satin skirt trimmed with tiny blue bows from the waist to the hem. Her halo hat and net gloves were blue, and she wore a corsage of pink roses.

The best man was Sidney Townsend, brother of the groom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held for immediate relatives and friends. Mrs. Harvie, mother of the bride, was gowned in navy sheer, with matching accessories, and a pink rose corsage. The groom's mother, Mrs. Townsend, wore navy blue crepe, with darker accessories.

The happy couple left later for Toronto and other points, the bride wearing a navy taffeta ensemble with matching hat, gloves, and shoes. They will reside on London Street when they return to the city.

To Prevent These Motor Accidents

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

WE PREVENT a great many diseases only to have the beneficiaries get killed in automobile accidents. They stand high in the list of causes of death, and practically all of them are perfectly preventable.

Most accidents are due to human limitations in handling any piece of machinery like an automobile. This has been proved by J. R. Hamilton and Louis L. Thurstone in a book called "Safe Driving."

Sixty per cent of all accidents occur on the highways and 40 per cent in traffic.

The highway accidents are due to the limitations of human vision. With a person driving 40 to 45 miles an hour the only spot at which he gets a clear vision of the foreground is about 80 feet ahead of the car. At 50 miles an hour, ruts and breaks in the road are not seen clearly. At 60 miles an hour the foreground is not seen at all. Even if it were, a last minute glance at trouble ahead would not help because the speed is too great to permit any action.

Good Vision Important

The importance of good vision for safe driving cannot be over-estimated. But in our craze for speed we have adopted an engine which goes too fast for the human eye to keep pace with it in safety.

In traffic, accidents are due to delayed responses. The limitations of the human being on foot, and the limitations of distance at which the life of that human being is in the driver's hands, can be measured at any given speed.

Even when a pedestrian is 107 feet in front of a moving car his life is in danger.

The conclusion is that a car driven 60 miles an hour is not safe from other cars so the best speed from the standpoint of safety is 40 to 50 miles an hour.

An unprotected intersection should not be crossed at even 20 miles per hour, unless the foot is on the brake.

There is one way to prevent automobile accidents, and that is to limit the manufacture of cars, by law, to those which cannot go faster than 40 miles per hour.

The Bath-Mortimer Wedding

A very lovely house wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents on the River Road at half-past ten on Wednesday morning, when Miss Mildred Mortimer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Mortimer, became the bride of Harvey Lloyd Bath, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bath of Leslie Avenue. Photographed on the verandah after the ceremony, the bride and groom are shown ABOVE, the former wearing her lovely bridal gown of ivory velvet. The young couple will reside on Water street, when they return from their honeymoon.

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

"Let us trust in God, and not fatigue ourselves with indiscreet and unwarrantable apprehensions. Let us depend on the Divine assistance for the conduct and issue of our lives, and let us not yield ourselves up to disconsolateness and despair."—Pascal.

Dear Friends:

This is a continuation of the article I wrote you about getting what you expect from life. You know, you cannot hold the thought of failure and success at one and the same time. If you try you only get dithery and who wants to be like that?

Naturally, when you have asked God for anything, you keep your mind open for any suggestions He may send you, so that maybe by the work of our hands or brain you may be enabled to get it. You do all in your power to help this come to pass.

But—you do not try to do what is not in your power. You do your own part, but you do not presume to even try to do His part. That is something you have nothing to do with, so keep hands off. And you stop these things coming by your utter belief that they won't come.

Ever hear anything about positive and negative magnetism? The one draws things to you, and the other keeps them away. Failure in any shape or form can be traced to lack of belief, either on your own part, or on the part of someone else making you lose faith.

Apprehensions are nothing but fears, bringing on despair, making us lose heart and stop striving. You don't get all keyed up for fear the sun won't rise tomorrow, because you know it is none of your business, and also that God has taken care of all that.

You have no doubt that Winter will follow Summer, and that by and by Spring will come once more. You never lose faith in the fact that too much cold will freeze you, or too much heat burn you. You know for sure that day will follow the longest night, and night follow the most tiresome day.

You agree enthusiastically that God has taken care of all these things, the growth of the trees, the return of the birds, the blossoming of the flowers, but you cannot get it into your head that He will take care of you.

No wonder our Lord said "Oh ye of little faith." Don't mistake me, this isn't a sermon, just showing how much you lose by your fears and unbelief. Do you think God was trying to fool you when He told you to ask and you would receive? Well then!

And when I am pounding all this home to you, I am pounding it home to myself also, for I too must renew my faith from day to day. Always there seems to be something crop up to make me doubt. And then I remember how many times, and in how many ways, God has heard and answered me.

All that I tell you along these lines is absolute truth. Not the writings of others, for things must happen to me before I put much stock in them, not what I have heard, but what I have truly experienced.

If someone gave you a recipe for a cake, but had not tried it, they could not tell you how it would turn out. Or if they gave you a route to travel to a certain place, but had never been over the ground, they could not vouch for the condition of the roads.

And so, this recipe I give you for living, this route I show you to travel to your destination, to get your desires fulfilled, to make for much more happiness, has been tried many many times through the years, and never once has it fallen down on me, never once have I left without an answer.

No psychology has ever been found that will work without getting in contact with the Divine Psychologist, so find God for yourself as a real personal God, and you will have faith in abundance. (Pronounced ay-col-o-gist.).

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

CUSTARDS THAT CURDLE

Custards that curdle are often a bother. The temperature of the water over which they are cooked and the time of cooking are the details to watch here. Water under the custard should be hot, but not boiling. And the custard should be cooked just until it coats the spoon, not a second longer. Do not wait for it to thicken, for the soft custard is rather thin, and it thickens some on cooling.

Facts and Fancies

Rosettes

One of the most fascinating gadgets and tools that make household cooking a lot of fun is the rosette iron. The iron comes with two shapes—rosette, which is a fancy medallion, and a heart-shaped shell. You can fry a number of each at one time and have on hand the makings of many interesting desserts, for the shells retain their flavor and crispness indefinitely. Dusted lightly with confectioners' sugar, rosettes are a delightful tea cake. But for a really elegant dessert, try a rosette topped with a scoop of vanilla ice cream and a few luscious berries or crushed fresh peaches.

Following is the recipe: Rosettes — Two eggs, one and one-fourth cups irradiated evaporated milk, one cup flour, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one tablespoon sugar. Beat eggs slightly. Add milk. Sift flour, then measure. Resift with salt and sugar into the egg and milk mixture. Stir until batter is smooth. It should be about the consistency of heavy cream. Dip rosette iron in the hot fat to heat, then in the batter, and fry in hot fat (350 F.) until golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper.

Should Mother Give Up Children?

By VIRGINIA LEE.

UNHAPPY MARRIED WOMAN writes as follows:

"Dear Miss Lee,—I have three beautiful small children. Have been married eight years and I am only 25.

"My husband and I quarrel frequently because he refuses to keep the children once a week and let me attend a card club which the ladies in our neighborhood have organized. He tells me often he wishes I would leave.

"He goes to shows quite often and very seldom asks me to go. Night after night I sit home while he goes out. It is hard to get a girl to come and stay with the children.

"Many times I have felt like leaving him, but how can I provide for the little ones? Besides, I am not fitted for any kind of position which brings in good money. My husband is all for himself, and sometimes I think he does not love me any more. His selfishness and grouchy disposition have turned me against him. I am not happy. Sometimes I think I cannot stand it. The children irritate and make me grouchy, but I work hard to keep our home clean and try to be all a woman should be. Would you advise me to leave?

"My husband's brother is married; they do not have any children, and they would take them if we both agreed to it. Do you think it would be best to part and give the children to them? I hate to give them up, and still I hate to stay with my husband and quarrel so much."

If you are unhappy now, my dear, you would be ten times more so if you gave up your home and children. They irritate you and you think you could do it, but I'd be willing to bet you anything that you just couldn't. Mothers are not built that way. Just go and look at them sometimes when they are clean and sweet in their beds asleep, with all their naughtiness forgotten. No matter how bad children are in the daytime, they look like little angels in their beds.

Look at them then and see if you can bear the thought of another woman being their mother. How would you feel if you knew that you would have no more right to say how they shall be brought up, or to do anything for them, no matter what might occur. Do you think you would be very happy under those circumstances? That is what it would mean if you gave them up to their aunt and uncle. Do you think this other woman could be as good to them as you?

No, I don't think you should leave. I think you should stay in your home, try not to work so hard that you get grouchy, and do your best to get along with your husband. If you married someone else you would find he, too, had faults. No man is perfect, you know.

FACTS AND FANCIES.

Shoe Shine Kit Saves Money.

The average man owns a pair of black shoes, a brown pair, a white pair, and a rough pair for work or sport. He has each of these pair shined (on an average) once every other week. One hundred and four shines at more than 10 cents per shine makes an annual shoe shine bill of more than $10!

A home shoe shine kit in the kitchen or cellar, equipped with bottles of polish, will cost less than a tenth of this sum! A bottle of black polish, one each of ox-blood, tan and brown, white polish for summer shoes and a bottle of suede polish equips the "home bootblack" to have not only his own annual shine bill, but that of the rest of the family as well!

Get the "bottle in the basement" habit now. You'll find the bottled polishes last a good while, and you'll save enough to buy a new pair of shoes every six months.

BELLEVILLE W.M.S. EXECUTIVE MEETS FOR BUSY SESSION

The September executive meeting of Belleville Presbyterial Women's Missionary society convened in Holloway street church on Wednesday last with an attendance of 18. Regret was expressed at the absence of three members who were away on holidays and Mrs. A. H. Hagerty of Belleville and Mrs. Knox of Picton through illness. Mrs. Knox is now seriously ill in Wellington hospital, in Peterborough.

The president, Mrs. Haggerty, presided at the morning and afternoon sessions, conducting the morning devotions. Her message was one of inspiration, dealing with the quality of steadfastness, it being a major factor of success in our work.

It was moved that the Senior Auxiliary of Picton be asked to appoint a corresponding secretary to supply in Mrs. Knox's place for the remainder of the year. Mrs. Wilson, who was present, was requested to take Mrs. Kerby's work. Each secretary gave reports of the work accomplished in her department so far this year.

Changes were noted in the naming of two departments, namely: Strangers is now to be known as Community Friendship, and Temperance as Temperance and Christian Citizenship. Reports were given from the branch executives, Mrs. Gordon and Mrs. Dafoe, the latter reviewing the new study book and giving a graphic description of the author, Dr. Arnup, having heard him at Whitby.

Afternoon Session.

The afternoon devotional period was taken by Mrs. Spafford, first vice-president. She had been asked to bring a message gleaned from the devotional talks at the School for Leaders, Whitby, which had been conducted by Mrs. Smythe. Mrs. Spafford's message, well given, contained a wealth of inspiration to the workers present.

Mrs. Farnsworth, as convenor of finance, in her splendid blackboard talk, urged that there be an increase in membership as well as contributions. She also gave a full outline of the new system of allocation.

Mrs. Haggarty read a letter from Grant Meiklejohn, a student missionary at Big River, Sask., telling of conditions in his field of labor. Being a son of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Meiklejohn, Ryleston, Belleville Presbyterial, this executive decided to send a bale to this mission field for distribution. It was also decided to send a letter of appreciation to Miss Sweetnam of Belleville in recognition of the splendid work she is accomplishing for missions.

Mrs. Herrington, the treasurer, showed a slight increase in her report. Plans were made for the coming of Miss Mitchell, a member of the Dominion Board to this Presbyterial for the first two weeks in October, also for the section rallies.

This meeting was dismissed by Rev. Mr. McKenzie. The ladies of Mrs. Denton's group of Holloway Street W.M.S. served an appetizing meal at the noon hour.

MISSIONARY TALK HEARD AT WARSAW

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARSAW, Sept. 23.—Prof Scott of Central India gave a very interesting and enlightening address on conditions with which the missionary there have to deal.

He began by explaining the four castes, remarking that the caste system is breaking up and was not so strict as formerly. They realize there is nothing to it. In increasing numbers they even the high caste Bramin attend the Christian colleges. Very often they wish to be baptized, not that they have the spirit of the Christian religion, though they would conform to its forms, but they think it would be better for themselves. When they are questioned it is found they are not ready for baptism. They fully realize their own old so called religion is useless, realized the Christian is better, but have not the spirit of it. The trouble now is there are not teachers enough to teach them. The crying need is for missionaries. "No need to pray for open doors; the doors are open, more missionaries are needed." Sometimes there are sixty or seventy of them at once. These people do not realize that baptism does not make a Christian, it is a sign of the Christian and the change of heart must precede the change signified by baptism.

Rally Day Held

Rally Day was held in Warsaw United Church S.S. on Sunday morning. The children assembled in the church auditorium. The official program was followed. Mr. Ivan Drain, assistant supt. was leader.

FLOOD DAMAGE RUNS TO $126.000 PORT HOPE HEARS

PORT HOPE, Sept. 23. — Flood-waters of the Ganaraska River took a damage toll of $126,000 in Port Hope for the years 1936 and 1937, it was revealed at the first fall meeting of the Port Hope Board of Trade Monday. Flood damage suffered by the Corporation alone in these two years had amounted to $12,500, it was stated.

Corporation flood costs of $7,500 and $5,000 were quoted for the two years by C. E. Stephenson, president, and these figures, challenged as not being accurate by a member of the board, were substantiated by F. B. Friend and H. R. S. Ryan, the two members of council present.

Mr. Ryan added that a careful estimate of private and Corporation loss from the 1936 flood had reached $76,000 and that, while total figures for this year's flood damage were not as easily determined, they were conservatively estimated at $50,000.

Flood damage figures were cited at the meeting when, following an outline of the proposed flood control works, presented by Mr. Ryan, the president proceeded to show that the probable town share, on a yearly basis, of the $130,000 estimated for erecting these works, would not be equal to present yearly Corporation damage costs. In addition, he maintained, private loss from floods would no longer be encountered.

A motion was passed at the meeting recommending to council that action be taken to induce the bus line operating through Port Hope to provide adequate accommodation for its passengers here, and the publicity committee was authorized to have repainted the town signs at the three highway entrances to Port Hope. The proposal now before council to establish a children's playground on Thomas Street came in for considerable discussion.

Warsaw, Oct. 3; Bethel, Oct. 17, with a supper and entertainment the following Tuesday.

The Town Hall was fairly well filled for the talking pictures on Friday evening.

There has been but little damage done by frost. In some places there has been none, in other places a little. Mr. Freeburn saw a little thin ice on Monday.

A letter has been received from Fred Platt. He is now working in the Waite-Amulet gold mines, Noranda, Quebec. Some of his friends have been inquiring for him.

DEAD LIE IN HEAPS JAP CANTON RAIDS

HONG KONG, Sept. 23—(AP)—Three hundred lives were feared lost at Canton to-day in a series of raids by Japanese bombing planes.

The fourth attack of the day and the sixth within 24 hours came in mid-afternoon. Estimates of the toll in lives and property—all unofficial—mounted hourly.

Foreign eye witnesses told of piles of bodies, most if them civilians, in the streets of the southern Chinese metropolis. Official comment on the havoc wrought by the raiders was lacking. Railway facilities were taxed by throngs trying to flee the city.

Foreign observers described the scene at the Canton railway station. Fear-crazed men, women and children sought safety under two trains standing near the station. The trains were rocked by nearby blasts while the refugees huddled under them.

Six fires sprang up in the wake of the third onslaught in which nine large warcraft dove and wheeled over the city, dumping explosives.

Eye-witnesses said four of the attacking planes were brought down either by anti-aircraft fire or Chinese planes.

Possession Of Shanghai Means Control Of Over Half Of China

This Glamorous City Is One Of Strangest In The World

By MAX LEKUS
Central Press Canadian Writer

SHANGHAI, Sept. 23.—Again, as in 1932, Chinese and Japanese troops are locked in bloody struggle over the possession of Shanghai, one of the strangest cities in the world.

What the actual worth of Shanghai means to China's economic life is not generally realized.

Shanghai, with a population of almost 4,000,000 persons, is Asia's largest port and fifth largest port in the world. It is the outlet of the Yangtze valley to the sea and thus serves the needs of 200 million people— half the population of all China.

Trade Centre

Through Shanghai pass 67 per cent. of all China's imports. Thus the possession of Shanghai means a hold on half of China.

The history of modern Shanghai is indissolubly linked with the opening of China by the western powers during the nineteenth century. In 1842 a British fleet forced the Chinese emperor to grant the opening of five harbors: Shanghai, Amoy, Foochow, Ningpoo and Cantan. In the following year the Chinese authorities set aside for the British a concession on the pestilential flats along a bend in the Whangpoo river. Thus the first part of today's international settlement was founded. In 1849 the French established their concession and in 1863 American businessmen followed.

Today, Shanghai consists of three parts: First, a greater Shanghai, which is the native city and is governed by a mayor appointed by the central government in Nanking. Next comes the French concession under the jurisdiction of the French consul-general. Finally, there is the international settlement governed by a council of 12. The members of this council are elected by taxpayers, with one vote for each parcel of assessed realty. Today's council is composed of five Britishers, two Americans, two Japanese and three Chinese.

Chinese Move In

The presence of the Chinese in the council is due to the fact that the international settlement lost much of its exclusive foreign character during the second half of the last century. Prior to the Taiping rebellion, the international settlement was inhabited chiefly by foreign business men with native servants. But after that event more and more Chinese came to seek shelter in the concession and in due time they acquired real estate and became represented in the council.

Peace in the foreign settlements of Shanghai is preserved by that unique private military army, the Shanghai Volunteer corps. It was founded in 1853 by a number of British and American residents as protection against Chinese rebels who had just taken Nanking and Chinkang and were threatening Shanghai, where the Imperial army had dug in for a desperate stand.

But soon the Volunteer corps found that it had the most trouble with the Imperial Chinese troops who were getting out of control. The following year, in 1854, the Volunteer corps sent an ultimatum to its commander to withdraw from the vicinity of the international and French settlement. This the Chinese refused to do. Whereupon 300 Volunteers, aided by some rebel troops, attacked the Imperial troops numbering 10,000.

Volunteers Win

The rest was a complete victory for the Volunteer corps which lost but two men, yet was equipped with nothing better than muzzle-loading rifles.

Today the Volunteer corps totals 6,000, including 200 Americans. Other units are formed by the British, French, Portuguese, Jews, Japanese and Chinese as well as White Russians, who constitute the only paid unit of the organization. Each member keeps uniform and rifle in his home and may be summoned at any moment from office, party or bed. Usually, six shots from one of the cruisers in the harbor are the signal to convene. The duty of the Volunteer corps is to protect the settlement until forces from the cruisers have been landed. Besides, the Volunteer corps acts as auxiliary police force in times of crises.

No Melting Pot

As a city of races from almost the entire earth, Shanghai sharply differs from another city in that it is not a melting pot. Here races keep to each other in strictly separate groups. Intermarriages are rare.

In the International settlement there are more than a million Chinese, and together with the Japanese they constitute more than 96 per cent. of the total population. Nevertheless, the Europeans numbering some 60,000 own three-quarters of the total real estate.

In more than one respect Shanghai may claim the reputation of the world's most colorful city.

The Bund and Nanking road, the latter called the "Broadway of the Orient", are the centres of business and amusement. In the Shanghai club, the world's largest bar may be found, measuring half a city block. The city's Whangpoo river, though always filled with a mass of junks, sampans and other small craft, is so narrow that if an ocean liner turns, its bow and stern almost touch the opposite banks.

Many Contrasts

The streets and avenues of the international settlement are famous for their splendor and spaciousness. But one may walk merely half a block and be lost in a maze of narrow Chinese streets or come upon Chinese houses surrounded by evil-smelling ditches filled with the carcasses of dogs, cats and pigs.

Engulfed in war and devastation this most glamorous city of the Orient now is swept by fire and destruction. But, as in the past, Shanghai probably will emerge again as the "Crossroads of the Orient".

BELLANCA PLANE PLANT PLANNED

TORONTO, Sept. 23.—Some 500 Canadians may get employment if plans of Frank M. Bellanca, airplane inventor and designer, mature, to establish a factory in Canada for construction of airplanes which, it is claimed, will revolutionize the industry.

Bellanca's plans call for a new disposition of the engines, which will be set two-in-line, or tandem, at the exact centre of gravity. Instead of being carried on the wings. Engine drag will be reduced to a minimum. Better visibility and increased military efficiency are claimed.

The machines will carry one or two pilots, and while designed particularly for military use are expected to be of equal service commercially.

Orders are now being negotiated for a hundred of these planes at a cost to different governments of $70,000 each. These sales, if the factory plans go ahead, would bring some $7,000,000 to Canada and the aeronautical industry.

TWEED LINEMAN'S DEATH ACCIDENT

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Sept. 23.—The inquest was held on Tuesday evening, in the Township Hall, Tweed, into the death of John Foster Stokes, Tweed, who was engaged as lineman by the Tweed Hydro-Electric System. Evidence of the workmen employed with Stokes at the time of the other Hydro employees, and of Mr. Smith of the Belleville Hydro System was taken.

The jury empanelled to hear the case returned the verdict that "John Foster Stokes was electrocuted while employed as lineman on September 7th."

No blame was attached to the Hydro employees, as under the circumstances, no way of discovering the live wire could be found unless a test of the circuit was made before commencing work on the line. In work of the nature on which Stokes was employed, it was not customary to make a test of the line, as the switch was open, showing that the line was dead.

Canadian Veterans March In Huge Legion Parade

Helping their American brethren stage the greatest parade that Broadway has seen in a decade is this thin line of Canadian delegates to the American Legion convention in New York. In the pictured background, the massed Broadway thousands watching the parade, liberally sprinkled with the old soldiers themselves out for a day and a night of fun, see a marching column that eclipsed anything the metropolis has staged for some time. An estimated 300,000 legionnaires were gathered in the city for their annual conclave.

The unseasonal heat was a boon to corn belt farmers. It hastened maturing of late corn before the arrival of the first killing frosts.

the Liquor question saying that he was in favor of a province-wide referendum with a majority vote to decide the matter. He urged the people not to be fooled by the $5.00 reduction in automobile licenses, saying that the revenue from the motorist in the last 29 months had been 62 million dollars, of which only 11 million had been put back on the highways in the same period. "Hepburn chooses to do things that are not in accord with the democratic principle of the people of this province," declared Mr. Willmott, referring to the amendment whereby the city of Galt had been opened to the liquor interest despite the fact that it had voted dry.

"The timber steal" in the north and the canal and roads that Hepburn was constructing to facilitate the transportation of the pulpwood which had been sold to American interests for $1.00 per cord "when it was never sold to Canadian firms for less than $1.60," formed the main theme of Major J. F. Belford's address.

N. Alex. McColl acted as chairman for the meeting, and Mayor F. F. Long welcomed the visitors on behalf of the corporation.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP ENEMIES ADVISING HYDRO SAYS ROWE

stitute succeeded the National Electric Association which, Mr. Rowe said, was "notorious as an enemy of public ownership in the United States."

Directors he referred to, he said, were George O. Muhlfield, vice-president of Stone and Webster and a member of the Edison Electric board of trustees; G. H. Clifford, also a member of the Edison Electric Institute operating committee; and David N. Debard, who besides being a Stone and Webster director was chairman of the Edison Electric Institute sales committee.

The premier refused to deliver a statement by competent engineers denying a power shortage faced the province, continued Mr. Rowe, because the government head was aware of the situation. He challenged the premier to deny he was negotiating for more Quebec power after cancelling contracts with Quebec firms.

Shortage In Niagara

In an attempt to support his power shortage charge, Mr. Rowe read from the Ontario Electric News and Engineering Magazine of Aug. 15. The Conservative leader said an article in this publication claimed the Niagara system faced a shortage unless action was taken shortly.

In his ePtrolia address, Mr. Rowe accused the government of spending large sums of money on the eve of elections as a bid for power. In every riding where a cabinet minister resided a hospital was being erected, he claimed, and $35,000,000 was being expended on highways.

In referring to steps a Conservative government would take to help agriculture, Mr. Rowe declared a zoning system to determine the best seed grain and livestock districts in the province would be established if his party was elected. Agriculture grants would be restored, marketing facilities increased and a system of cold storage warehouses considered.

In collecting overdue succession duties from old estates, Mr. Hepburn claimed he had helped taxpayers of all Canada as well as Ontario. Information obtained in estate investigations was turned over to federal income tax officers and it was often found income taxes as well as succession duties had been evaded.

From four estates on which Ontario had collected millions in succession duties, he understood the Dominion had also collected about $4,000,000 in income taxes, he said. Al Alexandria, in an earlier speech, Premier Hepburn stated action would shortly be started against a second large Ottawa estate to collect $1,300,000 claimed due the province. Already steps have been taken to collect $3,500,000 alleged due by the John R. Booth estate there.

Mr. Hepburn speaks this afternoon at Kemptville, home town of former Premier G. Howard Ferguson. Tonight he speaks in Brockville.

TEMPERANCE FEDERATION TO QUERY CANDIDATES

Abolition Of Beverage Rooms And Wine Stores Is Sought By Peterborough Organization

Federation Would Remove Liquor Question From Party Politics — Extend Local Option

Abolition of beverage rooms and wine stores, extension of local option privileges to counties and removal of the temperance issue from party politics will be the price of the Peterborough City and County temperance vote on Oct. 6, an announcement from the Peterborough City and County Temperance Federation today indicated.

Questions to determine their stands on the temperance question will be submitted all three candidates in the Peterborough riding by the Federation and the answers published for all to know their intentions, the announcement states. This decision was made at a special meeting of the Federation executive under the chairmanship of G. A. Brethen, ex-M.P. of Norwood, at the Y.M.C.A. Wednesday afternoon.

A statement from Secretary Homer Borland read:

"The meeting was large and representative of the whole riding of the County of Peterborough. Members were present from most townships with a goodly number from the city.

"It was decided unanimously that a strong committee be formed under the chairmanship of Mr. G. A. Brethen of Norwood, an ex-M.P., to interview the three candidates and ask them their replies to the following proposals:

"Will you support the abolition of beverage rooms and wine stores, either through direct act of legislature, or by a province-wide referendum on a majority basis?

"Recognizing that under improved modes of transportation and the consequent widening of the area affected by each liquor-selling unit, and that adjacent municipalities suffer from a nuisance against which they have no redress, and that without prejudice to municipal local option, counties should be given power on a majority vote to prevent the establishment or operation of Government liquor stores within their bounds. Will you support legislation to this effect?

"That with a view to the removal of the temperance issue from party politics and the co-operation of the best elements of all parties, will you assert your purpose to reserve liberty on this question and to hold yourself free from dictation or control by your party, the caucus or your leader?

"Do you promise to confer and co-operate (as is done in the British House of Commons) with like-minded members of all parties in the Legislature to secure the enactment of the most progressive temperance legislation that can be obtained?

"The answers to these proposals by the three candidates, will be given full publicity so the whole riding may know wherein the men stand."

LANG YOUTH HAS HAND TORN OFF BY STRAW CUTTER

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 23.— Gordon Edwards of Lang, Ont., met with an accident on Monday afternoon when his right hand was torn off above the wrist in the straw cutter of a threshing machine.

The accident occurred while Mr. Edward was assisting John Murphy, of Lakefield, with whom he was employed, at threshing on the farm owned by Kenneth Eason in Otonabee township.

The men had been cutting loose straw in the threshing machine and Mr. Murphy went outside to turn down the motor. While he was gone Mr. Edwards shut down the lever operating the knives, and opened the door to the enclosure where the knives used in cutting the straw are enclosed. Seeing pieces of straw caught between the blades he put in his hand to draw them out, when the blades caught his fingers, cutting them, and gradually drew the whole hand into the machine. The hand was torn completely from the arm, well above the wrist and Mr. Edwards fell back against a pile of straw which was near.

He was given first aid and rushed to Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, where he is reported to be improving as quickly as can be expected, under the circumstances.

Mr. Edwards did not lose consciousness during the accident, nor afterwards, and walked into the hospital to present himself to the doctor. He is in his early twenties. OBIT

WOMEN DEMAND UNION-MADE GOODS

A move to persuade storekeepers in Peterborough to carry only union-manufactured goods on their shelves was agreed upon by wives of union Auburn and Bonner-Worth workers who organized a women's auxiliary to the Peterborough local of the United Textile Workers at a meeting in the Paragon Hall on Wednesday night.

Thirty charter-members at the meeting pledged themselves to patronize only union shops as far as possible and to demand union-made goods bearing union labels. The meeting resolved that much strength could be lent to the organized labor movement in Canada by such action on the part of the women in union families, the women controlling an important portion of the purchasing power.

The new auxiliary is the first of its kind in Peterborough. The thirty present last evening were confident they could swell their membership to 500.

Mrs Arthur Snowden of George Street was elected president. Other officers named: Mrs. K. Rodney, vice-president; Mrs. B. Barns, secretary; Mrs. Frank Lunday treasurer; Mrs. Walter Elliott, social convenor.

It was announced meetings would be held weekly.

MAINTAINS 'VET' IS KIND OF MAN TO BE INSPECTOR

One of the applicants for the post of sanitary inspector is Dr. Arthur M. Johnston, veterinary surgeon, who in a conversation with The Examiner yesterday confirmed the property committee's opinion that he could not afford to give his entire time to the civic position.

Several of the aldermen said Dr. Johnston could earn as much in three months in the practice of his profession as the inspectorship would pay him in twelve.

"I thought the council would place its health department on the same basis as Oshawa, Kitchener and some others of the smaller cities," Dr. Johnston said. "Part of the work requires posting quarantine cards, inspecting lanes and a lot of work of that kind. I wouldn't take that part of the job, but the more important duties actually call for a specially trained man who knows the conditions that should prevail on dairy farms, how to analyze milk, how to determine the purity of all meats that are sold for public consumption, cleanliness in public eating places, and a lot of details that come within the studies of veterinaries.

I know I could look after that part of the work, and most of my own calls, and give the city a service they are not getting now. The only way to get it is from specially trained men. Other cities of this kind realized long ago that you can't expect a back lane inspector to have a college training. The man who is qualified to look after this branch of the community's health would be wasting his time chasing after quarantine placards. Members of the council must know that, too, and also that even the Medical Officer of Health can't be expected to know some of the things which are not part of his training but which "vets" get in their studies."

HARRY HUNT IS FOUND NOT GUILTY

Harry Hunt, 21, of this city was to-day acquitted on a charge of unlawfully wounding following hearing before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. The accused was represented by A. L. Elliott. He offered no defence.

The charge against Hunt arose as the result of the wounding on the night of August 31 last of B. E. Morrison of Lindsay. Morrison, a brakeman employed by the C.N.R., was riding on top of a freight car when he was shot and wounded in the left forearm by the pellet from an air rifle, when the train was in the vicinity of Westcott street.

Reviewing the evidence, His Worship declared it was true that Hunt did have an air gun which he was using in the vicinity of the place of the accident, but that in itself was not sufficient to prove his guilt.

Commenting on the evidence of Constable John Deannard, who was on station duty when Hunt walked into the police station on the morning of September 1 and asked, "Are you looking for me," the Magistrate said it might be true that Hunt had said "yes" when asked if he had done the shooting, but His Worship believed the question asked by police was very inconclusive and did not specify what shooting.

"There is not the definite, clear-cut evidence, necessary to justify a conviction," the Magistrate ruled in acquitting the accused.

3 ABERHART ACTS BAR COURT TESTS

EDMONTON, Sept. 23.—(CP). — Three new Alberta orders-in-council are aimed to prevent court actions testing validity of provincial legislation as provided in the amendment to the Judicature Act disallowed Aug. 17 by the Dominion Government along with two Banking Acts.

Signed by Lieutenant-Governor J. C. Bowen, the orders were announced last night by Premier Aberhart. They amend consolidated rules of the Alberta Supreme Court under authority of the Judicature Act.

Clerks of the court are prohibited in one order from entering or filing any statement of claim or any other notice intended to institute court action testing any provincial legislation.

Another extends provisions to prohibit starting of court actions and the third amends the original order to include court registrars as well as clerks.

Provision is made for starting actions to test validity of provincial laws only when the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council grants a flat.

Premier Aberhart said the orders change rules of court over which the province has authority under the Judicature Act. It was believed the Dominion government cannot disallow that Act because it has been in force more than a year.

The Judicature Act amending bill, bankers' licensing legislation and the civil and property rights bill disallowed by the Federal government were all passed at the August special session of the Legislature. Yesterday's orders did not touch on the latter two disallowed bills.

Conservative Party Denies Circulating Pamphlets In City

Attack On Separate School Supporters Is Called Un-Canadian

Emmett F. Sheehy, recording secretary of the Peterborough Liberal-Conservative Association, in a statement to the Examiner to-day declared that the Conservative party had nothing whatever to do with the pamphlets attacking Separate school supporters which were placed in many homes in Peterborough on Wednesday.

Mr. Sheehy's statement is:

"I have been told that there is a whispering campaign against the Conservative Party in this riding. One of the accusations is that it has been distributing pamphlets attacking Separate School supporters.

"I am a member of the Conservative Association, and also a Separate School supporter. As such, I wish to state definitely that the Conservative Party is in no way responsible for any such conduct. The matter was never discussed at any Executive meeting, and any pamphlets which are being distributed are being distributed by a small group of self-appointed individuals and has nothing to do with the Conservative Party.

"I have just received one of these pamphlets and it says it is published by a public school defence league. This league is not incorporated, and is merely a group of people who feel that there should be no division of public corporation taxes between the school systems.

"The Conservative Party did not authorize the publication of such pamphlets particularly since it contains several serious mistakes in the statement of its facts, for which it would be suicide for any political party to assume responsibility.

"There are about eight thousand Roman Catholics in the City of Peterborough alone, and in fairness to Mr. Lancaster, and Mr. Rowe, the voters should not be allowed to be deceived into thinking that they or the majority of the public school supporters approve of the slanders and false statements contained in certain pamphlets secretly distributed throughout the riding.

"These pamphlets are very biased and very misleading. To clear up only a few of the misstatements contained in the pamphlets, I make the following observations:—

1. The Privy Council, the highest court in the British Empire has already decided that there is not one but that there are "two" common school systems in Ontario, and that "each" has equal constitutional rights. Mr. Rowe has never stated that he would not give Separate School supporters their constitutional rights, and that is all the Separate School supporters are entitled to have. Until Mr. Rowe, or the Conservative party officially states that they are not going to give the Separate Schools their constitutional rights, neither he nor the Conservative party should be criticized.

2. An advertisement in the press marked VOTE CONSERVATIVE has nothing to do with the Conservative party or the Conservative Executive as can be noted by the signature at the bottom of the advertisement. Many voters have mentioned the subject to me and seem to think it is an official Conservative advertisement.

3. The advertisement above referred to contained false statements that hundreds of thousands of public school dollars have gone to denominational schools. The amount received by them was negligible as Peterborough and Ottawa were the principal cities where it made a substantial difference [illegible] and then it only made a difference of less than one-tenth of a cent on the tax rate.

4. There are so many wrong statements in the literature above-referred to which can easily be disproved that I will not take up more space here but merely refer the public to the pamphlet "Separate School Question" which may be obtained from any Separate School Board. It deals with the matter in a friendly explanatory way which is not offensive to the Public School supporter as is the pamphlet issued by the self-appointed Public School League.

5. With thousands of people out of work and relief costs mounting and other emergencies I think it is time that the citizens of Ontario pay more attention to National and Provincial problems than bickering over fractions on the tax rate. This question should not be discussed during the heat of an election but should be left to the leaders of both parties to deal with the question on a non-party basis.

6. There are very seldom more than eleven or twelve Catholic Members in the Ontario Government, leaving about eighty members belonging to other denominations and it is always a source of amusement to find some people thinking that in a parliament composed of eighty or ninety per cent Protestants they would permit any injustice to Public Schools.

7. In such a measure did pass it would merely be a question of a year or so before the vast majority of Protestant Members in the House would remedy the grievance.

"In fairness to the Liberal Candidate I think he knows no more about this un-Canadian campaign than Mr. Lancaster.

"In conclusion, my own opinion is that the small amount of public corporation tax, which the Separate Schools would obtain, is not worth disrupting the Province of Ontario and the good feeling which should exist between all religious denominations."

Y. W. LAUNCHES PUBLIC APPEAL FOR $50,000

Committees Named To Make Canvass

At a joint luncheon meeting Wednesday comprised of the Finance Committee and a sub-committee of the Business Men's Advisory Council of the Y.W.C.A., definite plans were made for launching of a general public appeal October 23 to 30.

In addition to the members of the above committees, His Worship, Mayor G. A. Macdonald, Senator Iva Fallis, J. J. Duffus, M.P., and other leading citizens attended the luncheon. G. A. Gillespie, chairman of the Men's Advisory Committee of the Y.W.C.A. presided.

The chairman in his remarks assured the ladies that the business men of Peterborough would rally to their aid and assist them in the task of raising this money, because they realized the splendid work the Y.W.C.A. was doing for the citizens of Peterborough, both spiritual and educational, but like many other small institutions, who during recent years had to practice the most rigid economies in administration, the Y.W.C.A. had now arrived at the point where necessary building repairs and other extension should be made.

Confident of Result

Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner, president of the Y.W.C.A. welcomed the guests and expressed the thanks of the Board of Directors for the interest shown and kind offer of help, concluding by saying that she was confident the citizens of Peterborough would respond if a sufficient number of voluntary workers were obtained to call on them.

Miss Leta Brownscombe, General Secretary, briefly outlined the history and accomplishments of the Y.W.C.A., stating that aside from a small annual appeal made to help balance the budget, this was the first time in thirty years that the Y.W.C.A. had ever made a major public appeal for assistance. She also pointed out the need in all departments for repairs, such as the swimming pool, gymnasium, new recreation room and club rooms, and general decorating, and added that $50,000 was only a minimum. She stated that if the objective was exceeded, the money could be expended most judiciously in general renovation of the present building, adding that such repairs must be made if the work of the Y.W.C.A. was to be kept up to the recognized standard of efficiency.

Fred L. Roy, as his contribution to the effort, presented a motion picture in colors showing camp life of the Y.W.C.A. this summer, which was a real inspiration to those who viewed it, and splendidly photographed.

Mr. Stalford, the campaign director, gave a report as to the activities of the various subsidiary committees that had volunteered their services, and announced the following campaign organization:

Hon. Pres.—Mrs. George A. Macdonald, Chicago, Ill.

Hon. Chairman—W. G. Morrow.

LACK OF WEEDS NOTED IN CROP

MACLEOD, Sept. 23 (CP)—Thinking of the abundant supply of moisture received this year, farmers of Southwestern Alberta are not so much surprised at the good crops they are harvesting as they are at the fact those same crops are free of weeds.

And, the farmers say, the explanation is quite simple:

The month of May was dry and the months following it wet. It seems that Tumbling Mustard and Russian Thistle, the two most persistent weeds, thrive better in dry weather than they do in wet. In many districts Russian Thistles were practically exterminated by the rains.

It was the same basic fact that solved the grasshopper problem for the farmers. For four straight years preceding 1937, the locusts took a heavy toll, even gnawing into the gardens and flower beds around farm homes. But the rain put them down for the count. Poison bait was used early in the year, but the total amount used was, in some districts, the smallest in seven years.

To the ranchers of the district this fall is the direct opposite to last. Then cattle were being shipped out as fast as railways could handle them, out of the drought district where they would be doomed to starvation during the winter.

This year ranchers are taking in as many cattle as they can, preparing to fatten them on the lush, uncut grass and get them ready for butchering before the fall of snow.

JUICY STEAKS BACK ON MENU

KENORA, Ont., Sept. 23—(CP).—Timourous souls that shy at the idea of visiting an up-to-date dentist's office, would undoubtedly balk at the prospect of having a set of false teeth fitted with no other instruments than a screwdriver and a pound of beeswax — but Hec Guane, northern guide, had gone steakless too long.

Two American dentists from Milwaukee, Dr. J. R. Vallier and J. W. Goggin, lunred to Canada by prospects of muskie-fishing, flew into the Cameron Camp region by plane, loaded down with fishing tackle but none of the tools of their profession.

By a lake near Kenora they came across toothless Hec Guane, rapidly rebelling at the continued fare of soft food and gladly willing to promise anything for a juicy steak and the means of eating it.

The doctors took up the challenge to their professional skill and sent their pilot to town with orders to pick up some wax for a mould. The pilot, knowing more about planes than teeth, bought beeswax.

Undauted, the dentists went to work with the beeswax and a screwdriver, moulding and shaping until Guane's jaws ached. Soon a workable mould was completed and the dentists went back to their fishing.

Their holiday over they flew south with Hec's mould in their dunnage bag. Not many days later the pilot delivered a package to the guide. Hec opened it and beamed at the tight of a shiny set of store teeth.

"Here's another parcel, Hec," added the pilot. Hec opened it. Three pounds of red, raw steak. The guide swung about and ran for the cabin and the cook stove.

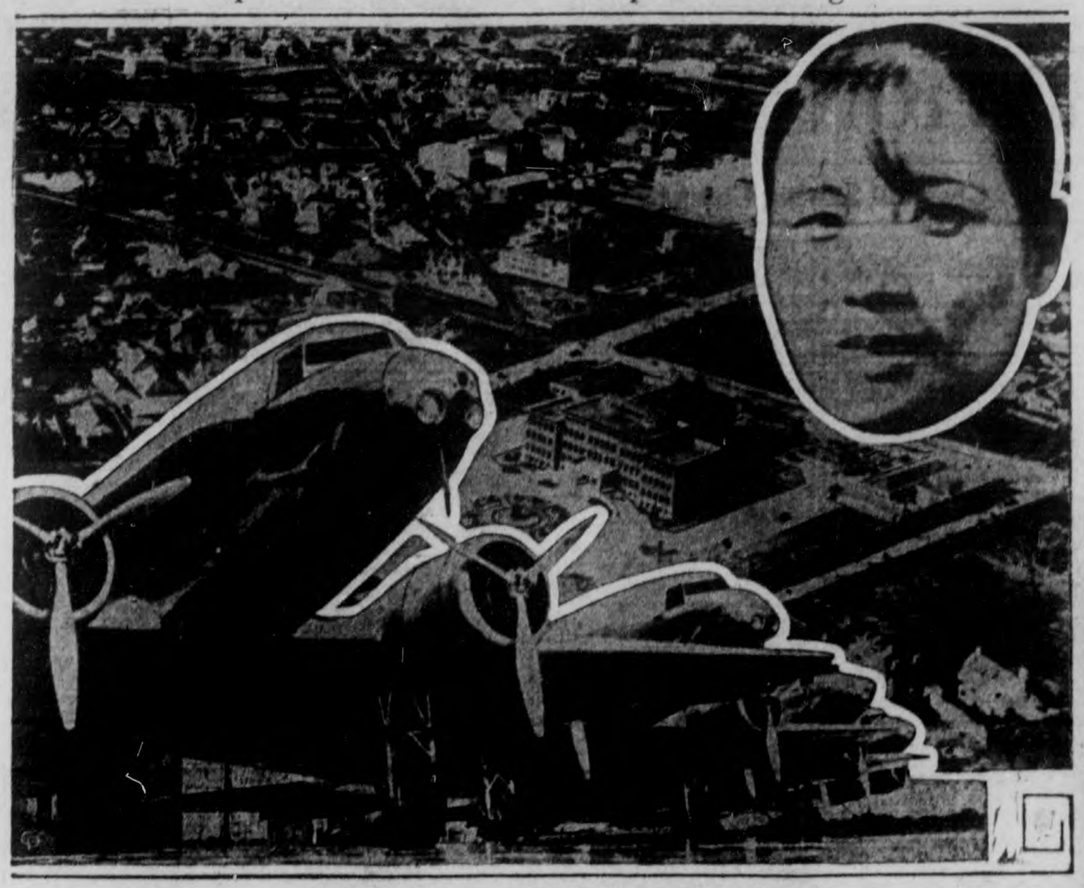
Jap Bombers Start Raids To Wipe Out Nanking



Defying British, French and American protests against the barbarity of their methods, and Anglo-French warnings that Tokio would be held responsible for loss of life or damage to property, Japan's aerial armada grounded for days by muddy fields, finally unleashed a furious bomb assault upon Nanking, China's nationalist capital, killing, wounding and maiming hundreds of civilians. It was the opening raid in an aerial campaign which the Japanese high command frankly declares is intended to annihilate the city of 1,000,000 people. A line-up of heavy Jap bombers such as the ships which swept over Nanking is shown here, with an aerial view of the city in the background. Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek, wife of the generalissimo, who is shown inset, heads the Chinese air forces who must face the task of halting Nippon's flying legions. Unrestricted bombing of all important Chinese cities has been threatened by the invaders.

TINY VESSEL HAS LENGTHY VOYAGE

WEYMOUTH, N.S., Sept. 23 (CP).—The story of how a tiny full-rigged model ship, 18 inches in length, with the name of Bluebell on her bow, sailed over 1,000 miles of ocean was related here by A. L. LeBlanc and Isaac Comeau.

Last spring, just after the Coronation, Fred Robbins, Lynn, Mass., launched a tiny bark in Lynn, complete in every detail, even tiny men aboard—seven of them—and just let it sail away for the pleasure of finding how far she would go. In the craft's hold he had placed a bottle with a note inside requesting the finder to notify him.

One day Comeau and LeBlanc, two visitors from the United States, were strolling along the shore of St. Mary's Bay and were surprised to see a small sailing vessel high and dry on the bank where it had been tossed by the breakers. It was the Bluebell.

On closer inspection they found the bottle with the note inside, so they wrote Robbins, telling him of their discovery.

But tragedy had visited the stalwart bark—one of the able seamen had been lost overboard—only six of them were left to share in the glory of the willy-nilly voyage.

Robbins estimated the boat had sailed 1,000 miles, although she had only travelled 300 miles as the crow flies. But the vessel must have been blown by the north, south, east and west winds for weeks and therefore had sailed and resailed over the same water many times.

The Bluebell was in good condition, considering her trying voyage; her paint faded a bit maybe, but her rails intact, her three masts still sturdy and the anchor snug in its place.

Robbins presented the venturesome vessel to its finders.

New Ghost Town Is Growing Out Of Coast Coal Centre

Even School May Shut Down as Corbin's Population Drifts Away.

CORBIN, B.C., Sept. 23—(CP).—Loneliness, with a steady, creepy tread, is settling on Corbin. Overnight it has all but turned into a "ghost" town.

Two years ago more than 300 men were employed at the coal mine which provided the town's "meal ticket." When school closed at the end of June this year, there was only one teacher and 16 pupils left. It was not known if there would be sufficient pupils to warrant its re-opening after the mid-summer vacation.

A dairyman used to have a thriving business. He had a horse and cart to deliver his products and a large herd of cows. Now only two cows remain. He sells a dozen quarts of milk, some days. He delivers them on foot and uses the horse to skid out logs for mine props.

Isolated in the south-east corner of British Columbia, Corbin has a railroad which connects it with a line of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Crow's Nest. But the tracks of the railway are covered with rust. Its operators were given permission by the Railway Commission to remain closed for five years. In the quiet, sombre-looking roundhouse four locomotives which used to haul out long strings of coal cars lie mute.

There is also an automobile road, kept in good repair and used as a pleasure drive by residents of the Crow's Nest Pass. A Chinese cafe still operates. But alongside it there is building after building, empty and deserted.

The transition started two years ago, shortly after a strike was called at the mine by union leaders. Trouble between different factions ended in a riot. Bullets flew and many were wounded and hurt. Although the differences were patched up and a game of baseball played to show that violence had come to an end, the pits were never re-opened.

The miners refused to sign an agreement with the company. The mine was closed and has remained closed since. There are only two caretakers at the mine buildings now. They patrol the property steadily, working 12 hour shifts. Although they remain optimistic, and hope that some day the mine will be re-opened, most people of this district think the rows of filmsy homes and company stores will remain vacant, for a few years at least.

To them Corbin's future is an open book. It is going to become a Ghost Town.

Some of the rare queer fish, caught off Whitby, England, were a foot apart.

Plan Consolidate Revenue Branches

REGINA, Sept. 23—(CP).—Intention of the Saskatchewan government to consolidate its principal revenue branches was announced here by Premier Patterson.

The consolidation will embrace the education tax, motor license, gasoline tax, income tax, succession duties and others under one administrative office.

Premier Patterson made the announcement after noting what he termed "extravagant statements" respecting administration of the new two per cent. sales tax for education purposes. No additional clerical or bookkeeping staff would be required because of the education tax, although a few chartered accountants and experienced auditors would be necessary, he said.

"When consolidation has been completed, the total number in the provincial tax commissioner's office, including the administration of the education tax, will be less than the number now employed with these various branches under separate administration," said Premier Patterson.

WARM WELCOME FOR BRIDAL PAIR

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Sept. 23. — A pleasant surprise was prepared on Monday evening for the Rev. D. K. Perrie of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, and his bride, formerly Miss Marion Hamilton, B.A., of Chesterville, who have just recently returned from their honeymoon, when an informal reception was held in the basement of the church in their honor. Most of the congregation were present for this special social event, sponsored by the members of the Ladies' Aid and the Young People's Society.

The room was made cheerful and home-like, the windows and chandeliers being decorated in a color scheme of blue and white. A large table covered with a lovely silk lace cloth and centered with a silver basket of deep red asters was laid with its silver services, and during the luncheon tea was poured by the president of the Ladies' Aid, Mrs. W. S. Fife and by the past-president Mrs. W. M. Fowlds.

As Rev. Mr. Perrie announced the meeting on Sunday as the first one for the fall term under the Y.P.S., it was a great surprise when he arrived and found preparations had been made in honor of himself and bride. However, the regular meeting was held and Mrs. Stewart Whitred as president welcomed all who attended. "Tell me the Old, Old Story" was sung, and was followed by a suitable and comic reading entitled "A Preacher's Wife" by Jim Moore. Miss Mary Puffer, one of the village's musicians, gave a piano solo, "Song of the Brook." Mrs. Jessie Whitred's humorous reading, "So Did I," was followed by a closing number, a duet, "I Love You Truly," by Mrs. Reta Johnston and Mrs. Stewart Whitred, with Miss M. Puffer as accompanist.

Rev. and Mrs. Perrie were then asked to come to the front, and on behalf of the congregation Mrs. W. S. Fife read a suitable address welcoming Mrs. Perrie to their church and congratulating the bride and groom on their marriage. Master Billie McEachnie then presented them with a beautiful triple-light three-candle floor lamp, and Mrs. S. Whitred presented the bride with a lovely bouquet of flowers.

After all joined heartily in singing "For they are jolly good fellows," Rev. Mr. Perrie on behalf of himself and bride graciously acknowledged the kindness shown them.

Groups were then formed and dainty refreshments served.

Howson, superintendent of the local Sunday School led in the devotional period and was assisted by Rev. E. M. Cook, pastor.

On Thursday afternoon a number of the ladies from Bensfort motored to Stewart Hall where they attended a "Hostess Tea" sponsored by the W.M.S. of Stewart Hall. FAVOR OTTAWA'S CONTROL OF RADIO

ST. JOHN'S Nfld., Sept. 23 (CP) — Government ownership of radio stations in Newfoundland was advocated at a public meeting held here and addressed by Commissioner of Finance J. H. Penson, and Secretary for Posts and Telegraphs G. D. Fraser.

Finance Commissioner Penson outlined three possible policies: a program of laissez-faire on the part of the government; one of subsidizing private enterprise; or the establishment of the government broadcast service operated under official control.

Opinion in the Outports of the country was definitely in favor of government-operated stations, for it would provide a better service for them, Mr. Penson said, adding that he "had no doubt if a government radio service were established, the quality of broadcast programs in Newfoundland would be improved, if only for the reason that it would have at its disposal a considerable revenue in radio license fees."

When the question of policy was put to the meeting, approval in principle was given that of the government-operated stations.

THIRTEEN SEEN AS LUCKY OMEN BY ASTRONOMER

VANCOUVER, Sept. 23—(CP). —"Thirteen must be our lucky number," commented Dr. S. A. Mitchell, noted scientist and astronomer, when he landed here after leading an expedition into the mid-Pacific to view the eclipse of the sun last June.

He said he landed on Canton Island May 13 and set up camp with 13 scientists and 13 of a crew. But despite this apparent augury of hard luck, Dr. Mitchell's party took some very effective pictures of the eclipse.

Born in Kingston, Ont., Dr. Mitchell graduated from Queen's University in 1894 with his master of arts degree. He received his doctorate from John Hopkins University in 1896 and is now director of the Leander McCormick Observatory, Virginia.

"Throughout the total phase of the eclipse of the skies over the island were clear and free of haze and our observations were made under conditions that have rarely been excelled," he said.

The expedition travelled 6,500 miles to see the sun eclipse for 213 seconds. It was undertaken by the National Geographical Society and the United States' navy with Dr. Mitchell as scientific leader.

Leaving Honolulu May 6, the scientists travelled 1,700 miles on the U.S.S. Avocet to spend 27 days on Canton Island in the vicinity where Amelia Earhart was believed lost on her round-the-world flight.

"It is the photographs which count," the doctor said. "Probably the full results of our work will not be known for several years as pictures will have to be scrutinized time and again.

"Our expedition was memorable in that we saw the longest duration of totality of any eclipse in 1,200 years—three and one half minutes. We found that the sun when eclipsed has a total illumination approximately half that of a full moon."

Three Brothers Charged With Murder For Avenging Death

Three brothers who avenged the death of Mrs. Verna Garr Taylor by shooting to death Brig.-Gen. Henry H. Denhardt, 61, at Shelbyville, Ky., were charged with murder. The three brothers—Jack, Dr. E. S. and Roy Garr—fired at Denhardt as he and his chief counsel, Rodes K. Myers, were walking to their hotel on the eve of Denhardt's second trial for the death of the comely widow, shown in the lower RIGHT. The jury had disagreed in a previous trial. The Garr brothers, shown in the upper RIGHT as they appeared in court, indicated a self defence plea, as they told police they believed Denhardt was reaching for a gun. The photograph in the lower LEFT shows spectators gathered about the front of the hotel and Denhardt's body lying at the door. He was shot as he attempted to open the front door of the hotel.

CHIEF IS NAMED BY INDIAN TRIBE

KAMLOOPS, B.C., Sept. 23—(CP)—A chieftain guides the Thompson nation once more.

For the first time in 32 years, chiefs, watchmen and councillors of Ti'Kapamukcheen gathered at interior Lytton, B.C., recently in a three-day council which discussed matters vital to Thompson Indians and elected John Raphael as chief, the first since the death of David Spintlum, who negotiated peace between his tribe and the British government.

Indians discussed their relations with the department of Indian Affairs at Ottawa, and drew up a resolution seeking withdrawal of a 1920 amendment which permits mining on Indian lands.

The resolution wants mining permitted only under consent of Indians and the Indian agent, with a fair share of profits paid the tribe in return for their land.

The council also sought special medical attention for Indians, and spoke of appointing a committee to discuss the welfare of their children.

A report on their meeting was given to Rt. Rev. G. A. Wells, C.M.G., M.A., D.D., who conducted a service in Indian and English, at which chiefs swore in Indian allegiance to God, the King and the Thompson nation.

MOTION IS DEFEATED

WELLINGTON, Sept. 23 (CP Cable).—The New Zealand House of Representatives today defeated, 52 to 17, a motion of no confidence declaring Prime Minister Michael Save's Labor Government had encroached on the rights of private enterprise, had failed to deal with unemployment or reduce the cost of living, and had jeopardized the position of the Dominion's manufacturers because increased costs made it impossible for them to compete with imported goods.

The motion was moved last week by Opposition Leader Adam Hamilton.

Campbellford's Oldest Resident Recalls Pioneer Days

Mrs. Jane Gay Celebrated Her 96th Birthday This Month

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 23. — Monday afternoon The Examiner had the pleasure of calling on a little old lady who has the distinction of being the oldest person in the town of Campbellford. Mrs. Jane Gay, Second street, who celebrated her 96th birthday a little over three weeks ago, on September 5. On reaching the house the interviewer was met by Mrs. Gay's oldest daughter, Mrs. B. F. Butler, who escorted him to the living room, where he found Mrs. Gay seated comfortably in a chair by the fire on this chill September afternoon.

When the purpose of the visit had been explained, she laughed. "Yes, I am ninety-six years old. Now, what do you want me to tell you?" said Mrs. Gay, whose ready answers to the questions proved the alertness of a still keen mind.

Born in Boston

Born in South Boston, Mass., 26 years before Confederation, she came to Canada with her mother and settled in West Huntington at the age of ten. It was there she was married to her husband, the late J. Gay, at the age of 19. Following, they moved to Rawdon Township to the Sine Settlement, from where they came to Campbellford 32 years ago.

"We had to go 16 miles with a horse and wagon over a plank road to Belleville," said this venerable person, who until less than a year ago had been able to spend her time in reading and knitting and now with her sight failing, she is only able to walk around the garden and through the house unassisted.

"I used to be quite a knitter, but I can't see to do it now," she explained with the satisfaction of one whose work has been well done.

Never Been Ill

She has never had any serious illness in her life. "Folks doctored with catnip and peppermint and most of them had to walk as there were only two or three in the township who had a horse."

If while cutting wood the axe slipped and a foot was injured it was with pine gum "clear like honey" and a piece of clean rag, that the injured member was treated. It was seven miles to the nearest doctor and with foot travel the only means of communication a person would bleed to death before aid would arrive. Most people made potash of the timber that had to be cut to clear the land. Beautiful timbers were cut into logs four feet in length and were given away to be piled up and burned for potash.

The interview concluded with a resume of the descendants of this aged woman which include five living children, 11 grandchildren and seven great grandchildren, the oldest of whom is 15. And so the reporter departed, after a warm handclasp, expressing the hope that he might have the pleasure of another interview next year, to which she expressed her doubts, adding that her grandfather on her mother's side had lived to the age of 96 which, she thought, was all she could hope for.

VERULAM FARMER STRICKEN AT WORK

LINDSAY, Ont., Sept. 23.—James Campbell, well-known Verulam Township farmer, died suddenly while at work in the field late Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Campbell and his son, Alvin, were cutting corn and when repairs were needed to the binder, the son went to the home of a neighbor, Mr. Wm. Gamble. Both Mr. Gamble and his son were absent from home, and Alvin Campbell returned to the field, to find his father slumped beside the binder. The horses had not moved, and, apparently, Mr. Campbell had suffered a heart attack and died instantly.

SALMON STREAMS WORTH MILLIONS TO U.S. ANGLERS

CAMPBELLTON, N.B., Sept. 23 (CP)—Said to provide the best salmon fishing in the world, stretches of the Restigouche River and its tributaries have increased in value to $7,000,000 for this purpose.

The provincial government receives an annual rental of more than $100,000 for angling rights on sections still vested in the Crown. Many of the pools are owned by individuals and clubs.

Instancing the increased value, United States purchasers paid $14,000 for some river property 20 years ago. They sold it for $60,000, and a few years ago it sold for $125,000.

Most of the government water is leased every ten years at a unique auction held in the legislature building at Fredericton. The sale is attended by the premier, the minister of lands and mines, millionaires, lawyers and guides. Old angling rivals bid against one another for the choice pools.

A private organization, the Restigouche Riparian Association, spends from $30,000 to $35,000 a year to protect the Restigouche and its tributaries from poachers. All individuals and clubs contribute to the association in proportion to the amount of water they control. The central fund finances a present force of 61 guardians who spare no expense in apprehending poachers.

Once $5,000 was spent to prosecute a man of powerful political influence in Quebec who had been present when his employees dynamited a pool. The Riparian Association, backed by men controlling more than a billion dollars, secured his conviction and he went to jail for a short time.

Largest Club

The Restigouche Salmon Club (deviation from the modern spelling of Restigouche is for older conformity with the original Micmac pronunciation) is the oldest and largest club on the rivers. Its members, all men of great wealth, own the "million dollar pool." In 1926 they paid the provincial government a royal salary to erase a case involving ownership of a quarter of a mile of water near the junction of the Restigouche and Kedgwick.

In 1905 members of this club found that a bass caught in [illegible] Britain. Some of the members [illegible] Restigouche and remained [illegible] a week.

ANIMAL TROUBLE

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 23 (C.P.).—The Windsor Post Office is having more animal trouble. Five snakes have wriggled into sight during the past five months, while stenographers screamed and strong men fled. The reptiles had escaped from carnival cases.

All the snakes were recaptured, but the alarm was raised again yesterday. A black bat appeared before startled postmen and eluded capture by riding a freight elevator.

British Fear

Britain fears that Japan's next move will be to seize the Chinese island of Hainan, which is strategically situated between British Hong Kong and the British base at Singapore. The Japanese already have taken the Pratas islands, also shown on ABOVE map.

LADYBIRDS USED TO SAVE CROPS

AGASSIZ, B.C., Sept. 23 (C.P.).—Two million hungry ladybird beetles were swarming the peafields of the Fraser Valley to-day, gorging themselves on aphids which have threatened the British Columbia pea crop for four years.

They had a right to be hungry—they hadn't eaten since last November, when they left California. Lacy birds are kept in cold storage, eat nothing, but must be sprayed with water every 12 days.

R. Glendenning, entomologist at the Government Experimental Farm here, said the red-jacketed ladybirds did their work so well no other preventive measures would be needed this year. Last year airplanes sprayed fields with aphid poison.

Tiny green aphids don't eat peas, but reduce plant vitality, diminishing size and quality of the peas. Aphil babies are born alive, and seven days later have children themselves — if the ladybirds don't get them.

COBOURG CREEK CAUSES PROBLEM

COBOURG, Sept. 23.—Condition of the creek which runs through the business section of the town and which is said to be very objectionable to the citizens because of odors emanating from it, will be the subject of a joint meeting between the town council and the local Board of Health, it was decided at a meeting of the council.

Commenting on the matter, Councillor Harry McGuire stated that the odor from the creek was most objectionable and there was a need for some kind of remedy to the situation.

Councillor Jack Ewart declared that five more manholes were needed. Mayor Maurice Booth informed the council that the Board of Health had had two meetings this year.

To remove the necessity of residents walking on the highway on William Street North, a four-foot cinder walk would be constructed between Bolton and Burnham Streets, Councillor J. Ewart announced.

Relic of the old days when the Cobourg Horse Show was flourishing here, drawing entries from all over Canada and America in the finest horse show on the continent, the last of the huge barns which housed many famous horses will be shortly torn down. It was revealed at Tuesday night's meeting that a local citizen, whose barn was burned recently, had purchased the lumber from the old Horse Show barns to replace his own building.

COURT UPHOLDS PAUPER'S RIGHT

SASKATOON, Sept. 23 (C.P.). — For the first time in the history of Saskatchewan courts, an order giving a person leave to sue "in forma pauperis" or as a pauper, without payment of the ordinary court fees for issue of a writ and other services, was made here recently by Judge J. F. Bryant.

The order was made by the District Court Judge on application of Alderman Durward Thomas, barrister, acting on behalf of a poor litigant. The case was that of a woman who wished to sue a Saskatoon department store for damages as the result of injuries received in a fall.

Authority for the order comes from an ancient English procedure which allows the right of suing to paupers under provisions of the Magna Charta. It has only been employed twice before in the Dominion, once in Manitoba, and British Columbia Courts of Appeal.

ELGIN RETAINS SOFTBALL CUP HASTINGS LOOP

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Sept. 23.—The Elgin boys retained the "Uncle David" Trophy, emblematic of the local Softball League championship when they trounced the Clerks, 15 to 6, in the fifth and deciding game played last night (Wednesday).

The game was featured by the smooth fielding of the Elgin outfit as they repeatedly robbed the Clerks of sure hits.

Elgin started off right in the first innings, when J. Richardson doubled and scored on Scott's double. Scott scored on E. Preston's triple. O. Richardson singled to score E. Preston with Elgin's third run. Whitred replaced Tape on the mound for the Clerks to open the second innings. J. Preston was safe on an error and scored on J. Richardson's second double. J. Richardson scored on Scott's single. G. Richardson doubled to score Scott with Elgin's sixth run. G. Gibson replaced Whitred for the Clerks, to open the third. Stinson walked, J. Preston was safe when J. Gibson dropped his third strike. Both runners scored on J. Richardson's long single. Richardson then scored on two bad errors. Elgin got three more in the fifth on Fleming's hit and four errors. Their final three were scored in the sixth when Scott was safe on an error and stole second. He scored on E. Preston's hit. G. Richardson forced E. Preston at second and went to third when Roy Richardson was safe on an error. Both runners scored on Fleming's hit to wind up Elgin's scoring.

Clerks Try Hard

The Clerks first runs were scored in the second when Crate sent a long homer to centre. G. Gibson doubled, stole third and scored on a passed ball. They scored another in the fourth when Stevenson singled, took second on an infield out and scored on an error.

Tape homered to score the Clerks' fourth run, in the fifth. Their final runs were scored in the seventh when L. Gibson doubled and scored on J. Gibson's hit. The latter scored on two errors.

Elgin collected 11 hits from three Clerks' pitchers, while the Clerks could get to J. Richardson, the Elgin pitcher, for eight hits. J. Richardson of Elgin led all batters with two doubles, and a single in five trips to the plate.

The players and managers of both teams shook hands and congratulated each other after the game. The game was handled by R. Ecclestone behind the plate, and R. Heron on the bases, both of Toronto.

The teams:—

Clerks—L. Gibson, lf; J. Gibson, c; Stevenson, rf; Crate, 2b; G. Gibson, ss, p; Whitred, 3b, p; Tape, p, ss; Calbery, cf; Wilson, 1b.

GREY TROTTER EQUALS RECORD

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 23 (AP).—Greyhound, E. J. Bazer's great grey trotting gelding, yesterday equalled Peter Manning's fifteen-year-old world trotting record when he negotiated the mile oval at the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association track in 1 minute, 56⅝ seconds.

Sep Palin, who has driven five-year-old Greyhound throughout his trotting career, held the reins as the son of Guy Abbey-Elizabeth went to the quarter in 29¾ seconds, the half in 58½ and the three-quarters in 1:27¼.

Greyhound was accompanied by two thoroughbred prompters. On several previous occasions Greyhound has been sent out after Peter Manning's record, but until yesterday his best time was 1:57¼.

Retains Title In Close Play

After three days of blasting at par during the Western Open tournament held in Cleveland, Ohio, Ralph Guldahl, of Chicago, and Horton Smith, a fellow Chicagolian, were all even with identical scores of 288—even par after the final round. They played an extra 18 holes to break the tie and Guldahl emerged victorious to retain his title which he won last year, shooting a 72, while Smith required 76 strokes to negotiate the course in the play-off match. Guldahl is seen here with his hand on the trophy, while Horton Smith, LEFT, looks on.

Tiger Cubs No Longer Football Doormat For Heavier Bengals

Jack Brunton Has High Hopes For His Hamilton Panthers This Year

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 23 (CP)—Football doormat for so many years they got tired of it, Hamilton's Tiger Cubs are out to kick up a fuss in the Ontario Rugby Football Union. They are the Panthers this fall and no longer do they lean heavily and in vain on the Big Four Tigers.

Jack Brunton has come over from Toronto to coach the Panthers. Compared with his immediate predecessors, Brian Timmis and Fred Veale, he has all the future he can manage to build for a new team. Unlike other years, the Tigers won't lift his star players as quickly as they develop.

He starts with 60 candidates and in a week or so the Tigers will hand down to him a collection of players they can't use this fall in the Big Four. These are the figures around which Brunton will construct his team. They are his for a season.

World of Promise

With the O.R.F.U. opposition provided by Sarnia Imperials, eastern champions, and Toronto Balmy Beach, the Panthers may have little chance of winning. But there is a world of promise in the big squad under Brunton.

If Brunton had any bad training breaks it was the unexpected brilliance in the work of Joe Capriotti, star quarterback for Hamilton Italo-Canadians last year. Capriotti looked so good that Mike Rodden promoted him to his Tigers for a tryout and the little Italian flash may not come back.

Bill Strachan, former Barrie Collegiate halfback, seems to have landed a permanent place and Brunton is pleased with the place-kicking and ball-carrying of "Scotty" Wright, former Cubs back. Tom Bonk, who played for London intermediates a year ago, is another promising player.

These and a few others may be Panther fixtures. Len Onions, up from junior ranks as a flying wing; Bill Dockstader, graduate of Italo-Canadians; Leon Hudecki, a Cub veteran; Joe Connor, former McMaster University end; Al Hurst, star with Hamilton Delta Collegiate for three years and G. Graveille, promising lineman, are all standouts in the big squad.

In a practice joust against Tigers Saturday, when the Big Four team won 14-6, Snagback Ted Lane of Panthers suffered a dislocated shoulder, but he is expected to be in the lineup when the O.R.F.U. team opens its league campaign.

Graham Cup Finals Due On Saturday

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 23. — At least three of the remaining seven events in the Graham Cup finals are to be played this Saturday afternoon, according to local tennis enthusiasts, who have still five games to win in order to establish their supremacy over the Orchard Club of Trenton, with whom the playoffs are being staged. With the loss of one of their strongest lady players, Miss Elsie Connor, who left town last Monday, the local club are endeavoring to arrange the balance of the series before any further handicaps in the way of players leaving town arises.

QUINTE GRIDDER SERIOUSLY HURT IN RUGBY OPENER

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 23. — Trenton's Flyers opend the rugby season in this district here yestrday with a 5-3 win over the Belleville Panthers in the intermediate O.R.F.U. series. The Airmen got the jump on the locals with two rouges in the first half and scored a major count in the third by consistent line play and then staved off a spirited rally which netted a field goal in the third frame. The Flyers scored their last point just as the whistle blew.

A forward in the dying moments nearly pulled the game out of the fire for the locals, the receiver being in the open but fumbled the perfect toss. Mase Rigby, Panthers' middle, was easily the best man on the field. George Ostrom, quarter, received a broken shoulder in the second frame when he was tossed hard after being in the clear on an end run.

Higgerty, kicking for the Flyers, had the best of the exchanges with Johnson, with Huson showing the best on the back line when it came to bucking. Schreider and McCreary were standouts for the locals. The largest crowd to ever witness a football game in these parts was on hand.

Flyers — Flying wing, Huson; halves, Wightman, Lecompt, Higgerty; quarter, Spencer; snap, Batchwell; insides, Smith, Beatty; middles, Hodden and Jamieson; outsides, Fye and Cessford; subs, Finchim, Drake, Bercham, Cox, Spurston, McKeen, Barber, Shaw, Tilley, Ziffle, Sweatman, Hawkins.

Bellville — Flying wing, Schreider; Belleville—Flying wing, Schreider; halves, Baker, Odell, Storey; quarter, Ostrom; snap, Faulkner; insides, Faux, Laughton; middles, Johnson, and McCreary; outsides, Ireland and Renouff; subs., Kelly, Bradford, Burns, Hafley, Grant, Langraeer, Rigby and McDonald.

Referee—Johnny Munro.
Umpire—C. Peck.
Head linesman—Whelpton, Belleville.

QUEEN MARY GETS FIRST SOCCER WIN

Queen Mary registered their first win in the Public Soccer School championship, yesterday (Wednesday) afternoon on King Edward Park. F. Mortimer got the only counter in the first half. On Friday Prince of Wales meets Queen Alexandra.

League Standing

	P	W	L	F	A	Pts
King Edward	1	1	0	7	0	2
Queen Alexandra	1	1	0	2	1	2
Queen Mary	2	1	1	2	1	2
King George	2	0	2	1	3	0
Central	0	0	0	0	0	0

Two points for a win and one for a draw.

First Half

In the opening exchanges King George boys played their positions well but lacked finish in controlling the ball to advantage; while Queen Mary half backs tackled closely to prevent the forwards from getting too close to goal. The break went in favor of Queen Mary when Rhodes stopped a raid near goal by punting up-field with a left footer to Matthews who slipped the ball over to F. Mortimer who dribbled his way right through to put the west-siders one up. Queen Mary 1, King George 0.

Second Half

On resuming, Queen Mary forwards endeavoured to make the game an individual effort instead of the combination that was evident in the first half. Repeatedly Ridyard and Smith would place Morley in possession of the ball but his kicking went skyward every time when an open goal was in front of him. Clyde at half back, carried the ball up-field to compel the full backs to concede corner after corner that failed to bring the equalizer. Just before the finish Matthews travelled down the wing along with Ridyard and the former shot the ball over to goal where Morley ran in and met the ball to hit the goalie, the latter conceding a fruitless goaal flag kick. Queen Mary 1, King George 0.

King George—R. Calnea, goal; H. Wishers and D. Ralph, full back; K. Ferguson, H. Clyde and F. Mason, half-backs; A. Eason, D. Whithers, G. Patterson, R. Hendry and G. Clyde, forwards; subs, G. Powell and J. Laing.

Queen Mary—R. Taylor, goal; J. Morley and R. Ackford, full backs; J. McCartney, A. Rhodes and F. Fowler, half-backs; W. Jones, W. Smith, F. Mortimer, J. Ridyard and G. Matthews, forwards.

Referee—D. Buchan.

Lawn Bowling

By HERB MARTIN

WHEN H. DARLING played his last bowl in the novice final to defeat Bob Dyer, that completed the series of activities as laid down by the games committee away back in April. We don't mean that we are through bowling, just that are scheduled games are finished...Playing three games in one evening, H. Darling came through to win the novice competition sponsored by the Peterborough Examiner, one of the best series in our club. J. Block came third and A. Irwin fourth.

IN THE Skips-Vices final, George Calnia, the veteran pilot of many a hard battle, proved too much for Ray Bacon. Right at the beginning Bacon took a nice lead of 10 points, but after the half-way mark, the Calnia gang pulled themselves together to take the last seven ends and the decision by one point, 17-16.

ABOUT TONIGHT'S games. The weather—it is going to be nice and fine and we expect a good turnout. Remember, it is men's doubles, a skip to pick a lead and vice a second 7 p.m. is the zero hour...Tomorrow night (Friday) we are going to hold our mixed tournament, as announced earlier in the week, but under a somewhat different system. It will be a draw from the board, and the fee 25 cents. We are asking our players to take notice of the change.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

WHAT IS known in the flowery language of sports scriveners as "the autumn classic"—which is another way of saying rugby football—makes its debut here this Saturday after lunch in Riverside Park. This coming-out party is an exhibition grid tussle at 2.30 o'clock betwixt the Eastsides junior O.R.F.U. entry of Toronto and the senior P.C.I. squad. The dual purpose of the game is to fill in an open Saturday with rugby for the customers and to give Coach Bamforth an idea of his 1937 machine. Our Orfuns play in Cobourg on Saturday so the exhibition tilt here that day ought to draw a goodly number of football fans. Don't know much about either the Eastsides or the P.C.I.-ers yet, but no doubt these teams will dish up a lot of dash in their early encounter.

* * * * * *

NOT UNTIL Oct. 9th, which is two weeks from Saturday, do the Collegians swing into action in their C.O.S.S.A. schedule—this alphabetical mess meaning Central Ontario Secondary Schools Association. That day they entertain Oshawa here, and the Motor City juniors also come to Peterborough to tackle the Garnet and Gray second squad. Despite tht delay in opening schedules, neither Coach Bamforth nor Coach Jackson of P.C.I. is letting grass grew on the gridiron, but both are putting their players through the practise paces. Our seniors are grouped with Oshawa and Bowmanville, and the juniors are with Oshawa, Bowmanville and Lindsay.

* * * * * *

THE SENIOR Collegiate crew this year should have more weight than previously, some husky youngsters coming up to replace graduates. The halfline is liable to consist of Leether, the Clark brothers and Jerry Creighton. Some of the big linemen may be Curtain, Duncan, Kelly, Thornton and Ascott. The matter of choosing a snap who is dependable is worrying the skipper at the moment. Johnston, Turner and Sedgewick all being considered. Curtain may draw the punting chore. He and Creighton were with Orfuns last year and should help plenty. There are a number of other good boys on deck, too, and the coach isn't unduly pessimistic over the prospects—which means he is really highly hopeful this semester.

* * * * * *

ORFUNS HAVE a players' meeting tonight at 8.30 in the "Y" and all prospects should attend. Matter of raffle donats and plans for the game in Cobourg Saturday will be discussed among other things. We ought to get more dope on this team before the end of the week. Seems to be shaping up okay now. Eastsides are playing in Lindsay day after tomorrow, too.

TRENTON FLIERS opened their O.R.F.U. season yesterday before a huge crowd—a record football crowd for that town—in Belleville with an 8-3 win over the Quinte Panthers. Two rouges in the first half, a major tally in the third quarter and a final point as the last whistle blew accounted for the Fliers' score. Belleville got a field goal in the third. George Ostrom, classy quarterback, suffered a broken shoulder early when tackled hard, and he will be missed muchly from the Belleville lineup. Rigby, Schieder and McCreary stood out for the losers, while Haggerty did some fine kicking and Huson starred at bucking for the winners. The Airmen will be tough hombres to take in this grouping—the winner to play the winner of our section—but Kingston should be no setup, either.

* * * * * *

OSHAWA GM-MEN laughed their way into the senior O.B.A.A. finals at home yesterday, the chuckle being 23-3 at the expense of Moodis Tigers of Hamilton. Turner twirled five-hit ball and had great hitting support, homers by May, Wallace, Jubenville and Hurst driving in a mere 11 runs! But the fielding was awfully awful, what with the winners booting eight and the losers one less. Again Tommy Foley led the clouters with five in six times up, as well as stealing two sacks. Mathews got four hits and Rowden three. Toronto Grads licked London, 10-6, yesterday also, so they will now tangle with Oshawa for the Provincial championship.

* * * * * *

TWO LOCAL officers, Ed Riley and Jim Dorris, were in Oshawa for the game. Before leaving—we had to decline their invite to go along—they discussed baseball here during the past season. Both seemed satisfied (as they should be) with the locals' showing, considering that the imports did not click part of the season up to form, and that a couple of the Petes' regulars had bad seasons. Gave much credit, and deservedly, to Russ Kitchen for carrying the mound burden so well over a good part of the schedule. And they talked over plans of 1938. Admitted we needed a star southpaw flinger, a slugging outfielder and an all-around first-sacker to really make a showing in the strong C.O.B.L. Possibly a few U.S. standouts brought in as students—which the O.B.A.A. permits. An executive meeting will be held soon to clean up club business for the year.

* * * * * *

HEARTY CONGRATS to Knotty Lee for piloting his Ogdensbprg Colts yesterday to the Can.-Am. pro ball league championship, with a 4-1 win over Gloversville. Again VanRoboys—who goes to Montreal next year—won it with a four-base blow. The Colts came along fast during the last month with their big war clubs pounding out a paen of victory. And it must be most satisfactory to the colorful ex-coach of the Petes to have a hard-hitting outfit for a change. Knotty has had a lot of ups and downs during a lengthy career in the diamond sport, and this is one of the "ups" which will put him in solid in Ogdensburg for several season to come. That lower lip, which used to hang like a stocking at Christmas following a defeat, will be tucked in tighter than a lady's shoe and lost in a mammoth smile till next spring rolls around. Ball fans here will be glad of old Knotty's success.

UP AND down Sports' Rialto: There is talk of Jo-Jo Grabocki not playing hockey in England but going to Trenton Airport this winter . . . Lindsay gridders, wearing blue-and-gold sweaters, will be known as the Blue Bombers this season . . . We trust the blue will not touch the players in the heat of battle . . . Belleville Kiwanis Club banquetted their junior ballsters the other night and gave 'em windbreakers; a nice gesture . . . The Oshawa scribe was barred from a boxing and razzlin' show there the other day—the lucky stiff!—for panning a previous card . . . Got some motorcycle dope for tomorrow . . . District papers sympathize with the Auburns for getting it where the Thanksgiving turkey takes the hatchet . . . Jubenville handled nine chances okay but booted four more yesterday in the Oshawa-Hamilton tilt . . . When it comes to Provincial titles, you might say of Peterborough: Always a bridesmaid, never a bride!

GOLF-FACTS NOT THE GRIEF

By Alex Morrison

A close clubface indicates many things wrong about the swing. When the striking surface of the clubhead leans forward and the toe of the clubhead is turned in toward the ball, it is a sure sign that the player's right side has overpowered his left and that the ball cannot be hit properly. As a rule, this matter of a closed face does not come to the attention of most players until the downswing.

Some players notice it at the top of their backswings, but the majority recognize it only after they have dug into the ground with the clubhead. The time to check up on the position of the clubface is when you are addressing the ball, because in most cases a closed face at the moment the clubhead strikes the ball is but the result of having it closed at the start of the swing. It is very easy for the best of players to pinch the clubface toward the ball a bit in the address. It is a thing that is done "unconsciously."

A player may be tense through worry over the outcome of the shot or he may be hurrying too much and his right hand will tighten on the shaft before he realizes it. This tightening turns the clubface forward. Obviously a tight right side at the start of the swing means too much right at impact, so watch the position of the clubhead in addressing the ball if you want to keep the right side from spoiling your swing.

Five have died. Only death reported in Regina was that of Bert Carl Bauer, 13-year-old Zehner youth, who died in hospital Saturday.

Queen Helen Back On Courts

An exhibition match, bringing Helen Wills Moody back to major tennis, featured the program of the annual Pacific-Southwest Tournament at Los Angeles Tennis club. Making her first appearance since she won at Wimbledon in 1935, Mrs. Moody and her partner, Francis X. Shields, movie actor and ex-Davis cup star, defeated Dorothy Bundy and Jacques Brugnon, 8-6, but dropped the second 5-7. Mrs. Moody is seen here as she returned the ball during the match.

"You Can Beat A Race But Not Races" —One Of Orpen's Wise Comments

ABE Orpen was born in Toronto, but from his Irish parents he inherited a keen wit that found expression in his philosophies.

Here are some of the better-known sayings of the gambler and sportsman:

"There is no difference between a society woman playing bridge and the keeper of a roulette table."

"A man is a fool to bet money if he can't throw it away."

"You can beat a race but you can't beat the races."

"You cannot legislate away each man's idea of pleasure."

"The only man who does not gamble is the man who takes nothing and creates something of value out of it."

"As long as boys play marbles men will gamble."

"I certainly don't think that our being here on a world that moves around in space is an accident. Somebody, some place, has control. But I don't believe in a God of mercy. All I ask, all I want is a God of justice."

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Sept. 23—(AP). — In his day, "Dumb Dan" Morgan handled some of the best fighters in business . . . He is known as a keen judge of fling talent . . . He says M. Marcel Thil (pronounced Tea), is sure fire to flor Fred Apostoli to-night . . . Don't laugh . . . Dan picked Max Schmeling to rout Joe Louis . . . Then made it two in a row by predicting Tommy Farr would stay 15 rounds with Louis . . . Write your own ticket, but if you have a bob or so to spare you might string along with "Dum (that's a laugh) Dan."

The big show started out with four champs, but they've dwindled to 3½. Thil not being recognized in the United States . . . Julian Black, in town for the flatiecuffing, says Joe Louis has gone nuts over softball . . . "And all he can do is strike out," added Julian.

The Garden made a sporting gesture and gave Jimmy Johnston the office furniture he had been using . . . A tribe of Indians near Syracuse is going to adopt Teddy Broadribb. Teddy was Farr's ex-manager. They gave him the fancy name of Laughing Water, or something like that . . . What would you say if there's a new welterweight champ this time to-morrow?

Gunnar Barlund, the Finnish heavy, will "cover" to-night's fights for a Helsingfors newspaper . . . The Gunner is doing a pretty fair job of mastering English compared to some of the other foreign fighters . . . About all N. Thil and Senors Montanez, Escobar, et al can say is "dollar."

OSHAWA DRUBS MOODIE TIGERS TO GAIN FINAL

OSHAWA, Sept. 23. — Pounding out a total of 21 hits Oshawa General Motors qualified to meet Toronto G. & W. in the O.B.A.A. senior finals when they swamped Hamilton Moodie Tigers here last evening 23-3. It was the most one-sided victory the Ontario champions have chalked up this year, with home runs by May, Wallace, Jubenville and Hurst driving in no less than eleven runs. The game was productive of the worst fielding display seen here this season with fifteen miscues being registered, of which Oshawa drew down eight. The bright side of the victory for Oshawa was the five-hit twirling by Jonnny Turner, who sralbered the blows over the same number of innings, deserving a shut-out. Tommy Foley again led the Oshawa Mountmiths, the Fleet centre fielder banging out five safeties in six trips to the plate.

Schmeling Signs Contract With Jacobs To Meet Louis

Max Schmeling, German heavyweight contender, is pictured here as he signed a contract with promoter Mike Jacobs of New York, to meet Joe Louis, heavyweight champion of the world, in a return bout next June. The Detroit "Brown Bomber" was knocked out by Schmeling in their first and only encounter. When Maxie knocked Joe out, the "Brown Bomber" was not champion, but now he holds the title that Max would like to regain and become the first heavyweight fighter in history to ever regain his lost title.

OGDENSBURG COLTS CAN-AM CHAMPIONS

GLOVERSVILLE, N.Y., Sept. 23 (C.P.). — Ogdensburg Colts won the championship of the Canadian-American Ball League yesterday with a 4-1 victory over Gloversville in the seventh game of the final play-off series.

Heavy hitting turned the trick for the Colts, breaking a 3-3 deadlock in games. A home run by Mauris Vanroboys, who next year gets a trial with Montreal Royals of the International League, was a telling blow.

Yanks Need One More Victory To Clinch American Pennant

New Yorkers Hand Browns Double Beating 4-1 And 11-0 —Bridges Hurls Win

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—The New York Yankees won both ends of a doubleheader from the St. Louis Browns yesterday, to come within one victory of clinching the American League pennant.

The twin triumph, 4 to 1 and 11 to 0, assured the Yanks of at least a tie for the championship. Detroit needs to lose but one more to kill its last mathematical hope.

The Yanks were held to three hits in the opener, but took advantage of Jack Knott's wildness to score three runs in the sixth to win. Gehrig walked, went to second on a passed ball, and Dickey walked. Barkley threw wild on an attempted double-play and Dickey scored. Lazzeri then walloped a homer.

Monte Pearson held the Browns to seven hits to score his eighth victory.

Kemp Wicker also pitched seven-hit ball to blank the Browns in the nightcap. Powell hit for the circuit for one of the Yanks' fifteen safeties.

Win For Bridges.

Tommy Bridges chalked up his fifteenth win for Detroit, scattering seven hits to the Boston Red Sox for a 6 to 4 decision. Rudy York hit his thirty-third homer of the year with two mates aboard in the second.

The Washington Senators triumphed by the same margin, 6 to 4, over the Cleveland Indians. The Nats rolled up a six-run lead on Mel Harder in the first five innings. Jimmy Deshong were the route for Washington, holding the tribe to two hits and no runs until the eighth when they bunched four safeties and a base on balls for all of their runs.

The Chicago White Sox walloped Philadelphia 9 to 3, Thornton Lee holding the A's to eight hits. The Sox solved Kelley Turbeville and Kalfass for ten, which they coupled with a pair of errors for their margin.

CORNWALL SCORES LACROSSE VICTORY

ORILLIA, Ont., Sept. 23.—(CP).—One up on the Mann Cup holders, Cornwall Indians will see what they can do on their home field Friday in the second game of the best-of-three series for the Ontario Senior lacrosse championship after beating Orillia Terriers 11-10 in the Dominion champions' own back yard.

The Indians took a firm hold of the lead in last night's game after the first quarter and didn't relinquish it except for a short time in the third period. Orillia's rally in the dying minutes of the game failed to top the Indian's advantage.

Shipwreck Kelly topped the Terrier's honor list with three markers. Syd Wright and Louie Sunday scored three each for the Indians while Renaud had a pair.

GIANTS TRIUMPH TO RESTORE LEAD IN NATIONAL RACE

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Young Cliff Melton, the junior southpaw member of New York Giants' pitching staff, fashioned a handsome six-hit, 6-0, shutout yesterday over the Cubs to all but smother Chicago National League pennant hopes.

Before the biggest crowd of the Cubs' home season, 41,976 spectators who jammed every corner of Wrigley Field, the lanky assistant to Carl Hubbell in the Giant left-hander department, checked in with a superb performance—a job which regained everything New York lost Tuesday in dropping the first game of the crucial series.

It restored the Giants' 2½ game margin over the desperate—and yesterday almost utterly futile Cubs, and assured Bill Terry's defending champions of finishing the all-important series still in possession of the league leadership. The final game of the set will be played today with Hal Schumacher, big Giant righthander, opposing Curt Davis.

Victory No. 18.

While Melton was moving smoothly to his eighteenth victory of the campaign, against nine defeats, the Giants raked three Cub hurlers, Tex Carleton, Clay Bryant and Bob Logan, for thirteen hits.

Johnny McCarthy led the Giants' attack with four singles, three of which played parts in New York scoring innings.

Melton did not permit a Cub to reach first base during the first four innings, and only two got as far as second all afternoon. He was in a little trouble in the fifth when the Cubs made three hits, and had to bear down in the sixth when Gus threw over McCarthy's head after making a neat stop of Stan Hack's grounder, permitted the Cub infielder to reach second. Carleton was charged with the defeat.

BIRDS TWO DOWN IN TROPHY SERIES

BALTIMORE, Sept. 23. — (AP) — Baltimore Orioles, battered and worn from two straight defeats at the hands of Newark Bears, cast joyful glances at the short fences of their home park today. The nearness of the boards, over which Orioles batters have pumped many a homer, raised hopes for tonight's third game of the final playoff series of the International League.

The Orioles didn't do so well in the Newark Park. Joe Beggs stopped them with a one-hitter in the opener, and yesterday afternoon they dropped a tough 6-5 defeat to the Newarkers. They'll shoot Pete Hivess, a 16-game winner during the regular season, against the Bears tonight and the champions will counter with Vito Tamulis, an able curve-baller.

Tamulis hurls the crucial game. If he can come close to repeating his three-hit shutout of Syracuse in the third game tonight, the Bears will be prohibitive favorites to make it four straight.

The Bears ripped Bill Lohrman for 14 hits with Catcher Will Hershberger getting three. Joe Gordon, the series' hitting star, and George McQuinn drove home two runs each.

Polish White Eagles Beat Stratford 3-1

TORONTO, Sept. 23.—Andy Kowalik's clawy Polish White Eagles took a firm grip on the O.A.S.A. intermediate title when they captured the first game in the final series with Stratford Kroehler's at Acorn Park yesterday 3 to 1.

Ernie Clark, Eagles starry twirler, grabbed most of the honors in his team's great victory with a brilliant performance on the mound. For six frames the invaders failed to get a man on base, with Clarke's fast ball and great change of pace having the losers completely baffled. Four hits was the total damage off Clark with nine visitors going back as strikeout victims.

Pete Romano, with two hits, and Lewis, Hastings and Kowalik in the field, shared the limelight with Clark, Libbett, McAtee and MacDermid were best of the visitors.

Hamilton Defeats Cheltenham 8 To 5

BRAMPTON, Sept. 23.—Hamilton Tigers turned back Cheltenham-Inglewood Combines 8 to 5 here last night in the first game of their O.A.L.A. intermediate final series.

The heavier Tigers conceded a 3 to 0 margin to the Combines in the first quarter, drew even at 4-4 at the halfway mark and led 7-5 at three-quarter time. Hamilton was good value for victory and in spots their play was of near senior calibre. Waterman and Sweetman were top scorers for the winners with two goals apiece while McPherson, O'Malley, H. Clark and Milt Burrows added one each. Gow in Tigers' goal turned in a magnificent job in keeping Combines to five goals.

Cheltenham - Ingelwood's scoring was well divided.

CHAPTER 41

"COME IN, please." Carla Mentone's voice that was throaty, yet clear as a bell, called out in response to the knock on her bedroom door.

Mari pushed the knob with her knee and kicked it open; she had brought up Carla's breakfast tray herself.

Carla said, "You shouldn't do this, really."

Mari smiled and put the tray on a table. "I've brought mine, too," she said. "I want to talk to you before the rest of my guests find us."

"I'm Carla Mentone. I was too upset last night to introduce myself properly."

Mari said she knew. "I'm Mari Barat."

"I know." They looked at each other and both burst out laughing.

"It was your dress..."

"And it was your beauty..." Mari said.

Carla sipped her fruit juice silently for a few minutes. Then she said: "It was awfully decent and brave of you. Why did you do it?"

"It was neither," Mari denied. "What would you have done when you saw a woman pointing a gun?"

"Fainted, probably," the actress said. "But I wasn't thinking of that. I'm thinking about your bringing me back here, saying that I have been your guest. Not many women would do a thing like that."

Mari said she thought the coffee was too strong, she'd send for some hot milk—

"I'd rather talk to you," her guest said as she settled back in her pillows." "Did you know about it? I mean Angie and all that?"

Mari nodded. "Naturally I had heard something but it is of no consequence. Please don't feel that you owe me any explanations."

"But I do, my dear, you've not only saved my life which is of little consequence, but you've saved my reputation. As a matter of fact, things are not at all what they seem. Angie is a poor old thing who never has much fun. I've been sorry for him and...well, that's usually the way all the rumors begin. I'm always being sorry for people because I remember when no one was sorry for me. I think, perhaps, you are the first woman who has been kind to me."

Mari's eyes widened.

"That's true. And very surprising. I know who you are and what you've done and are doing. I know what it means to be a woman in your prominent position," Carla continued. "You have no privacy, the world knows everything about you, your pursuits, your friends. And you have to be very careful to be always circumspect. Yet, last night, you risked much for me. I wish I knew why."

"I think I can tell you. I have a deep-rooted feeling that women get the short end of any bargain, so I... well, I act on sympathies first and put away thinking until after."

Carla Mentone was genuinely surprised. "My dear, you don't really? You're a woman of the world, not a Washington debutante. Wherever did you get that idea?"

Mari didn't know where she'd got it.

"But surely you know that women are more clever than men? Surely, with your looks and brains and success, you've never had the short end of a bargain?"

Hastily Mari said, "Of course not."

"Well, then, if a woman can have anything, or any man she wants, what IS the short end?"

Mari went to the window and stared out at the waving mass of azure. The film in her eyes blurred the scene.

"I never got the man I wanted and I've never wanted anything else."

Carla asked reasonably, "Did you go after him?"

"No, I ran away from him," Mari answered. She managed to smile.

"I can't believe it. How silly. Why don't you go back and get him?"

Mari shook her head. "Look here, I didn't come up this morning to cry on your shoulder. I have plans to discuss. Would you like to be my guest?"

"Like to? Heavens, child, I've got to be or be torn to threads in the newspapers. I can't afford that now because I'm opening in a new play in six weeks. Kim Charing has done a beautiful job of a play in which I'm opening in New York. It's going to be my biggest triumph on the other side. Miller is producing it. You know what that means."

Mari knew what it meant. Orchids and ermine and talk, and Park Avenue fighting for tickets. A first night of the first order.

"Then, we'd better do it up properly. I'm giving a luncheon for you at 2. I've invited dozens of people. Tonight Reggie Venable is having 10 to dinner to meet you at the hotel and we'll go on to the Casino."

"Good girl." Carla's expressive hand went out to Mari in a firm clasp. "I hope no one will ever have to cover you up, Mari Barat, but if it's ever necessary, I hope it will be an experience as rich for your rescuer as this is to me."

"Don't mention it, please."

"I want to know a lot about you. Are the rumors true that you were a debutante who came over...?"

Mari laughed loud and long. "Not a bit. I was born in Brooklyn. My mother died when I was a baby and my father when I was 16. I went to an art school in New York and worked for a lithographing company."

"But clothes. How did you get into that? And what a gift you have."

"Oh, I always wanted to design. In New York I worked as an apprentice at Tony Castle's..."

"Tony? Really? Isn't he a darling?"

Mari's heart thudded against her ribs. She heard ringing in her ears as her pulse accelerated. She felt a quick excitement in the presence of someone who had known Tony.

In all these years she had not met one person to whom she had mentioned his name. And Carla knew him.

"Yes...he...he was very nice," she said.

"I haven't seen Tony for years. I haven't been in America in three years. The last time I saw him was at Liane Weston's in Greenwich."

The years had made no difference; when Mari heard the actress' name, it fell heavily into her heart.

"Did you know her?" Carla asked conversationally.

"I've only seen her," Mari said. "She was married a year or so ago. Liane was Tony's best friend when Eve Merriam jilted him. There was a little beast. Tony turned woman-hater after that experience."

Liane is married. Mari could think only of that. Tony was still free. Liane was only his "best friend." Who was Eve Merriam? Mari didn't hear what Carla was saying until the other girl repeated:

"Maribarat, will you do my play for me? I'll want the most ravishing things ever seen on the New York stage. There'll be five costumes. And I'll see that everybody in America knows who did them."

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S LESSONS.

"Oh! Oh! Look! Look!" cried Tootsie. "Here's a stone with a head and legs! Oh, I'm scairt!"

Tootsie was a little pussy girl who had just started to come to the Hollow Tree School taught by Lady Mouse.

"Show me the stone you say has legs and a head, please, Tootsie," called Uncle Wiggily to the new pussie girl. "That may be a lesson for our Nature class."

Calling at the Hollow Tree School Uncle Wiggily had found Miss Mouse having trouble with her pupils. They didn't seem to want to study so Mr. Longears offered to take them to the woods and teach them some lessons in a Nature class.

This class had just started when Tootsie said she was "scairt," which was her way of saying frightened.

"But you needn't be afraid, Tootsie," said Uncle Wiggily. "There are no creatures in these woods to harm you if you do not harm them. Now show me what you saw."

What Is It

"There it is, look!" mewed Tootsie. She pointed to something that looked like a half round, dark brown, stone with yellow markings on it. This "stone," as Tootsie called it, was walking on the woodland path. But as soon as Uncle Wiggily touched what Tootsie had seen it stopped walking.

"Why, where did the legs and head go?" asked Tootsie. "What a funny stone!"

"Here is where you learn a little lesson, Tootsie," said Uncle Wiggily. "That isn't a stone. It is a box turtle. Its box is made of two shells. The turtle lives in between the shells and as he cannot walk fast to get away from danger and as he cannot fight, Nature allows him to pull his legs, head and tail in between his shells so he looks like a stone. The turtle stays in his shell box until danger is passed."

"Oh, isn't Natural wonderful!" exclaimed Tootsie.

Uncle Wiggily hopped on with his Nature class. Then, all of sudden, Trotsie, a new little dog boy, barked:

"Oh! Oh! Now I'm scairt! There's a big elephant in those leaves," and Trotsie pointed to a pile that were flying about and being scattered.

Hungry Bird.

"Elephant? Nonsense!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Those leaves are being scattered by a brown trush bird. The Thrush finds bugs and worms in piles of dried leaves and makes a deal of noise scattering them—perhaps almost as much noise as a baby elephant might make. But you mustn't be frightened, Trotsie."

Just then out hopped the Thrush. "Hello, Uncle Wiggily!" he sang. "Glad to see you and your Nature class in the woods. Are they learning lessons?"

"A few," said the rabbit. He hopped on with the animal children and soon Tratsie, a new little rabbit boy, who had wandered on ahead, came running back very fast.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily!" cried Tratsie. "I've just been the funniest thing! But I'm not scairt."

"That's good!" laughed Mr. Longears. "We'll go look at it."

You shall soon be told what it was Tratsie found. The next story will be about Uncle Wiggily's sleepy bush. And I hope the Police Dog will bring the mud puddle in to have its face and hands washed before it goes to the movies.

POLIO TREATMENT PLANS COMPLETED TO STOP CRIPPLING

TORONTO, Sept. 23—(CP)—Plans for treatment of poliomyelitis victims to prevent crippling after the period of isolation were completed by the Ontario Department of Health today.

The department has made arrangements, Dr. B. T. McGhie, deputy minister of health announced, to see that Bradford frames and standard splints are available for all cases showing evidence of paralysis or muscle weakness. Furthermore accommodation is being provided in nine centres outside Toronto and five hospitals in the city for the treatment of crippled cases for three weeks after the period of isolation.

Dr. McGhie said that it was estimated that during that three week period of "first aid treatment" patients could be given a sufficient start to permit their continued treatment in their homes under the advice of their own physicians.

No Argument On Costs

Cost of the splints and post-isolation hospitalization will be borne, for the present at least, by the department. "There will be no argument about costs," Dr. McGhie said. "This is an emergency measure and if there are families who are able to pay, any arrangements about payment will be worked out afterward."

The centres at which Bradford frames and splints as well as hospitalization are available:

Fort William—McKellar General Hospital; Ottawa—Civic Hospital; Hamilton—General Hospital; Sudbury—St. Joseph's Hospital; Kingston—General Hospital; Toronto—Hospital for Sick Children; London—Victoria Hospital; Windsor—Metropolitan General Hospital; Sault Ste. Marie—General Hospital; Toronto—General Hospital, Western Hospital, St. Michael's Hospital.

An Orthopedic Centre.

Furthermore at Toronto the Department is obtaining the old Grace Hospital building for the treatment of children. Here an orthopedic centre for the whole province is being established.

The period of from one to three weeks in hospital after isolation is being provided in order that patients may learn to adapt themselves to the proper use of the Bradford frame and necessary splints. It is of the utmost importance that not only the patient but also the patient's family be fully impressed with the necessity for prolonged and adequate orthopedic care if unnecessary crippling is to be prevented.

Admission to hospital for this purpose will not be available to patients until the termination of the usual isolation period. However, Bradford frames and suitable splints may be obtained for immediate treatment in all cases.

In cases in which the patient's family is unable to arrange transportation to and from hospital, and where provision for this cannot be made through local service clubs, the Department consultant for the area should be notified.

CHARGE BETRAYAL EMPIRE BY EDEN

LONDON, Sept. 23—(CP Cable)—Lord Beaverbrook in a signed front-page article in the Daily Express today accused Foreign Secretary Eden of betraying the Colonial Empire in his speech Monday before the League of Nations Assembly.

"Eden and his friends were put in power by us on their promise to carry out a Colonial Empire policy," the editorial said. "Now he is offering foreign countries access to British colonies. He is offering to break down the tariff walls built up so laboriously and to surrender the preferences established with such immense effort.

"This is the answer which Eden gives at Geneva to the demand for the return of the pre-war German colonies held in trust by this country for the League of Nations. In effect, the answer is that he declines to give back the colonies which belonged to Germany but is quite ready instead to grant the right to enter and possess the colonies which are part of our Empire.

"In support of this argument he says the colonies produce only three per cent of the raw materials of the world. This is shocking condemnation of his own government, for the British colonies alone could produce far more raw materials if they were properly developed by the government which caught votes by pretending it would give us increased production there.

"Eden and his companions are doing these wicked things because they are afraid of their free trade friends in and out of the government, so we must compel them to stick to the path of rectitude by making them afraid of us."

POLIO QUARANTINE FULL OF HEADACHE FOR THE MERCHANT

TORONTO, Sept. 23 — (C.P.). — When a Toronto resident sees a stranger dash up to a house, deposit a bundle on the doorstep and glide silently away, he doesn't jump to hasty conclusions. Instead he looks for the tell-tale placard on the window marked "poliomyelitis."

He knows that poliomyelitis means infantile paralysis and that the suspicious-looking intruder is no one more dangerous than the neighborhood grocery boy or maybe the milkman. Hundreds of such placarded houses—actually more than 500—are presenting more than one problem in Toronto.

Consider the milkman who morning after morning has left the customary two quarts of milk at the home of Mrs. Jones and collected the tickets and empties.

No Bottles To Be Returned.

Then appears the placard. According to regualtions of the Ontario Department of Health "no milk container from premises under quarantine on account of poliomyelitis shall be returned to any dairy or milk vendor." The quarantined householder can't pay his bills either.

But the milkman must continue to furnish milk and so the bottles pile up in the cellar and the dairy gets headaches adding up the bills.

Few, if any, merchants are accepting money from placarded homes. "Keep your tainted money," is the cheerful order as the housewife phones for more and more supplies.

Children have got to the point where they are complaining about too-long holidays. School opening, delayed since Sept. 1, has been tentatively set for next Monday and it can't arrive too soon for most boys and girls.
